

JAP SHIPS IN DRY DOCK

Two Battleships Known to Be Repairing in Tokio Yard.

TOGO REPORTED IN CAPITAL

More Fortifications Before Port Arthur Captured—Outlook For General Stoessel—Criticism of the Russian Naval Policy Heard From in St. Petersburg Newspapers and Public.

Tokio, Japan.—Two battleships, the Mikasa and the Shikishima, were put into dry dock in the Sasebo navy yard, the cruisers Tokiwa, Iwate and Idzumi are in the Yokosuka dry dock, and three others, names unknown, are in the Kure yard. The fact that Admiral Togo's flagship was in dry dock leads to the inference that the commander of the Japanese fleet has transferred his flag to one of the fast light armored cruisers still on duty before Port Arthur. It was rumored here that Admiral Togo actually was in this city, and had visited the Emperor, but this could not be confirmed either in the Imperial Navy or War Department. It might be essential for war purposes to suppress the whereabouts of the Admiral, but it is certain that his battleship was put in dry dock.

One bulletin was made public from the Third Army, which is operating before Port Arthur. It announces the capture of three small fortifications between Ilium Mountain and Quail Hill, directly north of the new town of Port Arthur. The attack was made after midnight, and the bulletin says that the assaulting forces met with little resistance in occupying the trenches of the enemy. The objective point undoubtedly is Quail Hill, and should General Nogi be able to get his siege guns on the fortifications at that point there would be no further refuge for General Stoessel. He would then have to sacrifice his entire army or surrender.

The possession of the Orlium fort and the southern slopes of Ilium Mountain make it possible to take Quail Hill by assault, although undoubtedly the loss of life would be enormous. Aside from its own defenses the Russians can protect it by cross fire from the easterly side of the Antze Mountain and the westerly side of the fortifications of the Laofu forts. St. Petersburg, Russia.—Official circles were plainly disturbed by the publication in the Russ of an article savagely attacking the management of the navy. The Russ says that Admiral Rojstevensky and his 12,000 heroic comrades in the Baltic fleet have had imposed on them an impossible task. Their ships, the Russ declared, are unfit to fight. Some of them are actually dangerous in a peaceful voyage, and it is known that several of the torpedo boats are in a sinking condition.

"The old system of concealing facts," says the Russ, "is responsible for the loss of the warships in and about Port Arthur. They were unfit to fight modern vessels, and their loss has covered the nation with shame and grief. The Baltic fleet is not any better fitted. It would be absurd to hide the defects in the fleet, but it is regrettable in the ships that remain at Cronstadt and Libau. We have already criminally wasted enough of time."

The article in the Russ is a reply to the open letter of Admiral Biriliet, who appealed to the Russians not to openly criticize the conditions of the navy.

FATAL COLLISION IN FOG.

Conductor of Belated Local Train Killed by Express at Stamford.

Stamford, Conn.—George Howland, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., conductor of the accommodation train from New Haven due to leave Stamford at 7.15 and arrive in the Grand Central station at 8.35, was instantly killed in a collision at the Stamford station at 7.15 the other evening while a dense fog prevailed.

The collision occurred between the Boston Express, which is due to arrive in New York City at 7.50, and the accommodation train. The express crashed into the rear of the accommodation train just as the latter was about to be backed out of the station to leave the track clear for the express. Conductor Howland was on the second last car of the train and was leaning out signaling to his engineer. The last car was driven into the car in front, and the conductor was crushed to death instantly.

The accommodation was about fifteen minutes late. Nearly all the passengers then got off, many of them to take the express which was following. The signals were placed against the express, and as an extra precaution two torpedoes were placed on the tracks at the Atlantic street bridge, which is about 100 yards from the station. When the torpedoes exploded the express had already slowed down, owing to the stop to be made at Stamford, but the engineer was unable to stop until he had struck the accommodation train.

A passenger on the accommodation named Joseph Sevinski was injured about the head.

Congregation Shot At. A congregation of negroes at a service at Hanceville, Ala., was fired into and the pastor and two others fatally shot.

Memorial Chapel Burns. The memorial chapel at Sailors' Snug Harbor, New York, was badly damaged by fire.

Unrest in Russia. The unrest in Russia is increasing, according to dispatches from St. Petersburg. The university at Moscow has been closed and further trouble is promised, while mobilization riots have occurred at several places in Poland.

College Boy Uses Gun. Kingston Gould, son of the millionaire George J. Gould, escaped from hazers at Columbia College by firing a revolver in the direction of a crowd of sophomores who were pursuing him.

WILD TRAIN'S LONG RUN

Locomotive Goes Five Miles Without Her Engineer.

Queer Accident on the Lackawanna Railroad Near Hackensack, N. J.—Fireman Averts All Accidents.

Dover, N. J.—One of the most extraordinary accidents in the history of railroading in the United States happened when Patrick Fortin, the engineer of a heavily laden westbound Lackawanna milk train, was blown out of his cab into a ditch and the train sped on, gathering speed every minute, without any hand at the throttle for five miles.

The milk train is known as No. 43. It was drawn by one of the big camel-backs, in which the engineer and his fireman are cut off from all personal communication by the hump that separates the man at the lever from the man at the firebox. The fog was dense, and No. 43 was running, or rather groping along on orders, but at a pretty smart clip. Just after passing Port Morris a connection leading from the top of the boiler to the engineer's side of the cab blew out, and the concussion was so great that Fortin was hurled out, just as if a pair of giant hands had picked him up and tossed him into the air. He fell into the mud and water of a ditch at the roadside.

The rumble of the running train and the choo, choo, chug of the exhaust drowned the noise of the explosion, so the fireman knew nothing of it, and kept piling in fuel while he watched the gauge to see if steam was holding up to the standard. Long familiarity with the road and the needs of the engine told him to get ready to take water into the tank at Waterloo. He climbed out on the tender, but to his amazement, the train, instead of reducing speed, ran faster.

The fireman clambered back and shouted. No answer came and he peered in. The cab was vacant. In an instant he was in the engineer's place with his hand on the throttle. He brought the train to a standstill with a suddenness that sent the milk cans rattling. He didn't know what had happened, but he did know that the train was plunging through the fog without a guiding hand or an eye ahead.

Meantime Fortin, five miles back, bruised and shaken as he was, realized the peril of the train. His groans attracted the attention of a yardman. "Quick," he cried. "Be quick. I'm hurt. I can't move. Run for your life to the operator and tell him '43' is running wild. He must stop her or she will tear the road loose!"

Without waiting to aid the injured man, who waved him away, the man did as he was told. The operator broke in on the message he was sending with the call, "Nine." The emergency cry on an every telegraph. "Be quick. I'm hurt. I can't move. Run for your life to the operator and tell him '43' is running wild. He must stop her or she will tear the road loose!"

The crew detailed for this desperate expedition waited nervously for the runaway. Many minutes passed, but there was not a sound from up the track. Then some one bethought himself of a freight train that was between "43" and Hackensack. The railroad men at once signalled that "43" had smashed into the freight, and after a longer wait for safety's sake, the "light" engine was sent carefully back to find the wreck. As it happened, however, this freight had been run off on a siding, and the old camelback had a clear track. When the "light" engine backed down the crew found the fireman at the throttle, bewildered by the sudden disappearance of his engineer. A brakeman was at the firebox, and the others of the crew were out looking for the missing man. The fireman thought he had fallen out only a few yards back.

Pat Fortin was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Paterson. He would not be satisfied until they told him his "43" was under control.

"That's good," he said, as he sank back in the cot. "If Bill hadn't stopped her she'd a ripped the hinges off everything in her path."

ONLY 14 YEARS FOR SAZONOFF.

Murderer of M. Plehve Gets Revision of His Sentence.

GAZAR ISSUES MANIFESTO

Pledges Liberty For Peasants and Press and in Religion.

PRESENT AGITATION MUST END

Decree in Eight Divisions Given Out by His Imperial Majesty—Deals More Especially With the Lower Peasant Classes—Concessions Pledged by Sharp Declaration Against Demonstrations.

St. Petersburg, Russia.—Emperor Nicholas' long expected reform phase has been issued. The document deals, under eight heads, with practically all the subjects brought to the Emperor's attention by the memorial of the Congress of Zemstvos. Presidents held here last month, and, while not specifically pledging the Government to carry out the various reforms in their entirety, as demanded by the memorial, promises that each shall be referred to the Council of Ministers, with orders to report promptly on the fullest measures of relief which can be afforded on the various subjects.

One question not touched by the ukase is that of the Constitutional Assembly. Neither is the Jewish religion specifically mentioned, though freedom for all creeds or sects, whether Christian or otherwise, is among the subjects which will be dealt with.

The various subjects will be referred to committees for early report.

The Imperial decree, which is entitled "A Scheme For the Improvement of the Administration of the State," is addressed to the Senate and is as follows:

"In accordance with the reverent wish of our emperor, predecessor, and thinking unceasingly of the welfare of the realm entrusted to us by God, we regard it as our duty and the Government's duty, in conjunction with the unflinching maintenance of the immutability of the fundamental laws of the Empire, to have unflinching care for the country's needs, distinguishing between all that is really in the interests of the Russian people from tendencies not seldom mistaken and influenced by transitory circumstances.

"When the need of this or that change is proved true, then we consider it necessary to meet it, even though the transformation to which this leads involves the introduction of essential innovations in legislation. We do not doubt that the realization of such an undertaking will meet with the sympathy of the well-disposed section of our subjects, who see the true prosperity of the fatherland in the support of civil tranquility and the uninterrupted satisfaction of the daily needs of the people.

"Placing in the forefront of our care thought for the best ordering of the life of the most numerous of our subjects, the peasant population, we may remark that this matter is already under examination.

"Simultaneously with a detailed investigation of the initial proposals of the Ministry of the Interior, which are being carried out locally, conferences are now being held by Commissioners specially selected from among the most experienced of the highest administrative officials regarding the most important questions of peasant life, assisted in their investigation of the general needs of the agricultural industry by the knowledge and experience of local committees.

"We cannot these to labor to bring the laws regarding peasants into unity with the general imperial legislation, thereby facilitating the task of attaining permanent security of this estate, which, by decree of the Czar Liberator is recognized as consisting of free citizens possessing full rights."

Here follow the eight divisions or subheads of the manifesto.

BRYAN LOCKED IN.

Rescued in a Fainting Condition From a Room in Which He Was Shut.

Denver, Col.—Sincerely locked in the office of the station master at the Union Station, unable to open a window, the late Senator William J. Bryan spent the hottest hour and a half he has known for some time. He was rescued in a fainting condition.

Mr. Bryan arrived some time before his train was due and asked for a place to write a letter. He was taken to the station master's office and as the door has a spring lock was fastened in for a long time before he could summon help.

ENTIRE COUNTY SHAKEN

Giant Detonations Wreck Houses For Miles Around.

Hundred Workmen in Powder Plant at Halifax, N. Y., Had Just Left Building When First Burst Came.

Halifax, N. Y.—Detonations like the discharging of heavy guns shook this city the other morning, and hundreds rushed from their homes, believing that a disastrous earthquake was approaching. Only after several hours was it discovered that the supposed seismic disturbance was the result of the blowing up of a part of the Acadia Powder Company's plant in Waverly, ten miles away. The whole county was shaken.

Evidence of the terrible force of the fifty or more explosions are visible for twenty miles in every direction. Great chasms were torn in the ground by the giant force. Window panes were shattered and houses shook as if about to topple from their foundations. The marvelous feature of the terrible accident is that nobody was injured, although there were hundreds of harrowing experiences. Fortunately the powder magazine did not blow up. There were hundreds of tons of powder stored in it, and the loss of life and damage to property would have been appalling had it exploded.

In the home of Robert Layton, superintendent of the plant, the devastation wrought was a real horror. It stood a quarter of a mile from the plant, but there is not enough of it left to put together. Margaret Layton, daughter of the manager, was sitting on the second floor when she was lifted bodily and hurled through two rooms and out of a rear window. Part of the rear extension was blown 200 feet away from its original position, and on this the young woman landed, escaping serious injury. When she recovered consciousness it was found she had only a few bruises and scratches.

The powder plant is a mile outside of Waverly, and there were 100 men employed in the place. There were twenty of them in the dry house at 10.30 in the morning, but they had left the building to go to one of the other small houses of which the plant consists when the dry house blew up. The men were thrown with terrific force to the ground and lay stunned.

Then the explosions began in rapid succession, parts of the stock in the twelve buildings affected blowing up at different times. It was in the first explosion that the home of Superintendent Layton was demolished. The town of Waverly felt the full force of the explosions and shattered glass fell from the windows of every house in the town.

Women and children ran screaming into the streets and many fainted from fright. They had expected the dangerous place would go up in the air some day, but none were prepared for the terrible shaking they experienced for about fifteen minutes. So heavy were the detonations that many persons in Waverly, who were not moved from the powder plant were deaf for hours after the last explosion. When quiet fell upon the plant again there was a rush of men and women to the place, for hundreds had relatives employed there. Their joy was unbounded when they found that nobody had been hurt.

The effect of the explosions was felt in this city with much force. Frightened persons fled from their homes in panic, fearing they were to be engulfed by an earthquake, and for hours they refused to be reassured. When the truth was made known messengers were sent to Waverly to offer relief and medical aid, but their services were not needed.

In several instances locked store doors were blown open by the force of the concussion. The doors of one of the Fire Department houses were forced open and wrecked. In many houses books were shaken from library shelves and articles were dashed from tables.

In an almost similar manner the towns of Bedford, Renfrew and Oldham suffered. In Bedford a small house was thrown from its foundations and almost buried a crowd of merry-makers.

President G. B. Gue, of the Acadia Company, said the thermometer in the dry house registered 150 degrees just before the accident, and that that was normal temperature. The heat must have been increased suddenly through some unknown agency, he thought, to the point where the explosion of the building took place. He said the company's damage would not exceed $25,000. The cost of replacing thousands of window panes in the surrounding towns will be great, but Mr. Gue said the company could not bear that expense.

PARLONS AS CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

Texas Governor Frets Twenty-seven Convicts, Including Some Murderers.

New Orleans, La.—Governor Laum, of Texas, issued twenty-seven pardons as Christmas presents to the convicts in the various prisons of the State. The majority of the pardons were given to men who had long terms to serve for various crimes. A number of murderers were pardoned. The men were released as soon as the notice of the pardons was received, in order that they might spend Christmas at home.

KILLED IN R. R. COLLISION

Hotel Runner Disarranged Ston Signal For a Train.

SEVEN ARE KILLED OUTRIGHT

Engineer Went by and Met Another Train in a Head-on Wreck on the Southern Railroad Near Brown's Crossing, Ill.—Score of Persons Hurt Seriously—Crew of One Engine Jumped.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Through the thoughtless meddling of a hotel runner at the little way station at Brown's Crossing, Ill., a head-on collision of two passenger trains occurred at an early hour in the morning in which seven persons were killed, two injured mortally and more than a score more or less seriously hurt. The trains were No. 1, eastbound, and No. 2, westbound, on the St. Louis division of the Southern Railway, and the collision took place between Mount Carmel and Mauds, Ill.

Station Agent Lindley, at Brown's Crossing, had orders for the eastbound train and set the red light, requiring the train to stop. He was on the station platform attending to baggage, when the train whistled, and a hotel runner pulled the rope inside the station, drawing up the red light and showing white. The eastbound train went by the station at forty miles an hour, while the agent vainly attempted to attract the attention of the engineer. He immediately notified the officers of the road, but he could not notify the agent at the next station because there was no telegraph operator there.

Engineer Buchanan of the eastbound train, knowing he was running without orders, brought his train down to eight miles an hour, after passing the station of Mauds, and was feeling his way carefully when he saw the headlight of the westbound train coming around a curve at the rate of fifty miles an hour, the engineer having orders to pass the eastbound train at Mauds. Buchanan and his fireman jumped just as the two trains came together and thus escaped injury.

The impact of the two trains was terrific. The cars of the eastbound train, which had come nearly to a standstill, were hurled violently forward and caught fire, while the cars of the westbound train were only telescoped partly and all the passengers escaped without serious injury. Engineer Brown and Fireman Rutte were both caught under the burning train and perished in agony in sight of the passengers and train crews, who were powerless to give them aid.

The men passengers soon formed a fire brigade and carried water from a creek near by in their hats. The injured were taken care of by the survivors and physicians were rushed to the scene at once. The score or more of persons injured were in the eastbound train and their hurts were of every conceivable description. As the two trains came together the passengers were hurled violently forward and were piled up against the doors of the coaches, many of them so stunned and bruised that they could not move.

Fire started and was spreading toward the passenger coaches when the baggage car and eating its way toward the injured passengers when the uninjured passengers formed their fire brigade and succeeded in stopping the flames. E. B. McNeely, a newspaper man of Princeton, was riding on the engine with Engineer Brown.

Mrs. McNeely was also on the train, but had refused to ride on the engine, having a presentiment that something was going to happen and had tried to dissuade her husband from accepting the engineer's invitation. McNeely tried to jump from the engine when he saw a collision was inevitable, but caught his foot and did not clear the track. He was badly injured. Eugene Carleton, of Dale, Ind., and Ray Underwood, of Huntington, Ind., were injured mortally, and the following were killed outright:

Albert P. Brown, forty-five years old, Princeton, Ind., engineer westbound train killed at his post; Charles Rutte, Princeton, Ind., fireman westbound train; Homer D. Hogan, mail clerk train No. 1, Georgetown, Ind., crushed to death in car; Henry Oskins, sectionman, Tennyson, Ind.; William Underwood, section foreman, Belleville, Ill.; Cyrus Tulson, sectionman, Tennyson, Ind.; Charles Schmidt, coal miner, Centralia, Ill.

HORSE RESCUES A CHILD.

Lifts Her Out of Danger With His Teeth and Gets a Cheer.

Omaha, Neb.—A jet black horse rescued a child from a perilous position here and was rewarded for his act with the cheers of a large crowd. Five-year-old Ruth O'Hara, carrying a doll in her arms, slipped and fell off the curbstone on Farnham street, alighting under the feet of the horse.

The child's mother became hysterical, and excitedly called to passers-by to rescue the little one. Before anybody could respond the horse moved back away from the child, being careful not to step upon her, and then, putting his head down, he grasped her skirts firmly with his teeth, lifted her clear off the pavement and set her down on the curb. Then he stepped back and looked at her with evident satisfaction.

The streets were crowded with Christmas shoppers, and a great cheer went up from those who saw the incident.

DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF VOTE.

Colorado Lawyer, Who Was Delayed by Wreck, Sues the Railroad.

Denver, Col.—Ernest Morris, a lawyer, has sued the Colorado Midland Railroad Company for $10,016.35 damages for loss of his vote at the November election. THE TOAD IS VORACIOUS.

Ants Cutworms and Honey Bees a Favorite Diet.

According to a recent bulletin issued by the national government the toad is a gross feeder. He sallies forth usually after sundown in search of his prey, which includes pretty nearly every variety of insects and worm, and experiment proves that in 24 hours he will consume insect food of a volume fourfold the capacity of his stomach. In other words, he can fill up four times. Of angle worms he does not seem very fond, though his glutinous habit extends to them if they are too temptingly abundant, as after the earth has had a good wetting.

Ants appear to be his chief delight, with cutworms and thousand-leggers next in order. Then come caterpillars and beetles. Grasshoppers and crickets furnish but a small part of his bill of fare, and spiders still less.

He has no use, apparently, for dead prey; but when an insect or worm comes near him in motion he makes for it eagerly. A cutworm which has discretion enough when in his neighborhood, to keep curled up, may easily escape; but as soon as it begins to crawl, let it beware.

His method of capturing a bug is to dart out his tongue, which, by the way, reverses the usual order of nature, it being fastened in front and loose behind. It is coated with a gelatinous secretion, and

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

By H. E. WHITAKER.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

Entered as second class matter, Apr. 19, 1901, at the postoffice at Columbiana, Ala., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Office over Columbiana Savings Bank.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., Jan. 5, '05

Telephone No. 17.

MASS MEETING.

Editor Sentinel, Columbiana.

Under the direction of Hon. R. R. Poole, the cotton growers and all who are in sympathy with them in their present condition are requested to meet in the several counties of the State to organize for protection against the downward tendency of the cotton markets, the present prevailing price being now below the cost of production. Let every citizen in Shelby county who is interested in this movement come to Columbiana on the 10th day of January to aid in effecting an organization for mutual protection.

We are today confronted with a condition that emphasizes the necessity of co-operation, and a close union of interests between the cotton growers, the local bankers and merchants and ginners of the South. A union whose sole and legitimate object should be to control the consumers of the raw staple to pay its real value. Nothing more, nothing less. And now for a Moses (so to speak) who possesses a desire, the sagacity and ability to steer such an organization clear of breakers and the political quagmire which has clogged the wheels of so many laudable undertakings.

HOSEA PEARSON.

Farmer, Ala., Dec. 28, 1905.

Damaging Wind Storm.

Between seven and eight o'clock on Tuesday morning of last week, Columbiana was visited by a wind and rain storm which left considerable damage in its wake.

A short time before the wind came, the air was hot and sultry, while the sky was overcast with dense, copper colored clouds. In the twinkling of an eye almost the wind came, apparently from every direction. It was all over in two minutes, and then came a great downpour of rain, the water falling in sheets like a deluge. For several minutes it poured incessantly, then slacked.

The wind tore half the roof from the Liles block as if it had been paper, carrying timbers and plank with it like straw. A portion of the debris fell upon the roof of J. W. Johnston's store tearing a big hole. The rain soon flooded a portion of the upper floor in the Liles building, damaging the library of Drs. DuBose & Acker, driving the operators from the telephone exchange and doing some damage in the Knights of Pythias hall. The water soon forced its way through the floor ceilings to the store rooms of Milner & Christian below. Fortunately the most of the water was confined to the rear part of the two rooms or the damage would have gone into the thousands, as it is, Milner & Christian are damaged about $300, Drs. DuBose & Acker about $100 and the building about $100. The telephone company and the Knights of Pythias sustained slight damages.

The roof was temporarily repaired, but the stiff wind of Monday night, this week, blew it off again, but no material damage followed.

Brilliant Wedding at Vincent.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Calvinia Kidd, daughter of W. H. Kidd, of Vincent, and O. S. Landham, of Blocton, was solemnized at the Baptist church, Vincent, on the evening of December 28th, at six o'clock.

At the appointed hour the church was filled to its capacity with friends of the young couple, and the church itself was most attractive with colored lights and handsome decorations of ferns and palms. As Mendelssohn's wedding march was being played by Mrs. J. S. Pitts, of Columbiana, the bridal party entered—Messrs. Frank Nichols and Oscar McGraw as ushers, Marvin Vincent and Miss Sallie Elam, Edgar Kidd and Miss Purnie Pope, G. C. Pitts and Miss Rosa Lyde. Miss Annie Kidd, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and J. C. Landham, brother of the groom, was best man.

As the bride and maid of honor came up one aisle, the groom and his brother came up the other; they met in front of a large arch where a lovely tinsel bell was suspended; as Miss Mary Kidd swung open the tinsel gates the bride and groom marched under, and in a few well chosen words the Rev. C. J. Bentley pronounced them one.

The bride presented a striking appearance in her lovely wedding toilet, the charm of her fresh brunette beauty being accentuated by a white silk bridal gown and becoming veil and appropriate flowers.

ers. The fortunate groom is a prominent educator of the South, and is from Blocton. He is to be congratulated on securing such a companion for life.

Several tables were loaded with superb cut glass, silverware and useful presents which attested the popularity of the couple. The bridal party was entertained by Dr. and Mrs. A. E. McGraw at six o'clock dinner on the evening preceding the wedding, and the color scheme—red and white—was artistically carried out in the decorations, as well as in the sumptuous menu.

Mr. and Mrs. Landham have gone to their future home in Blocton.

Death of Richard Tinney.

Richard Tinney, one of the best known, and a highly respected citizen of Columbiana, died at his home in this city last Friday night at about eight o'clock, aged about 55 years. He was one of those quiet, unassuming men who go through the world without display or pomp but who make up a class of citizenship upon whom you can at all times rely. He is spoken of by those who know him best as being a good husband, a kind father and indulgent to his family so far as his limited means would permit, and his heart would warm to any who were suffering or distressed.

He was a member in good standing of the Masonic lodge in this city, and we are told he had an inherent belief in, and lived up to the ritualistic teachings of that order in every particular.

He leaves a widow and seven children, two daughters and five sons, to mourn the death of husband and father, and in their bereavement they have the sympathy of all.

The deceased was buried with Masonic honors, the funeral occurring from the home Sunday morning at ten o'clock, and quite a number followed the remains to the silent city of the dead.

Quiet Wedding.

A quiet wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pitts just before the noon hour Monday of this week, the contracting parties being Miss Louise Reynolds, of Goodwater, and Mr. M. E. Vincent, of Vincent, the Rev. Joseph Duglin performing the ceremony.

The bride is a sweet girl, and during the few months she has had charge of the music department in our public school she has made a large circle of friends. The groom is a prominent young business man of Vincent to which place they have gone and where they will make their home. May nothing but happiness and prosperity attend them all through life.

Sans Souci Club.

A short time ago a number of the young ladies of Columbiana organized a club for mutual pleasure, which they have christened "Sans Souci." Once each week, "free from care," they propose to meet at the home of some one of the members and have a jolly good time. The colors of the club are green and white, and their flower is the queen of the floral world—the violet, "tender and true, the purple and blue."

Following are the members of the club: Misses Rosser Christian, Carolyn Rowe, Edna Nelson, Emme Abercrombie, Lallage Longshore, Loulah Wilson and Louise Reynolds. As one of their number has recently married and is not now wholly "free from care," there is a vacancy in the club. "Wish I was a girl!"

With Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Among the really pleasant gatherings in Columbiana during the holidays was the entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davis complimentary to the young lady visitors in town. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are pleasing entertainers, and the delightful evening spent at their hospitable home will be a green spot in the memory of their guests for a long time to come.

On Christmas day, at the home of the bride's mother near Wilsonville, Rev. J. G. Walker united in marriage Prof. W. S. McEwen and Miss Lillian Nivens. These young people have many friends in this section of the county, old and young who wish them joy and prosperity in their future life.

Booth Lowery, who is to lecture at the Academy on Wednesday night, January 18th, is said to be one of the best now before the public. The press, where he has been, speak very highly of him.

Mrs. Geo. M. Garth, of Courtland, arrived in the city Tuesday for a short visit with her brother, E. W. Burt.

A baby boy arrived at the home of J. W. Peers last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts Entertain.

Among the most enjoyable events in Columbiana during the holidays was the entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. Joe P. Roberts, on the evening of December 23rd, in honor of their sister, Miss Maud Hobson, of Sylacauga.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts entertained in an ideal and royal manner, presiding over the games and fun making with much grace, making each and every guest feel welcome and entirely at home. Delicious refreshments were served in courses during the evening, and not until the wee sma' hours did the gay assembly wander homeward in the starry night wishing for host and hostess and their visitor a merry Christmas and a happy, prosperous new year.

Greeting.

The Columbiana Mercantile Co. expresses sincere thanks to its patrons for the large business of the past year, and wishes for each one a happy and prosperous new year.

Tribute to the Memory of A. M. Cross

Has there ever come to our town a message more fraught with sadness than that which reached us last Monday afternoon saying that A. M. Cross was dead? What heartache was wrought! He who went from our midst only a few days before, apparently well and strong and in the prime and vigor of life, was stricken down in a moment in a far-away town, whither he had gone with his invalid wife hoping to see her benefitted by the healing waters there. "Surely it can't be true," one friend would say to another, when the message first came. But, alas! we had to believe it.

Montevallo has never lost a nobler citizen; the church has never lost a more faithful member; there was never a home more broken into. It is not such an unusual thing to find a man who measures to a high standard in some one or two ways. It may be that his home life is his distinguishing trait, or perhaps he stands for a good citizenship, or he may be a very useful man in the church, but very rarely indeed is it our good fortune to know a man whose character is so completely rounded, who measures up to so high a standard in such a number of ways. He touched the life about him in so many ways, and in every instance it was to help.

First of all, he was a man of the utmost integrity. He was absolutely reliable in any and every relation in which you would meet him. To deal honestly, fairly, squarely with every man in business was to him second nature—he knew nothing else. Longfellow, our common American poet, has repeatedly done honor to the craft of the smith in his beautiful poems, and surely he must have had in mind such a personality as our friend whom we mourn so greatly today.

In his home life and his relation to his family, Mr. Cross was the peer of any man. A kind and thoughtful, but not over indulgent father, he tried to give his children the best of advantages in every way—socially, educationally, and morally. He made his home just as attractive and comfortable as he could, and provided well for his loved ones, shielding them from every hardship possible. His own limited opportunities made him all the more desirous of securing the best for his children.

As a citizen he stood above reproach. Interested in every movement that was for the public welfare, he did all in his power to further every enterprise that was for the general interest of the community. A member of the town council since the organization of its municipal government four years ago, he did his best to serve the citizenship of the town here, but it was not alone in this capacity that his desire to be of service to his town has manifested itself. He was at the front in every instance when a strong, good man was needed. An example of his generosity to his fellow townsmen was shown when the question of support for the public school became a serious one. He was one of a few large hearted citizens who voluntarily and cheerfully paid full tuition through the entire session in order that other people's children, who he perhaps felt were less fortunate than his, might have the benefit of the "public money."

Again, in his relation to his church, Mr. Cross stood as a man with few if any superiors. Quiet, modest, faithful, unassuming, realizing his own limitations, he went bravely forward to do every duty, to meet every obligation; and his church never imposed that he did not meet it cheerfully and gladly. Here he was a very tower of strength. His was a Christian ty of the practical sort—and may we not also say, of the best type?—there found its highest expression in loving, helpful service to others. For many years a steward in the church he was always faithful and zealous in looking after its interests. When duty called him to some meeting of his church he was never too tired to find his place there, working hard though he did every day. The weather was never too cold or too rainy; it was never too muddy or too dark and dreary a night for him to come over town and meet any obligation resting upon him.

On last Wednesday afternoon, when friends and relatives had gathered in the little church he had loved so well to pay a final tribute to his memory, the beauty and strength of his life were apparent as never before. How strong men wept for sheer grief! One after another of his fellow citizens arose and in a few simple words each paid his tribute to the character of the man he loved, and there were dozens of others who would have been glad of the same privilege. Yet it was a time when words were inadequate so full of emotion were the hearts. None could say all he felt. What a lesson to the young life of the community was before them in the character of this man! How eloquent the silent tributes of hearts too full to speak all they felt, all showing to us how his life had touched and helped so many other lives. Figuratively speaking, the citizenship of the town stood with uncovered heads to do reverence to one so good and noble.

His pastor lovingly said: "He had so many virtues we know not which to emphasize most." He spoke, too, of what cheer and comfort came to him from this warm, genial nature, and how often times a little visit to the shop of this friend had brightened life and given renewed energy. To his pastor he was a strong right arm—a man for any emergency.

Philips Brooks, in his little book, the "Beauty of a Life of Service," points out to us so forcibly that the most beautiful Christian life is that which renders all the service possible to his fellow men, this being the great mission of our Master, and we being the more Christ-like the nearer we utilize every opportunity for helping others. So the life of our friend in its eager, earnest helpfulness, its sweet simplicity, its utter transparency fills these high ideals and we reverently say that his was indeed a beautiful life.

Montevallo, Jan. 2, 1905.

MONTEVALLO.

Dr. Fred and Harry Reynolds were at home Christmas.

Burr Nabors, of Birmingham, visited his mother last week.

Dr. and Mrs. John Peterson spent the holidays with relatives here.

The Industrial School resumed labors Tuesday, after ten days' vacation.

W. H. Skaggs and children visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McConaughy during Christmas.

The two-months' old twin babies of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Vest, a boy and a girl, died Thursday and Friday respectively. In their great loss the parents have the sympathy of the community.

The Christmas tree at the Methodist church on the evening of the 26th, was enjoyed immensely by the little folks of the several Sunday schools. The church was beautifully decorated.

Miss Lucile Wilkinson, who has been visiting relatives at Prattville, was called home to nurse her little cousin, Louise Morgan, and is to be congratulated on the happy recovery of her patient.

Little Louise Morgan has recovered from an attack of scarlet fever. Eugenia Wilkinson has a more severe case of the same disease, but is improving at this writing. It is not thought the disease will spread.

Christmas night, Dave McGinnis, a negro ditcher of this community, delivered himself to Marshal Eddings with the statement that he had killed Nathan West, a negro preacher, near Hale's Kill. No one appearing to prosecute, the marshal on Monday made an affidavit and sent for the witnesses to be examined on preliminary trial before Justice James Harris. It developed that Nathan was beating a woman, and when Dave remonstrated, threatened to kill Dave and advanced on him in an attitude as if to draw a weapon, when Dave picked up a handy shotgun and shot him dead. The prisoner was discharged upon the established theory of self defense.

Alonso M. Cross died at Hot Springs, Ark., December 25, 1904. This news flashed over the wires to the Masonic Lodge, spread rapidly and shocked every hearer.

Mr. Cross left here just a week before, apparently in perfect health, to carry his invalid wife to Hot Springs to be treated. Sunday morning he tried one of the hot baths, and experienced a shock, and he afterwards told his wife, that almost took his breath. The doctors attribute his death to the bath. Monday morning, having secured work at his trade, he just began the shoeing of a horse when his heart failed, and he dropped dead without uttering a word.

He was born at Highland, in this country, forty-five years ago, and lived there until about eight years since, when he moved to Daywood and spent one year. He then came to Montevallo, primarily to educate his daughters in the Industrial School. He established a blacksmith and repair shop, and has been one of the busiest of men. His character and virtues were such that all men were drawn to him in friendship, a feeling which he returned with all sincerity and ardor of soul. "He loved his fellow men."

There was no dissimulation in his composition. He had a keen sense of right and wrong, and was prompt to act on his convictions, with courage and boldness. He was a "Minute Man" on every moral question. No power or influence could avert his determination to do right and resist the wrong. He united with the Methodist church when about fourteen years of age, and led a consistent Christian life. His pastor feelingly referred to him as one of the staunch pillars of his church upon which he could always depend for support in any good work.

While he always exhibited intolerance of evil he had the utmost charity for all men. His heart and hands were ever ready with sympathy and relief to the distressed and the needy; his feet were swift to run on errands of mercy.

He was a worthy Mason, warmly devoted to the principles of that great fraternity, and members of which in Hot Springs, cared for his remains and manifested most comforting and tender consideration for his stricken wife in her terrible bereavement. He was also Chancellor Commander of the K. of P. lodge at this place.

When Montevallo was incorporated four years ago, he was chosen one of its councilmen, and served in that capacity to the time of his death, with the same diligence and faithfulness that characterized his action in every where. He was intensely interested in the cause of education. His disposition was cheerful; a man to associate with was always pleasant and exhilarating. In his devotion to his family and fidelity to his friends he was a model.

His funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon, and he was buried with Masonic honors, and universally mourned as one of the town's best men and citizens. His bereft family have the sincere sympathy of all.

—At a mass meeting of citizens the following municipal ticket was nominated for the ensuing two years: For mayor, E. S. Lyman; councilmen, C. L. Meroney, W. P. McConaughy, J. H. McMath, and G. W. Morgan. The election will be held January 9th. Resolutions commendatory of the present administration were adopted. It has done good work on the streets, improved the cemetery and has a snug balance in the treasury.

—The new firm of Denson & Dawson has opened at the old stand of Davies & Jeter, the latter firm having moved its furniture department to the Lyman building on the opposite side of the street.

—All the smallpox patients are well, and very little the worse for the disease. No more trouble is anticipated. During the Christmas vacation the buildings have been thoroughly fumigated.

—W. D. Evans, a former jeweler of this place, has the sympathy of all Montevallo people in his bereavement, caused by the death of his father which occurred in Goodwater on Christmas morning.

If you would enjoy an evening of pleasure do not fail to hear Booth Lowry at the Academy on Wednesday night, January 18th. He is said to be equal to Bob Taylor on the lecture platform.

A large number of teachers have been taking the examination this week, among them a number of girls from the Industrial School at Montevallo.

Hon. J. R. White has been quite ill for the past few days, but his friends will be glad to know that he is better now.

Dr. Gunn, of Calera, our county health officer, was in town Monday for a few hours.

Uncle Louis Horton, of near Shelby, was among the number who renewed their subscription to The Sentinel last week.

One of the pleasant entertainments during the holidays was a candy pulling at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Milner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Roberts visited relatives in Sylacauga several days during the holidays, returning home on Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Hamner and Tol Smith visited with relatives in Lineville during the holidays, returning home last Friday.

Miss Maude Hebson, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. P. Roberts, during the holidays, has returned to her home in Sylacauga.

Miss Linnie Seale, of Miami, Fla., is in the city visiting her grandmother, Mrs. E. Porter.

Mrs. L. M. Dyke returned to her home in Attalla last Thursday, after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. E. W. Burt.

H. S. Latham was up from Montevallo a day or two last week, visiting Henry, Howard and Mrs. Henry Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam'l Goldberg, of Talladega, were in the city several days last week guests of Mr. and Mrs. Max Lefkovits.

Miss Stella Powell returned Sunday from Childersburg, where she had been visiting home folks during the holiday time.

Miss Mae Onigley, of Louisville, Ky., was in the city during the holidays, a guest of Mrs. W. F. Davis and Miss Florence Fallaw.

H. C. DuBose, a banker of Montroville, was in town Christmas for a short visit with his father, Dr. DuBose, and sister, Mrs. E. W. Burt.

The Sessions boys and Walter Lucas returned Sunday from a visit with home folks in the south end of the county during the holidays.

Mrs. Simon Friedberger and children, who have been visiting their old home in Wilcox county for the past two weeks, returned home Tuesday.

G. J. Dowell, book keeper for the Tennessee Coal and Iron Co., at Bessemer, visited his brother, Prof. S. Dowell, in this city a few days during the holidays.

The Hammond Millinery Co. has moved back to its old quarters in Mrs. Armstrong's building. To the stock may be added a full line of ladies' furnishing goods.

Hon. J. T. Loeper visited with his mother and sister in Birmingham last Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Loeper, who is in poor health, will soon go to Florida for the remainder of the winter.

After a vacation of two weeks the teachers and pupils of the Columbiana Graded School have taken up their work with renewed energy. A number of new pupils have been added to the roll.

Miss Alabama Milner, of Montgomery, was in the city several days during the holidays, visiting at the homes of W. R. A. Milner and Henry Milner. She returned home on Wednesday, last week.

Although the weather was very bad for a day or two before Christmas—pouring down rain—our merchants report a good trade, and it has not fallen off to any extent since that time, as is generally the case.

Pierce Mason, who was at home for the holidays, has returned to his school duties at the Southern University, Greensboro. Pierce is one among the many young boys coming up in Columbia who will be heard from in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Dyke, of Attalla, were in town a few days during the holidays visiting relatives and friends. Mr. Dyke who is in the banking business at Attalla, thinks that town is one of the coming cities of Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Clower, of Dallas, Texas, were in the city during the holidays visiting relatives—the Nelsons. Mr. Clower was a resident of Shelby county half a century ago, but returns here for an occasional visit. He is manager of the the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Company with headquarters at Dallas. Mr. Clower tells many interesting stories of Shelby county in the "way back yonder" time.

J. E. Hendrick, of Montevallo, was in the city for a day or two last week, visiting at the home of H. W. Nelson and with his daughter, Mrs. Howard Latham. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call from Mr. Hendrick, and who also renewed his subscription for another year.

Some of the young men about town had a great time shooting dynamite on Monday following Christmas. They would attach a cartridge to a paper balloon, timing a fuse so as to explode it in mid air. Some of the explosions rattled the windows all over town.

W. R. Lawley, formerly in charge of the Birmingham Title & Guaranty Co's interest in this city, but now in the employ of L. M. Dyke at Attalla, was in the city two or three days during the holidays. Mr. Lawley has many friends in Columbia all of whom were glad to see him.

Rev. and Mrs. T. K. Roberts and mother, Mrs. Roberts, of Oxford, were in the city last Thursday and Friday visiting friends and relatives. The many friends of Mr. Roberts in Columbia are glad to know that his health is better this winter than it has been in a long time. They returned home Saturday.

Hon. Chappel Cory, who was at one time editorial writer on the Montgomery Journal, but now in the employ of the Birmingham Trust and Savings Co., was in the city Monday, and while here paid The Sentinel a pleasant call. Mr. Cory is one of the best known newspaper men in the State, and we thoroughly enjoyed his short visit.

J. R. Hill, of Gulfport, Miss., was in the city during the holiday time visiting at the home of W. G. Parker. Mr. Hill formerly lived in Calera, but is now operating a large saw mill at Gulfport. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call, also a renewal of subscription. Before returning to his home, Mr. Hill visited Dr. E. G. Givhan in Montevallo.

The pretty sign which graces the wall at the foot of the stairs leading to this office, is a Christmas present to The Sentinel from T. F. Vest, Birmingham's most artistic sign writer. Mr. Vest is a Shelby county boy, son of former sheriff Ed. Vest, and his friends in this county will be pleased to know that he has been more than successful in his profession.

Miss Florence Fallaw, who has had charge of the Columbiana Milliner Shop for J. F. Pope for the past two seasons, has resigned her position and will go to St. Louis to accept a position with a large millinery establishment. Miss Fallaw has made many friends during her residence in Columbia, and all regret to see her leave our little city. Mr. Pope will remove the stock of millinery to Wilsonville.

A little bird tells us there is to be a wedding in the latter part of this month in which a Columbiana young man will be one of the contracting parties.

Many of our merchants are now busily engaged taking stock.

G. E. Abbott, of beat 2, was in town last Saturday.

Christmas Wedding.

A pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. F. M. Baldwin at Weldon on Christmas day, 1904, at which time Miss Rheta Baldwin was married to Mr. Joseph Conville, of Sylacauga, the Rev. Mr. McDonald officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. Baldwin—a sweet girl of pleasing graces and accomplishments, and has many friends who love her for the sweet disposition she possesses.

The groom is highly spoken of by those who know him. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of friends and relatives, all of whom wish the young couple a full measure of joy and happiness.

Yule Tide Wedding.

The writer has seldom been at a more enjoyable affair than occurred at the hospitable home of Mr. W. M. Conwell on Christmas day, at which time his daughter, Miss Troy Conwell, was wedded to Mr. Walter Etnes, a Shelby county boy. Hosea Pearson, Esq., in a few well chosen remarks, pronounced the words which made the twin one.

After congratulations, dinner was announced and the few invited guests enjoyed a most bountiful love feast. May peace, prosperity and happiness attend these young people in all the future walks of life is the wish of a large number of friends.

The people of Columbiana are glad to know that Rev. Mr. Duglinson is now a resident of our town, and is making his home with Judge McMillan.

J. H. Abercrombie and Postmaster Abercrombie will each build a residence on College street early in the coming summer.

Mrs. H. E. Whitaker is visiting her mother and sister in Woodlawn.

Papers have been filed in the office of the Probate Judge by the Columbiana Savings Bank asking for a charter for that institution. The capital stock has been increased from $15,000 to $25,000. The incorporators are W. B. Browne, J. T. Loeper, W. G. Parker and W. L. Farley. The officers are the same as heretofore—W. B. Browne president, W. L. Farley, cashier. Those who are in charge of the affairs of this institution are to be congratulated upon its evident success.

Miss Stella Posey, of Harpersville, has been a guest at the home of H. W. Nelson this week, and also attending the examination of teachers.

The Sentinel learns that the People's Store is to occupy the room recently vacated by the Columbiana Milliner Shop.

Go South, Young Man.

Mr. William Frye Tebbetts, collector of the port of Mobile, a guest of the New Willard, is a northerner by birth and a kinsman of Senator Frye, of Maine.

"No young man could have been better treated than I have been in my adopted home," said Mr. Tebbetts. "Instead of going west I would advise the youth of the country to seek their fortunes in the south, for, undoubtedly, this is the future garden spot of the nation. The southern people are growing stronger financially with each recurring season, as can be readily seen when it is remembered that every new crop of cotton adds $500,000,000 to the cash resources of the cotton states. There is one bank in the town of Birmingham that has $7,000,000 in deposits, a total of the big cities of the north can duplicate."

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband should be a woman's constant study. If she would be all that she may, she must guard well against the signs of ill health. Mrs. Brown tells her story for the benefit of all wives and mothers.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and weariness. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was; and the wonderful results she had had from your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time, I was a different woman, the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. I had been suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, but your medicine cured that, and built up my entire system. Till I was indeed like a new woman.—Sincerely yours, Mrs. CHAS. F. BROWN, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., Vice President Mothers Club.—$5000 Refund. If original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced."

THREE YEARS AFTER.

Eugene E. Lario, of 751 Twentieth avenue, ticket collector in the Union Station, Denver, Col., says: "You are at liberty to repeat what I first stated through our Denver papers about Doan's Kidney Pills in the summer of 1899, for I have had no reason in the interim to change my opinion of the remedy. I was subject to severe attacks of backache, always aggravated if I sat long at a desk. Doan's Kidney Pills absolutely stopped my backache. I have never had a pain or a twinge since."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CUTICURA SOAP.

The World's Greatest Skin Soap, the Standard of Every Nation of the Earth.

Millions of the world's best people use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the purest and sweetest of emollient skin cures, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itching and chafing, and many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery.

Rhinoceros Butted Train.

A collision recently occurred on the Uganda railway, British East Africa, that would be possible nowhere else on earth. A huge bull rhinoceros rushed out of the bush and charged at full speed the so-called "up-mixed" train, which was slowing down as it approached the station Sultan Hamud, 218 miles from Mombasa. The train was stopped, and the "rhino" was discovered about 100 yards down the track. Slowly he returned to the jungle, and was lost to sight. He did not escape unharmed, for pieces of his thick skin were found adhering to the train, but the fierceness of his assault smashed the engine step and splintered the inch and a half foot-board of the first carriage.

RAILROAD TIES OF LEATHER.

Made From Scraps Picked Up in Shoe Factories.

One of the most curious recent uses of waste material is the making of railroad ties from scrap leather such as is found in great quantities in shoe factories. F. W. Dummell, of West Warren, Mass., has worked out a process by which ties can be made which he thinks will stand much more wear than any wooden ties. He claims 35 years of usefulness for leather ties used in ordinary railroad traffic, and tests of more than two years in yards where the wear is unusually heavy seem to support his belief in the durability of the ties he has made.

HABIT'S CHAIN.

Certain Habits Unconsciously Formed and Hard to Break.

An ingenious philosopher estimates that the amount of will power necessary to break a life-long habit would, if it could be transformed, lift a weight of many tons.

It sometimes requires a higher degree of heroism to break the chains of a pernicious habit than to lead a forlorn hope in a bloody battle. A lady writes from an Indiana town:

"From my earliest childhood I was a lover of coffee. Before I was out of my teens I was a miserable dyspeptic, suffering terribly at times with my stomach."

"I was convinced that it was coffee that was causing the trouble and yet I could not deny myself a cup for breakfast. At the age of 36 I was in very poor health, indeed. My sister told me I was in danger of becoming a coffee drunkard."

"But I never could give up drinking coffee for breakfast although it kept me constantly ill, until I tried Postum. I learned to make it properly according to directions, and now we can hardly do without Postum for breakfast, and care nothing at all for coffee."

"I am no longer troubled with dyspepsia, do not have spells of suffering with my stomach that used to trouble me so when I drank coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

BAKED SQUASH.

Select a firm squash; wash thoroughly, cut into sections, orange fashion, and place in a pan and bake. If preferred, the squash may be parboiled with maple sugar before placing in the oven to bake.

CHEESE SOUFFLE.

Sprinkle the bottom of a pudding dish thickly with cracker or stale bread crumbs, pepper and salt; then drop bits of butter over it. Next add a layer of chipped American cheese, and so on, alternating the layers of crumbs and cheese till the dish is filled. Over the top turn a lightly beaten egg. Set in the oven and bake for a half hour.

MINCED MUSHROOMS.

Rinse, drain and dry the contents of one can of mushrooms, then cut into small pieces. In a saucepan melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one of minced onion and another of minced carrot; cook two minutes, add the mushrooms, together with a dash of pepper and a pinch of salt. When this is cooked, say in about five minutes, stir in two tablespoonfuls of sifted flour and two cupfuls of tomato liquor. Allow the mixture to cook slowly until thick and smooth, then serve in pastry shells.

CREAMED DRIED BEEF.

One pound of thinly-shaved beef, one-fourth teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of cream or milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two slight tablespoonfuls of flour, and salt and pepper to taste. Rinse the beef well in warm water; put in a stewpan, put over just enough water to cover, and add the soda to it (this counteracts the sour in the dried blood). Set the pan for half an hour on the back part of the stove where it will keep only just warm, then turn off this water; put in the cream of milk, season and let come to boiling point. Cram the butter and flour together, add and let it boil up. Send it to the table in a covered dish.

TOMATO SALAD.

This is as multifarious as the various ways of stuffing. You may have small whole tomatoes peeled, and set each one on a crisp, curly leaf of lettuce, then crown with a spoonful of mayonnaise; may slice the fresh fruit, lay on a bed of watercress and dress with a mayonnaise or French dressing; you may slice again and strech thickly with sweet green peppers, chopped or cut in fine strips with scissors, and over all a French dressing, or combine them with thin rings of Spanish or Bermuda onions, thinly shaved, crisp, tender cabbage or spicy nasturtium leaves.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Sweet oil and putty powder followed by soap and water, are all that could be desired to clean brass and chopper.

If the water is blued when cleaning windows, they will retain their brilliancy longer and polish much more quickly.

For starching muslins, gingham and calicoes, dissolve a piece of alum the size of a hickory nut for every pint of starch. This will keep the colors bright for a long time.

When grease is spilled on the kitchen table or floor, pour cold water on it at once to prevent it soaking into the wood. It will quickly harden, and can be lifted with a knife.

To clean leather, use equal parts of boiled linseed oil and vinegar; shake well together; pour a very little on a flannel, rub well into the leather and polish with a soft cloth.

To remove rain spots from your silk dress, iron on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron. A piece of muslin laid over the silk as it is ironed will prevent any possibility of its acquiring a shiny look.

To clean a clock, lay in the bottom a rag saturated with kerosene oil; the fumes will loosen the dirt and place another saturated rag in the clock, the fumes of which will lubricate the works.

Wall papers that have become bruised or have been slightly torn, and which cannot be matched, are not necessarily ruined. They can be touched up with water color paints, so that at a very little distance no damage is perceptible. The palette from a child's box will be good enough; but you must mix the colors to get the right shades and then touch in the broken pattern.

To make a damp cupboard dry stand in it a bowl of quicklime, which must be occasionally renewed, as it loses its power.

To fill cracks in plaster mix plaster of paris with vinegar instead of water, and it will not "set" for twenty or thirty minutes. Push it into the cracks and smooth off evenly with a table knife.

It is quite easy to remove the ugly green marks caused by damp on stone, tile, and brick floors and steps all that is necessary being a good scrubbing with water in which a small quantity of chloride of lime has been dissolved.

Sprigs of wintergreen or ground ivy will drive away red ants. Branches of wormwood will serve the same purpose for black ants. The insects may be kept out of sugar barrels by drawing a wide chalk mark around the top near the edge.

To prevent articles of silverware from tarnishing warm them when well cleaned and paint them over with a thin solution of collodion in alcohol, using a wide, soft brush for the purpose. Articles so treated must be wiped only with dry cloths.

An ingenious cook keeps cracker boxes, three inches by twelve inches in size, to bake loaf cakes in. Of course, the quick-baking cakes are not indicated, but when a cool or a slow oven is required the boxes run no risk of burning and the paraffin paper with which they are lined prevents the cake from sticking. The size and shape are exactly right for slicing.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Paderewski is coming over again to show us the latest style in scrambled hair, says the Washington Post.

A good many men make money not because they have brains, but because others haven't, says the Birmingham News.

One of the first duties of the Texas Legislature is to make ends meet and tie them in a double bow knot, states the Dallas News.

There is entirely too much time taken up every day trying to help those make up their minds who don't know what they want, the Atchison Globe avers.

Secretary Morton says the American navy has the finest enlisted men of any in the world. Some of the officers are pretty good, too, the Washington Evening Star rightly states.

The new style of tight trousers will bring our local charros into fashion again. Also the creased trouser will have a rest, remarks the Mexican Herald.

An English specialist announces that he has discovered a remedy for defective sight that will obviate the necessity for wearing glasses. Call it Anti-pain-in-the-face, Doctor, advises the Newport News Press.

A St. Louis man was struck by two trains before he could collect his thoughts, and if he does not collect damages he doesn't deserve to have any money.

Naval demonstrations must be a terrible bore to the Sublime Porte, thinks the New York Evening Sun. Hardly a month passes but it has to receive a visit from some squadron. Austria is the latest nation threatening to show the Sultan what she can do.

St. Louis World's Fair buildings that cost $15,000,000 have been sold for $380,000, and, strange to say, no one was hurt in the bargain rush, either.

Chase French—who, judging from his name, might be of either Prussian or English descent—has left a bequest of $90,000 to buy medals for Boston public school graduates. Possibly he thought it wise to have them thus tagged as a warning to the world in general.

A writer to the Editor of The New York Times says: Politeness is such a charming thing—why don't we practice it more? Is there any one in this community who has not had an experience with a polite, painstaking official or man of business? Let him contract his feelings after this experience with those which filled his bosom after an encounter with some rude, indifferent Jack in office. Seeing that we all appreciate good manners, it is really most extraordinary that so few of us make an effort to acquire them. Perhaps, being so busy a people, we think it takes times to be polite. But on the contrary politeness is a great time-saver, being, in fact, the best social and business lubricant in the world. Now York, pause a moment in your bull-fake career, and consider the matter!

We believe sincerely there are bright days for the farm life—days when the longing of youth will be toward the farm rather than from it, says Up-to-Date Farming. Speaking of the advice so tersely given in the heading of this article, and in an article bearing the same head, one of our local dailies expresses the following very sensible thoughts: "How many men there are who wish they had followed such advice. In the restlessness of their youth and their ignorance of the world they look upon life on the farm as 'cribbed, cabled and confined,' and as a thing from which to escape. They go eagerly away, not necessarily to sorrow and death, to be sure, for many attain wealth and fame, but whether they miss or gain prizes in the big outside world the time comes when they look yearningly back to the farm where boyhood days were spent. The one who is poor regrets the lost independence of the life there and has visions of even yet becoming the possessor of a few acres and of getting back to the soil. If he is rich he buys a farm and equips it to suit his taste and his purse, deriving what pleasure he may from his occasional visits there. Perhaps no one appreciates rural life as much as one who left it, and it may be that absence is needed to prove its advantages and its charms. But it is a pity that when the lesson is learned while one is yet young that the wanderer does not make haste to return and remedy his mistake. The time will yet arrive when farming will be recognized as an art and will be followed as a profession. The things that the young find irksome will be fewer than now. The restless boy will make his journey while his years are few and will return satisfied to his home."

A Wise Mother.

A wise mother caught her little boy smoking a cigarette the other day. Instead of inverting him over her knee and nearly spanking the life out of him, she said:

"Johnny, dear, I see you are getting quite a big little man, come away in and I will give you one of papa's great, big black cigars to smoke."

So she marched Johnny away into papa's study, and set him down to smoke one of papa's cigars.

She sat down opposite and watched, while his lips grew white and his eyes yellow, and his hands dropped helplessly, and as a little later she ministered to him with a basin, she had the satisfaction of receiving his vehement promise again until he was older.—New York News.

The music of the triumphal march in Handel's "Judas Maccabaeus" has been adopted by the Imperial College of Music at Tokio as a Japanese air entitled "The Victory on the Yalu."

SISTERS OF CHARITY

Uses Pe-ru-na for Coughs, Colds, Grip and Catarrh--A Congressman's Letter.

In every country of the civilized world the Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs.

With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease, these wise and prudent Sisters have found Peru-na a never failing safeguard.

Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters from all over the United States. A recommend recently received from a Catholic institution in Detroit, Mich., reads as follows:

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio: Dear Sir: "The young girl who used the Peru-na was suffering from laryngitis and loss of voice. The result of the treatment was most satisfactory. She found great relief, and after further use of the medicine we hope to be able to say she is entirely cured."—Sisters of Charity.

The young girl was under the care of the Sisters of Charity and used Peru-na for catarrh of the throat with good results as the above letter testifies.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

Poll tax time!

Pay your poll tax!

J. F. Pope, of Wilsonville, was in town Friday.

R. W. Callaway was a visitor to Birmingham last Sunday.

"O, the snow, the beautiful—ouch! who threw that brick?"

A number of Columbiana people will go to Birmingham to see Ben Hur.

Kick not, that you be not kicked;
a good resolution to make and keep if possible.

A tourist painter was doing a flourishing business in town last Saturday.

C. C. DuBose was in Montevallo several days last week looking after his insurance business.

E. W. Chapman, of Montevallo, was visiting his children in Columbiana several days last week.

Canned Charity may feed the hungry, but then, canned goods are often not just the thing to eat.

Mrs. H. S. Latham, of Montevallo, arrived in the city last Sunday for a short visit with her children.

This is the time of year when most of the farmers go home from town with several almanacs in their pockets.

Dr. E. G. Givhan, a prominent physician of Montevallo, was in town last Thursday, and while here favored The Sentinel with a pleasant call.

New Year resolutions are good to make. Even if you do break over, you were the better while you kept them intact.

Some girls slept on their rights during the year 1904, and now the men have to do the proposing this year, and three more.

"The sleeve," exclaims a late fashion journal, "is the thing." What a man has up that sleeve is really what counts, however.

Miss Willie Chapman, of Montevallo, is in the city visiting at the homes of her sister and brother, Mrs. Harry Roberts and Henry Chapman.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott, whom all the people of Columbiana love and admire, filled the pulpit in the First Presbyterian church in Birmingham last Sunday.

John K. Milner, a popular traveling man who lives in Anniston and whom everybody in Columbiana thinks a great deal of, was in town last Saturday.

We sent out a good many statements to those who are due us for subscription, but the mails must have bucked, for we have not heard from one of them.

Max Lefkovits says if a man who has smoked for several years thinks it is so easy to quit, just let him try it once. Max knows; he is making the effort right now.

Miss Esther Mason will go to Birmingham to see the grand opera, "Tannhauser" which is at the Jefferson the 19th. It promises to be the theatrical event of the season.

The most of our merchants have finished taking stock, and they report a good business for the year 1904. The Sentinel hopes that the present year will be equally as good if not better.

Have you been vaccinated within the past few years? If not, it would not be out of place to have your physician push his needle through your arm. You know the old story about "an ounce of prevention."

Booth Lowery, the popular lecturer, will be at the Academy on the 18th. The press speaks highly of Mr. Lowery wherever he has Stricken With Smallpox.

The friends of John S. Pitts will regret to learn that he has been stricken with smallpox, and is now confined to his home in this city. He has no idea where or when he contracted the disease, but it is said to be of a virulent type.

His children and two sisters have been removed to one of the cottages on the hill east of town, while Mrs. Pitts is with her husband to administer to his wants.

There is little apprehension of a spread of the disease as every precaution has been taken to confine it to the one case. The Sentinel was informed last night that the afflicted man was getting along very well considering the gravity of the disease.

Your School District.

Tax Collector John H. Robertson requests The Sentinel to remind all those who send him their poll tax to be sure and give the number of the school district in which they live.

Rev. John Milner has accepted a call from the Presbyterian church at Roswell, Ga., and has gone to his work. The people of the congregation to which he goes are to be congratulated on having for their pastor so good and noble a man as Rev. Mr. Milner. His amiable nature and goodness of heart will soon win the love of all who come to know him in his new field of work.

Dr. DuBose, who was injured by a fall some seven months ago, informs The Sentinel he is fully recovered from the effects of his injuries, and is able to answer calls in his profession. The doctor has certainly had a siege of it.

Miss Florence Fallaw departed Tuesday for Opelika where she will visit relatives for a short time before going to St. Louis to take up the duties of her new position. Miss Fallaw carries with her the best wishes of our people.

It is rare indeed that our little city has such a treat as that given by Booth Lowery last night. He is an artist of the highest type, and sways his audience from grave to gay in a way that is delicious.—Ex.

Dr. W. C. Williams was in the city last Sunday on his way home to Shelby from Birmingham. Mrs. Williams, who had been visiting at the home of her mother for a week, returned home with the doctor.

Mrs. Ida Millsap, who has been visiting her brother, W. R. A. Milner, during the holiday time, departed for her home in Evergreen yesterday.

The members of the Sans Souci Club were entertained by Miss Edna Nelson last Saturday and report a delightful time.

Rev. Mr. Ponder, of Prattville, was in the city the latter part of last week visiting his sister, Mrs. E. B. Nelson.

Among those who will go to Birmingham to see Ben Hur are Miss Lallage Longshore and Miss Carrie Rowe.

Mrs. Jesse M. Brown, of Birmingham, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Barnett.

Watch that space in this issue. It's a conundrum, which will be solved shortly.

Do not fail to hear Booth Lowery at the Academy on the night of the 18th.

COTTON GROWERS HAVE BIG MEETING.

Many Farmers From all Parts of County Present.

A large number of farmers of Shelby county met in the court house in this city last Tuesday to discuss, and devise some way in which the cotton market at present and in future might be made nearer or real value of the staple.

The meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock by N. N. Mosteller, of beat 2, and H. Pearson was made temporary chairman, and Will Finley temporary secretary.

On motion Judge McMillan and Judge Longshore were invited to address the meeting. Both gentlemen did so, and in a few words expressed themselves as being in sympathy with the movement among the cotton growers of Shelby county to get better prices for their product. Neither of these gentlemen had any plan to offer, but suggested that whatever was done farmers should hold their cotton until they could get what was at least a fair value for it.

Henry Milner and Uncle Matt Wright also addressed the meeting by invitation upon the same subject—the trend of thought being in one way—to better the cotton market, and how it might be brought about.

Temporary chairman Pearson not being able to stay throughout the meeting, John E. Dyke was elected permanent chairman, and Will Finley permanent secretary. Mr. Dyke advised wise and cool action, and an organization which he hoped that every cotton grower would support and stand by through thick and thin.

On motion of J. C. Mooney, of beat 9, the chairman appointed a committee consisting of John Williams, J. S. Jackson, H. Pearson, Henry Milner and Luther Kendrick to draught rules and regulations to govern any organization which might be formed at this meeting.

At this time a motion to adjourn for dinner prevailed, and the meeting was called again at 2 o'clock.

By a unanimous vote on motion made by N. N. Mosteller it was decided to decrease the cotton acreage 25 per cent from what it was last year, and a motion made by the same gentleman was unanimously carried that no cotton be sold by the Shelby county farmers for less than 10 cents before the 10th day of May, next. This was modified, and the price will be that fixed by the meeting at New Orleans on the 24th of this month.

The committee on rules and organization reported as follows:

1. That we advise farmers to hold all cotton for better prices.
2. That we recommend the cotton acreage be reduced 25 per cent from last year's acreage.
3. That the people of each respective school district assemble at the school houses in their respective districts on Saturday, the 14th inst., at 2 o'clock p. m. to organize and elect a vice-president and secretary for each school district to report to a meeting to be called by chairman of the county organization.

HOWEA PEARSON,
J. S. JACKSON,
J. G. WILLIAMS,
L. R. KENDRICK,
HENRY MILNER,
Com.

On resignation of John R. Dyke as permanent chairman, W. A. Tallant was elected to fill the vacancy.

On motion of N. N. Mosteller it was agreed to reduce the amount of fertilizer 25 per cent from what was used last year, and to ask for a reduction in the price.

Following are the names of the presidents chosen for each beat:

Beat 1, E. L. Crumpton, A. Mooney; beat 2, Hosea Pearson; beat 3, W. H. Wyatt; beat 4, W. H. Harrison, Joe M. Allen; beat 5, John Harmon; beat 6, R. J. Griffin; beat 7, D. C. Nickerson, Jas. Fulton; beat 8, J. M. Crenshaw, L. R. Kendrick; beat 9, Tom Taylor, James Mooney, J. S. Jackson; beat 10, R. B. Posoy; beat 11, J. L. M. Fancher, Herman Archer; beat 12, J. M. Allen; beat 13, C. T. Lee; beat 14, W. A. Brusher; beat 15, R. H. Jarrett; beat 16, C. C. Elliott, J. V. Clifton; beat 17, Wm. Powers; beat 18, J. O. Dorrough; beat 19, J. D. Striplin.

On motion the meeting adjourned to meet Monday, January 16th, when all interested are urged to be present.

J. G. Cleveland, of Fairview, is in the city visiting his sisters, Mrs. White and Miss Bettie Cleveland. It is the first time in eleven years that they have been together, and they are truly enjoying the visit with each other.

The Sentinel is in receipt of a communication from Supt. J. O. Dorrough which came too late for this issue.

AN ELEGY.

In Loving Remembrance of Mrs. C. C. DuBose.

"Gently!
She is sleeping.
She has breathed her last.
Gently!
While we are weeping.
She to Heaven has passed."

Thou dost gently sleep beloved, beneath the quiet Indian sod, and above thy silent resting place the winter snows lie deep. The wandering winds will mourn thy requiem;
the mist wreaths and vapor veils will hang a sombre pall about thy tomb in the pale moonlight, and in turn the flowers of spring will bloom above thy lowly bed, the grasses grow green above thy true, pure heart and the soft spring breeze breathe a gentle dirge. But beloved, thou art not forgotten for love is immortal. Thy memory cannot perish. Thou art still loved in Heaven as thou wast on earth. It was fitting that thy precious body should rest, while thy spirit is at Home with thy Redeemer where "His servants shall ever serve Him," and where "they shall walk with me in white for they are worthy."

Peace to thy precious dust until the resurrection morn,
Jan. 1, 1905.

"Ben-Hur."

"Klaw & Erlinger's world famous spectacular production of Gen. Lew Wallace's novel, "Ben-Hur," will be staged at the at the Jefferson Theatre, Birmingham, Ala., January 16, 17 and 18. It is two years since the great religious romance was presented in Birmingham. The furore it created on that occasion is still fresh in the public's mind.
Nothing more beautiful, inspiring, spiritual and edifying than "The Healing of the Lepers" in the last act of this stupendous spectacle has ever been offered on the stage of an American theatre. At this point this great play is truly and in a very high sense "religious." Here the stage seems to have consecrated itself and all its resources to Christianity, and there is nothing that is not reverent, beautiful

This scene and the widely advertised chariot race in the act preceding it are the great special features of the play, which is much of its wonderful value and extraordinary power.

If the American drama had done absolutely nothing worthy in its long career but this—had its fame to rest solely upon this noble product of Messrs. Klaw & Erlinger—it has justified its existence, for in this at least it has shown that the stage may be given over to uses wholly worthy, and commendable and which cannot fail to exert the greatest possible blessing on mankind—that of bringing home with immense force and dignity the eternal truth and verity of the birth into the world of Jesus, the Savior of mankind.

To every man, no matter what his condition, "Ben-Hur" has its appeal. It appeals to the deep-grained, firm-rooted religious feeling in the human heart, and brings back with directness the simple lessons and divine truths that every man born in a Christian land learned at his mother's knee.

MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the United States Treasury Recommends Peru-na.

Another Prominent Physician Uses and Endorses Peru-na.

DR. LLEWELLYN JORDAN, Medical Examiner of the U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who served three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peru-na:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month's treatment brought me a vast change and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow sufferers, Peru-na will cure you."

A constantly increasing number of physicians prescribe Peru-na in their practice. It has proven its merits so thoroughly that even the doctors have overcome their prejudice against so-called patent medicines and recommend it to their patients. Peru-na occupies a unique position in medical science. It is the only internal systemic cathartic remedy known to the medical profession to-day. Cathartics, every one will admit, is the cause of one-half the diseases which afflict mankind. Cathartics and cathartic diseases afflict one-half of the people of the United States.

Robert R. Roberts, M. D., Washington, D. C., writes: "Through my own experience as well as that of many of my friends and acquaintances who have been cured or relieved of catarrh by the use of Hartman's Peru-na, I can confidently recommend it to those suffering from such disorders, and have no hesitation in prescribing it to my patients."—Robert R. Roberts.

Cathartics is a systemic disease curable only by systemic treatment. A remedy that cures cathartics must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peru-na does. Peru-na immediately invigorates the nerve-centers which gives vitality to the mucous membranes. Then cathartics disappears. Then cathartics is permanently cured.

During the interval which has elapsed I have had occasion to resort to Doan's Kidney Pills when I noticed warnings of an attack. On each and every occasion the results obtained were just as satisfactory as when the pills were first brought to my notice. ORCHARD and GARDEN

The Cotswold Sheep.

Cotswold sheep have been bred pure for at least three centuries. The Cotswold of today is in many ways at variance with the old type and it is seldom now that we see a flock of purebred Cotswold that cannot lay claim to the ideal type of a combined wool and mutton sheep. True, they are as large a breed as we have, but did you ever know of a market on which a prime Cotswold lamb would not bring the top figure?

Some very careful experiments have been made in recent years to test the different breeds for profitable feeding. The Cotswold always is right at the top. The now desirable export trade demands the heavy weights that Cotswolds make at two and three years. Cotswold rams have been used by the largest sheep company in the west chiefly for the last 15 years. New stud-breeding flocks are being founded all over the country to supply the demand for Cotswold rams that is increasing with each succeeding year.

As sheep of beauty and high character in their whole general appearance, it can be said that no other breed equals them, and for real sterling qualities as a wool and mutton producer, they are more than holding their own in this country.

Applying Manure.

Farmers will have their own views and practices how to apply the manure. Circumstances and conditions will make more or less difference. A farmer should study the matter carefully and by experimenting on his own land try to find the best methods.

Both methods of plowing manure under and surface applications are practiced, and each will have its advantages. Coarse, strawy manure should produce the best results by plowing under, as it is difficult incorporating it with the surface soil to any satisfactory degree by harrowing. Turned under it will be out of the way of cultivation, decay and furnish food for the roots of the plants as they extend downward.

It will also serve to lighten the soil and furnish vegetable matter which is of importance. The writer used to have an idea that surface manuring, at least on his own land, was altogether the best, but later developments rather indicate that plowing the manure under has its advantages, and is to be preferred.

Of course, soils, seasons and depth of plowing will have some influence or affect in the matter, and one should not be so decided in his opinions and practices that he will not be willing to make a change when indications point to an improvement in so doing.

Then, in conclusion, do all possible of the plowing in the fall, do it in the best manner, and carefully apply all of the manure available in the manner calculated to do the most good.—E. R. Towle, in The Massachusetts Ploughman.

Crib-Biting and Wind Sucking.

A noted English veterinarian says that he couples these bad habits together because they often are inseparable, and says:

"Either may exist without the other, but one (crib-biting) may lead to and end in the establishment of the other. Crib-biting is habit contracted by idle horses who start by playing with the manger—licking or biting it. It may be copied from the habit of another horse, and therefore a crib-biter in a stable is undesirable, because it may teach other horses the habit. Just how and when it arises is a difficult question to answer. I remember one case in which the habit was contracted in only a few days. A horse may 'crib' and not wind-suck, in which state I hold the horse has a vice. When he wind-sucks, he is vicious or unsound? Mere cribbing does not diminish his usefulness. Wind-sucking may not interfere with the working capacity of a horse doing regular, constant work, but should anything occur to prevent his working—as, for instance, a lame leg or a sore back—he will soon diminish his capacity for work. Most horses require some resting place for their teeth or jaws before they wind-suck, but a few are able to do so with no fixed point to rest against. The evil of wind-sucking, I assume, is the distention of the stomach by swallowed air. This leads to gastric defect. I do not believe that the habit has, as a predisposing cause, a gastric affection, nor do I recognize any evidence that indigestion leads to wind-sucking. I consider it merely a bad habit—a vice leading to unsoundness."—Indiana Farmer.

Profit in Guineaes.

One branch of the poultry business has been very much neglected, and that is guinea raising.

A flock of guineaes are about the most profitable that can be kept if they can have the range of the farm. The common guinea is just as good as the albino or white variety, but when cooked the flesh is not so white. In the morning when let out of the poultry house they often stop no longer than to pick up a little of the grain given to the flock before they wander to the fields in search of weed seeds and bugs which they like better than anything that can be given them. They never become tame like hens. They will lay in the nests with the hens during the forepart of the season, but when ready to set they will steal off and hide their nests and hatch their eggs unless watched. Do not let them hatch their own eggs, as they are most careless mothers and a guinea hen that will raise two chicks out of 20 hatched will be doing pretty well. Hatch them under hens and let the hens raise them. They will develop a great affection for their foster mother, refusing to be weaned during the whole season and following her faithfully whenever she is out of the poultry house.

When first hatched guineaes are exceedingly wild and unless confined will wander off and perish, leaving the nest very frequently and within two or three hours after hatching. Guinea eggs do not sell well on the market because of the small size, but for house use they are as good as any and are produced in such abundance and at such little cost that any one can afford to keep a flock for the eggs. Besides being a cheerful bird, they are as good as a watch dog to tell when strangers are around. They detect a stranger as soon as he comes near and set up their shrill cries. They also serve to frighten off hawks as they are sure to raise a clamor if one comes in sight.—Mrs. Henry Koster before Dubuque County (Iowa) Farmers' Institute.

The Busy Bee.

If your hives are poorly sheltered, or full of cracks, the heat will pass out and the bees will have to consume just so much more honey for fuel.

If your bees have a good warm hive, a good queen and plenty of honey, very little care will be required from you until next swarming time arrives. If any hives are gaping in the corners now will be a good time to reat them, and put on an additional coat of paint.

Do not try to keep your bees warm by closing up the entrances of the hives. Make the top as tight and warm as you please, but allow sufficient bottom ventilation.

To protect empty combs from the moth larvae, place them where they will get a good freezing during winter. Nearly all empty combs will be found to contain moth eggs in autumn. If the combs are kept in the cellar, or other moderately warm place, these eggs will hatch into larvae, and feed upon the honeycomb.

Look out for mice getting into beehives during winter. They play havoc with the combs.

Remember, it is just as important to take proper care of the honey, and put it on the market in a first class condition, as it is to use the best and most economical means of securing it. One of the essentials of proper care is keeping the honey in a very dry and warm place; especially is this true of comb honey, or extracted honey in open cans.

Honey taints very easily, and for this reason it is best to use as little smoke as possible when extracting.

After many experiments in melting honey, I have come to the conclusion that it cannot be done without imparting to it a waxy flavor.

When hunting wild bees, light a small fire and burn small pieces of old comb or beeswax, drawing the bees in this way. Then take a comb of honey and let the bees settle on it, and place it inside of a box. When your first bee gets filled, keep your eye on her. After circling several times, each circle being larger, she will start on a straight line from you—sometimes she will start for home when so far away that one needs good eyes to see her.

If the colony is close by, there will soon be others following the first bee. When you can see them leave the comb and go without circling, then get a direct line marked by something you will remember. Get some of the bees into the box and carry them to some other location where your observation will not be broken by trees, and let your bees down on the comb, watching them as before, till you secure a straight line from this point. Now, all you have to do, is to follow up this line until you come to where the other line crosses.—F. C. Herman, in The Farm Journal.

Pinning Off Onion Smart.

"I have been putting up preserves and pickles for thirty years," said a Brooklyn housewife of the old school, "and I discovered the other day that I am not too old to learn something new. I went to New Jersey to see my son's young wife, an Iowa girl. They were married last winter. She was putting up onions—a decidedly disagreeable task. But her eyes are not watery. They were as clear as the sky. She simply nodded and muttered something between closed teeth. 'What in the world are you keeping that pin between your teeth for?' I asked.

"She removed it long enough to say: 'To keep the onions from hurting my eyes. I'll be through in a minute.'"

"I do mean to say that will do it?" I asked incredulously.

"She nodded. The pin was in its place again. She kept it there for ten minutes while I watched her work, and her eyes were as dry as a walnut."—New York Press.

The New Agriculture.

Agriculture has always been the slowest of human industries, as well as the oldest and most fundamental, says Country Life in America; and, although it is a giant beside which manufactures is a pigmy (though a most lively and quick-witted one), it has always been a lumbering and sleepy giant. At last it is wide awake and has swung into the march of progress at no uncertain gait. Most of the half a hundred improvements of the first magnitude during the last ten years represent millions of dollars and some of them are as significant and revolutionary as the invention of the cotton gin.

Right You Are!

"I want one stall," said the man who was not quite himself that evening, very slowly and distinctly. "I regret, sir," replied the box office manager with cold severity, "that I cannot let you have one. You are not sober."

"Sober?" said the man indignantly. "Of course, I'm not sober. Why should I want to see your silly piece if I was?"—London Globe.

STRUGGLES OF INVENTORS.

World Has Been Slow to Accept Devices for Saving Labor.

Andrew Carnegie has just written a life or memoir of Watt, the man who made the steam engine practical. Watt didn't know exactly what he was doing for the race, but if you sit down and try to think of the world without steam engines you will begin to understand.

And just at this point there comes along a man in New York somewhere named Hoffman, who claims, after 30 years' struggle, to have invented a "rotary" steam engine which will relegate to the scrapheap all the engines now in use. Nearly all the people who know anything about engines give Mr. Hoffman the incredulous smile. And perhaps rightly. So they did Watt. But in his case they were wrong.

When Watt's engine was first talked about there were numbers of scientific persons who rose up to give expert opinions on the subject, with very few exceptions, their opinions were exceedingly unfavorable. They were sure it could not succeed, some for one reason, some for another. One declared that the cohesive strength of iron was insufficient to do the work that Watt expected; another detailed an experiment he had made with an iron vessel which burst under the strain, a fact that led him to believe that no boiler could be made strong enough to resist the expanding steam. A third felt sure that if the engine were set to work the weaker parts would all give away. But the prophecies of the scientists in regard to the steam engine were nothing to the forebodings of the working people, who foresaw themselves thrown out of employment, and who repeatedly threatened to "do" Watt.

If you want to get the incredulous smile or the hatred of those who are benefited or who might be benefited if they would, you want to invent or discover something radically new or some new application of an old idea. About a million people who don't know what you are doing and don't care, rise up to knock and sit down virtuously to feast afterward, perfectly sure that they have done God a service.

When, in 1845, it was announced in the papers that a man named Howe had invented a machine that could sew, every tailor gave a loud shout of derision, the idea being deemed superlatively ridiculous. One knight of the shears said that no sewing machine could be made to work unless it could be made to sit cross-legged. Comic poems were printed in the newspapers, and predictions, intended to be humorous, were volunteered that machines would soon be invented that would sweep the houses from cellar to garret, run errands and tend the baby when the woman of the establishment wanted to go out.

Not a tailor in America had the slightest faith in the machine, and many refused even to look at it when Howe took it to their places to exhibit its workings. None would use it, for they were afraid it would ruin their trade, and the popular prejudice among them continued long after its success had been demonstrated. But before this, they were practically unanimous in predicting its failure. The idea that a machine could be made to do the work of human fingers in an operation so delicate as that of sewing was something entirely beyond comprehension.—Minneapolis Journal.

How to Stay Young.

How old are you? The adage says that women are as old as they look and men as old as they feel. That's wrong. A man and woman are as old as they take themselves to be.

Growing old is largely a habit of the mind. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." If he begins shortly after middle age to imagine himself growing old he will be old.

It is to keep one's self from decrepitude is somewhat a matter of will power. The fates are kind to the man who hangs on to life with both hands. He who lets go will go. Death is slow only to tackle the tenacious.

Ponce de Leon searched in the wrong place for the fountain of youth. It is in one's self. One must keep one's self young inside. So that while "the outer man perisheth the inner man is renewed day by day."

When the human mind ceases to exert itself, when there is no longer an active interest in the affairs of this life, when the human stops reading and thinking and doing, the man, like a blasted tree, begins to die at the top.

You are as old as you think you are. Keep the harness on. Your job is not done.—Milwaukee Journal.

The Swiss Census.

The final papers relating to the results of the Swiss census bring out some interesting results. The most notable is, perhaps, the gradual decline of the preponderance of the German-speaking cantons. In 1880 German was the language of 713 per 1000 of the population. Now only 693 per 1000 speak that tongue. On the other hand, the French-speaking Swiss are now 220 per 1000 instead of 214 per 1000 in 1880, and the Italian-speaking 67 instead of 57 per 1000, a growing obstacle to the progress of the pan-Germanic movement of which it is interesting to take note. In the matter of religion Catholicism is gaining at the expense of Protestantism. In half a century the proportion of Protestants has fallen from 593 to 578 per 1000, while that of Catholics has increased from 406 to 426 per 1000.

German Factories.

Work commences in German factories at 6, 6.30, or 7 o'clock in the morning, and usually stops at the corresponding hour in the evening. The workman has a quarter of an hour for breakfast, from an hour to an hour and a half at noon for dinner, and a quarter of an hour in the afternoon for tea. The average length of the day's work is 10 hours.

The interior of a gold-bearing rock was inspected in an Oregon town by means of the Roentgen rays, and veins of gold were as plainly visible as if they had been on the surface.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and neglect are the cause of untold female suffering, not only with the laws of health but with the chance of a cure. I did not heed the warnings of headaches, organic pains, and general weariness, until I was well nigh prostrated. I knew I had to do something. Happily I did the right thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully, according to directions, and was rewarded in a few weeks to find that my aches and pains disappeared, and I again felt the glow of health through my body. Since I have been well I have been more careful, I have also advised a number of my sick friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they have never had reason to be sorry. Yours very truly, Mrs. MAY FAIRBANKS, 216 South 7th St., Minneapolis, Minn." (Mrs. Fairbanks is one of the most successful and highest salaried travelling saleswomen in the West.)

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For over two years I suffered more than tongue can express with kidney and bladder trouble. My physician pronounced my trouble catarrh of the bladder, caused by displacement of the womb. I had a frequent desire to urinate, and it was very painful, and lumps of blood would pass with the urine. Also had backache very often. "After writing to you, and receiving your reply to my letter, I followed your advice, and feel that you and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have cured me. The medicine drew my womb into its proper place, and then I was well. I never feel any pain now, and can do my housework with ease."—Mrs. ALICE LARON, Kincaid, Miss.

No other medicine for female ills in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

BADLY TREATED JAPS

According to Reports of Naval Officers as to Port Arthur Conditions.

WELL KEPT ARE HOSPITALS.

Much Fortifying is Found to Have Been Done by Russians After Actual Siege Begun.

Tokio—A naval officer who has returned here from Port Arthur, discussing the conditions at the fortress, says:

"The condition of the warships and the town was much better than I had hoped for. Evidently there was much fortifying done at Port Arthur after the siege commenced. The works on 203 Meter hill were not permanent, and the trenches there were similar to those used by the Boers during the South African war. It seems that the Russians had no general electrical scheme or movable engines or dynamos for searchlights.

"Russian naval officers say that it is impossible to ascertain whether the Japanese fire or the opening of sea cocks sank the ships in the harbor. The hospitals are fairly well kept, and are still used for the wounded and for prisoners.

"I understand that up to the time of the capitulation the garrison at Port Arthur received only special allowances, but before the surrender General Stossel paid off the men. This, together with the constant purchase by the Russians of supplies from junkmen, may explain the report that there was no treasure left at Port Arthur.

"The treatment of the Japanese prisoners at Port Arthur did not compare with that accorded the Russian prisoners in Japan. The Japanese prisoners were given poor food and no fuel, and only once were they permitted to go outside of the prison."

Cossacks in Neutral Territory.

Tokio—Later reports from New Chwang indicate that General Mischenko's Cossacks, in their recent raiding southwest of Liaoyang, deliberately invaded neutral territory and broke the limits of the war zone.

The reported Russian note to the powers calling attention to China's non-enforcement of neutrality is regarded here in some quarters as absurd. It is felt that China's weakness and constant failure to enforce neutrality must release Japan from obligation to observe restrictions which Russia openly ignored. While the extension of belligerent territory is to be regarded, it is felt that Japan must take steps to protect herself against the repetition of raiding expeditions whose success depends on the violation of neutral territory.

Huan Shan—There has been no serious fighting for several days, though night skirmishes on both sides continue. The most important recently was that in which Captains Kosinoff and Trolitzki, with seventy-five Cossacks, drove the Japanese out of the villages of Mitzi and Tkhangay and captured a large amount of forage at both places. General Linevitch has been inspecting the whole front and finds that the men and supplies are in excellent condition. The Japanese on their side are pushing sapping operations toward the Russian lines at several points, but have not made serious progress.

St. Petersburg—Some of the newspapers here are claiming that the Japanese are using the British island of Tabuan, near Borneo, as a base, and that the British are concealing the fact by preventing communication between Borneo and Singapore, on the ground that the cable is undergoing repairs.

The report from Washington that it is believed the powers will formally protest to Russia against the notice served by her that she will consider herself no longer bound to regard the neutrality of China if Japan continues to violate it, has created astonishment here, where it is held that any protest should be directed against the action of Japan, against which Russia has now thrice warned the powers. Russia's position is that she is bound under the circumstances to take steps for the protection of her own interests.

Lease Brown Ore Fields.

Gadsden, Ala.—The Lacey-Buck Iron company has recently leased a large body of brown iron ore land near Cedartown, Ga., and will at once commence the development of this property, and will also place a large washer. This company owns considerable property in the Gadsden district and mines in the neighborhood of 12,000 tons of ore every month.

Want to Urge Payment of Money.

Rome—The religious orders, strongly supported by Cardinal Vives y Tuto, are urging the vatican to press for payment of the money awarded by the United States for the purchase of the friars' lands in the Philippines. The vatican has replied that nothing can be done in the premises until Archbishop Agius, the apostolic delegate to the Philippines, arrives at Manila and makes his report on the situation.

Policeman Shot at Calera.

Calera, Ala.—G. N. Harriman, a policeman on the force at Calera, was shot in the back and probably fatally wounded in Abe Stein's bar room at that place Sunday. The shooting was done by one of two men who are under arrest in Shelby county on the charge of assault with intent to murder.

Harriman states that the two men formerly worked on the police force, or were deputies in Calera, and that they were discharged and he was given the position which one of them held. He was standing in the saloon talking to a friend when the two men stepped in.

One of them shot him, he states, but he does not know which it was. Both were immediately arrested, but no information could be obtained from Calera last night concerning the shooting.

Dr. Gunn, a well-known physician of Calera, accompanied the wounded man to Birmingham. An operation will be performed today. Harriman was in too much pain and was too weak to stand an operation last night when he was brought to Birmingham and carried to St. Vincent's hospital in Shaw & Son's ambulance.

The wound is in the back, indicating that the man who shot Harriman was standing behind him. The bullet penetrated the lungs and made a very ugly wound. It is probable that Harriman will live.

Harmony for Stockmen.

Denver, Col.—Negotiations have been opened by the officers of the National Live Stock association with the American Cattle Growers' Association, which was organized in this city last Friday by cattlemen who seceded from the stockmen's convention, with a view to establishing harmonious relations between the two organizations. The National Live Stock association's board of control has decided to meet in this city on May 9th next, on which date the American Cattle Growers' association will hold its convention here.

Meanwhile the executive committees of both organizations will make efforts to harmonize their interests in their by-laws and constitutions. It is proposed to have the new association of cattle growers affiliate with the parent organization, exactly as does the National Wood Growers' association. President F. J. Hagenbarth and several members of the executive committee of the National Live Stock association have applied for membership in the cattle growers' association, believing that it can be made of benefit to the united live stock interests of the country.

Convention Begins Today.

Indianapolis, Ind.—With the arrival Sunday of the last Pennsylvania delegation, practically all the 600 miners who will participate in the convention of the United Mine Workers, which begins Monday in Tomlinson hall, were to be found scattered among the several hotels. It is probable that Monday's session of the convention will, after organization is effected, be entirely consumed by the reports of officers.

President Mitchell has prepared a message covering all the important developments of the year, and it is expected that he will look into the future far enough to make several recommendations seeking the continued welfare of the United Mine Workers. It is thought that he will leave the details of the proposed plan to increase the revenues of the organization to the secretary-treasurer, W. H. Wilson, but in all probability he will comment upon the advisability and the need for such a movement. Mr. Wilson in his report is expected to go into this plan in detail, giving the reasons and making suggestions for its fulfillment.

Jail Delivery.

Decatur, Ala.—A jail delivery took place at the city jail Sunday night about 8 o'clock. There were confined in the jail three white men and a negro. Turnkey Chapman was making his rounds for the night prior to retiring. He missed one white man, but thinking he had retired for the night, paid little attention to the matter. The turnkey stepped into a cell to see that everything was alright, and when he did so the door was shoved too and locked on him by one of the white prisoners. The prisoner then made his escape, leaving the turnkey a prisoner in his stead. The turnkey was released later by a member of his family.

The man who escaped was fined in two cases yesterday and another case against him was set for trial this morning.

Carter is Appointed.

Birmingham, Ala.—J. Rivers Carter has been appointed postmaster of Birmingham according to a telegram which was received in official circles here this afternoon shortly before 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

He was endorsed for the office by Messrs. J. O. Thompson and C. H. Scott.

City Can Not Issue Bonds.

Anniston, Ala.—Chancellor W. W. Whiteside, of this city, has rendered a decree in the case of R. A. Mitchell v. the city of Gadsden involving the legality of the election which authorized the issue of $100,000 in bonds for the construction of the water works system, and he has declared that the election was void and illegal. The city is therefore perpetually enjoined from issuing the bonds under that authorization.

Bankers and the Conference.

Waco, Tex.—The following call for a large representation of bankers from the cotton growing states to meet in conference with a committee to be appointed by the cotton convention at New Orleans January 24-26 has been issued:

"To all Bankers of the Cotton States and Territories:

"As presidents of the several bankers' association of the following cotton states and territories, at the special request of Hon. Harvie Jordan, chairman arrangement committee interstate cotton convention, to be held at New Orleans January 24, 25 and 26, 1905, we invite all bankers of these states and territories, whether members of a bankers' association or not, to attend a conference at the St. Charles hotel, New Orleans, January 25, 1905, at 11 a. m., to meet with a committee of cotton growers to be appointed by the convention, and a committee of merchants attending the convention, to devise or adopt a plan for organizing a cotton ware house system throughout these states and territories:

"L. B. Farley, Montgomery, Ala., president Alabama Bankers' Association.

"Charles F. Penzell, Little Rock, president Bankers' Association.

"H. Robinson, Jacksonville, Fla., president Florida Bankers' Association.

"Miller S. Bell, Milledgeville, Ga., president Georgia Bankers' Association.

"D. M. Reynolds, Baton Rouge, La., president Louisiana Bankers' Association.

"F. H. Fries, Winston, N. C., president North Carolina Bankers' Association.

"Frank Craig, South McAlester, I. T., president Oklahoma and Indian Territory Bankers' Association.

"B. E. Mauding, Anderson, S. C., president South Carolina Bankers' Association.

"J. P. Gault, Knoxville, Tenn., president Tennessee Bankers' Association.

"W. H. Rivers, Elgin, Tex., president Texas Bankers' Association.

"William M. Hallston, Richmond, Va., president Virginia Bankers' Association.

and Eugene Williams, author of what is known as the "Waco Cotton Ware House Plan," will attend the meeting and advocate his scheme.

This plan, which has attracted wide attention throughout the country, provides for the erection of a ware house at each point where five thousand or more bales are usually marketed, so that the farmer may, if he so desires, store his cotton, and if necessary, borrow money on the ware house receipt.

Mills to Start Soon.

Anniston, Ala.—A deal was closed Saturday for the purchase of a quantity of iron for the rolling mill of the local plant of the Western Steel Car and Foundry company, and when the first delivery of iron is made the rolling mill will be started immediately. This will be joyful news, as it will not require a long time for the delivery of the iron and this part of the large works will begin.

Superintendent Wrenshall says that this department of the work will resume as soon as the material arrives, and in the contract the iron is to be delivered as soon as possible. The rolling mill of the big plant employs about three or four hundred men when run to its full capacity, and the most of these receive very high wages. A large number of the men employed at the mill before it shut down have returned to the city preparatory to taking positions at the works.

Cotton Program Ready.

New Orleans.—Following the preliminary announcement of the program of the Southern Cotton Growers' Protective Association's convention at New Orleans, January 24th, 25th and 26th, President Harvie Jordan has announced the full official program. Mr. Jordan will open the meeting as temporary chairman. Perhaps the most important question at opening will be the permanent chairmanship. Col. E. S. Peters, president of the recently formed National Cotton association, is prominently mentioned; also Congressman John Shapp Williams, of Mississippi, and Hon. Eugene Williams, of Texas. The latter is father of the "Waco plan" to hold and ware house cotton, which will come up for discussion. A committee to formulate and present a report on the "Waco plan" will meet on January 25th.

A contract has lately been made between the Venezuelan government and Manuel V. Fejera, a Venezuelan citizen, for the exclusive manufacture of matches in that country. This monopoly is based on a law promulgated in 1899, which provided that the match industry should be a source of government revenue. By the terms of the contract in question the importation of matches in Venezuela is prohibited.

Smallest Inhabited Island.

The smallest inhabited island in the world is that on which Eddystone lighthouse stands, for at low water it is only thirty feet in diameter. At high water the base of the lighthouse which has a diameter of only a little over twenty-eight feet, is completely covered by water.

The Swiss military authorities are about to adopt khaki for soldiers' uniforms.

COAL AND IRON

In The South. Alabama's Development in the Last Few Years is Phenominal.

THE FUTURE IS VERY BRIGHT.

Comparisons Made with These Products in Pennsylvania and Predictions as to the Future.

Baltimore, Md.—The great activity in the development of the coal and iron interests of the South and the full demonstration of the success of steel making in Alabama is the theme of an interesting comparison in this week's Manufacturers' Record of Pennsylvania's accomplishments on that line and Alabama's possibilities. It says:

"It is an interesting fact that Alabama with a population of about 2,000,000, is making nearly one-half as much pig iron as the United States made with its 50,000,000 population as late as 1879, or twenty-five years ago, and is now mining one-fourth as much bituminous coal as the whole country then mined.

"In 1879 Pennsylvania made nearly 1,600,000 tons of pig iron, or just a little more than Alabama is now making, and in the next 25 years the progress of Alabama in iron and steel making ought to far exceed what Pennsylvania has done in the last 25 years. As Pennsylvania in 1903 made more than 8,200,000 tons of pig iron, the vast possibilities ahead of the Alabama field can be appreciated.

"Based on its coal and iron, Pennsylvania has created an industrial development which, according to the census of 1900 is represented by about $1,500,000,000 of invested capital, or $300,000,000 more than the aggregate capital of all the manufacturing interests of the Southern States, and yet Alabama alone is 6,000 square miles larger than Pennsylvania, has more iron ore by far than Pennsylvania ever had, and has more coking coal than Pennsylvania.

"Moreover, instead of hauling its iron ore a thousand miles, as Pennsylvania must do for the Lake Superior ore which it uses so largely, Alabama has its ore and its coal and its limestone in such close proximity as to enable it to set the price of pig iron for this country and at times for the world. Today the Birmingham quotation on iron makes the price of every ton sold in the United States, and a few years ago, when the production of iron in this country was in excess of the consumption, Alabama exported in one year, largely to England itself, 250,000 tons, and set the price for pig iron throughout the world. The world is now learning to appreciate as never before the growing value of coal and iron ore, and at last the vast store of latent wealth in the coal and iron regions of the south is beginning to be appreciated as destined to dominate the metallurgical industry, not of this country alone, but of the world."

New Brooklyn Bridge.

New York—Fearful lest the strain to which the Brooklyn bridge is being subjected will weaken it to such an extent that a great catastrophe might be possible, engineers of the department of bridges are reported to have determined that the structure must be almost completely rebuilt. To do this, it will require at least two years and meanwhile traffic between New York and Brooklyn will have to be diverted to the Williamsburg bridge, the new Manhattan bridge and to the Brooklyn subway tunnel, now in course of construction. Four or five years may elapse before this can be accomplished, as great traffic problems will have to be solved beforehand.

An inspection of the Brooklyn bridge shows it to be in a safe condition at present, but it is admitted by all the engineers that steel has an age limit, and that this limit is being rapidly approached. The structure is now having to withstand a weight of traffic which it never was intended to bear. But little will remain of the present bridge except the great stone piers.

It is estimated that the cost will be about $5,000,000.

Fire in Starch Plant.

Oswego, N. Y.—The starch plant of the Corn Products Company was damaged to the extent of $150,000 by fire today, which destroyed the packing department, kiln room and scrapping room. A portion of the granary was also burned. The fire was caused by the explosion of a boiler.

Athens, Ala.—After standing fifty years, the railroad station at this place is being torn down to make room for a more modern structure. The new depot will be of the most improved construction.

Selma, Ala.—This city was cut off for several hours yesterday from telephone and telegraph communication with the outside world on account of the rain and wind storms. The railroads also report heavy damage.

Arrested for Big Robbery.

Columbia, S. C.—Some weeks ago Rudolph Rabens, a German grocer of Charleston, was arrested by the federal authorities charged with complicity in the Kingstree postoffice robbery several months ago. His bond was fixed at $5,000.

Saturday afternoon postoffice inspectors went to Charleston and arrested his brother, Christopher Rabens, on the charge of being implicated in this case, and the latter will be brought at once to Columbia for trial.

It is promised by the United States government officials that the case and the arrests that follow will be the most sensational heard in this state in a long time.

The Rabens formerly lived in Wall-halla, going from there to Charleston, where, it is said, they became mixed up in the Old Star exposition, a gang organized for the purpose of robbery.

Work of Bold Burglar.

Columbus, Ga.—Columbus' mysterious burglar continues to get in his work. Saturday night he broke into Yarborough's saloon, corner of Broad and Thirteenth streets, and stole $1 in money and six or eight bottles of whiskey. The burglary was one of the boldest committed here in a long time. The burglar broke the glass door of the front of the saloon, although this is quite a public place, and crawled through the opening. He made his exit through a side door, after taking down the bar holding the door and returning to the Broad street sidewalk, dropped a big bottle of whiskey to the sidewalk, either purposely or accidentally, shattering it. The police have no clue.

Arrested for Smuggling.

Houston, Tex.—The federal grand jury has returned indictments against several prominent citizens of Brownsville, charging them with smuggling.

The persons involved are influential citizens of that place. It is alleged smuggling has been carried on upon an extensive scale, the operators using Mexicans to transport their goods and securing enough profit upon the articles to pay the Mexicans' fines when the latter were arrested and jailed. Several special agents of the treasury department, including B. Parker, the chief of the special agents of the United States, have been here giving testimony regarding the alleged violations. The names of the persons indicted will not be made public until after their arrest, which has not yet been effected.

Panamans Angered.

Panama—Representatives of all political parties here have asked American Minister Barrett to withdraw the suggestion he made to the Washington government that the functions of governor of the canal zone and minister to Panama be combined in the person of the governor of the canal zone.

It is argued by the memorialists that the dignity of Panama as an independent nation required a separate legation. The American minister has replied that the suggestion was made in the interests of both Panama and the United States, and that he can not withdraw it.

He said, however, that he will report the request to his government without prejudice to the attitude of Panama.

Demands Annulment.

Port au Prince, Hayti—Mr. Powell, the American minister, has informed the government of Hayti that the United States government refuses to recognize the validity of the sentence in continuance to fifteen years at hard labor pronounced by the Haytian court against Jaeger Huber, an American citizen, for alleged complicity in bond frauds charged against the administration of former President Simon Sam and officers of the Bank of Hayti.

The United States demands the annulment of the sentence under protection of energetic intervention. The demand has caused much excitement here.

Italian Bark Goes Ashore.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—An Italian bark, the name of which could not be learned, went ashore five miles south of Palm Beach Sunday. The bark carried a crew of fifteen men and a cargo of 500,000 feet of pine lumber. She sailed from Pensacola for Antwerp. All the crew are safe, but the vessel is on the beach and it is feared that the waves will beat her to pieces to night, leaving a total wreck. The wind is still very high and the sea is rough, and it is feared that other wrecks will be reported tomorrow.

Rice Farms.

Some day large rice farms will be the rule and not the exception along the banks of the Apalachicola river. This is the finest section in the world for rice culture, and those seeking in vestments along these lines should investigate these claims.

It is easier to return compliment than borrowed umbrellas.

Engineer is Killed.

Leesville, Ala.—In a wreck Sunday on the Nona Mills tram road, caused by spreading rails, Engineer Albert Glendow was killed. He tried to escape from the cab, but the locomotive was turned completely over, catching the engineer's head and crushing it.

The report of the Alabama Car Service for the month of December shows 59,251 cars handled as against 65,087 for December, 1903.

ASKS FOR PROTECTION

American Banana Company Files Charges Against Costa Rica.

STATE DEPARTMENT MAY ACT.

Trouble Grew Out of Old Boundary Dispute Between Republics—Loubet Decided Colombia.

Mobile, Ala.—The American Banana Co., through Mr. H. L. McConnell, of Mobile, and associate members, has asked the state department to intervene in their behalf on account of the Costa Rica government having interfered with their planting, railroad building and other operations in the territory now belonging to Panama, but at one time under the jurisdiction of Costa Rica, and have asked for damages in the sum of $2,210,000.

The trouble dates back to the summer or early fall of 1903, when the Costa Rican government slightly interfered with the surveying of the railroad route, but when the United States government instructed its minister to Costa Rica to use his good offices to prevent any further interference, Costa Rica denied having interfered and disclaimed right of jurisdiction, subject to the rendering of the Loubet award on September 14, 1900. Prior to that date the territory in question had for a number of years been in dispute between the Republic of Colombia and Costa Rica, but under terms of a special agreement was under temporary jurisdiction of the latter. That dispute was submitted to President Loubet, of France, for arbitration, whose award fixed this territory as Colombia's.

Admits Jurisdiction.

The president of Costa Rica in his message to the national congress of May 1, 1901, admitted that that award finally settled the boundary dispute. As a matter of fact, however, formal acceptance by the republics was unnecessary as the arbitration treaties provided that no appeal from the decision would be admissible.

After Costa Rica had, in November, 1903, disclaimed the right of jurisdiction and under that disclaimer, Mr. McConnell had continued his work of planting fruit and preparations for building the railroad and improving the port of Gadocan, without which there are no facilities for shipping fruit which is now going to waste. The latter part of July, 1904, the Costa Rica government sent an armed force to Gadocan and intercepted a valuable cargo of railroad supplies and after permitting the discharge of the greater portion of the cargo, confiscated the portion so discharged and stopped all railroad and other work at Gadocan.

In Forcible Control.

The Costa Rican government is still in forcible control of the territory and continues to prevent the progress of the work; also the Panama government, which succeeded to this territory through its secession from Colombia, declared unconditionally by the publication of its constitution on February 15, 1904, its sovereignty and right of jurisdiction, and has since in an official communication to Mr. McConnell, admitted his right of publication and the protection of that government, but declines to take the necessary steps for the protection of his interests.

A special from Washington states that Mr. McConnell has placed the case before the state department, which is now considering what right the administration has to intervene in the affair. During the past two years the United States has not been on as friendly terms with the Central and South American countries as heretofore, and in case Solicitor Penfield decides that the government should stand by McConnell, some difficulty in the settlement may be encountered.

Cattle in Danger.

Eutaw, Ala.—M. H. Murphy, of Greensboro, who owns a 9,000-acre cattle ranch eleven miles from this place is very much alarmed over the river situation. A telephone message from Tuscaloosa says that the river will reach the fifty-foot mark. This will flood the swamp pasture, where 1,200 of Mr. Murphy's stock is wintering, and should an overflow occur here before the cattle are moved, there would be no chance to save them.

Fifty negroes began work this morning rounding up the cattle, and it is expected two days will be consumed before all can be moved. It will take the high water two and one-half days to come from Tuscaloosa here. The cattle average $50 in value.

Opelika, Ala.—Opelika does not want telephone companies and has declined to give a franchise to a second company.

Judge Tallman Dies.

Gadsden, Ala.—Judge James A. Tallman, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Gadsden, died at a Printup house Friday morning at half past 5 o'clock.

Judge Tallman was 87 years old and moved to Gadsden in 1868. He was a Mason and a member of the Presbyterian church. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Harriet Smith, of Eastman, Ga.

Negroes Rob a Flagman.

Oxmoor, Ala.—Two negroes robbed and probably fatally wounded E. G. Almon, a flagman on the Louisville and Nashville railroad Friday night about 8 o'clock at Oxmoor, eight miles from Birmingham. Almon is at St. Vincent's hospital in a very serious condition, with a slight fracture of the skull just above one eye, and a bullet hole through his abdomen.

The train was the second section of No. 19, a freight from Birmingham to Anniston. When the train reached Oxmoor the flagman went back to protect it, and the two negroes jumped on him. They took his pistol from his pocket, and after beating him over the head with the butt, they threw him on the ground and shot him through the back. The ball perforated the intestines and the abdomen, causing what is generally thought to be a fatal wound.

The flagman was discovered by the other employees of the road, who were attracted by the shot. Their suspicions had been aroused by the long absence of the flagman. He was brought to Birmingham on No. 4, which arrived at 9:10 o'clock Friday night, and was carried to St. Vincent's hospital in the ambulance of Shaw & Son.

The negroes made the assault for the purpose of robbery. Friday was pay day on the Louisville and Nashville, and they thought that he would have a large amount of money on his person. They secured only a few dollars, however, as Almon had left his money at home.

Dr. Pressly operated on the flagman Friday night, but there is little hope for his recovery.

Mr. Almon lives on Twenty-first street, Avondale.

Waterworks Nearly Complete.

Bessemer, Ala.—The construction of the new Bessemer waterworks system, which has been delayed several weeks by the past bad weather, is drawing near to completion, and it is stated on positive authority that water will be pumped into Bessemer between now and the 20th of this month.

As it will take several more weeks to finish the cistern on Red Mountain, the water for the present will be pumped direct from Hawkins springs.

All the delayed machinery for the pumps has now arrived and the finishing touches are being made on the pumping station.

The reservoir will have a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons, and will give an average pressure in Bessemer of 80 pounds. The work is being pushed as rapidly as the weather will permit.

Hurt by a Street Car.

Birmingham, Ala.—Green Scott, a farmer who lives in Shades Valley, was seriously injured, his horse was killed and his wagon mashed to pieces by street car No. 418 on the Lakeview line Saturday night about 6:30 o'clock. The accident occurred at Twenty-fourth street and Avenue F.

Scott was carried to St. Vincent's hospital in Shaw & Son's ambulance and an operation was performed. His skull was slightly fractured by the blow he received when the car struck the wagon, and he has other bruises about the head and body.

Well-Known Physician Dead.

Tuskegee, Ala.—Dr. William J. Gautier, a prominent physician, died of heart trouble after an illness of a week. Had he lived thirteen days longer he would have been 80 years of age. He has practiced medicine in Tuskegee for more than half a century.

For a number of years he has been president of the board of trustees of the Alabama Conference Female college. The funeral will take place from the Methodist church of which he was an official member. Deceased is survived by his wife, son and four daughters.

Mobile, Ala.—Ira Carter, colored, was hanged at St. Stephens, Ala., Saturday, for the murder of Conductor S. W. Asked, of Birmingham, on an excursion train at Yellow Pine, Ala., on the Mobile and Ohio railroad on the night of May 24, 1904. This is the first legal hanging in Washington county in sixty-two years.

Farmer Held Up By Negroes.

Decatur, Ala.—A farmer by the name of Sam Townsend, residing some fifteen miles from Decatur, claims to have been held up and robbed about six miles from here while on his way home in his farm wagon late Tuesday evening. The robbers were two strange negroes. He says the negroes took all the money he had, which was $1.17, and they also took a sack of flour, a dollar's worth of coffee, a dollar's worth of sugar and a quart of whisky. One negro covered him with a shotgun while the other one got the property.

Fire at Blountsville.

Blountsville, Ala.—Saturday night about 11 o'clock the splendid residence of A. B. Todd was entirely consumed by fire. The inmates, comprising Mrs. Todd and two little children and several boarding students, had a close race for their lives. Loss, about $2,000; no insurance.

New Bank for Decatur.

Decatur, Ala.—At a meeting of the representative business men of New Decatur held Saturday night the Commercial Savings Bank and Trust Company was organized with a capital stock of $25,000. At the meeting held Saturday night the following board of directors was elected: Dr. W. B. Watson, E. C. Payne, Judge W. H. Simpson, E. H. Allison, Dr. J. A. Hill, Sam Blackwell.

You have no doubt often regretted that this country hasn't a parcel post system, as older countries have. Do you know the reason why we haven't it? Because the big express companies control our national congress, and will not permit the legislation necessary for a parcels post.

The mandate of Pope Pins X dismissing women from the Catholic church choirs has caused thousands of women to lose their positions out of which many made a living. When the politicians make their speeches in the country school houses, just before election, they talk a great deal about office holders being "servants of the people." But after the election, how much of a "servant of the people" is an office-holder? The "servants of the people" run their masters. There's a difference between "before" and "after" taking.

The Sentinel believes if the subject is taken up in the proper manner that the L. & N. management can be induced to run the Mineral passenger train from Shelby to Columbiana. If this can be done our people could go to Birmingham and return with some definite idea as to when they could get back home.

INTERESTING.

More than a tenth of the populist votes cast in Alabama in the November election, were cast in Shelby county. Not a populist vote was cast in either California, Louisiana, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah and Wyoming. In South Carolina there is a mighty lonesome man, that State being credited with one populist vote.

The figures have been compiled by the Associated Press, and are interesting. Here is shown a number of States without any populist organization whatever. Of the six national tickets voted for in the November election, but one (Socialist Labor) polled a less number than the populist. Out of a total of 13,533,820 votes cast, the populist ticket polled 124,381.

The Talladega Reporter puts it in this way: "We have said it before, and now repeat it, that our farmers might try a little tobacco and peanuts in their diversification." Shelby's farmers might take advantage of this suggestion.

The Sentinel would like to see the farmers of Shelby county raise more corn, and more hogs to feed it to. If they will they will be independent of the sharks who manipulate the cotton market to the detriment of the producer.

The Mormons who attempted to capture Zion City were knocked out the first round by Dowie. The old man appears to be fighter, and especially so for his own.

Remember, your poll tax must be paid on or before the first day of February, or you cannot vote in any election that may be held this year. Pay it now.

From Little Beeswax Bridge.

Well, Mr. Editor:

This January 12th finds both Big Beeswax and Little Beeswax from hill to hill, and we big folks in the Kingdom want a bridge at the ford of Beeswax Creek on the Montgomery road, and if it was there this morning we would be all O. K., provided, we held a warrant on the county for eight or nine hundred, and had a ferry boat to transfer the R. F. D. mail carrier from the foot of the hill to the bridge, and the big bullephant to dray him from the bridge to the next hill, and then the mail man could make it all right until he came to Little Beeswax where he would have to leave his buggy with old Skewball and go two miles out of his way to cross on my little bridge, through to John Horton's place. Don't let the Commissioners know that it will take three new bridges and two ferry boats for us to retain our R. F. D. mail route.

AN ANTI-PHARISEE.

COURT HOUSE ARGUMENT.

Will contractors renew the construction of the Shelby county court house and jail at Calais?

This is a question that was argued at length before the Supreme Court of Alabama yesterday. It will be argued again this morning when a final submission will be made.

The question confronts the court in the shape of an appeal from Shelby county Circuit Court which denied a writ of mandamus to be issued to the court of County Commissioners of that county compelling them to go ahead with the erection of the court house and jail at Calais.

The Constitutional Convention of 1901 passed an ordinance providing that within sixty days after the ratification of the constitution, the Court of County Commissioners should order an election by the people on the location of a new court house and jail. They were authorized to issue bonds or otherwise provide funds for this purpose to an amount not exceeding ten thousand dollars.

By the ordinance, also, the court house and jail were to be confined to any suitable point on the Central of Georgia Railway north of what is known as the Backbone Mountain.

On January 27, 1902, the election was held, having been duly ordered by the Court of County Commissioners. Calais was chosen by the vote of the people. The property owners and other citizens of Calais, however, encountered their first opposition in getting the Probate Judge of Shelby county to declare the result of the election. A mandamus writ brought out the declared result of the election.

Everything then went on smoothly. The County Commissioners let the contract for court house and jail and material was shipped to Calais. The construction had begun when, upon advice of counsel, the Commissioners caused a cessation of work by refusing to issue the necessary bonds. In this shape the court house and jail stands today. The stalwarts of Calais again united for the fight and petitioned for a writ of mandamus to be issued, directing the Commissioners, to make the bond issue for the erection of the public buildings. The Circuit Court denied the writ and from the decision an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court.

The contention of the parties against Calais, represented by Hon. Cecil Browne and E. H. Dryer, of Talladega, is, that the Constitutional Convention did not have the prerogative to pass an ordinance authorizing what it did in Shelby county without referring it back to the people for ratification. It is claimed that this prerogative belongs to the legislature of the State.

The validity of the election in Shelby county is also attacked on the ground that it was held after the expiration of sixty days from the ratification of the Constitution, the limit fixed by the Constitutional Convention.

It will be recalled that the people of St. Clair county under the same constitutional ordinance, elected Pell City as the county seat and the County Commissioners built a court house and jail there. Circuit Court has been held at Pell City, but a case involving its existence will soon be in the hands of the Supreme Court.

Colonel T. L. Bulger and J. W. Stother, of Dadeville, are counsel for the Calais people in the Shelby county case now pending.—Advertiser, January 11.

The bureau report has not served the purpose it was designed to serve, but it has given the farmer an insight into his own position and enabled him to sell or hold his cotton with better assurance than heretofore. He will do well to go slow in any effort to cripple the bureau service in this respect.

There is always a good market for hay, and any farmer in the county can raise hay and plenty of it. Try it once.

A little more corn, hay and hogs and less cotton will be great factors in making the cotton price.

The farmers appear determined to decrease the cotton acreage at least 25 per cent.

Do you want to vote? Then you better pay your poll tax.

WITHERSPOON'S IDEA IS THE POPULAR ONE

To Organize Immense Company to Hold Cotton.

Meridian, Miss., Jan. 11.—A mass meeting of over 1,000 merchants, bankers and farmers assembled here yesterday afternoon and passed resolutions unanimously endorsing the Witherspoon plan of relieving the cotton situation as being the most feasible method of affording immediate relief.

Delegates were elected to attend the Cotton Growers Convention soon to meet in New Orleans and resolutions were also adopted by the farmers to reduce the cotton acreage for this year 25 per cent below that of 1904.

Following is the "Witherspoon plan" in full for aiding the South in the present cotton situation. This plan was formulated by a committee of the Meridian Board of Trade, who believe it to be the most feasible solution of affairs. The charter of incorporation of this proposed stock company, states that the organizers are to form a body corporate under the name of the Southern Cotton Company, whose domicile shall be at New Orleans, La., for the following purposes and under the following provisions:

WITHERSPOON PLAN.

First.—The object of this corporation shall be to secure a reasonable price for cotton, and to make the price thereof stable and fixed in the interest of the farmers, merchants, bankers, cotton factories, and all classes of professional and business men of the South, and to destroy fluctuations in cotton. The capital stock of this corporation shall be one hundred and ten million ($110,000,000) dollars, and it shall be authorized to begin business as soon as said capital is subscribed and paid in. The shares of said stock shall be worth $100 each, and shall be payable in cash or in cotton at $50 per bale.

Second.—Said corporation shall buy all the cotton on the market to the extent of one hundred million dollars at 10 cents per pound and shall in no instance pay less than 10 cents per pound, no matter what the market price of cotton shall be.

Third.—Said corporation shall hold all the cotton it may purchase until the market price of cotton shall reach 11 cents per pound, in which case it shall offer for sale all of its cotton at eleven cents per pound no matter how much higher the price of said cotton may be, and shall never sell any of its cotton for more or less than eleven cents per pound.

Fourth.—This corporation shall have branch offices in Meridian, Jackson, Natchez, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Little Rock, Memphis, Birmingham, Montgomery, Selma, Mobile, Atlanta, and such other points as to the directors may seem advisable, and shall deposit its funds in the banks in said cities in the proportion in which the citizens of said cities and the surrounding country may take stock in this corporation, and in those banks in each of said cities in the proportion in which such banks may take stock in this corporation.

Fifth.—This corporation shall be authorized, and it shall be the duty of its officers to lend its funds for the highest interest they can get whenever said funds are not needed for the purchase of cotton, or in other words, whenever the price of cotton is above 10 cents, provided such loans shall be on such terms as to be called in immediately upon a fall in the price of cotton below ten cents a pound, and if on the first day of September of every year the profits of $5 per bale which said corporation may have made in the purchase and sale of cotton and the interest which it may have made by the loan of its funds shall exceed the expenses of the corporation, then the excess, or the net profits, shall be divided among its stockholders and paid to them as dividends.

Sixth.—The board of directors of this corporation shall consist of one director from each of the cities in which it has a branch office, which director shall be elected by a majority of all the stockholders residing in the state in which said such city is situated, and the directors shall be paid a salary and shall devote all of their time and attention to the business of this corporation in said state, in accordance with the provisions of this charter, and shall make all arrangements with reference to purchase, sale, storage and insurance of cotton, and the employment of the necessary agents, and the depositing, lending and collecting of its funds, and shall make weekly reports to the secretary of this corporation.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Seventh.—This corporation shall have a president, secretary and treasurer, each of whom shall devote all his time and attention to the business of this corporation, and who, acting together, shall constitute a board, which shall meet once a week at the domicile of the corporation to receive and consider the reports of the directors, and whose duty as a board shall be to see that each director is discharging his duty, and if at any time said board shall discover that the corporation has on deposit in any state more funds than is necessary to carry out the objects of this corporation in said state, and less funds than may be necessary in other states, then said board is authorized, and it shall be their duty, to transfer such funds as may be necessary and expedient, and in addition to said powers acting together as a board, the president, secretary and treasurer shall be vested with the powers and duties usually incident to such offices.

Eighth.—The stockholders in each state shall for each million dollars of stock taken by the citizens of said state elect a delegate to attend a convention to be held on the 7th day of September of each year at the domicile of the corporation, and such convention shall elect the president, secretary and treasurer of the corporation for the ensuing year.

Ninth.—Each director and the president, secretary and treasurer shall give bond for the faithful discharge of his duties and for any neglect of duty which damages the corporation, suit shall be brought on the bond.

OTHER EDUCATION.

Here are editorial expressions from the Birmingham Ledger that may cause the parents and educators of the state to pause and consider: Our state has law schools to educate lawyers, a medical school to educate doctors, a system of normal schools to educate teachers and some agricultural schools that partially educate men to be farmers. Our state does not provide for the education in the arts. Those who want to be carpenters, plasterers, brickmasons and clay workers. It does not provide any assistance in education for those who want to be iron workers, machinists, locomotive and stationary engineers.

Booker Washington's school at Taskegee is teaching negro boys to raise crops and to know their soils and their needs, and not only agriculture, but agricultural chemistry is taught there. That school is teaching negro boys to be carpenters and builders. They are actually building houses, walls, fences, and doing all wood work. It is teaching them how to make brick, how to lay brick and how to build brick houses. It is teaching them how to be plumbers and steam fitters.

In Alabama the poor negro boy has a school where he can go and learn a trade that makes him a $2.50 a day man instead of $1 a day man.

The white boys of the state have no such school and yet the white people have had control of the state for all its civilized existence. The white people are now in control of the state, own nearly all the property and always have owned it. The white people have had full control of the educational system of the state and yet have not made any provisions for the technical education of their sons, who want to do the real work of building the state.

Booker Washington came Alabama and saw that industrial education would advance his race more rapidly than any other. He taught them books, but his students were also taught to be able to earn larger wages than $1 a day. Washington has done more for the negro boys in a few years than the white people of the state have done for their boys in all the years they have controlled.

This comparison is made because it is a subject of vital importance and there are thousands of wrecked lives in Alabama today that would have been useful to the state if the rulers had provided them with an industrial education fitting them to earn money with their hands. It is a matter that is a shame to us and we ought a remedy it, and at once.—Talladega Reporter.

Allen—Troy.

A wedding of interest throughout North Alabama and in business circles will be solemnized this evening at the home of the bride at West End, when Mr. Edgar P. Allen, of Sheffield, and Miss Florence Troy, of this city, will be married. Mr. Allen is manager of the Cudahy Packing Company in Sheffield, and a former resident of Monteale. Miss Troy is a member of a prominent Alabama family, and is a grand-daughter of the late Judge John S. Storrs who represented Shelby county in the legislature for many years. Several out-of-town friends are here to attend the wedding. Mr. Allen and his bride will leave tonight on a bridal trip and then make their home in Sheffield.—Birmingham News.

FREE TO THE BABIES.

The Eastern Manufacturing Co., of Chicago, will present to every baby, under one year of age, in this county, one solid silver baby spoon with the baby's given name engraved on same. You do not have to pay one cent nor buy anything to get this spoon. The Eastern Manufacturing Co. are large manufacturers and jobbers of jewelry and silverware, and have taken this method of advertising their goods. Instead of spending thousands of dollars for magazine advertising they have decided to give it away direct to consumers.

The undersigned firm has been made distributing agent for this locality. Bring your baby to their store and give its name and age and you will receive one of these beautiful silver spoons all engraved free of cost. This is not a cheap article, it is solid silver of elegant design. Don't fail to look over the elegant line of The Eastern Manufacturing Co.'s goods on display at

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I have read the Sentinel for the last many days. I tell you it is the best paper in town."

Poll tax time!

Pay your poll tax!

A. J. Taylor, of Wilsonville, was in town last Saturday.

Calera has one case of smallpox, in a mild form, however.

Philip Erick and O. O. Bird were Montevale visitors last Sunday.

Milner & Christian have a change in their advertisement in this issue.

Dr. C. T. Acker has been appointed health officer for Shelby county.

Henry Milner was a visitor to Birmingham Tuesday, on a business mission.

J. J. Burk, of Vincent, was in town Tuesday and made The Sentinel a pleasant.

An exchange says "we are to have a mild winter." It didn't look it last Saturday.

Judge Longshore witnessed the Ben Hur production in Birmingham last Monday night.

E. B. Nelson came down from Walker county last Friday for a short visit with his family.

Irwin Wingard, of Wilsonville, was in the city Monday and made The Sentinel a pleasant call.

Mrs. M. A. Parker visited with the family of C. L. Meroney in Montevale Sunday and Monday.

Captain Hobson passed through Columbiana yesterday, on his way to Anniston to fill a lecture date.

Now wouldn't it be nice if all the streets had a good bed of cinders? It would settle the dust question.

The railroads are to put in a new depot at Calera, and work is to begin on the building in a few days.

J. W. Mason was a visitor to Childersburg last Thursday.

Don't forget the oyster supper Tuesday night next at the Central Hotel.

John S. Pitts is reported as getting along as well as could be expected.

There will services at the Presbyterian church on fifth Sunday in this month.

The thermometer registered 13 degrees above zero Monday and Tuesday mornings.

Despite the snappy, frosty weather last Saturday, there was a goodly number of farmers in town.

Miss Willie Hill, of Shelby springs, was a visitor at the home of W. G. Parker Saturday and Sunday.

Robert Edwards, of Sylacauga, renewed his subscription to The Sentinel last week, through J. W. Mason.

Miss Ethel Mason, operator of the Wincleville Telephone Exchange, was in the city last Sunday visiting friends.

One of the hardest rains that ever visited this section of the State, poured down all night long last Wednesday.

J. N. Robertson was among those who saw Ben Hur in Birmingham last Monday night, going to that city on Sunday.

Miss Janie Wallace, who is teaching in the Kingdom neighborhood, visited with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Parker over last Sunday.

Several have paid up their subscription during the past week, but there are a whole lot who seem to have forgotten the printer.

A petition has been filed with the clerk of the Federal Court in Anniston, to place Wm. R. Pearson, of Sylacauga, in bankruptcy.

It is of no use to advertise unless you have the goods, and it is of no earthly use to have the goods unless you advertise, so there.

Dr. O. E. Black, of Wilsonville, was in town Monday, and while here pushed up his subscription to The Sentinel for another year.

Oyster Supper.

The Ladies' Missionary Society will give an Oyster Supper at the Central Hotel next Tuesday night, January 24th. Everybody is cordially invited to come and have a good time.

Mrs. H. E. Whitaker has returned to her home in Columbiana after a three weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. T. F. Vest, 216, Fifty-eighth street, Woodlawn.—Age-Herald, 17.

Miss Edna Nelson was among those who went to Birmingham to see Ben Hur. From there she went to Tuscaloosa to visit Miss L. M. Simms for a short time.

The Ladies' Missionary Society would like to see you at the Central Hotel next Tuesday night. They promise you a good time if you will come. Don't forget it.

The winds blow and the rain fell in torrents last Wednesday night, and the telephone exchange and Milner & Christian's store were again sprinkled to the queen's taste.

J. H. Mason is putting the material on the ground for his new two-story brick building—filling up the space between the Columbiana Savings Bank and the store of J. H. Abernethie & Son.

There are many good things in store for Columbiana this year. Just keep on talking Columbiana when away from home, and there will be more good things coming our way.

As the morning dew reviveth the drooping flowers, so doth charity spread gladness over the countenance of distress, and the sensation of delight she enjoys in her hours of reflection are more exquisite than those which agitate the bosom of the object at the moment it receives relief.

The postoffice department looks to the patrons and road officials to see that the highways covered by mail routes are maintained in such condition that they can be traveled at all seasons. Indifference in this matter will be considered a sufficient cause for the withdrawal of rural service from a community.

Prof. Glenn, superintendent of the public schools of Calera, was in town over last Sunday. Prof. Glenn informs The Sentinel that there was but one vote against issuing bonds for the amount of $5,000 for the building of a school house. The new school building is to be of brick, and Professor Glenn is highly gratified over the assurance of a new school house. He is one of the best educators in the South, and has built up a fine school for our sister town.

The Nichols Mercantile Company of Childersburg, was last week pushed into involuntary bankruptcy by creditors. This company was recently incorporated, the principal stock being held by J. A. Nichols and his son-in-law, J. T. Pitts. There are some sensational stories in circulation in connection with the failure, but as the reports are only rumors as far as The Sentinel has been able to learn, we prefer not to mention them. The liabilities are reported to be about fifteen thousand ($15,000) dollars. Mr. Nichols and Mr. Pitts are both well known in Columbiana, the latter being a brother to Tax Assessor J. S. Pitts of this county.

Attempt to Murder.

The people of Calera are considerably wrought up over a most dastardly and cowardly attempt to murder their town marshal, G. P. Harmon, last Saturday night.

The officer was standing in Abe Stein's saloon about eight o'clock talking to the bartender, when some one, as yet unknown, shot through the window of the saloon, the pistol ball striking Mr. Harmon in the back. The officer straightened up and said, "I'm shot," and at once left the room. Notwithstanding that he was shot almost through, the officer tramped all over town looking for those whom he thought might have done the shooting. But loss of blood and the shock finally made him give up and he was taken to a drug store and his wounds examined by Drs. Gunn and Oliver. It was at once seen that he was in a dangerous condition, and it was decided to send him to a hospital, which was done Sunday.

Mr. Harmon made a sworn statement, thinking his wound might prove fatal, and in the statement accused certain men of threatening his life. Sunday afternoon Sheriff Cox arrested Thomas Hill, Robert Cargile and Wesley Pilgreen who are charged with being implicated in the shooting. Hill is a former marshal of the town, Cargile was at one time a member of the town council, and Pilgreen is a farmer living some three or four miles from Calera, and they were to have had their preliminary examination yesterday, but we understand it was postponed on account of the condition of the wounded man.

An operation was performed upon Mr. Harmon at the hospital Monday, and while he is in a serious condition, it is thought he will recover. He has made an excellent officer, and the people of Calera are righteously indignant over the outrage.

Use of Rural Mail Routes.

The government has recently made a ruling in relation to the boxes on rural mail routes, which will be of interest to all who are located on rural routes.

An Ohio rural mail carrier found in a mail box on his route two letters that was intended for the owner of the box, and had been put there by some one in passing. The letters were confiscated and sent to the government at Washington with a request for a ruling on the subject. The government approved of the act of the carrier and said all mail matter found in any box without stamps or the proper amount of postage must be collected and taken to the postoffice from which the route is operated and held for postage. This ruling means that, notwithstanding a man must buy a box before he can get the benefit of the free delivery, yet he has absolutely no control over it.

Fifth Sunday Meeting.

Following is the program of the meeting to be held with Dogwood Grove Church, beginning Saturday, January 23th, 1905.

T. M. Nelson, Moderator.
C. W. O'Hara, Clerk.

His Composition.

A Boston boy was told by his teacher to write a composition on the ocean and he brought in something like this:

"The ocean is a big hole in the earth about three times as big as Massachusetts, and filled with water the year round and is therefore the wettest place known. The desert of Sarah is the driest place known. The ocean was made long time before George Washington cut down the apple tree."

"When Noah was young man the folks got awful mean. The boys swore and smoked and stole apples, and the girls tattled and run their tungs out sassy which aint nice. Those and other things brought on flood and that helped to make the ocean."

Business Firms Consolidate.

The Columbiana Mercantile Co. and Leo Friedberger have consolidated, and in the future will do business under the firm name of Columbiana Mercantile Company.

The new firm will use the same buildings that both stores have heretofore occupied, and will add to the stock, making the store one of the largest in this section of the State.

From a member of the firm The Sentinel learns that the goods will be arranged into departments, so that customers will know just to what room to go to for any desired article. The consolidation adds strength to the firm, and we are told that new ideas will be developed that will tend to benefit the trade.

The Sentinel congratulates the gentlemen who comprise the firm, upon what will doubtless prove beneficial to all concerned.

A white-winged messenger has reached the office announcing that Mr. D. Walter Boyd and Miss Julia McKibben are to be united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother in Calera on Tuesday, January 24th. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Julia J. McKibben, and the groom is ticket agent for the L. & N. and Southern Railroads in Calera. In advance of the nuptials, The Sentinel wishes for the soon to be wedded couple a world of joy.

Standing room to Ben Hur sold for one dollar, and there was not room enough to accommodate all who were willing to pay the dollar

Mrs. L. C. Armstrong returned home last Friday from a visit with relatives and friends in Montgomery.

Judge J. L. Peters visited with his family in Montevale Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Rosser Clark's fiancé witnessed Ben Hur in Birmingham.

The Sans Souci Club was entertained by Miss Lallage Longshore Friday afternoon. Miss Longshore is a pleasant entertainer, and her guests had a very delightful time.

Miss Linnie Seales, after a pleasant visit with relatives at Coleman and Piper, returned to Columbiana last Tuesday.

The boys of the Academy, who have organized a debating club, are said to show up well in argument. It is their intention to give a public entertainment at no distant day, and invite their friends to come and hear them. Some of our future congressmen may be in our public school.

The Sentinel received a pleasant call from H. Peason, of Farmer, yesterday. He and J. F. Pope will leave for New Orleans next Monday night to attend the National Cotton Growers' Convention.

R. B. Posey, of Harpersville, was in town yesterday.

Mrs. W. C. Williams, of Shelby, was in town yesterday for a few hours visiting her mother.

SUFFERED FROM CATARRH OF LUNGS SO COMMON IN WINTER. CURED BY PE-RU-NA.

A COLD ON THE LUNGS THREATENS TO BECOME SERIOUS.

Pe-ru-na Brings Speedy Relief.

Mrs. H. E. Adams, ex-President Palmetto Club, of New Orleans, La., writes from 110 Garfield Court, South Bend, Ind., as follows:

"I am pleased to endorse Peruna, as I took it about a year ago and it soon brought me relief from a cold on my lungs which threatened to be serious."

"The lungs were sore and inflamed, I coughed a couple of hours every night, and I felt that something must be done before my lungs became affected."

"Peruna was suggested by some of my friends who had used it, and acting upon their advice I tried it and found that it was able to bring about a speedy cure. You have my highest endorsement and thanks for the good it did me."

Sounding the Praises of Peruna.
Mrs. Frances Wilson, 32 Nelson St., Clinton, Mass., writes:

"Had you seen me at the time of my illness and now you would not wonder that I take delight in sounding the praises of Peruna."

"My ailment was a severe cold which attacked the bronchial tubes and lungs."

"I followed your special directions and after using six bottles of Peruna, I was on my feet again. I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."

How Southey Worked.
Southey was a methodical and rapid literary craftsman. "I am a quiet, patient, easy-going back of the mule breed; regular as clockwork in pace, surefooted, bearing the burden which is laid on me, and only obstinate in choosing my own path," he wrote to a friend.

But his method was by no means simple. He was a poet, a historian, a critic, and a miscellaneous writer; he turned out an enormous quantity of matter and succeeded in doing so by working fourteen hours a day and diversifying his labors within his daily round. He had six tables in his library. He wrote poetry at one, history at another, criticism at a third and so on with the other subjects upon which he was engaged, and when he was tired of spinning his brains into verse he turned to history and criticism.

There is a story that he once described to Mme. de Staël the division of his time—two hours before breakfast for history, two hours for reading after, two hours for the composition of poetry, two hours for criticism and so on through all his working day. "And pray, Mr. Southey," queried the French woman, somewhat unkindly, "when do you think?"

Railroad Accidents in Russia.
Russian railroad officials are much alarmed over the increase in attempts to wreck trains in that country. The attempts average one in three days, and 11 per cent result in damage. It is proposed to arm all railway officials and give ex-soldiers positions, and in this way put a check to the practice.

He Constructed Port Arthur.
Major Welttsch, under whose supervision Port Arthur was fortified, is regarded as the greatest living military engineer. He is now 48 years of age. It was he who outlined the entire plan for the fortified circle of mountains and hills surrounding the fortress and most of the work was carried on under his eye.

MIGHT HAVE SAVED IT.
A Lot of Trouble From Too Much Starch Food.
A little boy of eight years whose parents did not feed him on the right kind of food, was always nervous and suffered from a weak condition of the stomach and bowels. Finally he was taken down with appendicitis and after the operation the doctor, knowing that his intestinal digestion was very weak, put him on Grape-Nuts twice a day.

He rapidly recovered and about two months thereafter, his father states, "He has grown to be strong, muscular, and sleeps soundly, weighs 62 pounds, and his whole system is in a fine condition of health." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

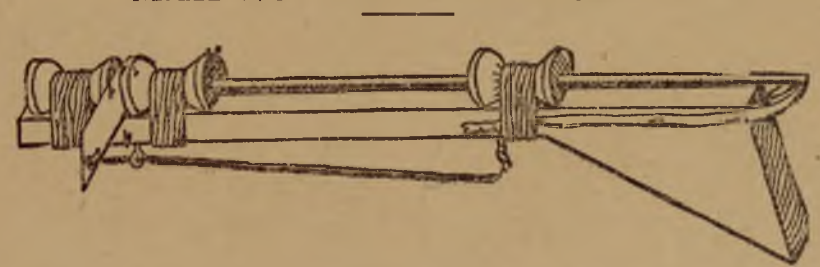

It is plain that if he had been put on Grape-Nuts at an earlier period in his life, and kept from the use of foods that he could not digest, he never would have had appendicitis. That disease is caused by indigestible food decaying in the stomach and bowels, causing irritation and making for the growth of all kinds of microbes, setting up a diseased condition which is the active cause of appendicitis, and this is more marked with people who do not properly digest white bread.

Grape-Nuts is made of the selected parts of wheat and barley and by the peculiar processes of the cooking at the factory, all of the starch is turned into sugar ready for immediate digestion and the more perfect nourishment of all parts of the body, particularly the brain and nerve centers.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," found in each pkg.

MAKING A SPOOL ARROW.

SHOWING BARREL, TRIGGER AND ARROW OF SPOOL GUN.

Here is a gun that may be easily made and which shoots with considerable accuracy. To make this gun it will be necessary to secure some perfectly round sticks one-fourth of an inch thick that may be used as arrows. These may be purchased at hardware stores. The one thing that may appear unusual is that the trigger appears at the muzzle of the gun and not in its usual place.

If the following directions are carefully followed no trouble will be had in making it, otherwise the spools will not be arranged satisfactorily and trouble will follow. Take three common spools, on which thread is wound and slide them on the arrow. Hold them tightly together while you plane or whittle one side of them, so that they will not roll around when laid on a smooth surface.

Make the barrel and stock of the gun from an inch board six or seven inches wide and two and one-half feet long. Mark out on it the shape of the stock and leave the barrel half an inch thick. Along the top of the barrel lay the three spools with the arrow still in them. Two of them must be placed near the muzzle and have a little space between them.

Bind the spools securely to the barrel, keeping the arrow in them while doing so. In binding on the spool near the stock, include the ends of a piece of strong rubber elastic. Stationery shops generally keep strips half an inch wide which are just the thing. The trigger is a small piece of tin nearly two inches long and half an inch wide. A little hole is punched in the lower corner and a short string tied to it.

Next, determine the length of the arrow. Push the arrow backward against the rubber band until the band is drawn very tight. Cut off the arrow at the point between the two spools at the muzzle. Put the tin between the spools and let the arrow rest upon it. If the tin is now pulled away the arrow will be released and will fly away.

Now put a screw eye into the barrel just underneath the tin. Put the thread through it and tie the end onto the barrel, where it will be convenient for the fore finger of the right hand. Leave the cord slack, so that the finger can be inserted in the loop.

Be careful when loading a gun like this not to point it at any one. A little slip can do damage. Lots of fun may be had with this gun if a number of boys or girls practice at a target with it.

A target is best made of a newspaper having a strip of wood nailed across the top and fastened by string to a tree. Let another stick be fastened to the bottom. The person who wins will be the one who causes the paper to tear and let the bottom stick fall to the ground.—New York Evening Mail.

MILLY'S LESSON.
I can see the girl run fast.
I can see the girl run fast.
I can see the girl run fast.

When Milly had written it three times on her paper, she put her hand into her pocket to feel of her lemon-drop. It was big and hard and square. Then she wrote twice more:

I can see the girl run fast.
I can see the girl run fast.
I can see the girl run fast.

Then Miss Preston came up behind her and looked at her paper, and said, right out loud, so that all the school could hear:

"Milly Lane is writing very nicely this morning."

That made Milly so happy that she wanted to celebrate. She wanted to taste of her lemon-drop. The teacher was going up toward her own desk. Milly took the lemon-drop out of her pocket, held it up to her mouth, and nibbled off one little bite. The teacher turned round quickly and saw her.

"Millicent Lane, you are eating candy in school!"

Now as soon as the teacher turned round, Milly slipped the lemon-drop into her mouth. It was in there now, so she could not say, "Yes, Miss Preston." She could only nod her head.

"Have you any more?" Milly shook her head.

"You may go into the dressing-room and stay there until I call you."

Now this was the very first time that Milly had been spoken to for doing anything naughty since she began to come to school, and the term was almost over. She felt so sorry and ashamed that as soon as she reached the dressing-room she gave a great sob. The big, square lemon-drop slipped right down into her throat. Another big sob, coming up, met it. The sob and the lemon-drop could not get past each other, and they made Milly cough and choke. The lemon-drop was stuck fast. Milly put one hand up to her throat, and she could feel one sharp corner pricking against the outside. It seemed as if it would make a hole right through. Oh, how she screamed!

Miss Preston sent Annie Bailey, the oldest girl in school, out to see what the matter was. Annie patted Milly on the back hard, and got her a drink of water, but it did her no good. Poor Milly was so frightened that she screamed again.

Miss Preston came running out, and as soon as she saw what the trouble was, she picked Milly right up in her arms, as if she were a little baby, and ran with her across the street and into a drug-store.

The druggist poured out some milk into a cup, and put in some hot water. "Drink this, quickly," he said.

Milly thought she could not, but Miss Preston said, "You must, quick!" As soon as the hot drink touched the lemon-drop, it began to melt.

Before the drink was all down, the lemon-drop was down, too, and Milly's throat was all right, except that it felt queer for the rest of the day.

"Please, sense me for eating candy in school," she said.

Miss Preston kissed her. "I don't think you will ever forget this lesson," she said.

"The lesson?" said Milly. "Why, I remember just how it looks now!"

"I can see the girl run fast." —Fannie Wilder Brown, in Youth's Companion.

SPONGES OF THE DEEP SEA.
Some of the most beautiful things that live in the ocean are the sponges of the great depth, which have often very curious and interesting forms. Not least remarkable are the so-called "sea nests," which are in the form of spheres or sometimes egg shaped. The outer coat of one of these specimens is a complicated network, over which a delicate membrane is spread. An ornamental fringe adorns the upper part, while the lower portion throws out a mass of glossy filaments like fine white hairs. These hairs penetrate the semi-fluid mud in every direction, thus holding the sponge in its place, while a continuous current of water is drawn by waving "cilia" through all parts of the mass, passing out by a hole at the top. In this manner the animal absorbs whatever food may be afloat. Another singular sponge is the "glass rope," which sends down into the mud a coiled wisp of filaments as thick as a knitting needle. The latter opens into a brush, fixing the creature in place after the manner of a screw pile. Still another remarkable sponge is found in the deep water off the Lofoden Islands. It spreads out into a thin circular cake, surrounded by what looks like a fringe of white floss silk. Yet another curiosity is the "expectella" sponge of the Philippines, which lives embedded in its lid in the mud, and supported by a lovely frill.—Amateur Naturalist.

The Slagen Viking Ship.
According to Prof. Montellus, the Viking ship unearthed at Slagen, in Norway, is a pleasure yacht of the period, having several marked characteristics which distinguish it from the Goikstad ship. The shutters closing the carholes and the shields along the gunwales are absent, proving that the ship was not intended for warfare or long cruises. It is very low amidships. Several costly carved objects were also found, such as sledges, in which even the coachman's footboard is decorated with a handsome carved design and numerous small figures of men and animals. One object was part of a walking stick, the handle of which was carved as a dog's head in fine, almost modern style. Gangways to ships were also found, and ornate handrails ornamented, and so well preserved as to warrant the use of them to-day.—The Atheneum.

Breakfast Twice on Sundays.
"We have a different class of early customers Sunday morning than on week days," said a man who runs a "never-closed" coffee house in the boarding house district near Greeley Square. "They are men who get up as early Sunday as they do other days of the week and who cannot wait for the customary late Sunday breakfast in their boarding houses. When they come out to buy their newspapers and get a shave they stop in for a cup of coffee and a couple of cullers to stay them until a 9.30 or 10 o'clock breakfast. To some of them, on a deposit of ten cents, we lend one-pint tin cans, so that they can take a warm drink home to wifey, who stays in bed."—New York Press.

A Well Deserved Tribute.

The awarding of the Grand Prize to the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., New Haven, Conn., at the St. Louis Exposition, confers upon this company the highest mark of distinction attained by any manufacturer of guns or ammunition in the world. Although a great number of medals were given, the only award of a Grand Prize was to the Winchester Repeating Arms Co.; given as it was in competition with the leading manufacturers of all countries, it testifies decidedly to the superiority of Winchester rifles, shotguns and ammunition. The success attained by the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. at this Exposition is in line with past honors. At the Paris Exposition they received the Grand Prix, and wherever exhibited have always been given the highest possible prizes. This latest recognition of superiority is the natural result of thirty years of careful and successful endeavor in maintaining the high quality of Winchester rifles, shotguns and ammunition.

Body Raw With Humor—Caused Untold Agony—Doctor Did No Good—Mother Discouraged—Cuticura Cured at Once.

"My child was a very delicate baby. A terrible sore and humor broke out on his body, looking like raw flesh, and causing the child untold agony. My physician prescribed various remedies, none of which helped at all. I became discouraged and took the matter into my own hands, and tried Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment with almost immediate success. Before the second week had passed the soreness was gone, not leaving a trace of anything." Mrs. Jeannette H. Block, 281 Rosedale St., Rochester, N. Y.

Another club woman, Mrs. Hauke, of Edgerton, Wis., tells how she was cured of irregularities and uterine trouble, terrible pains and backache, by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—A while ago my health began to fail because of female troubles. The doctor did not help me. I remembered that my mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on many occasions for irregularities and uterine troubles, and I felt sure that it could not harm me at any rate to give it a trial."

"I was certainly glad to find that within a week I felt much better, the terrible pains in the back and side were beginning to cease, and at the time of menstruation I did not have nearly as serious a time as heretofore, so I continued its use for two months, and at the end of that time I was like a new woman. I really have never felt better in my life, have not had a sick headache since, and weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did, so I unhesitatingly recommend your medicine."—MRS. Bogus Checks Passed.

Selma, Ala.—The authorities are searching far and near to-night for two white men, giving their names as Fountaine and Warren, the former having been bookkeeper with the Nevess Lumber Company at Cates, in Marengo county. Fountaine came to Selma a few days ago with a letter of introduction signed by the Nevess company and ordered quite an amount of goods from H. Lillenthal & Co.

He also purchased a suit of clothes for himself. Saturday he returned to the store and purchased about $75 worth of clothes including two suits and two fine suit cases. After he had left, Warren came in and asked for Fountaine. Just then a clerk saw him coming out of Eliasberg & Bros. just across the street with another brand new suit case. Fountaine had presented a check of the company made payable to him for $100 to Lillenthal, saying that he would pay $25 on his purchases and wanted the rest in cash. This was given him.

At Eliasberg's it was found that the man Fountaine had given his name as Hall and presented a check made payable to Hall. He pursued the same plan at Eliasberg's, but got off with both the change and the goods.

A long distance telephone message was sent to Birmingham late Saturday afternoon, asking the local police to look out for, and arrest Fountaine and Warren. The train had already arrived when the message was received, but Policeman Oldham had noticed the two men and remembered that they went to the Metropolitan hotel. He followed them there, but they were out at supper.

Later the matter was placed in the hands of Detectives Bodeker and Hamilton, and, with Policeman Oldham, they finally caught Warren and Fountaine at the union passenger station as they were preparing to board a train for Chicago. They had tickets to Chicago in their pockets.

The men gave their names as F. E. Trapp and Joseph Hern, and denied being wanted in Selma, but they were locked up and will be held until the Selma authorities arrive.

Will Aid Water Movement.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Republic Iron and Steel company, and Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company have offered to turn over to the committees named by the Birmingham Commercial Club, City of Birmingham, Eneley, Pratt City and other suburban towns who are discussing plans looking to a more abundant and cheaper supply of water for the district, the survey, profiles and data gathered two years ago when they made effort to establish a water supply from the Warrior river. The data is very important and cost quite a sum to procure. W. H. Hassinger, general southern manager of the Republic Iron and Steel company, to-day stated that not only would he turn over all the data, but his company would render all assistance to the scheme to divert a stream of water through this district from the Warrior river. He asserts that as soon as the water supply is increased in this district a number of large and small industries will be established here. The plan was first presented by W. P. G. Harding, president of the First National Bank, and it calls on the Board of Revenue of Jefferson county to assist in bringing about the better supply of water.

Badly Burned.

Mobile, Ala.—On the west bank of the Polecat Bay, several miles to the northeast of this city, until Friday stood the home of Stephen Walters, a truck farmer and fisherman. Walters is to-day in a local infirmary and his little home and contents a heap of ashes. In the afternoon while at work on the beach, repairing a boat, he discovered his house on fire. He ran home and in attempting to save some of his effects, was severely burned on the hands, arms and face. A neighbor brought the injured man to Mobile Friday evening in a row boat and he was given surgical attention and taken to the infirmary.

Gadsden Firm Assigns.

Gadsden, Ala.—The wholesale firm of S. W. Riddle and company was placed in bankruptcy Friday at Aniston by Boykin & Brindley upon petition of creditors. Liabilities are estimated at $42,000 with assets about $20,000, consisting of stock. Inability to collect, is the cause of the assignment. One of the oldest firms in this section, it has been doing a large business.

Commits Suicide.

Montgomery, Ala.—Charles L. Jones, aged 30, shipping clerk for Winter, Loch & Co., wholesale grocers, committed suicide by shooting himself Saturday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock. Jones went to the basement of the establishment and fired a pistol ball through his head.

He had lost his money, about $1,000 in cotton speculation. He said in a letter left that he had $10,000 insurance on his life and had legal advice that his heirs could recover the amount. Mr. Jones' accounts with his employers are in every way correct. He was a member of a prominent family of Montgomery and leaves a wife and child.

Jones planned his death with a deliberateness that is astonishing. He wrote a long letter to his uncle, Mr. A. L. Bayne, telling him what to do in the closing up of his affairs. He wanted his body turned over to Undertaker Tice and prepared for burial. He told where his clothes could be found and said he thought the trousers he wore at his death were good enough to be buried in. He asked his uncle to take care of the interests of his wife and see that she secured the $10,000 insurance on his life carried in the New York Life Insurance company.

Mr. Loeb, of Winter, Loeb & Co., for whom Jones worked, said Saturday afternoon that the relations between the house and the dead man were most cordial. He had only been with them a short time but had made himself very popular with the people and quite useful to the business. He had not shown that he intended to kill himself.

Ten minutes before the shooting Jones was as gay as any in the house and seemed greatly interested in his business. He went down cellar to look up some goods and in a few minutes the shot which blew out his brains were heard. His associates rushed down and found his gasping out his life.

Stole Oysters from Express Co.

Selma, Ala.—There was a slick robbery committed Saturday night by a slick negro who stole a number of stick articles. A slick policeman captured the latter later and the chances are bright that a slick shackle will ensue his leg. Russel Slim is the name of the thief now confined in the city calaboose, awaiting trial on Monday. He confessed to his crime and endeavored to pilot the officer to where he had left the stolen goods but the bucket containing articles was not there.

The goods stolen were oysters, the negro having taken a bucket of the bivalves from in front of the Southern Express office. Another bucket was stolen by the same negro several days ago and escaping detection he tried the same game last night. His plan was to borrow a hack, telling the driver that he had a "special fare." He drove up to the express office last night, the oysters being left outside in the cool, and with a boldness his looks belie, quickly picked up a bucket and drove off. The hack was seen to drive off shortly before the oysters were missed and a clue was soon gotten by the police department, leading to the arrest of the negro. It is thought that another negro is implicated with him, the latter having purchased the oysters and the police are looking for him.

A New Supply Company.

East Lake, Ala.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the East Lake Land Company was held Friday afternoon in the First National bank building, resulting in the re-election of the old officers. Reports showed that the sales for the past year amounted to $150,000.

Coal Mines to Open Soon.

Scottsboro, Ala.—The mines of the Northern Alabama Coal Company near Bryant, on Sand Mountain, just across the river from Bridgeport in this county, will soon be in full operation. Dr. F. D. Pierce, president of the company, will have the railroad up the mountain pushed to completion at once.

A New Enterprise.

Enterprise, Ala.—The Henderson Law Company of Enterprise, with a capital stock of $20,000, yesterday filed notice of its incorporation in the office of Secretary of State E. R. McDavid. The incorporators are J. E. Henderson, W. E. Henderson, W. E. Law, J. R. Middlebrook and J. O. Snellgrove. The company will carry on a general merchandise business at Enterprise.

RED WITH RUSSIAN BLOOD.

Snow About The Castle Dyed With Blood Caused By Cossack Balls. Revolutionary Scenes Enacted.

INFANTRY REFUSED TO FIRE.

Dead Estimated from 500 to 5,000.

Awful Scenes at St. Petersburg Sunday Amid Martial Law.

St. Petersburg—Sunday was a day of unspeakable horror in St. Petersburg. The strikers of Saturday, goaded to desperation by a day of violence, fury and bloodshed, are in a state of open insurrection against the government. A condition bordering on civil war exists in the terror-stricken Russian capital.

The city is under martial law with Prince Vasilieffkoff as commander of over 50,000 of the Emperor's guards. Troops are bivouacing in the streets Sunday night, and at various places on the Nevsky Prospect, the main thoroughfare of the city. On the island of Vassiliostrov and in the industrial sections infuriated men have thrown up barricades which they are holding. The Empress Dowager has hastily sought safety at Tsarskoe-Selo, where Emperor Nicholas is living.

Minister of the Interior Sviatopolk-Mirsky presented to His Majesty Saturday night the invitation of the workmen to appear at the winter palace this afternoon and receive their petition, but the Emperor's advisors already had taken a decision to show a firm and resolute front, and the Emperor's answer to the workmen trying to make their way to the palace square today was a solid array of troops who met them with rifle, bayonet and sabre. The Priest Gapon, the leader and idol of the men in his golden vestments, holding the cross, and marching at the head of thousands of workmen through the Narva gate, miraculously escaped a volley which laid low half a hundred persons. The figures of the total number killed or wounded here at the Moscow gate, at various bridges and islands, and at the winter palace, vary.

Estimates Place Dead at 5,000. The best estimate is five hundred, although there are exaggerated figures placing the number as high as 5,000. Many men were accompanied by their wives and children, and in the confusion which left no time for discrimination, the latter shared the fate of the men. The troops, with the exception of a single regiment, which is reported to have thrown away its arms, remained loyal and obeyed orders. But the blood which crimsoned the snow has fired the brains and passions of the strikers, and turned women as well as men into wild beasts, and the cry of the infuriated populace is for vengeance.

The sympathy of the middle classes is with the workmen. If Father Gapon aimed at open revolution he managed the affair like a genius to break the faith of the people "in the Little Father," who they were convinced and who Father Gapon had taught them to believe would right their wrongs and redress their grievances.

Military Have a Firm Grip. The military authorities had a firm grip on every artery in the city. At daybreak guards, regiments, cavalry and infantry had every bridge across the frozen Neva, the work of canals which interlace the city, and the gates leading from the industrial section, while in the palace square, at the storm center, were massed dragoon regiments, infantry and cossacks of the guards. Barred from the bridges and gates, men, women and children crossed the frozen river and canals on the ice by twos and threes, hurrying to the palace square, where they were sure the Emperor would be present to hear them. But the street approaches to the square were clear of volleys and cossack charges. Men and women, infuriated to frenzy by the loss of loved ones, cursed the soldiers, while they retreated sorrowfully. Men harrassed the crowds, telling them that the Emperor had foiled them, and that the time had come to act. Men began to build barricades in the Nevsky Prospect and at other points, using any material that came to hand, and even chopping down telegraph poles.

Fighting meantime continued at various places, soldiers volleying and charging the mob. The whole city was in a state of panic. Women were running through the streets seeking loss members of their families. Several barricades were carried by the troops.

Toward 8 o'clock in the evening Bush Hardware Co. Fails. Macon, Ga.—A petition in bankruptcy was filed against the Bush Hardware Company. There are three petitioning creditors and their claims aggregating $28,843.59. The stock of the company is said to be worth $40,000. The event comes as a surprise to business circles.

Honored Robert E. Lee. Raleigh, N. C.—The general assembly of North Carolina adjourned Thursday in honor of Robert E. Lee's birthday. Many tributes were paid, and the expression that in the South the time had come when a just tribute could be paid to the blue as well as the gray was applauded.

The United States has 320 retired brigadier generals.

the crowds, exhausted, began to disperse, leaving the military in possession. As they retreated up the Nevsky Prospect the workmen put out all the lights. The little chapel at the Narva gate was wrecked. On the Vassiliostrov Island all the lights were extinguished.

Officer Found Alone Mobbed. Every officer wearing the uniform of the Emperor who was found alone was mobbed. A general was killed on the Nicholas bridge and a dozen officers were seized, stripped of their epaulets and deprived of their swords.

Charged on Unarmed Strikes. The revolt of the striking workmen in this city resulted Sunday in demonstrations of great strength in various parts of the city, and there were many conflicts between the strikers and troops, in one of which a detachment of Uhlans fired into a crowd, killing or wounding eighty persons. Gapon, the strike leader, was arrested.

One of the most serious developments of the day was as the strikers approached the St. Nicholas bridge. The infantry opposed to them laid down their rifles and refused to fire on the workmen. As the strikers approached from Vassiliostrov, they they stopped by a strong force of infantry, Uhlans and Cossacks. The strike leaders appealed to the soldiers not to fire on their brothers and the infantry then laid down their arms, but the Uhlans and Cossacks, obeying orders, drove the crowd back with their swords, wounding many.

A military band was playing while this conflict was going on. The Emperor remained at Tsarskoe-Selo. At 2:22 p. m. the mob and troops were in open conflict around the palace.

At 2:55 p. m. the pressure of the mob around the palace square was becoming irresistible. The troops, at that time, were unable to drive back the dense masses of people. Two volleys were fired into the crowd. There was a gathering this afternoon of ten thousand of the Putloff strikers, at which speeches were made protesting against dilatory action, declaring it characteristic of the Emperor's attitude toward the people. These sentiments were received with cheers and shouts of: "Down with the monarchy!"

Report at Hospitals. Returns from only three of the numerous hospitals give 32 dead and 125 wounded.

The rioters broke windows in the palace of Grand Duke Alexis.

Armed with Various Weapons. The workmen tonight are arming with every conceivable weapon for a renewal of the struggle. They have few firearms, but are improvising trade implements into weapons.

First Trouble Began. The first trouble began at 11 o'clock, when the military tried to turn back some thousands of the Putloff strikers at one of the bridges connecting the great industrial quarter with the central portions of the city. The same thing happened almost simultaneously at other bridges. The constant flow of workmen pressing forward refused to be denied access to the common rendezvous at the palace square. The Cossacks at first dispersing groups of too demonstrators, and finally fired.

The front ranks of the demonstrators fell on their knees and implored the Cossacks to let them pass, protesting that they had no hostile intentions.

Their pleas, however, were refused, and orders were given for the military to load their rifles with ball cartridges. As the mob pressed forward the Cossacks fired.

Public Passion Broke Loose with Fury. Then the public passion broke loose like a bursting dam as the people saw the dead and dying carried away in all directions. The snow on the streets and pavements is soaked with blood, while cries went up for vengeance. A great mass meeting was held at the headquarters of the workmen's union, where speakers denounced the military, inveighed against the government and attacked the Emperor himself, while the crowd responded, "down with monarchy!"

Father Sergius Killed. St. Petersburg, 6:45 p. m. Sunday at the Neva gate the troops fired on a crowd led by Father Gapon and Father Sergius, the priests carrying a cross and ikon and a portrait of Emperor Nicholas. Father Sergius was killed and the portrait of the Emperor was smashed.

At the Putloff works the scenes resembled a sham battle. There the workmen faced the troops when the order was given to fire, and threw themselves upon their faces upon the ground. The troops fired on them as they lay prostrate.

Pillaging the Shops. St. Petersburg, Sunday, 1:30 p. m.—The Vassiliostrov quarter tonight is in darkness, neither gas nor electricity being available. Shops are being pillaged and strikers are burning telegraph poles. Some firing is heard. It is reported that a body of strikers tried to reach Tsarskoe-Selo, but were driven back by the troops after a sanguinary conflict.

Capture Dynamite Works. St. Petersburg, Sunday (Midnight.) Firing continues on the Vassiliostrov. It is rumored that the workmen there have seized a dynamite factory, and also that 30,000 or 40,000 armed strikers from Kolpino, 10 miles distant, are marching on St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Monday, 4:45 a. m. St. Petersburg is sleeping quietly at this hour, worn out by the excitement of a long day. Laborers and spectators have long since left the streets and the military and police have had little to do for hours beyond driving off occasional riotous bands of irresponsible young people bent on window breaking and marauding, and dispensing groups of too demonstrative socialists or liberals, for the most part returning from protracted meetings, where their minds were fired with incendiary speeches.

Since midnight the Russian capital has been as peaceful as it was the preceding night, but in the palace square and in all the principal streets and upon the plazas throughout the town bivouac fires are gleaming and infantrymen sleep near their stacked rifles, or march hither and thither. Cavalrymen on wearied horses are patrolling the long thoroughfares. No more firing has been heard and no more reports of collisions have been received.

Quarantine on Cattle.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The department of agriculture has issued regulations establishing on February 1st next a federal quarantine against a large part of the south and parts of other states to prevent the spread of splenic or Southern fever among cattle. The quarantine lines are largely the same as last year.

The quarantined territories embrace the eastern part of North Carolina, all of South Carolina, Indian Territory, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana; that part of Virginia below the James river and running to the northeast corner of Bedford county; all of Georgia but Uniontown and Rabun counties; all of Arkansas except two northern tiers of counties which are left outside of the quarantine during the rest of the quarantine period; part of Tennessee and Oklahoma; most of Texas except the Panhandle and the lower part of California. The quarantine is declared to be in force until November 1st, but the date is subject to change.

The regulations allow cattle in the quarantined district to be shipped north in placarded cars if shipped for slaughter and placed in quarantined yards on arrival at destination. If the stock is unloaded enroute, it must be at yards reserved solely for Southern cattle and after unloading the cars must be disinfected before sold for native stock.

A Pitch Battle.

Roanoke, Va.—Meagre details of a triple tragedy in Franklin county, twenty miles south of Roanoke, Friday evening, reached here to-day. James Abshire and his son fought a revolver and shotgun duel with L. A. Pradd and a man named Holley, as a result of which the three first named are dead, and Holley, who escaped injury, is said to be in jail.

It is stated that one of the four men is alleged to have offered an insult to the wife of one of the other three and the four men met on the Roanoke and Calloway pike where the shooting took place. After the first round, it is said, the two Abshires and Pradd were on the ground, wounded. One of the Abshires is said to have reloaded his shotgun and deliberately blew Pradd's head off.

Murderer Confesses Crime.

Louisville, Ky.—Jim Pearsall, the negro accused of criminally assaulting Mrs. Charles Wagner, fatally wounding her aged husband and of attempting criminally to assault Mrs. R. L. Jones, at Lexington, Saturday confessed to a detective at midnight that he had shot Wagner, but denied having attempted assault. He admitted a struggle with Mrs. Jones. The confession was made before a notary public. Pearsall is being closely guarded.

May Get Big Tannery.

Columbus, Ga.—Columbus may get a big tannery, costing $75,000 and employing 100 men. The Board of Trade is now corresponding with a resident of a Georgia town who is thinking of establishing such an enterprise here.

Bonds Bring Good Price.

Meridian, Miss.—Meridian's bond issue for $160,000 four and one half per cent. bonds, was sold last night to Farson, Leach and company for $164,950, and accrued interest. Bidding from Northern bond buyers was very sharp.

A woman was one of the competitors in a plowing contest lately held in Derbyshire, England.

INDIAN OUTBREAK

Kills Four Americans and One Mexican in the Wilds of Arizona.

FIRE WITHOUT WARNING.

Red Men Strip Bodies of Clothing, Plunder Stage, Burn Vehicle, Flee to Mountains.

Nogales, Ariz.—Four Americans and one Mexican were ambushed and killed by Yaqui Indians on Thursday afternoon, January 19, four miles east of Cohachi, state of Sonora, Mex. The bodies were brought to this place to-day. The dead are:

Dr. R. C. Coy, Chicago. John K. MacKenzie, Chicago. M. A. Call, Toledo, O. Walter Stubinger, Kewanee, Ill. Mexican driver, name unknown. H. T. Miller of Chicago, and A. W. Tolerton, of Salem, O., and a second Mexican, Cochoero, escaped and made their way to Cohachi, thence to La Colorado. Miller was slightly wounded, but the others were not hurt.

Were Making an Inspection. Dr. Roy and MacKenzie left Nogales a week yesterday for Torres. From Torres, which is south of Hermosillo on the main line of the Benson-Guaymas railroad, the two men named, accompanied by other members of their party, went to Camp Toledo, seventy-five miles east of La Colorado, for the purpose of examining property owned by a syndicate of Chicago men. The party left Camp Toledo Wednesday morning in two four-horse stages, on their return trip to La Colorado. Coy, MacKenzie and Miller were in the first stage, which was driven by a Mexican. In the second stage were Call, Tolerton, Stubinger and a Mexican driver. The party had just emerged from the hills and was just entering the flat country when suddenly, without the least warning, a volley of shots was poured into the first party from behind a pile of rocks on the roadside.

Killed Almost Instantly. One of the horses attached to the first conveyance fell, and the vehicle was brought to a sudden stop. Coy, MacKenzie and the driver were killed almost instantly by the hail of bullets. The Indians poured another volley into the second vehicle and Call and Stubinger were shot dead, Miller, Tolerton and the driver of the second team jumped to the ground and fled, making a wide detour toward Cohachi, where they arrived about 7 p. m. MacKenzie was shot through the head and Coy through the body.

A party was organized at Cohachi, composed of ranchers and vaqueros, who took the trail at once in pursuit of the Yaquis. They failed to overtake the Indians, however, and returned to Cohachi, bringing the bodies of the dead men. The bodies are now at La Colorado and will reach here early to-morrow. The bodies are accompanied by Miller and Tolerton.

Took All Valuables. The Yaquis stripped two of the bodies of their clothing, plundered the stages of all valuables and contents, burned one of the vehicles and fled to the mountains. Rings, watches and other jewelry worn by Coy and MacKenzie were stolen from the bodies, but no mutilation attempted.

MacKenzie was about 45 years old, Coy was about 40 years, and Stubinger, 27. The latter is well known in Nogales, but recently has been employed at the Hotel Arcadia, in Hermosillo. He accompanied the mining men for an outing.

The party when attacked carried only revolvers and shotguns. With these arms the survivors of the first volley managed to stand off the Yaquis and made their escape. It is understood that the Mexican government has ordered cavalry and infantry from Hermosillo to the scene of the killing and it is stated that General Torres will command the troops in pursuit of the Indians.

Customer Fires Pistol.

Columbus, Ga.—Samuel D. Sturkie, a storekeeper on upper Fifth avenue, had a rather strenuous experience with a would-be customer who was so anxious to buy from him that he shot his pistol at him when he would not sell him goods. Sturkie had retired in his room over the store when an unknown white man, accompanied by a negro, woke him up by knocking on the door, saying he wished to buy some oysters. Sturkie was suspicious, as it was nearly midnight, and would not come down from his room and open the door.

The man fired at him as he stood at the window, the ball whistling just above his head.

Coal Cars Wrecked.

Blocton, Ala.—Information reached the city Saturday of a wreck of a coal train on the Blocton branch of the Southern yesterday afternoon. The train was going at a moderate rate only, or the damage might have been greater. A flange of one of the wheels under a coal car broke and the car was ditched, nine others following suit. None of the crew were injured although badly shaken up.

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

Telephone No. 17.

NOTICE.

The special edition which The Sentinel expected to issue next month will not be issued until April for the reason that Mr. Weaver cannot, because of the cold weather, make a number of outdoor views which we are desirous of using.

There appears to be no shortage in the marriage crop in Shelby county.

Port Arthur has surrendered, but the Missouri legislature is still fighting.

It is believed that Reed Smoot will secure his seat in the United States Senate.

Hannah Elias appears to have been about as good a financier in her way as Mrs. Chadwick and Mrs. Duke.

The great Fall River strike is ended, due to the efforts of the new Democratic Governor of Massachusetts.

Tom Watson thinks to revolutionize the country with his magazine. Mr. Watson has another think coming.

The deadlock in the Missouri legislature in electing a United States Senator promises to be a long drawn out affair.

While the Smoot trial is in hand Mormon missionaries all over the country are meeting with all kinds of frost.

And now General Stoessel is being abused by some of his fellow officers for surrendering. They ought to be hamstrung.

A cry is going up from Birmingham that the bakers of that town are selling short weight loaves of bread. This should be stopped instant.

The President says he is going after the pig stickers trust in Chicago. A little more action, Mr. President, and not quite so much talk would be better.

Let Columbiana reach out after several small manufacturing establishments and larger ones will follow. Let us look after the little things awhile.

A bill has been introduced in the Delaware legislature calling for four weeks' publication of application for a marriage license before said license may be issued.

Mrs. Chadwick is having such a time to give bail she ought to bring those much talked of diamonds out of hiding and make a call on Ikey Ienstein just around the corner.

Whew! Think of beefsteak being twenty-three cents a pound in Kansas City. In the very center of the cattle country! At that rate the beef trust will soon have the world by the throat.

Let us hope that never will such scenes occur in America as happened in St. Petersburg a few days ago. "Uneasy lies the head which wears a crown," appears to be a truism in Russia.

The Democrats in the House should stand by their leader, Mr. Williams, whatever his lead if they expect to accomplish anything. Party fealty should require loyalty to Mr. Williams if for no other reason.

Arizona is opposed to admission to the Union as a State if it must come in with New Mexico—the two becoming one. A beastly Republican majority will not permit its admission under any other conditions.

Tax Assessor John S. Pitts telephones The Sentinel to tell the people that he has received about a bushel of mail since he was taken down with smallpox, but that just as soon as permitted he will answer every letter. The Sentinel is pleased to state that he has almost fully recovered, and but for the fact that Mrs. Pitts has recently contracted the disease he would be out in a few days. All hope for the speedy recovery of Mr. Pitts and wife.

LaFollette has again wiped up the Republican ring in Wisconsin, and has been nominated to succeed Quarles in the United States Senate. LaFollette is a fighter, and has whipped the Republican machine in the Badger State comin' and goin'.

A cigar factory would be a paying institution from its very inception if located here. A number of towns in the county—possibly all, would at once become patrons, and the trade of larger towns could be easily secured if good goods were to be placed upon the market.

If any good is to be done for Columbiana in the way of inducing people to locate here, we must not think too much of the dollar in a personal way. Fictitious values upon property and selfishness will kill a town dead—than a nail. Place a fair value upon property and it is bound to move.

It is reported that the sheriff of Crenshaw county has left the country, and that he has gone to South America. He is said to be due the State a considerable amount. If one is to believe the utterances of the Crenshaw County Critic for the past several months the above action of the sheriff should have been anticipated.

We doubt if many people in Columbiana know it, but The Sentinel is informed there is a bed of fine fire clay within a very short distance of town. If this information be correct, and the clay is free of chert chalk, here is an opportunity for an industry whose product would always be in demand. Such things are worth looking after.

Hon. and Mrs. Jno. C. Williams will give a reception to the teachers of Talladega county at their beautiful home in Talladega on Friday evening, January 27.

Remember, your poll tax must be paid on or before the first day of February, or you cannot vote in any election that may be held this year. There is considerable talk of stock law election all over the county. Whether you are for or against such an election, you will want to vote, but you can't do it if you fail to pay your poll tax. Pay it now.

Mr. Williams is Superintendent of Education of his county and editor of Our Mountain Home. The editor of The Sentinel and his wife have an invitation to be present, but as both are suffering with a severe cold we are compelled to be absent from what we feel sure will be a really pleasant time.

Judge Jones comes back from Washington with a whoop and a hurrah for Roosevelt, and says the South has misunderstood the President. You don't have to turn back on the calendar very far to find where Mr. Roosevelt said the Confederate soldiers were anarchists. Will Judge Jones say the South misunderstood that scurrilous remark made by the President.

The Sentinel believes that Hon. A. M. Garber will receive the Democratic nomination for Attorney General next time with little if any opposition. Mr. Garber is one of the best known lawyers in the State of Alabama, is Solicitor of the City Court of Talladega and his ability as an attorney is unquestioned. The Sentinel has recently talked with several members of the Shelby county bar and they are favorably inclined to Mr. Garber. Considerable gossip is going over the State as to probable candidates for the different State offices, and we have noticed frequent mention of Mr. Garber in connection with the Attorney General's office. The Sentinel was for Mr. Garber in the last primary, and will be for him again if he is a candidate for the place. We like him and can't help it.

Pay your poll tax now. The farmers in Shelby county are burning no cotton. They prefer to hold it and get good hard cash for it after while. Congress gave the Alabama rivers a goodly slice of cold shoulder—turned down the rivers and harbors bill. It is said Birmingham wants more water. Didn't know they were drinking water in that man's town. The Texas Legislature proposes to enact a law making it a felony for a resident of that State to deal in cotton futures. Other cotton States should follow suit.

REDUCE ACREAGE

CRY AT NEW ORLEANS

Largest Gathering of Cotton Growers Ever Held.

Meeting is Characterized With Harmony and Good Feeling.

New Orleans, Jan. 24.—By unanimous vote at the close of the first session today the southern interstate cotton convention, by general agreement the largest and most representative that has gathered in the South, declared that reduction of acreage and commercial fertilizers is the paramount question to be considered at the convention and it must be settled before any other business is undertaken.

Eleven hundred and thirty-five delegates, representing the thirteen cotton growing states and territories, had registered when the convention was called to order. Even that number did not represent the full strength of the convention.

Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton Growers, called the convention to order, and he said in part:

"We are agreed upon four general propositions:

"1. We must tie up and take care of the surplus of this crop and remove it from the markets of the country until next fall, and hold the balance of the crop absolutely in our possession until prices advance to normal conditions.

"2. We must reduce the cotton acreage and use of commercial fertilizers under at least 25 per cent under that of 1904.

"3. We must arrange for a general system of bonded warehouses under local control of the people throughout the South.

"4. We must at once proceed to organize the producers of the South in every cotton growing county on a business basis to carry into operation a permanent system of relief and protection for the future."

CALERA ITEMS.

Seventy-one trains passed through Calera one day last week.

Frank Turpin, formerly railroad agent at this place and an all round good fellow, shook the hands of many friends here last Monday.

Last week was the pay week of Southern and L. & N. railroads, and about $25,000 were distributed among their employes in Calera and immediate vicinity.

Gip P. Harmon, the chief of police who was shot in the back about ten days ago, has returned from St. Vincent hospital and is getting around among his friends.

Frank Pope, of Wilsonville, and Hosea Pearson, of Farmer, delegates from Shelby county to the New Orleans Cotton Convention, passed through here Monday on their way to that city.

Only one death has occurred among the white people of Calera in the past seven months. The last death being that of the lamented J. M. Huggins, who was 87 years old, and occurred last July.

The railroads entering Calera employ fifty men about Calera, and their salaries range from $30 to $125 per month. The telephone, express and telegraph companies employ about ten more, who also draw good salaries.

My good friend, France Ellison, it is reported, offers the following solution of the cotton problem that is so seriously attracting the attention of the farmers, to-wit: "Quit resolving, quit fertilizing, plant white peas and sell them for two dollars a bushel like I do."

The mandate of Pope Pius X dismissing women from the Catholic church choir has caused thousands of women to lose choir positions out of which many made a living. As a result, they are seeking positions in the chorus of comic opera companies. Some one should nudge the pope and ask him where the benefit comes in.

It is possible to laugh at trouble, but the laughter doesn't mean it.

MOTTO FOR 1905—"The Working Man's Friend, and the Farmers' Protector."

Remember to pay your poll tax before the first of February.

It is a fight to the death between King Cotton and King Speculator, with the odds now in favor of the former.

People of Fleming county, Ky., are alarmed at mysterious subterranean fires, and are leaving the county. All moonshine.

As a financier Booker Washington has Mrs. Chadwick and Tom Lawson faded. It's a cold day when Washington can't go out and pick up a few thousands.

A number have paid their subscription to The Sentinel during the past week. Were you one of them? If not, your subscription receipt is ready for you.

This is the season of the year when the man who owns a horse and does not warm the bridle bits should be made to stand in the stall while the horse loafs around by the grate.

An exchange says: "We are approaching the time when dissipated men will find it difficult to find employment." Approaching? Bless you, we have passed that point. Dissipated men are not wanted at all, not even by the men who dissipate themselves.

James Rivers Carter has been appointed postmaster at Birmingham instead of Dr. Haghes deposed. Mr. Carter was a Democrat up to 1896 when he went off after Palmer and Buckner and wound up in the Republican camp. He is about 47 years old and was born in Pulaski, Tenn., in the very house where Klukluxing had its birth. He is a civil engineer and has made his home in Birmingham for several years.—Marion Standard.

Poll tax time! The Sentinel would like to see the farmers of Shelby county raise more corn, and more hogs to feed it to. If they will they will be independent of the sharks who manipulate the cotton market to the detriment of the producer.

The Mormons who attempted to capture Zion City were knocked out the first round by Dowie. The old man appears to be fighter, and especially so for his own.

TESTIMONIALS.

Gentlemen: We beg to say that we used and sold your goods largely last season, and have heard all our customers say they have had very fine results. We have renewed our contract for the coming season for a larger amount of your goods, and we will sell your fertilizers EXCLUSIVELY the coming season, which we think the best testimonial we can offer.

The man who kindles the fire with the catalogue from the department stores and gives all his trade to his home merchant, says an exchange, is the man who helps to put a better value on property. The more a town grows and the more business it does, the greater the increase in the value of property—both city and farm. The man who patronizes the city department stores in preference to his home merchants, thinking that he may thereby save a few paltry pennies from the wealth of his community.

The printer's dollars—where are they? A dollar here and a dollar there, scattered over numerous little towns, miles and miles apart. How shall they be gathered in? Come in single file, that we may send forth again to battle for us and vindicate our credit. Reader, are you sure you have not one of the printer's dollars sticking to the bottom of your trouser's pocket? Feel down and see if we are not right.—Ex.

An advertisement in an exchange reads: "Bring us your skins; we will pay ten cents cash, or twelve cents in trade." Thank you; we do not care to dispose of our skin for either cash or trade.

Only a few more days in which to pay your poll tax if you expect to vote in the elections this year.

Death may furnish a bond for Nan Patterson. She is now critically ill with tonsillitis.

It is hardly too much to say that cotton is now the basis of the dominant industry of the world. In their primary forms iron and steel products represents a value of only $1,700,000,000 yearly, while the estimated value of the world's cotton goods is $2,000,000,000. Twice as much cotton as wool is produced, and three-fourths of the world's cotton supply is grown in the Southern States. Twice the world's total gold product last year would have been required to pay the farmers of the South for lint and seed; three-fourths of the capital of all the national banks in the country would have been inadequate. Among our American export crops cotton towers pre eminent with $350,000,000 in value.

Administrator's Settlement.

E. A. Bentley, deceased, In the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama. The estate of said deceased, having been on the 10th day of October, 1904, regularly declared insolvent by a decree of this court, and the 14th day of November, 1904, having been by said decree, appointed for the administrator of said estate to make settlement of her administration of the same this day, said settlement having been continued from court to court since the 14th day of November, 1904, for want of proper notice of said settlement having been made, and the said settlement having been regularly continued from the regular term February 14th, 1905, to the regular term February 14th, 1905, notice is hereby given that on said February 14th, 1905, the said settlement will be made, at which time all persons concerned may appear and contest the same if they think proper. TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

Walter E. Lester, of beat 8, was in town last Saturday.

Wm. Seales, of Childersburg, was in town a few hours Monday.

The genial John K. Miller, of Aniston, was in town last Thursday.

Henry Latham has been having a round up with a bad cold this week.

A baby boy arrived at the home of Prof. and Mrs. S. Dowell last Thursday night.

It is not long until Valentine day, and then the comic billet doux will have its innings.

Sam Lefkovits was down from Bessemer, Monday, for a short visit with his brother Max.

Miss Cora Morgan returned from a short visit with the Misses Kroells in Montevallo Friday.

Job is accredited with being a patient man—but the "hello girl" never told Job that the line was busy.

The Sans Sonei Club met with Miss Loulah Wilson last Saturday afternoon, and had a delightful time.

Mrs. J. W. Johnston, who has been visiting relatives at Birmingham and Shelby Springs, returned home last week.

A late failure not a thousand miles from Columbiana has a decided yellow look, but no local parties have been hurt.

The parties charged with the shooting of Marshal Harmon, at Calera, will have their preliminary hearing next Monday.

Several of our young men think of giving a minstrel show for the benefit of the ball team they intend to have this summer.

Jas. N. Robertson, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Alphonse Verchot, at Pratt City for a week, returned home last Sunday.

Miss Stella Powell visited with home folks in Childersburg last Saturday and Sunday, returning to Columbiana Monday morning.

Beginning with next Wednesday night the Union prayer meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church for the month of February.

R. M. Hollis, of Sterrett, was in town Tuesday disposing of a load of stoneware. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call from him.

The weather was wandering around not far from zero early yesterday morning, and the wind was blowing keen right out of the north.

Physicians report considerable sickness throughout the county—colds, grip and pneumonia being the principal complaints, and goodness knows that is a plenty.

Everybody has a cold, and it is not a borrowed one, but wholly their own. You cannot take too good care of yourself this kind of weather.

We do not like to grumble even at the weather clerk, but if he will withhold our share of this cold weather he will have our grateful thanks.

Miss Emmie Abercrombie, who has been visiting in Birmingham and Woodlawn for the past several weeks, returned to Columbiana last Thursday.

Hosea Pearson, of Farmer, and W. H. Shrader, of Shelby, were in town last Saturday and while here pushed up their subscription for the year 1905.

Dr. Morgan, of Shelby Springs, was in town Tuesday for a few hours. He does not expect to come and see us any more until we move down stairs.

A good teacher is one who inspires, encourages and helps her pupils. That is the kind of teachers who are in charge of the Columbiana public schools.

Mayor Browne has been trying to get away from an attack of the grip, and thus far he has been successful, but it was a pretty close to him for several days.

The editor of The Sentinel had a setto with neuralgia last Sunday and Monday, and it knocked us out in the first round. We don't care to make a date with neuralgia any more.

L. A. Bradley, who has been in the employ of the Columbiana Mercantile Company for the past several months, has resigned his position and removed with his family to Wilsonville.

It is said that the extra hair on the coon's tail, and the cat's teeth turning yellow is the truest sign of a hard winter, and that these conditions now exist. That's a shame and we about out of coal, too.

Geo. E. Mason, who is traveling for Gillespie, Shields & Co., big clothing dealers of Knoxville, is at home for a vacation of a couple of weeks, and is enjoying his rest with Mrs. Mason and the children.

There is but little, if any danger of a spread of smallpox in our city. Cleanliness will enter largely into preventing it, and a little carbolic acid in open bottles about the house will have a tendency to keep it well disinfected.

I. S. Chancellor and son, from near Creswell, were in town Tuesday and while here paid The Sentinel a pleasant call. Mr. Chancellor has been sick for some time with the grip, but has about recovered his usual health.

Miss Gertrude Roberts, of Birmingham, is expected in the city this week for a visit with relatives and friends. Miss Roberts was teacher of expression in the public schools in this city last session, and is very pleasantly remembered by all.

The Sentinel dislikes very much to keep touching up some of its readers about paying their subscription, but the debt is an honest one and you should pay it if you can, for it comes mighty handy when rent day comes around, when paper bill come due, and when the office force is to be paid. If you have forgotten it, try and remember it the first time you see us.

Oyster Supper.

The Ladies of the Methodist church were disappointed in not getting oysters for their supper last Tuesday night, and they have decided to try it again on Thursday night, February 2. Remember the date and be sure to attend.

The Sentinel has a tip that Shelby Springs, that pretty summer resort, has probably been leased to a Birmingham man for a term of five years. Shelby Springs should be a money maker for a hustler.

It is said that a farmer near Wilsonville has a horse with a lot of good hard sense. When it gets tired of standing in the stall, it unties its halter with its teeth, opens the barn door and goes out in the barnyard for exercise.

Dr. C. T. Acker informs us that his wife, who has been in an infirmary in Birmingham for some time, is not improving as fast as he would like to see. The friends of Mrs. Acker hope she may soon be restored to good health and be able to come home.

The inclement weather kept a good many from hearing Booth Lowrey, the lecturer, at the Academy last Wednesday night. Some who heard him were well pleased, while others did not like him. His lecture is on the same line with the great Copeland in "Snobs and Snobbery."

Miss Esther Mason, who visited in Birmingham several days last week returned home Monday morning, driving through the country from Calera. While in Birmingham, Miss Mason had the pleasure of hearing Paderewski, the great pianist, and she is enthusiastic over the recital.

The Birmingham Fertilizer Co., has an advertisement in this issue, and the agents for this county are C. L. Meroney & Co., Montevallo, and Dr. B. H. Smothers, Wilsonville. If you are going to use any fertilizers this season these gentlemen would like to make you figures on what you want.

Uncle John T. Cromwell has been given the contract to carry the mail between Columbiana and Shelby, leaving here at 9:00 o'clock in the morning returning at twelve, each day, except Sunday. Mr. Cromwell is a veteran mail carrier, having carried the mail between the postoffice and the depot for the past fifteen years.

Walter Richardson is making an excellent quality of pavement tiling and has placed some of it in front of the Friedberger building. The Sentinel believes if Walter would push his industry it would prove a good thing for him. The tiling blocks he manufactures have every appearance of durability, and they certainly make a nice walk.

In this issue of The Sentinel the Columbiana Mercantile Company announces its big clearing sale of fall and winter goods. These people tell you they must have room for their new spring stock, and that they are going to give you the opportunity to get some good bargains at your own figures. Watch The Sentinel for their big ad.

Harry Lipstein, of Hopkinsville, Ky., visited with Max Lefkovits a couple of days last week.

Do you want to move your goods? Place an advertisement in The Sentinel and get results.

Weddings at Calera.

Our neighboring town, Calera, has been having a harvest of weddings during the past few days—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, each having one wedding to their credit.

On Monday night, Mrs. C. F. Wells was joined in marriage to J. B. Brewer, of Decatur, Rev. Joseph Duglinson performing the ceremony. Mrs. Wells recently came to Calera and acquired control of the Vanderbilt hotel and will continue to control it.

On Tuesday morning, at the residence of the bride's mother, Miss Julia McKibbin and Mr. D. Walter Boyd were united in marriage by Rev. Joseph Duglinson, and they have gone on a wedding trip thro' Florida. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Julia C. McKibbin, and is one of Calera's best women. She is a womanly woman, and is loved by all who know her for her many excellent graces and goodness of heart. The groom is cashier and ticket agent for the Louisville and Nashville, and Southern railways at Calera; a young man of sterling worth, and everybody in Calera is his friend. He has been in the employ of the railroads at Calera for nearly twenty-one years—a strong recommendation as to his integrity and character. The Sentinel blends its best wishes with those of the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd that their future life may be all that they may have anticipated.

Yesterday, at the Vanderbilt hotel, Mrs. Marion Acker and a Mr. Ladd, of Birmingham, were married. The bride is well known in Calera and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brouzale. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Handley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Ladd will live in Birmingham.

Death of Mrs. Watersworth.

Mrs. Thomas H. Watersworth, who has been ill at the home of her father in this city for the past several months, died last night at five o'clock, aged 29 years 10 months and 17 days.

Clemmont Cromwell Watersworth was the second daughter and third child of Mr. and Mrs. John Turner Cromwell, of this city. She was a good christian woman, being a member of the Baptist church, having first joined the Clayton Street Baptist Church in Montgomery in 1892. Mrs. Watersworth was born in Columbiana on the 13th of March, 1875, and lived here until her marriage to Mr. Watersworth when with her husband she went to Montgomery. Afterwards Mr. Watersworth became manager of the Geo. W. Vanderbilt estate at Biltmore, N. C., where they lived for a number of years. The immediate cause of Mrs. Watersworth's death was a complication of lung troubles, and through all the long months of weary sickness and suffering she was uncomplaining. Her life has been a beautiful character—one well worth emulation, and her trust in the promises of her God were beautifully sublime.

The deceased leaves a husband and one child, a little boy, to mourn the death of wife and mother. She has one brother, Joseph B. Cromwell, who lives in Hyannis, Neb., and three sisters, Mrs. J. W. M. Page, of this place, Mrs. LeRoy Wooddall, Shelby, and Mrs. F. Marion Johnson, of Bessemer. To the aged parents, husband, brother and sisters, in their great grief and sorrow, is extended the deep sympathy of all our people.

The funeral will occur to-morrow morning (Friday) at 11 o'clock.

Quiet Wedding.

A pretty home wedding occurred at the home of Mr. R. A. O'Hara, one mile south of Columbiana, yesterday afternoon. The contracting parties were Miss Ada O'Hara and Mr. R. W. Callaway, both of this place, the Rev. C. W. O'Hara, an uncle of the bride, performing the ceremony. Directly after the ceremony the newly wedded pair boarded the north bound Southern train for Washington, Ga., where they will visit with the groom's parents for a short time, then returning to Columbiana where they will live.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. R. A. O'Hara, is a lovely girl, sweet in disposition and manners, and has a large circle of friends in this city and Wilsonville, the former home of the bride.

The groom is manager of the Peoples' Store in this place, is a good business man, and although he has been a resident of Columbiana but a few months has won the confidence of all whom he has met socially or in a business way.

May joy surround them and prosperity attend them is the wish of all our people for Mr. and Mrs. Callaway.

Don't forget the oyster supper at the Central next Thursday night.

To Remodel Church.

Rev. G. T. Harris, pastor of the Methodist church, is making an effort to raise funds with which to remodel and fix up the Methodist church in Columbiana.

It is his intention to try and raise about $600 or $700, and have the work on the building completed in time for the meeting of the District Conference which meets here early in May. In conversation with Mr. Harris he told The Sentinel that he was meeting with very good success in his canvass, and is confident that the required amount will be forthcoming.

Without any intention to reflect upon the good people of our town, the church is sadly in need of repairs, for in its present condition it is impossible to keep it comfortable when the weather is cold. We believe all will help some.

It is with regret that the friends of Mrs. John S. Pitts learn that she has been taken with smallpox. When Mr. Pitts was taken with the dread disease Mrs. Pitts, with true wifely devotion, would not leave the bedside of her husband, but nursed him through his attack, even though she almost positively knew that she was sure to take the disease. It is gratifying to know, however, that she has the disease in a very light form and is getting along nicely.

The quarantine has been raised from the children of Mr. and Mrs. Pitts and they have again entered school.

The new year is not very old, and yet it has taken unto itself ways that would make one believe that it is an old stager.

Colds, neuralgia and other inconveniences rather got the upper hand of us this week, and we are a little late, but there is no use fighting against Providence. What is to be will be anyhow. So there.

Any information or return of the dogs will be suitably rewarded. Joseph R. Smith, jr., Box 632, Birmingham, Ala.

The house plants caught whaley last Tuesday night, and many a good house wife is mourning now for the flowers she once had.

An ice plant was mentioned to us Tuesday morning, and it seemed only natural to draw nearer the fire. Ice plant, indeed! And the weather like this?

It is said there came near being a carving at a crap game in darkest Africa near the Southern depot last Saturday night.

Rev. Joseph Duglinson will fill the pulpit at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and night. All are cordially invited to attend.

ALABAMA NEWS.

Current Events Gathered as They Happen.

Robbed on Train.

Mobile, Ala.—M. Wasserman, New York, was robbed on a train en route to Birmingham from an early hour Saturday. The theft was committed by a man leaving the passenger station, who was doing by one of the men while another engaged him in a conversation relative to swapping dress cases. The young man who attempted to swap baggage with him was very handsomely dressed. Mr. Wasserman says that he has been around the world more than once and that this was the first time that he has ever been swindled or robbed.

New Corporation.

Pansy, Ala.—The Pansy Company, of Scranton, Pa., with a capital stock of $25,000, filed with Secretary of State E. R. McDavid a copy of its charter secured in New Jersey. The company will operate saw mills and other enterprises, at Pansy, in Houston county. The privilege of the Pansy Lumber Company, among other things, are "to acquire, hold, lease and sell timber, farming, grazing, mineral and other lands and the products thereof; to build, construct, maintain and operate plant and works for the development of such lands and for the handling, preparing and sending commercially available the various products. Also to manufacture iron, steel, manganese, coke, copper and other materials.

Ginners Will Meet Soon.

Montgomery, Ala.—The ginners of Alabama will meet here February 4. The call for the meeting comes from J. A. Taylor, president of the National Ginners' Association. In arranging for the meeting, Mr. Taylor has put himself in communication with the leading ginners of the state. He has written them urging a state convention to be held to discuss and act upon matters of importance to them. The meeting is to devise some way of securing to the ginners and planters the benefits that are derived from the gathering of cotton statistics. In his communication to the ginners President Taylor says: "Spinners and speculators have agents to report to them on crop conditions and yield. We furnish information, but get word back too late to be of use to us, or to our customers. The ginners are in closer touch with the cotton situation than any other class and we can make the organization a power for good in the South." It is expected that there will be a large attendance upon the convention.

Watchman Shot in Hand.

Birmingham, Ala.—Watchman Heiton at the Louisville and Nashville yards was shot in the hand Sunday morning about 2:30 o'clock by an unknown white man. Mr. Helton is stationed at Fifth avenue and Thirteenth street and saw three men attempting to board a passing train. He attempted to make them leave when one of the men turned on him and fired a pistol, the ball striking him in the hand. The three men then ran toward the city and escaped.

Plan Press Association.

Florence, Ala.—The newspaper men of Lauderdale and Colbert counties will meet in Tusculum Saturday to organize a press association. There are two papers in Lauderdale county and four in Colbert, and all will be represented at the meeting.

To Increase Stock.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Dimmick Pipe Company has called a stockholders' meeting for February 23, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time there will be action taken on the proposition to increase the capital stock of the company to not exceeding $1,000,000. It is the purpose of the company to add another pit to the large water pipe plant at North Birmingham this year, and to make other betterments at a cost of about $250,000. The company has enjoyed unparalleled prosperity since it began operations six years ago, having a trade with every section of the country, as well as doing an export business. It is one of the most solid industrial concerns in the entire South.

Water Pipes Explode.

Fort Deposit, Ala.—By the explosion of the water pipes leading to a range in the kitchen of the house of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Jordan the range and much of the kitchen furniture was wrecked. The water in the range pipes leading to the water back of the range froze hard, and when the fire was kindled in the range, an explosion occurred as the steam in the pipe had no way of escape. The range was a total wreck.

Caught in Oklahoma.

Tusculum, Ala.—Sheriff W. E. Bevil has received a telegram from officers in Oklahoma City, notifying him of the capture in that city of Bill King, the negro who murdered Henry Irving and the latter's 13-year-old son, in this county Christmas eve night. King made his escape after the murder, and was followed by Sheriff Bevil to Memphis, where all trace of the murderer was lost. Irving and his boy were killed without provocation, and a reward of $75 was offered by a fraternal order, of which the elder Irving was a member, which has been supplemented by the governor, for the delivery of the murderer to the sheriff of this country.

Wanted in Louisiana.

Mobile, Ala.—W. M. Scott, who came to Mobile from New Orleans after Ed Williams, who has a number of aliases, left for Montgomery to interview Governor Cunningham with the view to securing the person of the young man, who is now serving a sentence at hard labor for carrying concealed weapons. Mr. Scott is armed with a requisition from the governor of Louisiana, he being deputized to act for that state. Mr. Scott had a consultation with the trial judge who sentenced Williams, also the solicitor, but it is impossible to learn what satisfaction he obtained from these officials.

It is charged that Williams while agent of the Southern Express Company at White Castle, La., and after being there only two days, left with $267.50 of the company's money. He also had other property, identification of which has been made as coming from White Castle.

Water Committee Met.

Birmingham, Ala.—The following is the gist of the first meeting of the general committee on greater water supply:

Office of consulting engineer for the proposed preliminary survey created, and Julian Kendrick was unanimously chosen to the position.

Chairman W. P. G. Harding was instructed to appoint a committee of fifteen citizens of Jefferson county to appear before the board of revenue at as early a date as possible and ask that an appropriation sufficient to defray the expenses of the preliminary survey be made.

Resolutions were adopted instructing the chairman to increase the general committee by adding the names of the mayors of North Birmingham, Woodlawn, Avondale and East Lake, and two citizens from each of those localities.

Deaf Mute in Prison.

Montgomery, Ala.—John Wilson, a deaf mute, 24 years old and of good appearance, is held at police headquarters on a charge of practicing a fraud.

Wilson presented to Charles R. Westcott, a letter signed by Colonel Charles P. Jones, in which the deaf mute was highly endorsed as a worthy young man and recommended that he be assisted financially in defraying his expenses at a school for mutes.

At police headquarters a cash book was taken from the person of Wilson which showed that he had collected considerable money from Montgomery citizens on the forged letter of Colonel Jones, which was typewritten on his letter head.

Wilson said that he came to Montgomery from Birmingham and that his home was in Louisville, Ky.

Shooting at Ensley.

Ensley, Ala.—In a difficulty at a saloon here Saturday night, Frank Fuller was shot by Bert Sharp. The bullet struck him in the shoulder, but the wound is not a dangerous one. The two men are said to have been at out for several days past. Witnesses say that Fuller struck Sharp over the head with a billiard cue. Both men were put under arrest.

Sharp is employed at the rail mill.

A New Corporation.

Luverne, Ala.—The Cady-Henderson Company, of Luverne, with a capital stock of $35,000, filed notice of its incorporation.

The incorporators are J. C. Henderson and associates.

Several New Buildings.

Birmingham, Ala.—Wheelock, Joy & Wheelock, architects, are at present engaged in drawing plans for a series of two-story buildings to be erected along the west side of Twentieth street from Second alley to Third avenue, where the disastrous fire of a month ago occurred.

The burned structures were the property of General Louis V. Clark, the rest of the buildings to Third avenue were the property of Mr. Marx, of Montgomery. The two will erect together the series of new structures along the street. Despite the fact that they are to be of only two stories, they will be thoroughly modern in equipment.

To Improve Stock.

Florence, Ala.—A number of farmers in the eastern part of Lauderdale county have formed a stock company and purchased a fine German coach station from Fayetteville, Ind. The animal weighs 1,400 pounds and cost $1,600. The company is composed of J. R. Patterson, Charles Goode, T. C. Andrews, J. A. Lentz, A. J. Howard, of Rogersville, and T. J. Weatherford, of Athens. The object of the company is to improve the stock in that section.

Heavy Car Contract Awarded.

Anniston, Ala.—The Western Steel Car and Foundry Company has been awarded contracts within the last few days for the building of fourteen hundred freight cars by the local plant, and that work on them would commence just as soon as material could be secured. The greater majority of these cars are to be built for the Southern road, in fact more than one thousand of the number.

Everything will be in readiness for starting up the rolling mill on Monday, February 6. It is expected the puddling furnaces will start on that day; the finishing mill about a week later. Owing to the very disagreeable weather that has been prevailing for the past few weeks the company has been unable to get in material, but with more open weather it will soon be all aglow from one end to the other with life. All the machinery has been gone over and placed in good condition. A working force is rapidly being employed and systematized.

No More Companies.

Montgomery, Ala.—The compromise board, composed of the governor, the attorney general and the state auditor made one more compromise on the matter of privilege taxes for corporations in the state. This was for the Central Iron and Coal Company of Tuscaloosa, which admits that it had last year a capital stock of $600,000, on which the tax of one-tenth of one per cent. would have been $600. The matter was compromised for $300, and is about the fourth of the kind effected since the passage of the new section of the revenue law stipulating the charge. This fee is for the tax of 1904, and does not include anything for this year. It is understood that there will be no compromise this year, though this is not authoritatively stated.

Succumbs to Paralytic Stroke.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—News of the death of G. Lunsford Treywick has been brought to the city, who has resided in this section since Alabama was a territory. Mr. Treywick went for a walk over his plantation early in the afternoon and not having returned late in the evening a search was made. At 8 o'clock he was found prostrated in an open cotton field stricken with paralysis and in an unconscious state. He was immediately carried to his home, where medical aid was summoned, but he died within a short while after reaching his home. It is thought he lay in the field several hours after receiving the stroke.

Played With Blasting Powder.

Anniston, Ala.—One boy is dead and two are seriously injured as a result of an accident Sunday on the Gladden place, two miles west of Alexandria.

One of the number, Ike Broom died this morning at 9 o'clock and his thirteen-year-old brother, Colonel Broom, is not expected to live. The face and hands of a boy by the name of Baker are badly, but not seriously burned. There were three boys in the party. They were around a big fire in a field and were sprinkling powder over it when the clothes of Ike Broom, aged 17, were ignited.

The other boys rushed to his assistance and met with a similar fate. The boys so badly burned are the sons of William Broom. They had found a keg of blasting powder and filled their pockets with the explosive.

More Mill Stock Is Issued.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Ellawhite cotton mills, of Uniontown, have issued $75,000 of additional stock, making the whole amount $175,000, with which it is expected that the factory will be enlarged, more spindles put in and additional capacity provided for in other ways. This mill has been one of the most remarkable successes of the country. It was organized in 1900, and the mill has been a source of revenue from the day it began work.

Discharged on Self-Defense.

Tuskegee, Ala.—On the plea of self-defense, Justice Proctor released Sheriff Connor, Deputy Lamar and City Marshal Taylor, who shot to death Jim and Bob McBryde while attempting to arrest them.

Increased Acreage in Strawberries.

Brewton, Ala.—Lovelace Brothers have sold their strawberry and fruit orchard, consisting of something over one hundred acres, near Brewton, to Northern capitalists, who will cultivate it. The strawberry industry in this section is assuming large proportions, and a very large acreage will be put in this season.

The extremely cold weather this week has materially interfered with brick work, the mortar freezing.

Died From Falling.

Anniston, Ala.—J. T. Vinson, who died from the effects of a contusion on the head received by falling into a pit, was buried here Saturday.

To Dredge Tennessee River.

Huntsville, Ala.—Congressman William Richardson writes from Washington that he has secured an appropriation of $15,000 from the government to dredge the Tennessee river between Hobbs Island and Guntersville to remove sand bars and deepen the channel in the hope that railway transfer boats operated by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad can hereafter operate during a low water spell.

MASSING TROOPS.

The Russians are Bombarding the Japanese—65,000 Troops on Left.

CONTINUED ATTACKS MADE.

Steamers Carrying 2,000 Russian Refugees from Che Foo Have Departed for Odessa.

Tokio.—The Russians are massing about 65,000 troops on the Japanese left and bombarding the left flank and center. Small forces of Russians are attacking along the line.

Manchurian headquarters of the Japanese army report that on Saturday the Russians occasionally bombarded the right and center armies, following up the bombardment with attacks, which the Japanese immediately repulsed. In the direction of the left wing a Japanese detachment were victors at Chenchieppao, and occupied Liutiako and Lichiaowopeng on Saturday, the Russians retreating north and west. The Japanese occupied many of the positions southeast of Heikoutai on Saturday, and are now assaulting the main positions.

Another detachment dislodged a regiment of infantry, a brigade of cavalry and twelve guns occupying Hairpao, five miles south of Heikoutai. The Russian strength opposing the Japanese left flank is roughly estimated at eight corps, consisting of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth infantry divisions, the Second and Fifth brigades of European rifles, the Ninth infantry division of the Tenth corps, part of the Twenty-first infantry division, and the First and Ninth brigade of rifles.

Russian Refugees Depart.

Che Foo, January 29.—Three steamers carrying 2,000 Russian refugees left here today for Odessa. Two junks, the vanguard of twenty-five which left Port Arthur January 27th, arrived here today. The coldest weather of the season was experienced during the trip, and a majority of the women and children aboard were nearly frozen.

Mitschenko Is Injured.

St. Petersburg.—A telegram from Huan mountain states that General Mitschenko has been wounded in the leg.

Vladivostock Isolated.

London.—According to a Tokio dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, Russian supplies from the interior are concentrated at Lake Balkal owing to the fact that the railroad east of that point is blocked with snow. Vladivostock is now isolated on the land side, as well as the sea front.

Bombardment Is Severe.

General Oku's Headquarters.—The Russian bombardment beginning at dawn on the extreme left rapidly spread along the whole front of Oku's army. It was kept up fiercely all day, and it was the strongest artillery fire since the battle of the Shabke river. Salvos are being fired continuously. There also is considerable musketry firing.

The Japanese are replying seldom, and are saving their fire, awaiting an attack. (There is a possibility that the entire line will be engaged soon.

Drank Chloral Hydrate.

St. Louis, Mo.—After writing a note explaining that he would take his life because he was weak for want of food, Robert Bowen, 35 years of age, a metal polisher, drank chloral hydrate in his room. He had been dead several hours when found today. In the note Bowen asked that his wife and relatives in Tennessee be notified of his death. Bowen left $2,000 life insurance in the A. U. of W.

Free for All Fight at Circus.

Franklin, La.—During a circus performance at Baldwin, La., Saturday night, a free for all fight occurred between some of the audience and the performers. About twenty shots were fired. Charles Peterson, of Franklin, was killed, and Martin Ashley, of Baldwin, probably fatally injured.

Big Ware House to be Built.

Columbus, Ga.—Plans are out for a big ware house to be constructed in the eastern part of the city by the Dan Joseph company. It will be 70 by 220 feet, two stories high and a basement.

Operated Gold Mine Swindles.

Houston, Tex.—Frank C. Lorry, alleged to have secured more than $125,000 on gold mine swindles while having headquarters at Danville, Ill., was arrested here today and turned over to Hardy H. Whitlock, sheriff of Vermillion county, Illinois, who held warrants and requisition papers. Lorry has been at Galveston for some time past as a solicitor of insurance.

Murdered and Burned.

Tampa, Fla.—The little farming community of Wauchula in Polk county was plunged into excitement this morning by the discovery of a crime against life in horror that tragedy at Statesboro, Ga., last year. The home of John Kirby, a farmer, who moved there last October from Blount county, Alabama, was found in ashes and in the moulding ruins were found the bodies of Kirby, his wife and four children, ranging in age from a boy of 12 to an infant of one year.

Italian Blown to Atoms.

Pittsburg, Pa.—An explosion of dynamite at the Shoenberger plant of the American Steel and Wire Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, brought painful injuries to forty persons, temporarily disabled fifteen residences and broke at least 2,500 windows.

In a shed near the plant the company had 300 pounds of dynamite stored to be used as required in the breaking up of the large ore piles. A few moments before the explosion, it is said, an Italian was seen to enter the shed. The only remnants found of him were portions of the trousers, vest and shirt hanging to telegraph wires in the vicinity.

Fifteen of the houses in the neighborhood were rendered untenable. When the wounded people, men, women and children, mostly foreigners, rushed from their homes into the streets, pandemonium reigned for a time, and wild reports of many dead and dying were circulated.

Cane Growers' Meet.

Montgomery, Ala.—The third annual convention of the Interstate Sugar-cane Growers met here, with more than one hundred delegates in attendance. Acting Governor Cunningham welcomed the delegates to the state and city, and response was made by Colonel John Dymond, managing editor of the Louisiana Planter of New Orleans.

At the afternoon session President D. G. Purse, of Savannah, delivered his annual address, and papers were read on various questions pertaining to the growth of sugarcane and the manufacture of its products.

A Serious Accident.

Athens, Ala.—Ollie McGrew, a young white man hailing from Elkmont, in the northern part of this county, met with a serious and what might have been a fatal accident while beating his way on a freight train, which passed through Athens this forenoon.

He had intended getting off the train here, and the train not coming to a stop he attempted to swing off, and as a result he lost the part of one foot and received serious bruises about the head. He was quickly discovered and his condition being serious, he was given prompt medical attention by the railroad surgeon here. He does not blame the company for the accident.

Will Build Greenhouses.

Florence, Ala.—William Zimmerman has purchased several lots in the Simpson addition in East Florence, on which he will build green houses and cultivate flowers. The people of Florence have been compelled heretofore to order their cut flowers from Nashville and the establishment of a green house here will fill a long felt want. Florence is becoming noted as a home for fine chickens, many orders coming in to local chicken fanciers from the adjacent country. This week a pen of Barred Plymouth Rocks was shipped to a party in Pennsylvania.

LOCKWOOD BUYS ROCKS.

Lexington, Ky.—W. B. E. Lockwood, of Norwalk, Conn., has purchased of John E. Madden, two fillies by Top Gallant and Imp Santrigiam, respectively, for $10,000. The Top Gallant filly is out of Black Whirlwind and the other out of Bremen, dam of Chancellor. Both are entered in the future.

Repairing the Church.

Athens, Ala.—The Christian church which was seriously injured by fire some time ago is being rapidly repaired, and when complete will be quite handsome. It was insured, but the company refused to pay the full face of the policy or to put the building in as good repair as it was prior to the fire. It was a handsome little house of worship, a monument to the struggles of a few zealous members.

Citrus Fruit Suffered.

Jacksonville, Fla.—It is believed that the freeze in Florida destroyed all citrus fruits on trees excepting in the extreme southern part of the state, the total being placed at 300,000 boxes, possibly more. Grave fears are entertained that trees in the Jacksonville section are injured, if not killed.

Eleven Injured by Drum Explosion. Wellsboro, O.—Eleven men were injured, two of them very seriously, as a result of the explosion of an air drum in the shops of the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad here. The building was partially wrecked.

Cruiser Goes to San Domingo.

New Orleans, La.—The United States cruiser Columbia sailed Friday for San Domingo.

Big Cotton Mill Burning.

London.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg, timed 9:25 p. m., to a news agency, reports that Pahls factory and a large cotton mill have been set on fire and are burning fiercely.

Montgomery, Ala.—H. Y. Brooke, Alabama delegate who was left at New Orleans to organize a plan to hold cotton, reports that a company with $100,000 capital has been formed with Brown, the cotton king, as president.

It will operate to take 2,000,000 bales out of the hands of farmers and hold it till next October or when the price reaches 10 cents. Shares will be 10 cents and the control of cotton passes entirely from owner for the time specified.

AGREE ON COTTON

Both the Acreage and Use of Fertilizers to be Cut 25 per Cent. This Year.

NO DISSENTION IN THE MEETING.

Proposed That Farmers of Each Southern District Sign Iron-Clad Contract on Reduction.

New Orleans.—The following resolution was adopted by an enthusiastic and unanimous vote of the cotton convention delegates:

man Interstate Cotton Growers' man Interstate Cotton Growers' Convention:

"We, your committee on acreage and the use of fertilizers, do recommend that the acreage to be planted in cotton in 1905 shall be 25 per cent. less than in 1904, and that there shall be a reduction of 25 per cent. in the use of commercial fertilizers in growing cotton.

"We recommend the following plan for the accomplishment of said reduction:

"First—That the vice-presidents of this association for each state shall call a meeting of all persons interested in cotton on the 11th day of February, 1905, at the county seat of each county, not already organized, on the plan hereinafter set out, at which meeting there shall be elected a county chairman and a precinct chairman for each school district, or other smallest political sub-division of the county.

"Second—That there shall be held in each school district or other smallest political sub-division of the county on the 18th day of February, 1905, at 1 o'clock p. m., a meeting of all citizens of said district or other smallest political sub-division, who are interested in the growing of cotton, which meeting shall elect a committee of three on acreage and membership.

"Third—At said precinct meeting, the farmers and land owners present shall be asked to sign the following agreement:

"We, the undersigned farmers, or land owners, living in (school district) (beat), (precinct), No. —, County of —, State of —, hereby pledge ourselves to reduce the acreage planted by us in cotton and to reduce our consumption of fertilizer in growing cotton as shown by the statements set opposite our names.

"Fourth—That said committee on acreage and membership shall immediately canvass said district and ask all farmers and land owners in said district who do not attend said meeting, to sign said pledge and committee shall return said pledge to the chairman of said precinct.

"Fifth—Said precinct chairman shall preserve said pledges and they shall immediately make a written report to the county chairman showing the total number of acres planted in cotton in said precinct in 1904, and the total number to be planted in cotton in said precinct in 1905, the total amount of fertilizer used in growing cotton in said precinct and the total amount to be used in said precinct in said years.

"Sixth—The county chairman shall immediately forward to the state vice-president of their respective states a written statement showing the total number of acres planted in cotton in their respective counties in 1904, and the total amount to be planted in 1905, and shall make a like report as to the fertilizer used and to be used in said years.

"Seventh—The vice-presidents of such state shall, immediately upon receiving the reports of the county chairman, forward to the president of this association a report showing the number of acres planted in cotton in his state in the year 1904, and the amount of fertilizer used in said year in growing cotton, and the amount of cotton to be planted and fertilizers to be used in 1905.

"Eighth—The president of this association, upon receiving these reports, shall immediately tabulate the same and send a copy thereof to the county chairman in the different cotton states and territories.

"Ninth—If any county not already organized should fail to organize, the vice-president of the state in which the said county is situated, shall cause to be organized as herein provided, and if any precinct should fail to organize, the county chairman of the county in which such precinct is situated shall cause such precinct to be organized as herein provided.

"Tenth—It shall be the further duty of the officers of this association to report the names and addresses of such persons who refuse to sign the agreement to reduce acreage for 1905, together with the number of acres of cotton planted by such persons in 1904 and the number of acres that they will probably plant in 1905, and to make a like report as to fertilizers."

Crossed Andes in Auto.

Santiago de Chile.—An automobile has just crossed the Andes at an elevation of 25,000 feet above the sea level.

Will Build a $15,000 Dormitory.

Jackson, Miss.—The trustees of the Baptist orphanage here have determined to build a fifteen thousand dollar dormitory at once to replace the one that was destroyed by fire several weeks ago.

Lessening Orders for Fertilizers.

Nashville, Tenn.—According to statistics prepared for railroads entering Nashville, the largest fertilizer producing point in the country shipments of that product will show a falling off of from 30 to 40 per cent. compared with last season. The fertilize situation in other districts is said to be equally as bad. The low price of cotton is said to be the cause. Dealers have cancelled orders from several cotton districts, and practically no cotton or tobacco will be planted this year.

Recruiting Station Moved.

Huntsville, Ala.—Lieutenant E. W. Cole, of the United States navy, arrived here from Atlanta and closed the naval recruiting station that was established here a short time ago and the recruiting officers went to Anniston, where they will remain a few days.

In Jail in Murder.

Birmingham, Ala.—Ed Johnston, a negro, is in the Jefferson county jail charged with murdering Miss Bessie Bloodworth, the daughter of a prominent merchant of New Decatur, last Saturday night. Johnston denies his guilt, but circumstances are said to point towards his guilt.

Fire in Montevallo.

Montevallo, Ala.—Considerable excitement was caused by the catching fire of the house of the Rev. Mr. Wheeler. The house caught in the kitchen from a defective flue, and a large hole was burned in the wall before the fire could be extinguished. Owing to the high wind and the lack of fire engine here it was feared for a time that the entire house would burn.

Young People Are Skating.

Huntsville, Ala.—Huntsville young people have been enjoying for the past several days a comparatively novel sport, that of ice skating. Neighborhood ponds are covered by the ice three or four inches thick and large crowds have visited them every day.

Woman Killed.

Prattville, Ala.—Saturday night Chas. Scott shot and killed Shrub Smith at her home here. The murder is thought to be cold-blooded. Scott made his escape. Each are negroes.

Vessel in Distress.

Mobile, Ala.—The schooner "Traida" previously reported spoken fifty miles off Swan Island, with a cargo of coconuts, dismasted, has proved to be the schooner Atrato, Captain Watt, which sailed from Colon, December 1, for San Blas coast, thence to New York with a cargo of coconuts. She is reported here to have arrived at Porto Barrios in distress.

Wrong Use of Mails.

Jasper, Ala.—Charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes, Morgan M. Nutt, a former well-known merchant, has been arraigned before a United States commissioner. He made bond in the sum of $500.

Marengo Corporations.

Demopolis, Ala.—The Demopolis Foundry and Machine Co. gave notice to Secretary of State E. R. McDavid of its incorporation recently with a capital stock of $50,000.

This company will engage in the manufacture of models of brass, wood and iron and do general repair work. The incorporators are A. R. Smith, L. W. Spalding and W. M. Spencer.

Treated for Broken Back.

Louisville, Ky.—For the next month H. L. Smith, a young man of Bertha, Ky., will hang suspended by straps in an upright position in a hospital here as part of the treatment he is to undergo for a broken back. Smith was injured in the coal mines at Bertha. His back was broken at the second dorsal vertebrae, an injury that in 99 per cent. of cases proves fatal. The operation is known as laminectomy. He will be suspended from a frame structure by means of straps arranged under the arms. Weights will be fastened to his feet in order to keep his body in the desired position.

INTERESTING.

More than a tenth of the Populist votes cast in Alabama in the November election, were cast in Shelby county. Not a Populist vote was cast in either California, Louisiana, Rhode Island, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah and Wyoming. In South Carolina there is a mighty lonesome man, that State being credited with one Populist vote. The figures have been compiled by the Associated Press and they are interesting. Here is shown a number of States without any Populist organization whatever. Of the six national tickets voted for in the November election, but one (Socialist Labor) polled a less number of votes than the Populists. Out of a total of 14,533,820 votes cast, the Populist ticket polled only 124,381. —The Sentinel.

There you are again Carrie. Instead of this being a reflection as doubtless you would have, it is a compliment to the many staunch Populist in this county. Shelby county ranks among the best counties in Alabama and her citizens among the most progressive and up to date of the age, and perhaps your own columns shown that you believe this to be true. This county is fast coming to the front and the time will come when it will be known as one of the foremost counties, even though there are so many Populist here. As to the Populist in many other States, they are numerous and fast gaining ground over the old parties, and in many counties of this State, even though their organization is a wee bit shattered, they are there all the same. —Advocate.

And by the court house route Handy Andy passed through the throes of a painful labor and the above is the result!

As usual the Advocate credits the Populist party with having produced the greatness of Shelby county. The God of the universe, of course, had nothing to do with placing the great mineral wealth in Shelby county's coal fields, and it was due, of course, to Populist influence and capital that the great mines in this county have been opened up and developed. The fact of the business is that the one thing the Populists have done in this county is to double the tax rate, wrest from the people hard-earned dollars through illegal tax levies, while the railroads, one class of corporations which the Populists are eternally denouncing, invoke justice in the courts, and they said the railroads need not pay the tax because the levies were unlawfully made. That is one of the Populist contributions to the prosperity of Shelby county!

Handy Andy strains again, and says the Populist party is fast gaining ground over the old parties. That is a fair sample of gold brick doctrine that the Advocate uses to blind those who do not care to see. The fact is, and Handy Andy, by the court house route, knows it well, that since 1892 the Populist party has "swunk" and slumped until in the late November election it could poll but a little more than one hundred thousand votes out of a total of over thirteen million that were cast in November. Not one electoral vote did that party get in that election. Go to the home State of that great Republican ally in the last campaign, Tom Watson, and see if there are any Populists in the legislature there. Go to Iowa, the home State of Jas. B. Weaver, once a candidate for President on the Populist ticket, and a modern Moses to lead that party (but who has since seen the error of his ways), and will you find a Populist in the legislature there? Go to Kansas where was produced Mary Yellen Lease, Sockless Jerry and Mr. Peffer and his whippers, a State that during the years of drouths and hot winds a Populist convention could be found under every blade of grass; a State which tried the experiment of a Populist Governor and who bro't the State almost to the verge of bankruptcy; will you find a Populist in the legislature of that State? Go to Colorado where free silver, sub-treasury and government ownership of railroads used to ride on the top wave and could get anything in sight; will you find a Populist in the legislature of that State now? Go to the halls of our national congress—the law-making body for eighty millions of people! Is there a Populist member of either house of our national congress? Populists have been tried in all these places but it was found the doctrine would not do and its advocates were relegated to private life. The foregoing is the way in which the Populist party "is fast gaining ground over the two old parties." Isn't it swift?

Handy Andy, by the court house route says that the Populists are numerous in other States. Yes, we notice in the last election that 51 Populists voted in Delaware, 233 in Idaho, 338 in Maine, 330 in Nevada, 222 in New Hampshire, and 153 in North Dakota. The biggest vote polled by the Populists in any State in the late November election was in Georgia—22,635, out of a total of 131,000 votes cast. Where a few years ago the Populists turned down a 70,000 Republican majority in Kansas and elected Lowellyn governor, yet in the recent November election there were but 6,156 Populist votes cast in Kansas.

Populism has had its day, and is only kept alive in spots by the fire of passion, prejudice and hate.

PREVAILING MALADY.

Influenza, "the grip," or by what other name it may be called, is not an ailment to be treated lightly or to be regarded no more serious than a cold. A person is not only "under the weather" when he is suffering from grip, but he is threatened with a disease closely allied to pneumonia and heart disease.

A late bulletin from the health department emphasizes the danger which lurks in the grip germ and warns the strong willed and robust against trying to fight the disease. Immediate capitulation is the advice given by the health department. "Mildness of attack and speedy recovery are best insured by taking to bed at once and following the advice of a competent physician." While some are able to fight the disease and go on with their regular work, yet such action is the loss of many lives. Especially is an attempt to ignore the ailment fatal to those beyond middle age with weakened hearts, kidneys or other vital organs. The reason is that the grip germ is the pioneer which prepares the way for the advance of heart disease or pneumonia.

Thus instead of being a disease to be classed with the minor ailments, the grip is nature's danger signal, which should be obeyed as rigidly as the block signals on a railroad if fatalities are to be avoided. No person should fail to observe its warnings.

Let the next legislature refuse to be sandbagged by the Normal schools of Alabama, and there will be more money for the public schools. The Normal schools are the biggest leeches the State has to contend with. Heretofore these institutions seem to have had the legislature by the throat.

We notice that one of the State papers say that a bill will be introduced in the next legislature calling for the publication, the week following the first of February each year, the names of all who have paid poll tax for that year. The bill is a good one, and should become a law.

My good friend, France Ellison, it is reported, offers the following solution of the cotton problem that is so seriously attracting the attention of the farmers, to-wit: "Quit resolving, quit fertilizing, plant white peas and sell them for two dollars a bushel like I do."

Birmingham is to have a State Fair association incorporated under the laws of the State. The capital stock is $25,000, and a greater portion of the amount was raised in twenty-four hours. Birmingham believes in doing things, as well as to talk.

Just keep up the talk for Columbiana. When away from home let the people know where you are from. Advertise the town even with talk, if nothing more.

The present tariff robs the poor in the interest of the rich. Under such conditions America should not throw stones at Russian oppression.

A government that would have in its soldiery such brutes as the Russian Cossacks, ought to be wiped from the face of the earth.

It is said that a sixteen year old farmer's daughter living near Shelby Springs can handle a team as well as any man.

Russian Cossacks can fight women and children, but let a little Jap show up and the Cossack has business elsewhere.

A beautiful map of Alabama, The Sentinel and The Weekly Montgomery Advertiser one year for $1.50.

Until tariff revision is secured do not hope for relief from the trusts. And the Republicans will not revise.

A headline in a daily paper last Sunday, read: "Russia is Awake." Well, we should say so.

The Czar of Russia is a great big coward, and the world knows it, too.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by Shelby Lodge, No. 140, A. F. & A. M., Commemorative of the Death of Richard Tinney.

Whereas, It hath pleased Almighty God, in His wise providence, to remove from the Lodge below to the Grand Lodge above, our esteemed brother, Richard Tinney, who had been a faithful member of this Lodge for a number of years, and

Whereas, In his death this Lodge has lost a good member, and the community a just and upright citizen, therefore, be it

Resolved 1st, That we bow with meek submission to the decrees of an All Wise God, feeling that while we do not understand His workings with us now, we know that he doeth all things well.

Resolved 2, That we tender his bereaved wife and family our sympathy in this hour of sore affliction.

Resolved 3, That we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved 4, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Lodge, a copy be presented to the family of the deceased brother, and a copy be furnished the Columbiana Sentinel and Peoples Advocate with request that same be published.

Lewis Sessions, who has been attending the Columbiana Graded school for several months, has accepted a position with the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company, and has gone to his new work. He expects to go to school in Nashville next year.

Rev. G. T. Harris says the money will be forthcoming with which to remodel the Methodist church, and that it is going to be done.

The plan adopted at the late New Orleans convention is best understood by the following illustration:

A man owning ten bales of cotton at the present market price could get about $300 for it. He deposits two bales of the ten in the pool, which cotton is not to be sold until after the first of October, 1905. It is known that with the 2,000,000 bales taken off the market that his other eight bales will go to 10 cents in a short time and he could realize $400 for the same and have a profit of $100 and two bales of cotton left. The cotton held in the pool will be used as a club to force a reduction of acreage by the large planters.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Williams, of Shelby, were in town Monday.

S. J. Harrell, of Shelby, was in town a few hours last Sunday.

A. H. Avery, of the Shelby Iron Co., was in town a few hours Monday.

Dr. A. P. Lane, of Harpersville, reports one case of smallpox near that place.

Phillip Erlick was in Birmingham and Bessemer last Friday on a business mission.

Remember the oyster supper tonight at the Central Hotel, benefit of the Ladies' Missionary Society.

Hugh H. West, of beat 9, was in town Monday for a few hours and made The Sentinel a pleasant call.

John H. Robertson visited with his daughter, Mrs. A. Verchot, at Pratt City a day or two last week.

Mrs. Max Lefkowitz, accompanied by her little son, has gone to Talladega for a short visit with her mother.

Hon. E. S. Lyman was up from Montevallo, Tuesday. He came in and chatted with The Sentinel man for a short time.

A Japanese student was advertised to speak at the Presbyterian church last Sunday, but the heavy rain kept everybody away from the church.

P. A. Turner, the genial cotton buyer of Anniston, was in town Monday, but there was nothing doing.

Smallpox was reported at Helena Sunday, and Dr. Acker, the county health officer, was sent for. He found John Naish suffering with a pretty severe case.

Mrs. J. I. Abercrombie has been quite ill for several days, suffering from the effects of a vaccinated arm.

Remember the oyster supper this (Thursday) night at the Central Hotel given by the Methodist ladies.

Henry Milner has been trying to keep company with the grip, but he has shaken it loose and is about as well as usual.

The Weekly Advertiser, The Sentinel and a fine map of Alabama for $1.50. You can get this map only through The Sentinel.

Rev. Joseph Duglison will fill the pulpit in the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and at night at 7 o'clock.

The man who says he does not have to advertise because he is so well known, will be found at the tail of the procession in a business way.

Mrs. M. E. Parker is among those who are afflicted with grip. She has been quite ill for several days, but we are informed she is much better.

The reading matter in this issue is cut down considerable because our advertisers have a good deal to say. Once in awhile things do come the printer's way, but it never lasts very long with him.

In this issue will be found the advertisement of the Mobile Carnival Association advertising the Mardi Gras festivities which are to take place in that city on March 5, 6 and 7. Make up your mind to go.

The party in charge of the moving picture show which held forth in the Academy last Thursday and Friday night should cultivate a voice. Lack of a good talker in an entertainment of that nature makes a mighty dull show.

The Sans Souci Club entertained a few of their gentlemen friends Monday night at the home of Miss Edna Nelson. The house was a bower of violets, and the color effect—white and green—was most beautifully carried out. The members of the club are Misses Edna Nelson, Rosser Christian, Emmie Abercrombie, Lallage Longshore, Leilah Wilson and Carolyn Rowe.

Their guests on Monday night were Messrs. Christian, Wallace, Abercrombie, Robertson, Roberts, Bird. The "wee sma' hours" were near at hand when the happy gathering dispersed. The gentlemen think the Sans Souci girls are all right.

J. H. Cross, a well known citizen of Shelby, died at that place last Saturday of pneumonia. Mr. Cross had been night man at the furnace in Shelby for a number of years, and his death is regretted by all who knew him. He leaves one daughter to mourn his death. Mr. Cross was born in this county about forty five years ago, and has been one of its best citizens. The remains were taken to near Pelham last Sunday for burial.

Mrs. A. L. Christian departed Tuesday for Cincinnati, where she goes for treatment of an affection of the face with which she has been afflicted for the past twenty years. It is the hope of Mrs. Christian's friends here that the treatment will effect a permanent cure. She will be accompanied by her daughter, Miss Rosser, and will probably be gone several months.

Mrs. Flora Squire, wife of Joseph Squire, well known mining engineer died in Helena about ten o'clock last Thursday morning. Mr. Squire is well known in Columbiana. has many friends here all of whom deeply sympathize with him in his bereavement. Mrs. Squire died from the effects of pneumonia, and was sick but two days.

Read the four column advertisement of the Columbiana Mercantile Co. in this issue and find out about that big rummage sale which is now on at their store. They are making a cleaning up, and it will be your own fault if you do not get in on the ground floor for some of the bargains offered at this sale.

Hon. E. S. Lyman informs The Sentinel that the people of Montevallo are in earnest about building a monument to the memory of the late A. M. Cross of that place, and that the money is being raised by popular subscription. Mr. Cross was dearly loved by all who knew him, and all will contribute something to the monument fund.

J. R. White and Harry Roberts were out chasing the birds Tuesday. They found a few of them, too.

Death of W. C. Wilder.

It was with deep regret that our people learned Monday of the death of Mr. W. C. Wilder, which occurred at Vincent on Sunday. He was about 77 years old. The Sentinel failed to learn the cause of death, although our informant says it is attributed to an attack of grip.

He leaves several sons and daughters, among them J. H. Wilder and A. C. Wilder, the well known merchants of Vincent; D. H. Wilder, of Clanton, and Lon Wilder, of Weldon.

The deceased was a man of exemplary habits, big-hearted, generous to a fault, and preferred to think good of his fellow man at all times rather than ill. Although he had passed the age allotted to man, yet he had been vigorous, and was deeply interested in every move for the betterment of Vincent and his county. His death is deeply deplored by all.

Honor Roll Harpersville School.

Following is the honor roll of the Harpersville school for the month ending January 27th:

Oyster Supper.

The Ladies of the Methodist church were disappointed in not getting oysters for their supper last week, so and they have decided to try it again this Thursday night, February 2. Remember the date and be sure to attend.

WANTED.—Information as to address of heirs of Thos. Freeze. His address was Shelby county about 1873. Small recovery can be made. Address Harvey Spalding & Sons, Washington, D. C.

County Court Jurors.

Below we give a list of petit jurors drawn to serve at the February term of County Court which convenes on February 20th:

F. B. Lynch, W. G. Skelton, O. S. Lybrand, W. G. Martin, A. L. Blackman, L. A. Smith, F. M. Lee, Tom Lawley, Isaac Howard, J. H. McMillan, W. S. Hartsfield, J. M. Johnson, W. S. McEwen, J. W. Ellenburg, Frank Allen, A. J. E. Cross, J. A. Shirley, H. A. Worlthy, J. J. Lovett, Geo. W. Green, W. T. Dunaway, H. O. Bassett, Lewis Horton, E. B. Horton.

Have The Sentinel and the Weekly Montgomery Advertiser sent to your address one year, and you will get a present of a fine map of Alabama. The map is the finest ever issued, and is a beautiful one. It is down to 1904, too. The entire cost to you is but $1.50.

P. O. West and Rev. Thos. Lucas, of beat 4, were in town Tuesday looking after some tax matter. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call from Mr. West. He informs us that he came near losing several hundred pounds of cotton a few days ago by fire, but that the blaze was discovered before it had done much damage.

The Sentinel, the Weekly Montgomery Advertiser and a beautiful map of Alabama for $1.50. This offer is good only for a short time.

If you have not paid your poll tax your name is mud, and the school fund is short that amount.

County court convenes on February 20th.

Several of our young men think of giving a minstrel show for the benefit of the ball team they intend to have this summer.

LOST FOX HOUND.—Lost between Gurnee and Dogwood, in Shelby county, white and black spotted hound bitch with brown ears and white face; also one black and tan dog with yellow head and ears and yellow legs with black back; had on collar with my name when he ran off. Any information or return of the dogs will be suitably rewarded. Joseph K. Smith, Jr., Box 632, Birmingham, Ala.

COL. BECKWITH SAYS: "I Take Pleasure in Commending Pe-ru-na For Coughs and Colds."

COL. PAUL E. BECKWITH.

Colonel Paul E. Beckwith, Lt. Col., retired, 1st Reg. Minute Men, in a letter from 1893 Vermont avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:
"From the unqualified endorsement of many of my friends, I take pleasure in commending your remedies for coughs and colds."—
Paul E. Beckwith.

IN FIELD OR BARRACKS PE-RU-NA IS EFFICACIOUS.

The constant exposure to the elements experienced in an outdoor life is not so apt to cause coughs and colds as sedentary habits.

Those who are brought face to face with the weather every day in active life are much less liable to catarrhal diseases than those who are housed up in ill ventilated rooms. And yet both of these classes are more or less subject to catarrh and catarrhal diseases. The soldier as well as the civilian finds it frequently necessary to use Peru-na on account of coughs and colds. No one is exempt. The strong and healthy are less liable than the weak and ill, but none entirely escape.

Bryan's Story of Himself.
"My first ambition," said W. J. Bryan in a lecture at Topeka, Kan., "was to be a Baptist preacher. I dropped that ambition after I had seen a baptizing when I was still a boy, but my republican friends have been mean enough to say that my giving it up was due to the natural aversion of a democrat for water. My next ambition was to be a farmer and my third to be a lawyer. I fell into politics accidentally, but stayed there by choice. I had no intention when I went to Nebraska of going into politics. It is easily proved by the fact that at the time I went there the state was republican, the district republican, the county republican, the city republican, the ward republican, and I regret to add that there has not been so great a change in their political complexion as I would like."

Whist and Inventing.
Here is an incident illustrating how business problems pursue the inventor of the airbrake. A few years ago a game of whist was progressing smoothly, when after one of the deals Mr. Westinghouse did not pick his cards up, but kept drawing on a piece of paper before him. The others watched him curiously, remarked that they were ready to proceed, and then waited and waited, unable to understand why he should pay no attention to them. Suddenly, with a flash of triumph in his eye and exultation in his voice, he cried out, "Brown, I've got that natural gas meter fixed—here it is; it can not fail to work successfully," and picking up his cards he asked: "Whose turn is it to play?"

Ancient Timekeeping.
Ancient timekeeping has received new light from two remarkable stones lately unearthed by the German explorers on the site of the old Ionic port of Miletus. These stones are the remains of calendars, of which one is shown to date from 109 A. D. The year was divided into 12 zodiacal signs and against each month the motion of the remaining signs was given, with a note predicting the weather. On the left side were 30 holes, a wooden peg being moved forward one hole each day, thus giving the astronomical date.

Number of Suicides.
There were 5,340 suicides in the United States in 1899; 6,755 in 1900; 7,245 in 1901; 8,291 in 1902; 8,597 in 1903, and 9,240 in 1904. And all the fools are not dead yet by a long way.

WOMEN'S NEGLECT
SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again. "I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness, leucorrhoea.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result.

The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Kate McDonald, of Woodbridge, N. J., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:
"I think that a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but restored health has meant so much to me that I cannot help from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women."

"For a long time I suffered untold agony with a uterine trouble and irregularities, which made me a physical wreck, and no one thought I would recover, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me, and made me well and strong, and I feel it my duty to tell other suffering women what a splendid medicine it is."

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

Has Marie Antoinette's Table.

Mrs. Howard Gould, through an agent, recently made a delightful find in Paris—no less a curio than the chess table of Marie Antoinette, on which the luckless queen whiled away the weary hours in the Louvre after the women of Paris dragged her from Versailles, and over which, doubtless, she dreamed of happier days she had passed in the Tuilleries and the Little Trianon. It is a quaint bit of furniture—precisely the sort one would expect "The Austrian Woman" to use. The style, naturally, is that of Louis Quinze, for it was new when Marie Theresa sent it across the Alps to her daughter, and at that time everything appertaining to the Fifteenth Louis was in fashion, even though the throne of France was tottering on its foundation. For Louis was on the throne. The curving and carving of the legs are wonders of the cabinet-maker's art. They are adorned with inlaying of mother-of-pearl and silver filigree of rare delicacy. The top of the table is of fine rosewood, with alternate squares inlaid in ivory to make the board. In one corner is a little hollow said to have been worn by the queen's signet ring as she rested her left hand on the glossy surface. Mrs. Gould declines to say what she paid for the table, but it is whispered the price ran well into the tens of thousands—of francs, at any rate.

The Deepest Mine.
The deepest mining shaft has been sunk to a little more than a mile in Cape Colony and the deepest bore hole has reached the same depth in Silesia. It is said that there should be no insurmountable difficulties in carrying a shaft down twelve miles.

An approximate estimate has shown that to reach a depth of two miles the cost would be $2,500,000. Ten years would be required and a rock temperature of 122 degrees Fahrenheit would be found; while to penetrate twelve miles would cost $25,000,000 and would take 85 years, the rock temperature expected being 272 degrees Fahrenheit.

15 YEARS OF TORTURE

Itching and Painful Sores Covered Head and Body—Cured in Week by Cuticura.

"For fifteen years my scalp and forehead were a mass of sores, and my body was covered with sores. Words cannot express how I suffered from the itching and pain. I had given up hope when a friend told me to get Cuticura. After bathing with Cuticura Soap and applying Cuticura Ointment for three days, my head was as clear as ever and to my surprise and joy, one cake of soap and one box of ointment made a complete cure in one week. (Signed) H. B. Franklin, 717 Washington St., Allegheny, Pa."

Parkman's Sense of Justice.

A friend met Francis Parkman walking along the street holding two street boys by their coat collars. In reply to his friend's request for an explanation Parkman said: "I found this boy had eaten an apple without dividing with his little brother. Now I'm going to buy one for the little boy and make the big one look on while he eats it."—St. Nicholas.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are cured by Ears, Nose and Throat Remedy (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. E. J. CUREN & Co., Toledo, O. Mammoth Goose Incubator.

On a certain goose farm in the middle west there is an incubator with a capacity for 10,000 eggs, says a writer in Country Life in America. These eggs are not, however, placed in the incubator at one time, but are so arranged that one section will hatch each day, being refilled as soon as the goslings are taken out. The geese are raised on this farm for their feathers alone, which are used in the upholstering business.

Ambassadors to England.

No more splendid roll is to be found in our history than that of our representatives at the court of St. James. In the number appear five men who were subsequently presidents of the United States. There are the names of many men famous as statesmen and honorably distinguished in the great scenes of our national life; also the names of lawyers of great repute; and in Washington Irving, Bancroft, Motley and Lowell men who have added luster to our literature.

The Aztec Indians of Mexico are noted for their strength. An Aztec porter has been seen to take a cask of claret weighing 400 pounds on his back and carry it quite a distance.

Size and Value of a Fir Tree.

A fir tree was cut on Oregon recently which made nine sawings averaging fourteen feet in length, scaling 21,483 feet broad measure. The product of this one tree will bring more than $1,000.

The Primrose League.

The Primrose League, founded by English Tories in honor of Lord Beaconsfield, is twenty-one years old, having risen from an original membership of 957 to 1,686,387. It is peculiar as being the first great political organization to invite the participation of women in its membership and to some extent in its management. Avowedly carried on to support conservative leaders, of course, it rarely discusses and never criticizes their action.

A physician reported by Prof. Mueller, of Goettingen, has been able to work out in a few seconds the squares of any numbers of five figures, and to learn and repeat in twelve and one-half minutes a row of 204 figures. The greatest earlier feat in memory for numbers was the learning of 204 figures in 57 minutes.

Blind Man a Typewriter.

A blind typewriter operator, Geo. W. E. Raper, is employed at the Atlas engine works. He not only is an operator, but is a rapid and accurate one, and no one would suspect, seeing his rapid and confident manipulation, of the keys, that he can not see. He works in the same manner as his numerous companions. Letters, messages and telegrams are dictated to a graphophone, and the graphophone in turn dictates its message to the stenographer.

In learning the use of a machine he had placed on the keys raised dots known as the New York court system, that represented by the keys. When he learned the location of the keys the raised dots were dispensed with, and now he can use almost any typewriter with a universal shift keyboard. He has been employed in several establishments as a typewriter operator, not using a graphophone, but taking dictation direct upon his machine. Mr. Raper is handicapped in one manner, and that is in the correction of his manuscript. But on account of this handicap his work is superior to that of the ordinary typewriter operator who can see, as he has learned to make exceedingly few typographical errors.

A FELLOW FEELING.

Why She Fell Lament Towards the Drunkard.

A great deal depends on the point of view. A good temperance woman was tied, in a very peculiar way, to revise her somewhat harsh judgment of the poor devil who cannot resist his cups, and she is now the more charitable. She writes:

"For many years I was a great sufferer from asthma. Finally my health got so poor that I found I could not lie down, but walked the floor whilst others slept. I got so nervous I could not rest anywhere.

"Specialists told me I must give up the use of coffee—the main thing that I always thought gave me some relief. I consulted our family physician, and he, being a coffee fiend himself, told me to pay no attention to their advice. Coffee had such a charm for me that in passing a restaurant and getting a whiff of the fragrance I could not resist a cup. I felt very lenient toward the drunkard who could not pass the saloon. Friends often urged me to try Postum, but I turned a deaf ear, saying 'That may do for people to whom coffee is harmful, but not for me—coffee and I will never part.'

"At last, however, I bought a package of Postum, although I was sure I could not drink it. I prepared it as directed, and served it for breakfast. Well, bitter as I was against it, I must say that never before had I tasted a more delicious cup of coffee! From that day to this (more than 2 years) I have never had a desire for the old coffee. My health soon returned; the asthma disappeared. I began to sleep well, and in a short time I gained 20 pounds in weight.

"One day I handed my physician the tablets he had prescribed for me, telling him I had no use for them. He stayed for dinner. When I passed him his coffee cup he remarked, 'I am glad to see you were sensible enough not to let yourself be persuaded that coffee was so harmful.' This is the best cup of coffee I ever drank!' he continued; 'the trouble is so few people know how to make good coffee.' When he got his second cup I told him he was drinking Postum. He was incredulous, but I convinced him, and now he uses nothing but Postum in his home, and has greatly improved in health.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Household Matters

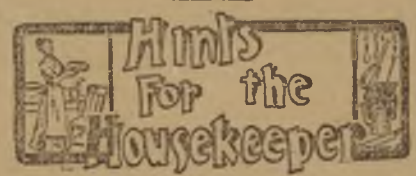

Current Bread.
To one quart bowl of raised bread dough add one tablespoon of sugar, one cup of dried currants, a level teaspoon of cinnamon and half a level teaspoon of cloves. When well mixed let rise again, then put in pans and bake slowly. This bread makes good sandwiches.

Hot Chopped Cabbage.
Chop a small head of cabbage coarsely and put on to cook with water to cover. Season with salt and pepper and add half a cup of vinegar. Simmer slowly until the cabbage is tender, then season liberally with butter and add paprika. Paprika must always be added after a vegetable or other food is cooked, as it loses flavor by great heat.

Ginger Sweet Potatoes.
Parboil half a dozen sweet potatoes and cut in halves, lengthwise. Make a syrup of one-half cup of sugar and three tablespoons of water by boiling them together for three minutes and adding a rounding teaspoon of butter. Butter a pan, lay in the potatoes and brush over with the syrup. Set in the oven and baste with the syrup in the pan while baking. When done the potatoes will be covered with a glaze.

Potato Puff.
To four cups of hot mashed potato add a teaspoon of salt, a saltspoon of pepper, a few dashes of celery salt, one-quarter cup of butter and milk to moisten, making it a little more moist than for ordinary mashed potato. Beat in the yolks of four eggs, and when the mixture is very light and creamy add the whites of the four eggs beaten stiff. Turn into a buttered baking dish and set in the oven for ten minutes.

Roasted Onions.
Peel twelve onions of medium size and soak in cold water for half an hour. Cook in boiling water for twenty minutes, pouring off the water once and renewing with boiling water. Drain and put into a shallow baking dish and dust with salt and pepper. Mix one-third cup of butter with one-third cup of boiling water and pour over half the onions. Use the remainder for basting; bake in a hot oven forty minutes.

Kerosene oil and a soft cloth will keep mahogany furniture in fine condition.

Soak lamp wicks in vinegar, then dry them thoroughly to keep the lamp from smoking.

Discolorations on china baking dishes and custard cups can be removed with whiting.

A tablespoonful of borax in a pail of the water in which flannels are washed will keep them soft and white.

To make a damp cupboard dry stand in it a bowl of quicklime, which must be occasionally renewed, as it loses its power.

A warm bath before retiring will insure restful sleep. A cold or tepid bath on rising will insure one against taking cold, and also sweeten the temper.

Marks that have been made on paint with matches can be removed by rubbing first with a slice of lemon, then with whiting, and washing with soap and water.

A pantry cupboard may hold flour and meal chests, extracts, spices, sugar, salt, baking powder, soda, raisins, rolling pin, bowls, molds and all measuring and mixing dishes and spoons.

Sheet zinc, laid over edges and tacked firmly in place, makes a table covering that is easily cleaned, and is not injured by hot cooking vessels, which may be removed from the fire to such a table.

When lighting a gas stove it will often give a slight explosion and light wrong, thus causing no heat. Turn the gas off very quickly and on again. It will then light properly without any further trouble.

The presence of chicory in coffee can be detected by shaking a little of the suspected coffee in a wineglassful of water. Coffee swims on the surface, and only very slightly colors the water, while chicory sinks and gives a deep red tint.

Occasionally the wick of a lamp will not move easily in the holder but sticks. To remedy this draw out one or two threads from one side of the wick. The wick should be just as large as the holder will receive.—The Nor-West Farmer.

In ironing handkerchiefs, it is useful to remember that the middle should be ironed first; to iron the edges first causes the middle to swell out like a balloon, and makes it difficult to iron satisfactorily. Test the iron carefully before using it; a piece of rag should be at hand for this purpose.

All cupboards should be kept dry and free from dust and crumbs. In cleansing them, use clean cloth, clear, warm water, in which is dissolved a spoonful of borax or soda. After thoroughly drying, your cupboards will not have that lingering musty odor that often follows the use of soap.

Has it ever occurred to the mothers who push their little children around in those wheeled chairs that it is as cold for them as it would be for the mothers to ride in carriages? What "grown up" would think of riding without a robe about her, to say nothing of padded backs to the vehicles.

For unfettered grape juice pick over the grapes, rejecting all unsound ones. Put in a porcelain lined kettle and almost cover with cold water; heat slowly, mashing, and cook until all the juice is out. Drain in a jelly bag and measure the liquid, adding one-third of a cupful of granulated sugar for each quart. Boil four minutes, bottle and seal.

COMMODORE NICHOLSON RECOMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

COMMODORE NICHOLSON.

COMMODORE Somerville Nicholson, of the United States Navy, in a letter from 1837 H Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C., says:

"Your Peru-na has been and is now used by so many of my friends and acquaintances as a sure cure for catarrh that I am convinced of its curative qualities and I unhesitatingly recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."

A WOMAN'S MISERY.

Mrs. John LaRue, of 115 Paterson Avenue, Paterson, N. J., says: "I was troubled for about nine years, and what I suffered no one will ever know. I used about every known remedy that is said to be good for kidney complaint, but without deriving permanent relief. Often when alone in the house the backache has been so bad that it brought tears to my eyes. The pain at times was so intense that I was compelled to give up my household duties and lie down. There were headaches, dizziness and blood rushing to my head to cause bleeding at the nose. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills benefited me so much that I continued the treatment. The stinging pain in the small of my back, the rushes of blood to the head and other symptoms disappeared."

MORE QUIET IN EAST

The Russians are Successful in an Attack With the Japanese. Small Loss.

SEVERAL SMALL SKIRMISHES.

Reports from General Kuropatkin Show That Both Sides are Preparing to Get Busy.

St. Petersburg.—According to General Kuropatkin's latest reports, which indicate the wounding of a third general, Domsoski, the operations at Sandiapu and the fighting at Shakhe have been momentarily suspended. The Russians successfully repulsed the last attack of the Japanese eastward with heavy loss. The cold is still intense, there being 24 degrees of frost. There are indications that the Japanese are preparing to break the inactivity on their own account as soon as the weather moderates. The war office is closed and no further facts regarding the reports that General Kuropatkin is about to give up his command can be obtained.

General Kuropatkin Reports. St. Petersburg.—General Kuropatkin, in a report to Emperor Nicholas says:

"No fighting was reported on February 4th. At present activity is confined to operations by our volunteers which harass the enemy. There is artillery firing on both sides, and a hasty strengthening of positions by both the Russians and Japanese."

General Kuropatkin on Friday reported the repulse of the Japanese advance guard on the left flank toward Saosyr and Chansan, with slight losses, the Japanese leaving 50 dead on the field.

Number of Skirmishes.

Tokio.—There were a number of serious skirmishes along the Shakhe and Hun rivers Friday and Saturday. The Russians shelled portions of Japanese lines Friday night and small bodies of Russians attacked Waitao and Titi mountains, and places in those vicinities. Reports received from Japanese Manchurian headquarters say that the attacks were repulsed.

Friday afternoon Russian batteries stationed at Luchentun and Wanpao mountain, north of the Shakhe river, and at other places shelled the Japanese positions. Saturday morning 600 cavalry, comprising one force, and two companies of infantry and one battery of another, simultaneously attacked Chitaitse, on the right bank of the Hun river. The Russians appeared to have reserves. The Japanese garrison at Chitaitse was defending the place when the report of the attack was forwarded.

Three hundred Russian cavalry with two guns occupied Songchun on Plak-sin bay, northeastern Korea, January 24th, but abandoned the town January 28th and retired northward.

Russians Hold Japs.

Mukden.—During the night of February 1st the Japanese artillery facing the Russian right opened a terrific fire on the Russian positions southeast of Sandiapu, in preparation for an outbreak. The Russian artillery replied and the cannonading lasted until after noon.

During the night of February 2 the Japanese attacked the village of Schantan and adjoining Russian positions, but by daylight of February 3 they had been defeated along the entire front. The Russians even advanced slightly. The Russian losses were about 300 and those of the Japanese were heavy.

Japanese prisoners believe that an important movement is pending.

Tachimi Bore Brunt.

London.—According to the Tokio correspondent, Lieutenant General Tachimi, in command of the Eighth Japanese division, bore the brunt of the fighting in the battle of Hoikoutai. He was constantly opposed by superior forces, but continued fighting till the last, with a total loss of 162 officers and 5,500 men killed or wounded.

General Matsumara Dies.

London.—General Matsumara has died at the front from congestion of the brain. He commanded the operations at 203 Meter Hill, and was decorated and promoted for heroism.

Will Repair Furnace.

Gadsden, Ala.—The work of making the necessary repairs on the old charcoal furnace will be commenced in a few days and will be pushed as rapidly as possible, as the new owners are anxious to get it into commission. The stack will be rebuilt and other improvements made.

Several Buildings Destroyed By Fire.

Athens, Ala.—Athens had a severe fire last night, which did a considerable amount of damage. The fire originated in the Haggard building, and spread rapidly, destroying several buildings. The loss is unknown.

Belgian Miners Strike.

Mons, Belgium.—About 14,000 coalers struck for higher wages. The national congress of miners will meet shortly to discuss a general strike.

Shooting Over Domestic Affairs.

Memphis, Tenn.—A special from Dresden says: B. B. Atkins, a prominent farmer residing in the twenty-fifth district of this county, and his wife and her sister, Miss Mary Nanny, are in jail here charged with assault on T. D. Atkins, son of the first named, who lies at death's door from two shotgun wounds, inflicted at the hands of his father. They were arrested on warrants sworn out by the son after the shooting occurred.

Domestic affairs caused the shooting.

Two Men Killed.

Dennison, O.—Two men were killed and one seriously injured in a wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio near here. The dead are:

J. Henry Muelhoffer, of New Philadelphia.

James Lambright, of Roanoke.

Injured: James Marshall, of Ulrichsville.

The men were "pinching up" a car on a siding when a freight train left the track and crashed into the car the men were working on. A broken rail was the cause.

Einstein Locked Up.

Chicago, Ill.—Abbot Lewis Einstein, husband of Dorothy Russell, daughter of Lillian Russell, was locked in a cell at the Harrison street police station. His wife several days ago instituted proceedings against him for divorce.

Saturday night Mrs. Einstein and her husband met on the street and he threatened to kill her, it is said. Mrs. Einstein went to the police station and reported the alleged threats. She charges Einstein with threats to kill her.

Hobson Denied the Pulpit.

Kansas City, Mo.—During the absence of the pastor of an Iola, Kans., church, a committee of the church arranged to have Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson fill the pulpit.

The minister returned and promptly vetoed the plan, refusing to give way to Hobson. His usual services will be conducted in the church, and the nearest Captain Hobson can get to the pulpit will be a front pew.

Huntsville Mill Will Start.

Huntsville, Ala.—The West Huntsville cotton mill will resume operations at an early date after an idleness of nearly two years. The mill is the property of Tracey W. Pratt, one of the organizers of the Southern Textile Company, and was closed down a short time after the trust began business. All of the former operatives of the mill are now employed in other factories about the city and new hands will have to be imported from other mill towns.

Child Scalded to Death.

Florence, Ala.—A most peculiar and a horrible accident occurred at the home of Mrs. McClanahan, in East Florence, which resulted in the death of her 14-months-old grandchild. The child and its mother, Mrs. George Ramsey, were visiting her mother, while the father was in Texas. The little fellow was playing at some distance from the stove, on which a pot of potatoes was boiling. One side of the stove was propped up on a wooden peg that became misplaced, tipping the pot over. The entire contents were precipitated on the child. It lived but a few hours, dying in great agony. Mr. Ramsey was telegraphed for and is now hastening home to attend the funeral of his baby.

Want Gorky Released from Prison.

Paris.—The imprisonment at St. Petersburg of Maxim Gorky, as a result of the part which he took in the reform movement in Russia, creates an impression in French literary circles, which are signing a petition for his release. Among the signatories are Mm. Rodin, Anatole France, Juarez, Charpentier, Clartie, Marcel Prevost, Ludovic Halevy and Claude Monet.

Nine Injured in Collision.

Plattsburg, N. Y.—Nine persons were injured, some of them seriously, in a head-on collision between a passenger train and a freight train on the Delaware and Hudson railroad Saturday. The collision was caused by the crew of the freight train leaving a switch open. The injured were from small towns in the northern part of the state.

Must Remain Single One Year.

Austin, Tex.—The lower house of the state legislature passed the senate bill forcing persons giving ground for action in divorce cases to remain single for three years, the other party to the divorce to remain single one year. This action of the legislature is the culmination of the crusade which has been waged against divorce throughout the state for some time past.

Rutson, La.—Fire Friday destroyed nine buildings and contents, including the Lincoln hotel. Loss estimated at $40,000, with insurance of $25,250.

Montgomery, Ala.—Governor Cunningham has authorized the advertisement for bids on approximately $3,500,000 of the state's bonds. The advertisements go into the newspapers now and bidders are allowed until April 4 to put in their bids. By this means the state's bonded indebtedness will be refunded. The governor recently made a trip to New York for the specific purpose of looking into this matter and the advertisement for bids comes as the result.

Man Blown to Pieces.

Gadsden, Ala.—News of an accident in which one man lost his life at the Tumlin gap tunnel on the Altoona extension, has reached here.

Ed. Payne, who was foreman, was loading a hole preparatory to making a blast, when in some manner four sticks of dynamite exploded, dashing Payne's brains all over the rocks, tearing off his arm and mangle his body. One hand was picked up some distance away. His remains were shipped to his home in Georgia. Foreman Sparks lost his life in a similar manner three weeks ago, and Mr. Payne succeeded him.

Work on Tennessee.

Huntsville, Ala.—Congressman William Richardson, of the Eighth Alabama District, writes from Washington that the amount of money appropriated for Colbert Shoals in the Tennessee river, about $400,000, is enough to carry on the work now in progress there until the appropriation of the Fifty-ninth Congress is at hand. Judge Richardson said he had to be content with appropriations for the Tennessee this session, and that the small appropriation of $15,000 for dredging in the river between Guntersville and Hobb's Island will remove the sand bars that interfered with low water traffic during the last summer.

Increases Capital Stock.

Anniston, Ala.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Anniston Lime and Stone Company, the capital stock of the company was increased to $200,000, fully paid up. The increased capital stock was found to be necessary on account of the company more than doubling their former capacity, by the erection of a splendid battery of kilns at Tredegar, Ala., and the acquisition of large and valuable tracts of mineral and timber lands, as well as the building of new dwellings, warehouses, railroads, etc., as well as the acquisition of the Comer-Cobb Mineral Company properties.

Caught Stealing.

Birmingham, Ala.—Walter Whitfield was arrested Thursday on a charge of larceny from the person of A. O. Jones, of Adamsville, who was under the effects of intoxicants.

The officers had followed Whitfield and Jones from the union passenger station, where they had suspected Whitfield's intentions by his actions. They watched him carry Jones to a room and by standing on a box and looking over the transom they saw Whitfield take the money from Jones. The amount was about $10. Whitfield attempted to leave after making the "touch," but was caught.

Frauds by "Deaf and Dumb."

Anniston, Ala.—Two men, claiming to be deaf mutes, recently worked Anniston and secured considerable money from the benevolently inclined.

Since one has been arrested in Montgomery and the other in Birmingham and it developed that they were frauds. One had a letter of recommendation from Hon. W. B. Bankhead, of Huntsville, which proved to be a forgery. He was arrested on suspicion in the Capital City. The other man was arrested in connection with a shooting affray at a Birmingham boarding house.

New Fertilizer Company.

Abbeville, Ala.—The Howard Fertilizer Company, of Abbeville, filed with Secretary of State E. R. McDavid Saturday notice of the increase of its capital stock from $5,000 to $25,000.

The Howard Fertilizer Company has been very successful in its business. The stockholders are P. W. Roberts and son, E. L. Armstrong, Webb Riley, O. L. Dorch, T. H. Hatcher, W. J. Howard, R. M. Dudley, W. M. Chevrins, W. F. Chevrins, S. C. Hughes, J. D. Covington, I. V. Luens, R. J. Reynolds and A. S. Steagall.

Will Establish Station.

Florence, Ala.—The postoffice department will establish station No. 1 in East Florence, to be open for business by February 15th. Dr. A. C. Sullivan will be in charge of the station, which will be in the drug store on Royal avenue. Money orders, stamps, registered letters and all postal supplies will be kept at the new station.

Theater Destroyed.

Salem, Mass.—A moving picture apparatus exploded on a stage during the performance of the Mechanic Hall theater last night, starting a fire that drove an audience of 1,300 people in a panic from the place and destroyed the building, entailing a loss of $50,000. None of the spectators were hurt.

Steamer Burns.

Cincinnati, O.—The steamer Hudson, moored at the east end marine ways, was destroyed by fire Saturday night. Loss, $30,000. The boat is owned by the Cincinnati and Pittsburg Packet Company and has been out of commission for several months. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Fire at Fairmount, W. Va.

Fairmount, W. Va.—The main buildings of the university at Buchanan burned Saturday. Loss $50,000.

Stabbed to Death.

Selma, Ala.—Jesse Porties, porter at the Elks house, was waylaid and dangerously stabbed by a negro Saturday night near the old hall on Sylvania street. He says there were three in the crowd and that he did not recognize any of them.

DIVERSIFICATION

Is the Keynote in an Address Issued by the Secretary: Wilson.

SOMETHING TO SELL EVERY DAY.

Will Make Farmers Independent of the Cotton Crop.—Place it on the Plane of a Surplus Crop.

The great cotton convention which was held in New Orleans last week has emphasized in no unmistakable terms that the prosperity of the South is dependent upon diversification; that the welfare and happiness of every farmer, every merchant and every banker is to have each farmer practice diversification, so that he may control his cotton instead of being controlled by it; that he must make it a surplus crop and not a sole dependent.

The South is rich in fertile lands and an equitable climate to produce all the great food crops of the world, and with live stock become the most independent and prosperous section. There is no other section of the Union that can produce as great a variety of crops as the South.

The National Cotton Association stands for the reduction of the cotton acreage and the consequent increase in diversification. Our plan is to have a community of interest between the farmer, the merchant, the banker and the local paper, for diversification along such lines as will be to the best interest of each individual community. And in this work the National Cotton Association has the support and indorsement of the farmers, the bankers, merchants, newspapers, spinners and the legitimate handlers of cotton. It also has in this the support of every friend and well-wisher of the farmer and those who are really working for the prosperity and upbuilding of the South.

There should be a community of interest and a close organization between the farmers, and bankers and the editor of each local newspaper of every school district of the south, not only as to cotton, but as to all other crops that can be raised with profit.

What Have We Done? The National Cotton Association has received reports from the school precinct meetings that more than 400,000 farmers, bankers and merchants are pledged to a reduction of the cotton acreage and adoption of diversification. This work will be kept up through the local committee of each school precinct cotton association until every farmer in the southern states has been pledged to diversification and a reduction of the cotton acreage.

More than 2,000 editors of local papers throughout the South have replied to our personal letters and said that they will carry a department in each issue on "Diversification."

Diversification means, first, that every farmer should set aside a sufficient amount of land to produce all the food and forage he will need for his own consumption.

Second—Then plant a little more of such crops as he can sell for cash each month in the year in his local market, or, together with his neighbors, make up a shipment for the larger market, and in this each one wants the advice of his local banker, merchant and editor.

Third—When those two are provided for, then plant your cotton crop. Make cotton your surplus crop.

With the possible exception of Texas, there is not a southern state that raises enough corn, oats and other grains to supply the home demand, and every year your cotton money goes to swell the wealth of the western grain farmer.

The following shows the production in the various cotton states of corn in 1904:

State.	Bushels.
North Carolina	40,705,478
South Carolina	22,189,837
Georgia	47,334,713
Florida	6,640,334
Alabama	41,877,165
Mississippi	39,709,664
Louisiana	27,258,443
Texas	136,702,699
Arkansas	48,332,614
Tennessee	80,890,925

There is no reason why the South should import corn, but there is every reason why we should not only raise enough for our own consumption but make it an article of export. Every southern state is nearer the great export markets of the world than the great Central West, which is now supplying these markets.

Start a campaign in your school precinct association for more corn. There are farmers in every community who always make a success in raising corn; let them tell you how to do it. There is more money in corn at 50 cents a bushel than cotton at 6 cents a pound.

Resolution Adopted by the Southern Bankers at New Orleans.

"Resolved, That we, the southern bankers, heartily indorse the object of said association and promise our hearty co-operation.

"Second, That we believe that the bankers are amply able and willing to finance the holding of the surplus of the present crop, which we propose to do, provided the acreage of cotton for 1905 is reduced not less than 25 per cent. and the fertilizers in like proportion.

"Third, That we urge the necessity of a thorough organization and call on the various interests of the country to assist in keeping this question agitated from now until such time as a perfect organization shall have been effected."

Reduction of Acreage.

"We, your committee on acreage and fertilizers, do recommend that the acreage to be planted in cotton in 1905 shall be 25 per cent. less than in 1904, and that there shall be a reduction of 25 per cent. in the use of commercial fertilizers in growing cotton."

Financing and Holding the Present Crop.

"Your committee concludes, after last night's exhaustive session and the morning's discussion, that each state and local section seems amply able to finance their present holdings. We believe the cotton now in the hands of the producer should remain at home on the farm or be stored in local warehouses, having same fully protected from the elements and dangers of fire. The banks and commission men evidence their willingness and desire to aid in marketing the balance of the crop, so as to hold in check any disposition to rush in their cotton unduly and break the market.

"We feel if the convention, as a whole, pledges itself and the respective states these delegates represent to an absolute reduction of 25 per cent. in cotton acreage for the year 1905 and 25 per cent. reduction in the use of fertilizers, the entire problem will be solved."

Recognizes New Officers.

Montgomery, Ala.—Attorney General Massey Wilson Friday furnished State Superintendent of Education I. W. Hill with an opinion which advises him to revoke his policy of the past and recognize the new elected county superintendents of education in lieu of the old officers.

To Make Tile Blocks.

Gadsden, Ala.—The Gadsden Tile Company is erecting a building on Locust street, opposite the Printup hotel, which will be used in the manufacture of the tile paving blocks. The building will be completed within the next day or two, when the work of making the blocks will be begun in earnest.

Buy Land to Erect Houses.

Gadsden, Ala.—The Coosa Pipe and Foundry Company has purchased through M. W. Bush, manager, forty acres of land known as the Riverview, lying just north of the Alabama Consolidated furnace. The land was purchased from W. M. Meeks as trustee, and the price paid was $100 per acre. The property will be used for the purpose of erecting 500 tenement houses for the employees of the pipe works. The company has an option on twelve acres adjoining the plant, and it is rumored that another large pipe plant will be erected on this land at some future time.

New Lumber Company.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Case Lumber Company, a new industry which recently decided to locate in Birmingham district, has purchased a lot 150x 800 feet on the Birmingham belt line at North Birmingham, and will commence the erection of a plant at once. The company will saw up hardwood logs and turn them into lumber ready for manufacturers of finished articles in hardwood. The company is capitalized at $25,000 and will speed that amount in erecting its plant.

Mississippi Loses.

Jackson, Miss.—A decision affecting titles to a million dollars' worth of delta lands in Washington county was rendered by the government land office. The register decides that the state of Mississippi has no title under the swamp act of 1850.

City Flooded With Water.

London.—The forty-two-inch main supplying Liverpool with water burst at Eton, Terpolley, Saturday morning and twenty million gallons of water was liberated. The surrounding country is inundated and roads changed into deep channels. Enormous damage but no fatalities.

Two Men Killed in Jasper County.

Jasper, Ala.—There was a killing at Horse Creek late Tuesday afternoon. The particulars are not known further than that a man by the name of Wiley Burns killed an Italian whose name is not known. Coroner Mose Newburger went over to hold an inquest, accompanied by Sheriff Moore and County Solicitor Ernest Lacy.

Arrested for Starting Fires.

Charleston, S. C.—The police arrested Raymond Bowman, a young white man, on the charge of starting a series of fires in hay warehouses during the past few weeks. It is said that he has practically confessed to all the charges.

the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Office over Columbiana Savings Bank.

COLUMBIANA, ALA. Feb. 9, 05

Telephone No. 17.

Columbiana property promises to be in good demand this year from present indications.

The fight congress has put up against the beef trust will not last as long as Father Gopon lasted in Russia.

Farmers tell us that the recent cold snap has destroyed the fruit crop. Let us hope that they are mistaken in this instance.

If you were the ruler of a people and there should be an uprising, would you fight, or would you submit to having your head chopped off slick and clean?

Running a railroad looks as easy as telegraphing looks hard, but the world is so unfair that the operator gets $50 a month, and the general manager $5,000.

Remember that the cotton growers of this county are called to meet in Columbiana on Thursday, February 16. It is hoped that a large number will be in attendance.

It looks very much as if Governor Cunningham was going to call an extra session of the legislature. Some of the court districts are in a terrible muddle, and need straightening out.

There are a number of negroes in this town who apparently have nothing to do but loaf around. Such a class is a curse to his own race and a menace to good government. He should be made to go to work or move on.

It has been demonstrated in a small way that good tobacco can be raised in Shelby county. Now that the farmers are going to decrease the cotton acreage why not plant two or three acres to tobacco. There is always a demand for this product and at a good price. Give it a trial.

There has been such a change for the better in the appearance of the Franklin Times that we hardly recognized it when we tore off the wrapper this week. J. C. Norwood, who recently purchased the Times, will give to the people of Russellville and Franklin county a paper worthy of their support.

We wonder what process of regeneration loud-voiced people will undergo in order to render them admissible to the "city of eternal peace." Whether you do or do not wish it, you are compelled to listen to their talk if you are so unfortunate as to be near them, and the subjects of conversation usually chosen by them are of the most trivial nature, and seldom are their discourses of the slightest interest to those who are compelled to listen whether they would or not.

The supreme court of the United States handed down a decision against the beef trust last week, and for several days after, "The Beef Trust Beaten" was a prominent head line in the metropolitan papers. We'd like to wager the trust isn't beaten. The decision was against the pork and beef packers, who control prices by combination. Watch the beef and pork business and see if it is not conducted along the old lines. The trust is bigger than the supreme court of the United States.

"The trouble with most people," said a local physician a few days ago, in speaking of grip, "is, that they do not take proper care of themselves. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is an old adage, but it is never so well applied as in these cases of grip. Thin soled shoes and thin hosiery produce cold feet; cold feet slacken the circulation of the blood, and a poor circulation of the blood causes the grip. There you have it in a nutshell. People don't inhale enough pure air. Another thing; most people go out into this freezing air and hold their mouths wide open. Don't breathe through your mouth; use your nose. It moderates the air you breathe and helps your chances in avoiding the grip. Too many people take quinine at hourly intervals during the day. Don't do it. Take quinine at night; take a little whisky with it, and after you have soaked your feet in hot mustard water, cuddle into bed, wrap up well and stay there all the next day. Don't worry about getting to work. Let the work go hang.

Stay in bed and get well in a day. If you insist on getting up in the morning and subjecting your pores to the chilling winds that you are bound to meet, you'll go home that night with more grip than ever, and you may have pneumonia in the long run."

From Hosea Pearson.

FARMER, ALA., Jan. 28, 1905.
To W. A. Tallant, President of Cotton Growers Protective Association of Shelby county, Ala.
DEAR SIR AND FRIEND:

I returned yesterday from the Convention at New Orleans, and am glad I went there, for no man who had the good fortune to attend that Convention can now have any doubts or misgivings as to the result of our organization. It's true there were men there who had come all the way from New York to throw out the action of the Cotton Growers, and if possible prevent organization. To illustrate their chances to accomplish this, I will compare them to a single grain of sand on the seashore.

I will not attempt to give you any details of the Convention in this short letter, except to say that a firm, compact and permanent organization covering the entire cotton producing belt of the world was inaugurated with the best interests of the Southern people as its object and purpose.

I was favorably impressed with the opening ceremonies which invoked the blessings of the Deity upon our deliberations. Earnestness, conservatism and unanimity was pictured on the countenances of nearly three thousand delegates to this convention of whom nineteen-twentieths were farmers. Good will and friendship seemed to pervade the entire meeting, and in this connection, I wish to say that I did not see a single delegate drunk, or hear one use bad language during the convention.

In conclusion, will say I am proud of the honor and distinction shown me in connection with Mr. J. F. Pope, of Wilsonville, to represent Shelby county in this convention.

Yours very respectfully,
HOSEA PEARSON.

P. S.—Mr. Tallant, if you see any thing in this letter that would commend it to the public, you have my permission to hand it over to The Columbiana Sentinel and the Peoples Advocate for publication.

H. P.

Notice to Cotton Growers.

To the Members of the Cotton Growers Protective Association of Shelby county, Ala.:

You are hereby requested to meet in your respective beats or school districts, on Saturday February 11, 1905, at 1 p. m., for the purpose of electing three representatives from each beat to a County Association to be held at Columbiana on Thursday, Feb. 16, 1905.

Respectfully,
W. A. TALLANT,
Chairman of County Association.

Some of the State papers are saying that the ground hog did not see his shadow on "Groundhog Day"—February 2nd, and that there will be an early spring. Down in this neck o' the woods if Sir Groundhog showed his head out of his hole he surely saw his shadow, for the sun was shining brightly about ten o'clock.

The Sentinel knows of one farmer who will plant three acres to tobacco this season, and another who will plant five acres to onions. Either product brings a good price.

Birmingham was visited with another disastrous fire last Sunday morning, in which property to the amount of $200,000 was destroyed. Birmingham has been unfortunate in having had a number of destructive fires within the past year, but in each instance better buildings have been erected than the ones which were burned.

A terrible blizzard has been raging all over the northern States for more than a week past, and its effects have been felt even this far south, for sleet, snow and cold rains have been the order of the day here for more than a week.

The Sentinel received a communication this week that was so full of personal matters and prognostications as to probable future marriages, that we cut it out. The Sentinel is glad to have the news from any neighborhood, but to say that John Jones was to see Sally Smith on Sunday night is not news, and we hope that correspondents for this paper will cut out such tommy rot, and save us the trouble.

It was with regret that our people learned of the death of Dr. E. C. Parker's daughter at Montgomery, last week. The remains were brought here on Wednesday of last week for burial, and was met at the train by a large number of friends. Among those who came with the body were Dr. Howell, of New Orleans, J. R. Hill, of Gulf port, Miss., Rev. Mr. O'Hara, of Montgomery, and Dr. Parker, father of the child. The little girl was only a little more than three years old and was the idol of her father. Dr. Parker, who formerly lived here, is a son of W. G. Parker, and in his sorrow has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Well Known Piano Man.

Jno. A. Carter, of Talladega, is in Columbiana placing quite a number of fine instruments. He is Southern representative of large Piano Houses. There is no more reliable and up-to-date Piano man who visits Columbiana than Mr. Carter, he, having been connected with the Rono business many, many years. A postal card will bring one of his agents to see you.

Do you know that a good fire company in a town will reduce the cost of insurance?

Several cases of grip in town, but none of a serious nature, we are glad to say

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

Laurant, the magician, at the Academy next Wednesday night.

Max Lefkovits visited with relatives in Talladega over last Sunday.

John K. Milner, traveling out of Anniston, was in town a day or two last week.

During the past two weeks there has been all sorts of weather for all sorts of people.

Hon. J. T. Leeper was in Anniston one day last week looking after some legal matters.

Hard times are not like opportunity in this matter of knocking only once at the door.

E. W. Chapman, of Montevallo, was in town the fore part of the week visiting his children.

Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Acker are now boarding with Rev. J. G. Walker and his daughter Miss Grace.

J. H. Weldon, one of the merchants of Wilsonville, was among the patrons of our job office last week.

W. A. Parker, who was sick for several days last week, is able to be out again, although grip has not let loose.

Laurant, the magician and illusionist and his own company, will appear at the academy on the night of February 15th.

The Weekly Advertiser, The Sentinel and a fine map of Alabama for You can get this map only at the Sentinel.

an Broadhead, who is attending school here, and who was sick several days last week at the of Judge McMillan, has fully recovered and is in school again.

Attorney W. W. Wallace Sundayed with his mother in Klein, returning to Columbiana Monday.

It is bad enough to be the town's bad man; but how would you like to be the world's bad man, like the Czar of Russia?

The Anniston Star says "Laurant gave a wonderful performance" in that city. See him at the Academy next Wednesday night.

Have you ever noticed in seeing men and women walking together that the men seem to be growing shorter and the women taller?

All the friends of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pitts will be glad to know they have fully recovered from the smallpox attack, and that they will soon be able to be out again.

Mrs. C. T. Acker, who has been in an infirmary for some time in Birmingham, has returned home, and her friends will be glad to know that she is much improved in health.

The Methodist ladies realized about twenty dollars from their oyster supper last Thursday night. The weather was cold and stormy, and many were kept away on that account.

Be sure to see Laurant, the magician, with his own company at the Academy next Wednesday night, February 15th. Take the little folks, too, for they will enjoy it as well as you.

C. F. Elliott, from near Vincent, was in town last Thursday visiting at the home of H. W. Nelson. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call and a renewal of subscription for another year.

Never in the history of Columbiana has there been a time when street lights were so badly needed as within the past two weeks. The nights have been so dark that one had almost to cut his way through it.

Have The Sentinel and the Weekly Montgomery Advertiser sent to your address one year, and you will get a present of a fine map of Alabama. The map is the finest ever issued, and is a beautiful one. It is down to 1904, too. The entire cost to you is but $1.50.

There is not an empty residence in Columbiana. It would be a good investment for some one to build several tenement houses; there would be no trouble to rent them.

A friend says the first three days of December certainly governed the weather this winter. The first day was pleasant, but the succeeding two days were cold and blustery.

Don't forget that when you tell an unsavory story, the person who repeats it will mention your name. Do you want that kind of notoriety? We don't believe you do.

W. H. Kidd & Sons, of Vincent, have announcement in this week's Sentinel. The people in and around that town should read what they have to say and profit thereby.

Notwithstanding that there was a continual rain all day Sunday, Rev. Mr. Duglinson preached two excellent sermons that day, and to fairly large congregations, too.

The White & Davis Telephone Co. suffered some damage by the recent sleet storm, in the way of broken wires, but everything is in good shape again.

Miss Annie Boyer, of Wilsonville, will leave in a few days for a visit with friends and relatives in Kentucky. She will be gone several weeks.

Parties having laundry for Master Arthur Elliott, will please leave it at the store of Roberts & Robertson. Master Arthur will appreciate it.

Judge J. L. Peters was in Birmingham several days last week looking after some legal matters in the United States court.

Rev. G. T. Harris will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday morning and night. All are cordially invited to attend.

Roberts & Robertson have a new advertisement in this issue. They cater to your taste, and ask your trade.

John Cromwell, the veteran mail carrier, is confined to the house with an attack of grip.

Mrs. Howard Latham visited with her parents in Montevallo a few days last week.

A Quiet Wedding.

Mr. Leo Friedberger and Miss Pearl Norris were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents last Friday afternoon, Judge A. P. Longshore officiating. These young people took their friends by surprise, as none of them knew of their intention until after the happy event was over.

The bride is a daughter of H. M. Nor-is, is one of Columbiana's many good girls, of a bright and happy disposition, and the groom is to be congratulated upon having won so good a girl for his bride.

The groom is a young business man of this city, having come here several years ago from Talladega. He has many friends in this city all of whom join in wishing for him and his wife a full measure of the good things of this life, and that the future may contain for them all they may have anticipated, and in which The Sentinel most heartily joins.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to return our sincere thanks to our friends and the good people of Columbiana for their kindness to our loved one, Clement Cromwell Waterworth, during her long illness and recent death.

T. H. Waterworth,
J. T. and Emily Cromwell,
Mrs. J. W. M. Page,
Mrs. F. Marion Johnson,
Mrs. LeRoy Wooddall,
Joe R. Cromwell.

Mr. Wm. Riddle, of Wilsonville, and Miss Jennie Roland, of Nashville, were married in Birmingham on Sunday, January 29th. Mr. Riddle is carrier on rural route No. 1, out of Wilsonville and is well and favorably known to the people of that community. His bride is a charming girl, made many friends in and around Wilsonville last year while in charge of the millinery department of J. F. Pope. May the future of this worthy couple be blessed with happiness and prosperity is the wish of all who know them.

N. N. Mosteller, of Farmer, was town Tuesday, and while here came in and took advantage of our offer of The Sentinel and The Weekly Montgomery Advertiser for a year and the fine map all for $1.00. Mr. Mosteller says it is the finest State map he ever saw, and wonders how we can afford to offer so much for so little money.

Rev. John Milner, who is stationed at Roswell, Ga., came home last week for a few days and was taken with a slight attack of grip, but has recovered sufficiently to go to his work again. He is well pleased with his location, and is among the best people in that section.

Last Friday was one of those days when the weather dealt out kinds of weather. It rained, snowed, sleeted and the wind blew a gale. It was the tail end of a blizzard which has been raging in the Northern States for a week past.

Jas. McGowan has removed from Columbiana to his farm between this city and Wilsonville. Mr. McGowan is one of Shelby's best citizens, and we regret to see him leave us, if only to go a few miles from town even.

Why not organize a fire company? Columbiana has been fortunate in having no fires thus far this winter, but we should be prepared for one if it does come. Let's have a fire company.

For Sale.

The Columbiana Land Co. has the following property for sale, but the prices quoted will only hold good for only a short time:

Good six-room house and one acre of ground in Montevallo; good location, convenient to the Girl's Industrial School, price $750.

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increase in the Number of Operations Performed Each Year—How Women May Avoid Them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on those snow-white beds women and girls, who are either waiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Ovarian and womb troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country—they creep upon them unawares, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, leucorrhoea, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the womb or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation—but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, etc.,

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Age and Diplomacy.

While corporations are refusing to employ men older than thirty-five years, Joseph H. Choate, at the age of seventy-three, is to return to the active practice of the law in New York city. There are undoubtedly many corporations as well as individuals who will be glad to avail themselves of Mr. Choate's services, despite the fact that he is more than twice as old as the age limit which has been arbitrarily set by so many employers.

Mr. Choate's successor, Whitelaw Reid, is sixty-seven. So is General Horace Porter, ambassador to France. Powell Clayton, ambassador to Mexico, is seventy-one. Charlemagne Tower, ambassador to Germany, is fifty-seven, the age of Bellamy Storer, ambassador to Austria-Hungary. R. S. McCormick, ambassador to Russia, is fifty-five. The only American ambassador who is not yet fifty is George Von L. Meyer, who represents the republic in Rome. He is forty-six. John Hay, the secretary of state, is sixty-six.

What the Chemist Showed.

The chemist of the South Dakota food commission extracted enough coal tar dye from a bottle of port wine taken from an original package in the presence of members of the legislature to dye a brilliant wine color nine square feet of heavy woolen cloth. From a bottle of tomato catsup he took enough dye to color a like amount of woolen cloth. A single bottle of pop produced coloring matter of still greater power.

Reason and His Lack.

Cholly—"But—aw—why do you say you don't like my face?"

Miss Pert—"Because."

Cholly—"Ah! but that's not a proper answer; there's no reason in that."

Miss Pert—"Well, there's none in your face, either."—Philadelphia Press.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Many Races in Russia.

The real Russian never comes to the United States, except an occasional student or business man. The czar's policy is to encourage those racial elements who do not accept the national religion and customs to leave, and keep the others at home. There are at least fifty well defined races in Russia, each with a different language.

Paved With Glass.

The Rue de la Republique at Lyons is paved with glass blocks eight inches square and placed so close together that water can not enter between them. The paving is said to be quite satisfactory.

Many Disappearances.

No fewer than 35,262 cases of disappearances were turned over to the London police last year, and in less than half was any trace of the missing persons discovered. In other words, something like fifty Londoners disappear every day of the year, so completely that nothing more is ever heard of them.

Secret of Longevity.

A London newspaper has been asking a number of very old men for the secret of their long life. The replies are of the sort commonly heard. One lives long because he has taken wine every day in moderation, another because he has never tasted wine; one finds sovereign virtue in moderate physical exercise, another is convinced that he lives long because he keeps his body quiet and his mind active. All of which means that each man has followed his natural inclination, never exceeded the measure fixed by good sense, and really thought little or nothing about it.

Elephants always sleep standing up when in captivity, although they lie down when they sleep in the jungle. The reason given for this is that the big brutes never learn to trust their keepers enough to put themselves wholly at their mercy.

The Chinese think that there are demons who cause plagues and all other misfortunes. The date of the Chinese New Year's is changed a few days each year, so that these demons may become mixed up in their dates and unable to do their work properly.

There was a fashionable fox hunt near Philadelphia recently, and in some way the riders caught up with the fox which had probably fallen asleep. Anyway the fox bit on of the hunters, and now fox hunting is classed as a dangerous sport in the City of Brotherly Love.

A remarkable dinner was served recently by a farmer near Ault, Col. The table was set for twelve, and the menu consisted of one five and one-half pound potato, one fifteen-pound cabbage, one ten-pound chicken, one six-pound turnip, one two-pound onion and three pies made from a one and one-half pound apple.

Rented Babies of Paris.

The written law provides for every child in France that the government supplement the home education, and when necessary replace it entirely, but as a matter of fact there are scores of children in Paris, especially, who have shaken free of their parents, or been cast off by them, and who live a vagabond existence, playing hide-and-seek with the officers of the law. Among this band the commonest offense is begging, though generally there is some other person back of the whining specimens one meets with on the streets. The fruitful incomes in this profession are obtained only through children. During the nights between Christmas and New Year's a baby in long clothes, especially if it be delicate looking, rents for as high as $5 or $6. His brothers and sisters from one to five years old bring $2, while those still older are worth $1 on the coldest days.—Harper's Magazine.

Bees Poison Some Flowers.

At the Kennebec Conservatory, 837 1/2 a writer in the Lewiston Journal, I was looking over the show of plants and flowers when I asked Superintendent Olm if he ever had trouble with bees in his glass houses. "Yes," replied Mr. Olm, "in the early spring and through the spring months I have a great deal of bother with bees. They dodge into one flower, then into another, in which by sprinkling the pollen of the first flower, they destroy the second."

For example, a pink bloom into which a pollen-covered bee had flown would close over night, and the only remedy, as Mr. Olm remarked, was to keep a sharp lookout for the bees and get ahead of them by picking the flowers before the winged pests got a chance at them.

Barring Out the Women.

The news comes from Hittingburg that some of the millionaires of that city have established a new rule which excludes women from their inner offices. As some "leg pulling" is reported to have been done in that town, the movement is not surprising. It comes pretty late, however, and will not be regarded generally as an adequate protection. The suggestion of wire screens, barred windows, iron shutters and a guard at every door does not meet the demand, and to keep women out of the office by rules and regulations which will be impossible. Who is going to guarantee clerks or office boys against hypnotism where millionaires are not immune?—Philadelphia Press.

Took Ring and Bonus, Too.

In an uptown jewelry store one day last week a woman was accused of fletching a ring, but after a careful search of her person by the police matron it was impossible to find the stolen article. The woman indignantly reproached the owner of the store and threatened to sue him. To prevent future trouble in court he paid her a certain amount of money.

If the jewelry man had known an old trick he would have looked for the ring under the edge of the counter, where it was fastened with a piece of chewing gum, to which the woman had affixed it, and from which place later in the day her accomplice got it.—New York Press.

It is a Reform.

The Crumpacker proposition, properly applied, would give us constitutional representation. That would break up the oligarchy which at present controls the South, and that in turn would bring the South into touch with the order of things which works so well elsewhere. And in that day Mr. Crumpacker would be welcomed in the South as a friend of that section.—Washington Star.

BISHOP OWES HEALTH AND LIFE TO PE-RU-NA.

Ministers of All Denominations Join in Recommending Pe-ru-na to the People.

Public speaking especially exposes the throat and bronchial tubes to catarrhal affections.

Breathing the air of crowded assemblies, and the necessary exposure to night air which many preachers must face, makes catarrh especially prevalent among their class. Pe-ru-na has become justly popular among them.

The Friends of Pe-ru-na.

Despite the prejudices of the medical profession against proprietary medicines, the clergy have always maintained a strong confidence and friendship for Pe-ru-na. They have discovered by personal experience that Pe-ru-na does all that is claimed for it.

The Bishop's Strong Tribute to Pe-ru-na.

L. H. Halsey, Bishop of M. E. Church, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I have found Pe-ru-na to be a great remedy for catarrh. I have suffered with this terrible disease for more than twenty years, until since I have been using Pe-ru-na, which has relieved me of the trouble. I have tried many remedies and spent a great deal of hard-earned money for them, but I found nothing so effective in the cure of catarrh as the great medicine, Pe-ru-na. I feel sure that Pe-ru-na is not only a triumph of medical science, but it is also a blessing to suffering humanity. Every individual who suffers with respiratory diseases will find Pe-ru-na a magnificent and sovereign remedy."—L. H. Halsey, Bp. of M. E. Church.

Pe-ru-na is the most prompt and sure remedy for catarrh that can be taken. Many a preacher has been able to meet his engagements only because he keeps on hand a bottle of Pe-ru-na, ready to meet any emergency that may arise.

For Instant Relief and Speedy Cure of Itaw and Scaly Humors, Itching Day and Night—Suffered For Months.

"I wish you would publish this letter so that others suffering as I have may be helped. For months awful sores covered my face and neck, scabs forming, itching terribly day and night, breaking open, and running blood and matter. I had tried many remedies, but was growing worse, when I started with Cuticura. The first application gave me instant relief, and when I had used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, I was completely cured. GOOD LUCK Baking Powder make it the most widely chosen of all leavening agents. During this year 16,145,114 pounds have been sold (many orders coming in for car-load shipments), which is the largest business for a single factory in the world. This is only the inevitable result of the original Good Luck plan—to furnish the best baking powder in the world at the lowest price—10 cents a pound. Good Luck is the best because it is purest, because it produces the lightest, whitest, sweetest of baking. These results are due to its unequalled leavening force, to the fact that it contains no adulteration whatever. It is the most economical because it takes less to do the work than any other baking powder. If your dealer doesn't sell Good Luck let us know, and we'll see that you are supplied at once.

STATE HAPPENINGS

Of General and Local Interest as They Occur.

Two Highwaymen Arrested.

Birmingham, Ala.—Two of Birmingham's youthful highwaymen, it seems, have fallen into the clutches of the law.

Saturday the authorities in Bessemer arrested two young white men, T. J. Langford, aged 17 years, and J. Trout, aged 17 years, and last night this pair was identified by E. I. Simon, the well known liquor dealer.

One of the knives stolen from Mr. Simon was found in Langford's pocket, and Mr. Simon positively identified it. When searched at Bessemer the authorities found a pistol on Langford and a slung shot on Trout. They had some money, three or four knives, but nothing else.

B. M. Brazeal, who was held up and robbed last week by three young men, will go to police headquarters and see if these are the same men who held him up. There is also a negro who was held up and robbed, and a young white man whose name is not known.

Spinning Mill in Receiver's Hands.

Huntsville, Ala.—The Madison spinning mill of this city has been placed in the hands of James R. Boyd, cashier of the Huntsville Bank and Trust Company, as receiver, by bankruptcy proceedings in the district court of the United States. A petition in bankruptcy was filed against the company late Friday afternoon by Cooper & Foster, attorneys for the petitioners, all of whom are non-resident corporations. The bankrupt company is capitalized at $300,000, and their mill represents an investment of nearly that amount, has 16,000 spindles and employs 250 people. The receiver will probably continue to operate the plant for the benefit of the creditors.

Ore Contract Closed.

Bessemer, Ala.—The Tennessee Co. has closed a contract for the delivery of a large quantity of red ore for South Pittsburg, Tenn., the order calling for 280 cars, or about 10,000 tons, the shipments being made daily, a good train of ore going forward each day. The ore will be taken from Fossil Mines, near Bessemer. This is an addition to the demand of the company to supply its own works in this district, and is an advertisement of the growing demand for the rich ore of Red Mountain. All of the company's mines on Red Mountain are being run to their fullest capacity.

New Telephone System.

Albertville, Ala.—Albertville is to have a new telephone system, F. E. Ladd and Fred G. Ward, of Atlanta, representing the Southern Bell Telephone Company, have been in Albertville several days and have succeeded in securing enough subscribers to justify them in putting in a new exchange. The company will commence at once the construction of a new metallic line from Gadsden to Albertville and will later go on to Huntsville. Albertville is to have direct connection with the long distance system.

To Build New Market House.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—At a meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen the contract was awarded for building the new market house. The firm receiving the award was Thomas & Galligan, of Birmingham, who are at present engaged in remodeling the city prison, and who built the Leland Hardware Company's handsome building. The bid was $2,073. The work is to begin at once and will be pushed to a speedy conclusion.

Orchards Injured.

Valley Head, Ala.—In many places, especially on Lookout and Sand mountains, a great many orchards were entirely destroyed over large areas. In the last day or two, since the weather turned warmer and snow has melted largely and the ground has thawed and wagons have commenced running again. The roads, where unobstructed by fallen timbers are cut up into a thin mud and holes a foot or two deep.

Died from Burns.

Gadsden, Ala.—Mrs. Dan Shepherd, of Crossville, was so severely burned a few days ago that she succumbed to the wounds and died in great agony.

Loses His Arm.

Birmingham, Ala.—W. H. Wilson, a well-known machinist in the Sixteenth street yards of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, met with a horrible accident here Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock, resulting in the loss of his arm, which was forcibly pulled from his body.

Richmond, Va.—The Rev. Dr. F. E. Pimar, assistant secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board, is missing.

He left here three weeks ago for the south on business. He was in Montgomery, Ala., ten days ago, and was going thence to Georgiana and Anniston, Ala. He did not reach either place, and no information can be obtained regarding him. His wife and five children reside here.

May Start Canning Factory.

Florence, Ala.—Morris Cohen, representing the Memphis (Ind.) Canning Company, is in Florence with a view of starting a canning company in this locality. Mr. Cohen will organize a stock company with a capital stock of $30,000, provided the citizens of Florence will subscribe $8,000 of that amount, and he promises to pay 18 per cent. dividends in two years. The factory will can fruit, tomatoes, corn, pork and beans and every other suitable product of the county.

Railroad to Build Extension.

Demopolis, Ala.—On account of the increasing traffic here the Southern railway is arranging to put in additional switches. They will place one at Spocari 3,000 yards long, in order to properly handle the output of the cement factory. Demopolis is rejoicing over the fact and the people of Alabama have reason to be proud of it, that the cement manufactured here took first prize at the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

His Two Sons Burned to Death.

Anniston, Ala.—The fourteen-year-old son of Mr. William Broom, one of the three boys burned at Alexandria a few Sundays ago, died from the injuries sustained at that time. Of the three boys two were sons of "Mr. Broom, and they were the two to sustain fatal injuries. The elder, nineteen years of age, was so badly burned that he died a short while afterward.

Fatal Wreck on M. and O.

Mobile, Ala.—A fatal freight wreck occurred at 6 o'clock Saturday morning on the Mobile and Ohio thirty miles south of Meridian, Miss. A southbound freight train ran into a washout, the engine turning over and derailling the entire train. Engineer Hein was instantly killed, a colored fireman, name unknown, fatally injured, and Joseph Arata, who was learning the road, severely scalded.

Held to Grand Jury.

Cullman, Ala.—City Marshal Wm. Schneider was given a hearing Saturday before Justice A. A. Griffith on the charge of assault with intent to murder John Mauder, and was bound over to the grand jury on a $1,000 bond, which he made. The shooting occurred last Saturday in Frank Arndt's saloon. Mauder is not fatally injured, but is suffering from pneumonia brought on by the wound.

Mines Inspected.

Birmingham, Ala.—Assistant State Mine Inspector Hillhouse has just returned from the western portion of the county, where he has for two weeks been on a tour of inspection. He reports a number of mines as hampered by water, some of them being compelled to temporarily shut down, while others were forced to work only on half time.

Two Negroes Shot.

Centerville, Ala.—Sook Woolley, who lives about seven miles from here, was called to his door Wednesday night and shot. Anderson Clark is under arrest for the shooting. An old negro, named Cornwell, was shot Friday night by Frank Risinger. It is claimed the shooting was accidental.

Electric Lights and Waterworks.

Sylacauga, Ala.—The city council of Sylacauga has disposed of city bonds for about $20,000 and as soon as practicable the work of putting in an electric light and waterworks plant will be commenced.

Negro Found Murdered.

Decatur, Ala.—Mose Coffee, an 18-year-old negro boy, was found lying in a cotton field near Trinity, seven miles west of here, shot to death. Who his slayer was is unknown.

Iron Strang.

Birmingham, Ala.—The iron market is very strong at $14 for No. 2. One of the largest makers is quoted as saying to inquirers for large lots this week that nothing under that price would be considered.

Flood Stage is Reported.

Mobile, Ala.—The flood stage is reported on several rivers in Alabama. The Warrior at Tusculumbia is 55 feet deep and 60 feet are expected by night. People living in the lowlands are moving out. Much damage is reported at interior landings.

Child Dangerously Burned.

Gulf, Ala.—Etna McCrary, the 4-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. McCrary, was dangerously burned at her home while playing before an open grate.

Boy Dies from Injuries.

Decatur, Ala.—Willie, 12-year-old son of W. A. Brown, who fell under a freight train Saturday, cutting off both legs, died last night.

Guthrie, Okla.—While temporarily insane, James Estes, a farmer, at his home at Marshall, a small town near here, murdered his wife and daughter, Maud, and attempted to kill his son Lawrence, and then set fire to the house and literally blew his own head off with a shotgun. The house was destroyed and the bodies burned to a crisp before neighbors could arrive. Miss Estes, who was 29 years old, was a school teacher.

Countess is Victorious.

Florence.—The Countess Montignose has been victorious in the first stage of her struggle with the king of Saxony, her former husband, to have their daughter, Princess Anna Monica Pia, removed from her care and for the present at least the child will remain where she is. The lawyers of the countess, after a meeting with Dr. Koerner, the emissary of the king of Saxony, declared that orders of foreign authorities can not be executed in Italy, and that the case will have to be tried first in the courts of law.

The lawyers assert that even should the king of Saxony be victorious in the courts, there would be difficulty in enforcing a decree taking the child from her mother.

Alabama Items.

Washington.—The Alabama items in the public building bill which will soon be reported to the house of representatives are as follows: For extension of government building at Birmingham, $25,000; new building at Bessemer, $55,000; new building at Tuscaloosa, $60,000; new building at Florence, $50,000; new site at Gadsden, $7,500; new site at Troy, $5,000; extension of building at Montgomery, $7,000.

Quarter Million Fire.

Chicago, Ill.—Fire started Saturday morning in the six-story building of the General Electric Company, Fifth avenue and Van Buren street. A general alarm has been turned in and a call made for fifteen extra engines. The fire is in the center of the clothing district and large wholesale stocks are endangered.

LATER—Fire was confined to the building in which it started. The loss is a quarter of a million dollars.

Hanging in Mississippi.

Water Valley, Miss.—Edward Gammons, a young white man, was hanged here Saturday afternoon for the murder of Lake Kinsey, a well known farmer, and his daughter, Miss Fannie Kinsey, in April, 1904. Kinsey objected to Gammons' attentions to his daughter and the double tragedy resulted. Gammons was hanged in a blinding rainstorm in the presence of a large crowd of spectators.

Murder Suspected.

Glasgow, Ky.—Bransford Bracker, a prominent citizen of Allen county, was found dead near Alexander, a small station on the C. and N. railroad, eight miles from Scottsville, today. The body had the appearance of being dead several days. It is believed that the man was murdered, as the face showed unmistakable signs of violence. Bracker was 60 years of age and came from Tennessee to Allen county about a year ago.

Money for Military Company.

Demopolis, Ala.—At its meeting Saturday night, the City Council appropriated $150 for the local military company to enable them to rent suitable quarters. The Rifles and the Tombeckee club formerly occupied the same building, paying joint rent, but the club having recently dissolved the Rifles were unable to pay the rent and the council came to the rescue.

Entailing a Heavy Loss.

Des Moines, Ia.—Fire wrecked five of the principal business blocks of Osakaloosa, entailing a loss of $150,000, partially covered by insurance.

Low Wallace is Nearing Death.

Crawfordsville, Ind.—The condition of Gen. Low Wallace is serious and from the best sources of information it is learned that he is rapidly nearing death. Nurses are in constant attendance.

Egg Trust Formed.

Chicago, Ill.—It is estimated that there are 45,000,000 eggs in cold storage. Notwithstanding this a famine in the product exists and householders are paying 33 cents a dozen. The big meat packers are said to have a corner on the market. The eggs were bought at a price ranging from 15 to 17 1/2 cents a dozen.

Traced by Thumb Print.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of an Adams Express company package, containing $650, consigned on January 18th by the treasury department of Washington to the Citizens' National bank at New Castle, Pa., has been cleared by the confession of Leroy Love, a messenger in the employ of the company. The robbery was traced by a thumb print on the seal.

Killed by Dynamite.

Calumet, Mich.—Ten and maybe twenty or more persons were killed in a dynamite explosion in the Kearsarge mine Feb. 8.

Ice Destroys Floats.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Ice in the Ohio river broke at Monongahela and destroyed several floats. Thousands of dollars' worth of property is threatened.

Japanese Attack Repulsed.

St. Petersburg, Gen. Kuropatkin, in a dispatch to the emperor, says: "Our sharpshooters Thursday repulsed a Japanese attack on an eminence three miles southeast of Tunkou."

VARIETY OF CROPS.

The Farmer Should Diversify His Planting—Plant Different Things.

CORN AND COW PEAS IN SOUTH.

Suggestions As to the Cultivation of These Crops Come from Secretary Wilson, of Fort Worth.

It has long been recognized that corn and cow peas are two of the most valuable food crops for stock in general use by southern farmers. Their hardy character, vigorous growth and wide adaptation to climates and soils place them in the first rank of plants for general farm use. In the improved system of agriculture which the south must adopt to meet both weevil conditions corn and cow peas must occupy a more important position than in any previous period, because soil conditions must be improved to successfully make good cotton crops, and this can best be accomplished by the alternate planting to corn and cow peas and to cotton.

CORN.

The soil should be prepared for the corn crop the same as for cotton by deeper fall plowing (or breaking) of the land and winter cultivation. Breaking for corn ought to be eight inches deep, but where the previous breaking has only been three or four inches, it will not do to go down to eight inches at once, hence it will be advisable in such cases to break only about six or seven inches so as not to stir up too much crude soil, but reach a depth of eight inches or more as soon as practicable. The winter cultivation referred to is simply harrowing or discing the land at intervals of twenty to thirty days so as to put it in the best of condition for planting. Plant early as the season will permit in rows, six feet apart on rich land, and five feet apart on hill lands and worn bench, bottom or prairie lands. Where corn is planted five and six feet apart in rows, it will bear a little crowding in the row. It may be single stalks once in ten to twelve inches, according to the fertility of the land, or it may stand two stalks in a place once in twenty to twenty-four inches; the single stalk is preferable. The wide rows allow the sunshine to penetrate to the soil and gives a better ear than where the planting is done in narrow rows.

SEED CORN.

In the selection of seed corn better results in bushels will be reached by selecting promising varieties, grown not more than 200 miles north of the field to be planted. It should not be understood that it is necessary to secure corn grown one to two hundred miles north. Promising varieties grown in the immediate neighborhood, if they have been carefully selected, will undoubtedly give the most satisfactory results. The objection to corn grown in the immediate vicinity is that it has not as a rule been selected with care, and hence it is almost impossible to get pure bred corn except from some seedsmen who have taken unusual pains to keep it pure.

The ears should be of medium length with kernels deep and firm, well filled at the ends and with small cob. Above all it should be corn specially selected and carefully housed, and not taken at random from a crib.

In planting reject the irregular kernels at each end, and use plenty of seed.

FERTILIZERS.

The use of a small amount of fertilizer on corn land until the soil can be improved and filled with cow peas is of great importance to the planter.

Steamer Nueces is Floated.

Galveston, Tex.—The Mallory line steamer Nueces, from New York for Galveston, which went ashore Tuesday night about thirty miles west of here, was floated without serious damage to the vessel or cargo.

Woman Held for Murder.

Birmingham, Ala.—G. W. Herron, a miner living near the Weller mines fourteen miles south of Birmingham, was shot twice and almost instantly killed. His wife is under arrest charged with the crime and she claims that she shot in self-defense, the weapon being discharged while her husband was abusing her. Weller was well known in the Blue Creek region, in this county. Deputy sheriffs went to the scene this morning while Coroner Paris left for the scene this afternoon to hold an investigation. The woman will be held in the county jail here until the matter has been thoroughly investigated.

No Divorces for Insanity.

Montgomery, Ala.—The supreme court has held that E. B. Price, of Talapoosa county, cannot secure a divorce from his wife, though she is an inmate of the state insane asylum at Tuscaloosa, and has been of unsound mind for thirty years.

There is no law in Alabama by which a man or woman may secure a divorce because of insanity.

The continued use of fertilizers year after year is not specially recommended, but at the commencement in order to stimulate the corn and the cow peas it is necessary if the best results are expected. On light soils and uplands that have been considerably worn, use 400 pounds of fertilizer per acre, compounded as follows: 160 pounds of 14 per cent acid phosphate, containing 2 per cent of potash, and 240 pounds of cotton seed meal, thoroughly mixed. Distribute in the rows where the corn is to be planted two to three weeks before planting and follow with the cultivator to mix the fertilizer with the soil. On rich prairie or bottom lands use only one pound of cotton seed meal to three pounds of phosphoric acid and potash, applying only 200 pounds of the mixture per acre. In general reduce the proportion of cotton seed meal used in the mixture and the total amount of fertilizer applied per acre as the fertility of the soil increases.

As soon as the corn is up use the harrow, then cultivate once in ten days till the corn is too large. The first cultivation may be deep—all later cultivations should be shallow. Many use only the plow in cultivation. It is not the best implement, but will answer a good purpose if thoroughly used. More depends upon the thorough use of an implement than upon the special form of the implement; however, the two-horse cultivator does better and more rapid work, but it is a little difficult to use this implement where there are many stumps. Thin the corn in the rows to a stand of one stalk each to ten to twelve inches on poor lands and to fifteen inches on very rich lands. The greater width of the rows allows a closer stand in the row.

COW PEAS.

As the time of the last working of the corn plant four rows of cow peas in each space between the corn rows, using about two bushels and a half of the peas per acre. In case the land is poor it will be well to use 100 pounds of cotton seed meal per acre at the time of planting the cow peas—this will help the corn and insure a crop of peas. In selecting peas for planting in corn, it is well to use a variety that produces the most vine so as to thoroughly cover the land with the crop. Some use the clayed cow pea and some the black Carolina. Both are good, and will answer the purpose if planted with care.

It may be urged that too much expense is put upon the corn crop by this method. The cost of fertilizer is placed at $5.50 per acre, the additional work upon the land at $2.00, and the cow peas at $3.50, making a total of $11 per acre extra. The return should be, and will be under average conditions, an increase of 40 bushels of corn per acre, worth $20 and at least one ton of cow peas, worth $12—Total $32. Nor is this all, the effect of good cultivation and the cowpeas on the cotton crop to follow the next year should be equal to a quarter of a bale of cotton, of $10.00, which added to the $32.00, gives a total of $42.00 for an expenditure of $11.00 in labor and fertilizer.

S. A. KNAPP.

Three Men Killed.

Brewton, Ala.—A disastrous wreck on the logging road of the Florida and Alabama Land Company, between Wing and Falco Junction in Covington county. A section crew, Shelby Hartly, Walter Clark and Tom Dauphin, all white, were killed outright. Their homes were in Walton county, Florida.

Warren Haskell, fireman, had one leg cut off, and the other broken; Dock Cook, section foreman, was slightly injured. The engineer and conductor escaped without injury. The men were riding on the engine, backing out ahead of the cars, when the tender jumped the track, struck a tree, demolishing the locomotive, and tearing up the track.

The cars remained on the rails.

Four Killed.

New Brighton, Pa.—A man and three boys were killed, one boy is dying and three more were slightly injured as the result of a bobbed carrying sixteen boys dashing into a train. All the others on the sled miraculously escaped with hardly a scratch.

Gunboat Newport Safe.

Newport News, Va.—The gunboat Newport, which had been adrift at sea for several days, was towed in Feb. 19 by the tug Wahnetta. The gunboat's propeller was missing.

Roads Resume Service.

Jackson, Miss.—Regular train service has been resumed on all railroads running out of Jackson. Nearly all trains are running on their accustomed schedule. The service on the Queen and Crescent road from Jackson to Meridian was interrupted about eighteen hours by washouts, but the regular passenger trains managed to go through yesterday afternoon. All washouts have been repaired.

Left Children to Perish.

Sheraton, Pa.—Two small children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Yearsley set fire to their home by treading on a safety match. The mother rushed to a second floor room to save them, and when she found that the spread of the flames had cut off her escape by the stairs she leaped from a second-story window without sustaining injury, deserting her children, who were rescued by neighbors.

TROUBLE IS OVER.

So Thinks the Warsaw Chief of Police, on the Strike Situation.

MAY EXPELL THE STRIKERS.

If the Men Do Not Return to Work They Will Probably Be Forced to Leave the City.

Warsaw—Baron von Nolken, chief of police of Warsaw, who had just returned from a conference with Governor General Tcheretkoff of the province of Warsaw, gave the following details regarding the state of affairs in this district:

"The strike continues in all of the big factories. The manufacturers are coming to me to discuss the situation, and Tuesday I purpose seeing some representatives of the strikers.

"Unless the strikers return to work the police will expell all those living outside of the Warsaw district. If they will not work they must go home. The men have no money, and it seems impossible that the strike can continue much longer. Our task is one of great difficulty. We are not fighting an economic but a political movement, having its origin in St. Petersburg.

"The worst troubles, however, are probably over. Small disturbances may break out here and there, but not on such a scale as the earlier riots here."

Private telegrams received from Dombrova say that all the factories there are closed. Thirty thousand wagon loads of ore are standing on the railway tracks, and the entire freight traffic of the Vistula line must be suspended unless the wagons are moved.

Workmen Return to Work.

Tiflis—The workmen here generally are returning to work. The authorities are taking measures to protect those who are resuming their labors. Trifling disorders are reported at other places in the Caucasus.

The civil governor has ordered a meeting of the municipal council to discuss means for the settlement of the labor troubles, but the councillors, finding that the order stipulated that the discussion be held in secret, declined to acquiesce, on the ground that it would be impossible to arrive at a settlement under such conditions.

Pushing American Cotton.

New Orleans, La.—Chairman John L. McLaurin, of South Carolina, of the committee appointed by the Southern Interstate Cotton Convention recently held here and of which Hon. John M. Parker, of this city, and E. Ascroft, of Alabama, are members to wait on the president and ask him to form a commission to introduce American cotton into the Orient and other undeveloped markets, will visit Mr. Roosevelt on the 20th.

Senator McLaurin calculates that if China may be induced to use American cotton, it is not unreasonable to believe that 25,000,000 bales of the American crop will be consumed after five years.

Woman's Weight Killed Her.

Pottsville, Pa.—Mrs. John Wolf, of Tremont, Schuylkill's largest woman, whose weight was 450 pounds and girth nearly ten feet, died from her excessive avoirdupois. When her funeral was held it was necessary to remove the doors to get out the coffin, which was carried by as many pallbearers as could get hold of it.

New Fire Hose Arrives.

Jasper, Ala.—The city of Jasper has received two reels and a thousand feet of hose to equip the Jasper volunteer fire department. The work of organizing the fire company will be taken up and completed within a short time, and it is expected that a reduction of insurance rates will ensue.

Conductor Killed; Others Injured.

Des Moines, Ia.—Conductor H. M. Marsh was killed and twenty-five persons were slightly injured near Melbourne, Ia., when a locomotive and eight cars on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad went into a ditch, as a result of striking a broken rail near the end of a 200-foot bridge.

The wrecked train consisted of two locomotives and nine coaches, bound from Chicago to Omaha. About 300 feet east of a bridge that spanned a gulch at a height of eighteen feet, the train struck a broken rail, after the first locomotive had passed over safely. The rest of the train except the rear car, rushed on over ties and earth into the gulch, crushing the bridge.

Fight Against Polygamy.

Boise, Idaho.—The house has passed the senate bills providing for fines and imprisonment as punishment for polygamy and adultery.

Much sentiment has developed in favor of a move against illegal cohabitation, since it is claimed a polygamy law can not be enforced because of the difficulty of proving marriage.

—Bed sheets are unknown in Japan except in hospitals.

Found Dying Between Tracks.

Oakland, Cal.—Reuben C. Collins, a contractor of Seattle, was found lying between the Southern Pacific tracks at First and Jefferson streets shortly after 6 o'clock Friday night unconscious and bleeding badly from a fracture of the base of the skull, and other wounds about the head. He was removed to the receiving hospital, where he died.

Papers found in his possession showed that he had been a member of the firm of Gerrick, Collins & Gerrick, contractors in iron construction, with offices at 620 Pioneer building, Seattle. He apparently lives at 1019 East Third street, Seattle; is married and has two children. Tickets found on his person indicate that he left Seattle on February 3.

Coming South.

Chicago, Ill.—There is to be a great rush into the south and southwest, if inquiries now being received by western railroads regarding homeseekers' excursions signify anything. One mail in a single railway office today contained more than one hundred letters, all asking about the soil and climate. The movement is not confined to the southwest, but southern states, like Alabama and Mississippi, are receiving a great deal of attention. On one line alone 487 passengers with homeseeking tickets have left Chicago in the last six weeks for a single county in Alabama. For the present migration to the British northwest seems to have come to a stop and the tide has turned southward.

Freeze Causes Wreck.

Parsons, Kan.—Missouri, Kansas and Texas fast passenger train No. 21, from Kansas City to Oklahoma City, was wrecked at Moran water tank early Sunday. The train was running as a double header on account of the heavy snow, and the water from the tank had formed a heavy coat of ice upon the rails, which derailed the first engine, causing the second engine, two baggage cars and mail car to pile up. Engineer C. W. Phelps, of Denison, Tex., who was on the first engine, was killed, his body being badly mangled. None of the passengers was hurt.

Jeweler Found Dead.

Memphis, Tenn.—The lifeless body of W. N. McCallister, a prominent jeweler of New Albany, Miss., was found in front of a business house across the street from his store at an early hour this morning. McCallister presumably had been shot Sunday night after leaving his place of business by some one concealed inside the store, as a bullet hole was found in the window of the front door. A sheriff's posse with bloodhounds, which have found the trail of the murder, is now in the bottoms in hot pursuit.

Charged with Misusing Mails. Milwaukee, Wis.—A man giving the name of N. C. Collins, aged 32, was arrested at a local hotel tonight by a United States deputy marshal, charged with unlawful use of the mails. The specific charge against Collins is said to have been a transgression of the law at New Orleans on January 15th, in connection with the horse races. Collins and one J. F. Barrett, also of New Orleans, are accused of having operated the Co-operative Tarf Association in New Orleans, which is believed to have been one of many agencies of a get-rich-quick concern.

Excess of Rain.

Mobile, Ala.—The heavy rains of the past week are beginning to make themselves felt in the interruption to traffic on the railroads entering Mobile. About ten inches have fallen here in the past nine days. Three and a half inches fell Sunday.

Swims Into Enemy's Harbor.

Tokio.—The publication of naval honors discloses the fact that Lieut. Yokowo, commander of the torpedo boat destroyer Fuji, thrice during last July swam into a harbor, towing five fish torpedoes. Lieut. Yokowo performed many other acts of bravery.

General Call for Organization.

Monticello, Ga., Feb. 1, 1905.
To the People of The South:

The time has come for action; in unity now is your only strength. The movement inaugurated at New Orleans whereby the Southern Cotton Association was organized, is the hope now for the accomplishment of lasting benefits to the cotton growers of the South, and to reap the full benefits of that organization, and to successfully carry out its purposes, it is essential that we have organization in every precinct in the South.

The people of the cotton growing States are aroused to the imperative necessity to do something, and the line of action marked out for the Southern Cotton Association at New Orleans, after full and free consultation between bankers, merchants, professional men and farmers, is the guide to follow and we must be enthusiastic, determined and must not tolerate any hesitation or deviation, or else our efforts will be in vain.

It is hardly necessary for us to bring your attention to the fact that unless we control the markets and demand, and receive fair and just prices for our cotton, bankruptcy stares us in the face, and there can be no escape from it except in the manner indicated by the plan suggested by the Southern Cotton Association and the Executive Committee, to which your attention is called and is as follows:

1. To tie up and take care of the surplus of this crop; remove it from the markets and hold balance of the crop until prices advance.

2. Reduce cotton acreage and use of commercial fertilizers under cotton at least 25 per cent. of that of last year.

3. Arrange for a general system of bonded warehouses under control of the people of the South.

4. Organize the producers of the South in every cotton growing county on a business basis to carry into operation a permanent system of relief and protection for the future.

Each county or parish shall convene, organize by the election of its own officers, and elect one representative to the State or Territory Association to be held at the capital of each cotton growing State or Territory on the 21st day of February 1905; provided, that the Tennessee State convention shall be held at Memphis, and the Indian Territory convention to be held at South McAlistier. The State or Territory organization shall elect, in addition to their own officers, the members of the National Executive Committee, as follows:

Alabama, three members.
Arkansas, two members.
Florida, one member.
Georgia, three members.
Louisiana, two members.
Mississippi, three members.
North Carolina, two members.
South Carolina, two members.
Tennessee, one member.
Texas, three members.
Oklahoma, one member.
Missouri, one member.
Indian Territory, one member.

The membership for all persons joining this Association shall be twenty-five (25c.) cents, and fees thus collected to be turned over to the treasurer of the county or parish association, who shall retain one-half of the amount so collected for the use of the county or parish association, forward one-half to the treasurer of the State or Territorial association. The treasurer of the State or Territorial association to forward one-half of the amount received by him to John H. Latham, Dublin, Texas, the treasurer of the Southern Cotton Association, and report the amount thus sent to Richard Cheatham, Secretary, Monticello, Ga.

The county or parish association shall pay its own treasurer.

The parish or county associations shall fix a reasonable compensation to be paid the township or political subdivision canvassers for collecting the above named pledges and statistics, to be paid out of the county funds.

Every township or political subdivision not heretofore organized is urgently requested to perfect its organization at once.

Such precincts or counties as have heretofore organized for the purposes herein stated, under whatever name, are requested to hold their meetings in accordance with the above call and become members of this association.

MUST ACT NOW.

The people must act now and shake off the obstacles in the way of the prosperity of this section or it may be another decade before we get the desired relief. In unit there is strength; let all our people stand together in a common cause.

Each daily and weekly paper in the State is requested to copy and call attention to this call, and give their co-operation in giving notice to those interested in the proposed meetings.

HARVIE JORDAN, President.
RICHARD CHEATHAM, Secretary,
Monticello, Ga.

A TRIP ABROAD.

Dear Mr. Editor:

As per promise, I will, in two or three letters, give you something of a description of my trip to Europe, but will promise to do so at various intervals in order that the suffering public who has to read them may not be imposed upon.

On the morning of April 26th, we sailed from New York on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, the pride of the North German Lloyd Line. A ship that has sailed for eight years, never had an accident, and sails universally on time. For commotion, excitement, weeping and laughing, I cite you to a steamer about to sail with her eighteen hundred passengers and hundreds of friends and relatives on board saying their good-byes. At last the gong was sounded, all except the passengers were hurried off, the gang plank was raised, the ponderous machinery began to vibrate, and amidst the shouting, the band playing, the waving of hats, handkerchiefs, umbrellas, and any old thing you could get your hand on, we were off.

For the first four days the weather was fine, the sea perfectly calm, and we had beautiful sailing. In a very few hours the land receded completely from view, and the waves would rise and fall as if the bed of the ocean were asleep and gently breathing. The moon was in full blast and as its beams fell upon the bosom of the waters it seemed as if they were enshrouded with a huge silver covering, with here and there a dot of white, as a little breaker would cast its spray up into the moonlight. A perfectly calm, moonlight night on the ocean is one of the sweetest and most peaceful visions that the human eye ever beheld. The only sounds that reach the ear is the gentle puffing of the engine as it comes from way below the surface of the water, and the occasional chirping of a sea bird, as he follows in the wake of the ship seeking that which may be thrown in to the water. Otherwise quiet and stillness reigns supreme, and as far as the eye can see the gently rolling waves disappear from view as if going down into a peaceful and quiet eternity, wrapped in their silver robes. As they disappear others seem to be resurrected and come rolling into view, and as the eye watches the gentle bounding of the incoming and outgoing waves of the vast and limitless expanse of silvery blue sea, a serene feeling of peace and quiet steals into his soul. You have heard that "in the Spring-time a young man's fancy fondly turns to thoughts of love," but a young man, so inclined, who could not make love to his best girl on deck on such a night, there must be something radically wrong with his liver.

About the fourth day out we reached the "high seas" and it began getting pretty rough. It was then I beheld a sight that for gorgeousness and grandeur eclipsed anything I had ever conceived of. The setting of the sun on a rough sea! As the red rays of the sun would fall upon the tremendous white caps which covered the sea, they would seem as large and like small volcanoes of sparkling and glistening gold and jewels, each trying to outclass the other in emitting the most gorgeous and beautiful jewels of all sizes and colors. The entire bosom of the ocean was one limitless cauldron of seething, splintering gold and jewels, some rising high into the air and showering the smaller ones with their grand, beautiful, and varied sprays of brilliant colors. Nature's own grand and glorious fireworks display, with her orb of day as the fire, the white caps her powder and balls, and the vast expanse of the ocean her arena!

The fourth night out we experienced a baby storm, nothing dangerous, but enough to give one an idea of the awfulness of a storm at sea. When it began a great many of the passengers were on deck, and the deck was converted into a skating rink as the boat began to roll and toss. As it would rise, as a cork, upon the crest of a mighty wave, and then sink into the abyss between it and the next one, it would seem as if it were going on down to the bottom of the ocean, and you would begin holding your breath so as to float when you were washed overboard, and thinking of all the mean things you had ever done. Because you can think pretty fast then. It is then you realize, to some extent, the power and greatness of the Creator. When you think of a boat the size of that, over seven hundred feet long, weighing thousands and thousands of tons, with its vast amount of machinery, freight, supplies, baggage and eighteen hundred passengers, being tossed upon the mighty waves as a cork, and this body of water, when compared to all the rest of the universe, is as only a little water in the palm of His hand.

On May the second we sighted land off the English coast, and it was a goodly sight. We were beginning to hunger for the green fields and woods of old terra firma, and the coast of England is beautiful, with its green fields and pastures as clean as a garden, dotted here and there with castles, towns and forts. We landed first at Plymouth, and there you begin realizing, to some extent, the greatness of England's fortifications and navy, as this is one of her greatest. On every hand you could see her mighty battleships at anchor, and in every direction, from their rocky, lofty heights, her forts would frown down upon you. We next landed at Cherbourg, one of the best fortifications of France, and from there direct to Bremen. We reached Bremen on the evening of the third, having made the trip of about three thousand miles in seven days. We remained there for several hours and dined at the "Rathskeller," the famous place of Bremen. It was built in 1600, and has entertained all the nobility of Europe. Also all the Americans who visit this part of the country take pride in dining at this famous place. Its wine cellars are its pride and they furnish a guide to conduct visitors through them. In there is row after row of very large casks holding hundreds of gallons each and beautifully decorated and designed with the most precious metals. They have the finest and rarest wines over three hundred years old which they serve only to noted visitors on special occasions and only a few drops to each.

Most of the country of Germany is a veritable Garden of Eden. This part is as level as a floor, is worked and cultivated to its very best advantage and produces most abundantly. As far as the eye can see in every direction there appears to your vision field after field of luxuriantly beautiful grain in different stages of cultivation, making a panorama of varieties of colors, dotted here and there with villages, church spires, a few trees surrounding a spring, the typical German windmill, pastures of fine cattle, horses and sheep, containing thousands of heads, and in the midst of the fields you will see squads of working girls and women, containing various numbers, bare-footed, knee dresses, and handkerchiefs around their heads of all colors and descriptions. However, for colors of dresses and handkerchiefs worn by peasants in country, towns and villages of both Germany and Hungary, red, yellow and green, gorgeously decorated, are the prevailing colors.

Just here I tell you about the trains in Europe. They are arranged in compartments with 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th class. When a train pulls up you see the class of the compartment on the door and you open the door of the one your ticket calls for, each compartment accommodating six people. There are racks above for baggage, and the two long seats on each side, facing, are so arranged that they can be pulled out a little from the back cushion, the end cushion converted into a pillow, the curtains drawn, and you have a good sleeping apartment, as regular sleeping cars in that part of Europe are very rare. The sides of the dining cars are made of almost solid glass and from them you get a magnificent view of the country.

Berlin is the most beautiful city in Europe, and might be called a city of statues, for everywhere you look, are magnificent statues. The streets are wide and beautiful, some of them with one or two rows of trees near the center, and as smooth and clean as a parlor floor. In the center between the row of trees the most prolific beds of flowers were in bloom. You have, doubtless, seen pictures of Berlin that you have thought exaggerated but you have never seen a picture that did the natural scene justice. The buildings are not very tall, but of the most superb architecture and a great many of them frescoed on the outside. The splendid street "Unter der Linden" is the continuation from Brandenburg Gate to the Royal Castle. With its many public buildings, palaces, with its fashionable shops, cafes, restaurants, palatial and business houses, forms this street, the most elegant and imposing thoroughfare of Berlin. The Brandenburg Gate, and imitation of the Propylea at Athens, is an imposing structure and rests on six Doric columns and arranged to form five passages, and is crowned with Schadow's Quadriga of Victory, four tremendous bronze horses, rider, iron cross and eagle. This is the entrance to a most magnificent park covering hundreds of acres, with its grand flower gardens, drive ways, State House with its gold dome, legations, it's beautiful avenues and precious monuments, on both sides, made of the finest pure white marble, is indeed the "Avenue of Victory."

We went through the Emperor's Palace, but the grandeur and sublimity of the rooms and halls, with their paintings, chandeliers, works of art and sculpture, monuments of gold and silver, precious gifts from other rulers of the world, made of gold and precious stones, defy description. In one ball room, where a dance is given only once a year and on the Emperor's birthday, and never opened on any other occasion, except to show visitors through, one column contains over eighty tons of silver and surmounts it with gold. Visitors are conducted through the Palace at stated intervals, by guides furnished by the government, but of course they expect tips from the visitors, as Europe is a land of "tips." As you go through hall after hall, gallery after gallery, museum after museum, gazing upon a great nation's collections of wealth and riches, grandeur and curios, the eye becomes dazed and the mind bewildered. But the Royal Stable is a model of perfection. With its hundreds of horses arranged according to their colors, as neat as a pin and as elegant as a man in. There you see horses from all over the world, but the Arabian collection was one of the greatest sights I ever saw. The pony department, belonging to the children, was a very interesting sight, and ponies of all sizes, colors and description, from every country on earth, were there. In the Royal Stables in Vienna we saw one set of harness that cost sixty thousand gouldin, $30,000.00 in our money, and a carriage, the finest in the world, except one in Russia, which cost a little more, though not so unique.

It was a most massive carriage and trimmed with gold and silver. It is never used, and is next to an old relic, in the way of a carriage, that it is prized very highly as being the one in which Napoleon rode.

In my next letter I will attempt to give you something of an idea of rural life in Hungary, and of its

Mrs. Max Lefkovits and little son have returned from a visit with relatives in Talladega.

Will Weldon, one of Wilson-ville's fine young men, was in the city a few hours last Sunday.

Mrs. I. W. Bailey, of Calera, was in the city several days last week visiting her mother, Mrs. Weaver.

the backbone of winter is broken.
Well, here's hoping he will throw the pieces away.

Andrew Jackson, who is clerking for J. H. Abercrombie & Son, visited with homefolks near Wilsonville last Sunday.

The Weekly Advertiser, The Sentinel and a fine map of Alabama for

Our local sports have been having a great time the past few days shooting robins and cedar birds.
Hundreds have been killed.

Miss Gertrude Roberts, of Birmingham, is in the city visiting her brother Lucius at the White House.
She will remain for some time.

Mrs. H. M. Roberts, who was ill several days last week from an attack of the grip, has recovered and is in her accustomed place at the bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Peter, who have been abroad for the past several months have returned and are once more at their home in Maylene.

The sun came out bright and glorious last Thursday after sulking for more than a week. Everybody felt better because of the bright sunlight.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Callaway have returned from their bridal trip into Georgia and Florida, and for the present are stopping at the Central Hotel.

In Tuscaloosa anything that calls for two spoons is a function, and if it calls for three spoons or more, it is an event. Now look for a roar from Tom Garner.

Sneak thieves broke into Lath-am's kitchen a few nights ago, but Howard says there was nothing there they seemed to want so they sneaked out again.

It is surprising how funny it is when somebody else sits down suddenly on the sidewalk, and how utterly devoid of humor it is when you sit down yourself.

Jas. N. Robertson was sick several days last week, suffering with an attack of the prevailing malady —grip. He is at the store as usual this week, however.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Abercrombie went over to Birmingham last Sunday for a short visit. Mr. Abercrombie is a witness in a damage suit against a railroad.

Hon. E. S. Lyman, of Montevallo, was in town two or three days last week securing data for his book on Montevallo. Mr. Lyman is very much interested in his work.

Miss Lallage Longshore will go to Sylacauga Monday to resume her study in art under her old instructor at the Jndson, who is now located at the Agricultural School of this district.

A letter from Mrs. Christian to her son, L. E. Christain, says that she and Miss Rosser arrived safely in Cincinnati, but that the weather there is very cold and that there is plenty of snow.

An explorer of the heavens has discovered that there is a spot on the sun covering an area of about 80,000 square miles. Wonder if that has anything to do with the recent cold snap?

We know of a man who always wants to be called an hour before time to get up in the morning, so that he may have a full hour to lie in bed and think how nice it is that he doesn't have to get up yet.

Mrs. Iris E. Taylor, landlady of the "Drummers' Home," Wilsonville, was among the patrons of our job department last week. Mrs.
Taylor is hostess of one of the nicest little hotel in this section of the State.

There were several royal snow battles on the streets last Monday.
Snow balls flew thick and fast as we imagine shells flow in some of the battles between the Japs and Russians.

Rev. Joseph Dunlison visited with his parents in Talladega several days last week, and while there had a light attack of the grip.
He has since recovered, and filled his appointment in Montevallo Sunday.

A. C. Wilder, until recently a member of the firm of J. H. Wilder & Bro., Vincent, has gone to Andalusia where he will engage in the mercantile business. In the removal of Mr. Wilder this county loses one of its best citizens.

A few friends of Judge and Mrs.
D. R. McMillan met at their home last Friday night and had a most delightful social time. Pulling candy occupied a goodly portion of the evening. The host and hostess made it very pleasant for their friends.

Have The Sentinel and the Weekly Montgomery Advertiser sent to your address one year, and you will get a present of a fine map of Alabama. The map is the finest ever issued, and is a beautiful one. It is down to 1904, too. The entire cost to you only 1.50.

Lots of Sweetness.

Have you tasted that fine candy
Roberts & Robertson have just received? U-m-m-m but it's good, and purest of the pure, too.

The Baptist congregation of this place has called the Rev. Mr. Pur-tridge, a student of Howard College, to be pastor of the church.
He will preach here next Sunday, morning and night, and a cordial invitation is extended all to come out and hear him.

An exchange says: "A man's business stationery is like his salesman; it should go forth well dressed and of an appearance likely to create the right sort of impression."
The Sentinel is prepared to do your stationery work satisfactory to yourself, or no pay.

John S. Pitts, the tax assessor, is again at his office after a seige with smallpox for several weeks. Mrs. Pitts has also fully recovered, and their children who have been isolated from home are with their parents again. Mr.
Pitts informs our news gatherer that there was a happy family reunion at his home last Saturday.

All of last Sunday the rain came down in torrents, and late that night it became colder, froze up and snowed all day Monday. The rain fall for three days last week, we are told, was one and three quarter inches. The frequent changes in the weather is what has caused so much grip, and one cannot take too good care of himself.

A number of the friends of Miss Lallage Longshore gave her a surprise Thursday night by dropping in on her when she was not looking for it, but the little lady was equal to the occasion, and gave to her friends a most delightful evening.
The gathering was prompted by the fact that Miss Longshore was soon to leave to resume her study of art in another city. After an evening of pleasure the whole party came down town and were served with a bohemian lunch at the store of Roberts & Robertson. It was an evening to be remembered by the jolly party of young people.

This is good gum shoe weather.

County Court convenes Monday.

Thos. Taylor, of Wilsonville, was in town Monday.

The Sentinel is in the market to do your jok work, and do it right.

Henry Milner was a visitor to Birmingham Tuesday of this week.

L. N. Roy, of Helena, was in the city a day or two the fore part of the week.

Little Aline Millsap, who has been very sick with grip for more than a week, is able to be up again.

Mrs. C. A. Carter, of Shelby, was in the city last Saturday and Sunday visiting her sister, Mrs. M.
E. Mason.

Dr. Acker, the county health officer, informs The Sentinel that there are five cases of smallpox in and near Harpersville.

Sheriff R. F. Cox and family went to Bridgeton the latter part of last week for a short visit with relatives and friends.

Lewis Sessions came up from Montevallo Sunday to see his brother Joe, who has been sick for several days with a case of grip.

Mrs. C. T. Acker returned from Helena last Saturday where she had been making the family of Commissioner R. J. Griffin a short visit. Her little daughter Mildred, who has been visiting there for several weeks, returned home with her mother.

The friends in this county of T.
F. Vest, the popular sign writer and artist in Birmingham, will regret to learn that his shop, together with its contents, was burned in the recent big fire in that city. His loss is about a thousand dollars, with no insurance.

Henry Milner attended the live stock sale of the Nichols Mercantile Company, in Childersburg, last Wednesday and Thursday. One feature of the sale was the selling of eleven fine mules in a lump for $1,000. Mr. Milner says that four of the animals were worth $600.

In this issue appears the first of several letters promised The Sentinel by Hon. J. T. Leeper, relative to his trip abroad some months ago. Mr. Leeper is an interesting writer, and expresses himself in an easy flow of language that makes his letters readable and enjoyable.

Miss Ethel Mason and Mr. Speer Kylie were married at the home of the bride's parents in Wilsonville on Wednesday evening, February 8th, the Rev. O. P. Bently performing the ceremony. The bride has been the telephone operator of the Wilsonville exchange, and by her kindly attention to patrons of the exchange, and her sweet, womanly disposition has drawn to herself a large circle of admiring friends.
The groom is book-keeper for Jackson & Son at Wilsonville, and is a young man of excellent qualities and fine character. Miss Amma Strickland, of this city, was maid of honor. The Sentinel joins with their numerous friends in wishing them a bright and happy future.

Miss Carrie B. Norris was married to W. P. Parham at the home of her parents in Russellville on Tuesday of last week. The bride is quite well known here and in Montevallo, having visited Mrs. W.
F. Davis a number of times, and was a pupil in the Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo for two or three years. Miss Norris is also well known to the members of the Alabama Press Association, her charming personality having added to the pleasure of several outings of that organization. Mr. and Mrs. Parham have gone on a bridal trip to New Orleans, Mexico, Central America and Cuba, and will return in the spring, going to LaGrange, Tenn., their home, where Mr. Parham is a prominent merchant. Shelby county friends extend best wishes to these happy people.

Public Debate.

The young men's debating club of the Columbiana Graded School, will hold a public session at the Academy on the night of February 24th, at which time the subject under discussion will be:

"Resolved, That the signs of the times indicate a subversion of our Government."

The negative side of the question will be championed by Toll
Smith, Walter Lucas and Joe Sessions, while the affirmative will be taken care of by Mel Wilson, Steadman Wood and John Strickland.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend and hear the discussion.

Thieves, Thieves!

Thieves broke into the smoke house of T. S. Millsap, of the Central Hotel, last Saturday night and stole two very fine hams which Mr.
Millsap had purchased but a day or two before. The house was fastened with a padlock, and the thieves drew the staple. Mr. Milsap says he has reasons for thinking the stealing was done by negroes.

A Turn Over.

Some medical authorities have recently turned a complete somersault: They now declare war on chest protectors, padded vests and other once popular inventions to keep one's self warm in the winter.
They now say that if anything should be kept wrapped up, it is the back rather than the chest, for in the spine is found the great nerve center that keeps the whole body warm.

The region of the spine near the shoulders is said to be the best place for artificial applications to keep the body warm. They say applying more cloth to the chest is a mistake, and that the thin back of a vest is "the undertaker's best friend." One authority says: "Let the people look to the warmth of the spine rather than to the chest protectors if they would avoid severe colds."

Doesn't it make you weary to read the stuff the big daily papers print repeatedly ridiculing the country papers on their local items?
They think it funny when some country paper says: "Hiram Slocum sold his Jersey cow to Ed.
Thompson." But, of course, it is just the proper paper when the dailies say: "Mrs. Franklin DeOliver Lowden has just returned from the DeKoven kennels, and was wined and dined while there." That's great! The bull pups she saw would bring about thirteen cents in the dog pound, while Slo-cum's Jersey cow would sell for $50 in the dark. If the country papers say anything about the young fellow and his best girl, the dailies throw a fit and an old shoe, but if Reggie Emerson Dook was in one of the cities last week to see Miss Gussie Looline DeVere they slobber a half column or more, and have two or three pictures on the front page of Reggie and Gussie Looline "playing hands."

MONTVALLO.

Did anyone say we had good roads in Shelby?

John Cunningham is still very ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs.
R. T. Newton.

Mrs. Minus Walker, of Faunsdale, has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Reynolds.

Prof. J. W. Ellenburg and family have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their baby girl.

A. E. McNeal, of Marion, Ohio, with his family, and Miss Sarah Pholan, are visiting Mrs. French Nabors.

Joseph F. Johnson and wife, an aged couple, are both reported in bad health, at Henry Johnson's, near Ebenezer.

J. N. Wyatt, who recently purchased and moved to the "Dairy" farm, has several cases of severe illness in his family.

Josh. J. Prestridge, a farmer, who lived near Moore's Cross roads died last Friday. He had been in poor health for several months.

The bucket brigade assembled at the residence of Dr. D. L. Wilkinson, Saturday night, in response to a fire alarm. A curtain had caught fire from a lamp. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

News of the death of Miss Ruffin, at Helena, one of the graduating class at the A. G. I. S. last year, was announced to the school Friday, and it cast a gloom over all.
She was universally beloved here.
The usual exercises were suspended while a fitting memorial service was held, and feeling tributes were paid to her memory. Dr. Peterson attended the funeral service at Helena, Saturday.

The entertainment which was to have been given at the Industrial School, Saturday night, by the school of oratory, assisted by Miss Sampey's orchestra and the physical culture class, was postponed on account of rain to a date yet to be fixed. Those who have heard something of the rehearsals promise that it will be a great treat. Other entertainments are billed for this (Monday) and tomorrow night at the chapel.

Dry Valley Items.

There are several hundred bales of cotton being held here by our substantial farmers for better prices.
They say the Bears have it in New York, but they are going to be "Bull" headed and keep it.

The literary school at Session's Chapel is flourishing under the supervision of its principal, Miss Ida Horn. She is an excellent instructor and feels as all worthy teachers do, that this government rests upon the youth of our land.

Miss Mary Maxwell, of Tennessee, has charge of the district school at Concord. Miss Maxwell is a loyal member of the M. E. church, South, opens her school with devotional exercises and performs her duties to the satisfaction of all her patrons.

us that Texas is a fine country—to those who like it.

It is strange to me that so many young men will, for the sake of a dollar and a half, disfranchise themselves. I know men who make mortgages, buy tobacco, cheeroots and whisky, and let their poll tax go by, and then go round crying "the Democrats have disfranchised us poor boys."

We have had some very cold of good cheer. But he seldom is comes with "please remit."

WOMEN WHO CHARM

HEALTH IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL

It Helps Women to Win and Hold Men's Admiration, Respect and Love

Woman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect, and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. At the first indication of ill-health, painful or irregular menstruation, headache or backache, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin its use.

Mrs. Chas. E. Brown, Vice-President Mothers' Club, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"For nine years I dragged through a miserable existence, suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, and worn out with pain and weariness. I once noticed a statement by a woman suffering as I was, but who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I determined to try it. At the end of three months I was a different woman. Every one remarked about it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound built up my entire system, cured the womb trouble, and I felt like a new woman. I am sure it will make every suffering woman strong, well and happy, as it has me."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, or nervous prostration may be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The average age at which civilized women marry is twenty-three and one-half years.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the cause of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CRENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Rented Babies of Paris.

The written law provides for every child in France that the government supplement the home education, and when necessary replace it entirely, but as a matter of fact it is scores of children in Paris, especially, who have shaken free of their parents, or been cast off by them, and who live a vagabond existence, playing hide-and-seek with the officers of the law. Among this band the commonest offense is begging, though generally there is some older person back of the whining specimens one meets with on the streets. The fruitful incomes in this profession are obtained only through children. During the nights between Christmas and New Year's a baby in long clothes, especially if it be delicate looking, rents for as high as $5 or $6. His brothers and sisters from one to five years old bring $2, while those still older are worth $1 on the coldest days.—Harper's Magazine.

Bees Poison Some Flowers.

At the Kennebec Conservatory, a writer in the Lewiston Journal, is looking over the show of plants and flowers when I asked Superintendent Olm if he ever had trouble with bees in his glass houses.

"Yes," replied Mr. Olm, "in the early spring and through the spring months I have a great deal of bother with bees. They dodge into one flower, then into another, in which, by sprinkling the pollen of the first flower, they destroy the second."

For example, a pink bloom into which a pollen-covered bee had flown would close over night, and the only remedy, as Mr. Olm remarked, was to keep a sharp lookout for the bees and get ahead of them by picking the flowers before the winged pests got a chance at them.

Barring Out the Women.

The news comes from Pittsburgh that some of the millionaires of that city have established a new rule which excludes women from their inner circles. As some "leg pulling" is reported to have been done in that town, the movement is not surprising. It comes pretty late, however, and will not be regarded generally as an adequate protection. The suggestion of wire screens, barred windows, iron shutters and a guard at every door does not meet the demand, and to keep women in the outer office by rules and regulations which clerks or office boys must enforce will be impossible. Who is going to guarantee clerks or office boys against hypnotism where millionaires are not immune?—Philadelphia Press.

Took Ring and Bonus, Too.

In an uptown jewelry store one day last week a woman was accused of fitching a ring, but after a careful search of her person by the police matron it was impossible to find the stolen article. The woman indignantly reproached the owner of the store and threatened to sue him. To prevent future trouble in court he paid her a certain amount of money.

If the jewelry man had known an old trick he would have looked for the ring under the edge of the counter, where it was fastened with a piece of chewing gum, to which the woman had affixed it, and from which place later in the day her accomplice got it.—New York Press.

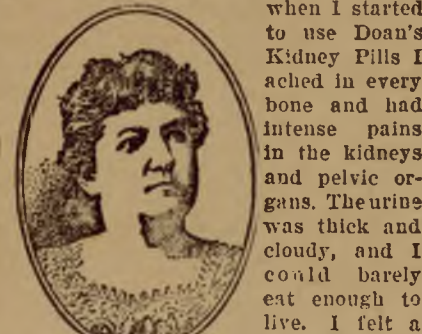

It is a Reform.

The Crumpecker proposition, properly applied, would save us constitutional representation. That would break up the oligarchy which at present controls the South, and that in turn would bring the South in touch with the order of things which works so well elsewhere. And in that day Mr. Crumpecker would be welcomed in the South as a friend of that section.—Washington Star.

Greenland's Population.

According to the census of 1901, there were 11,893 inhabitants in Greenland, an increase of 1,377 since 1890. This increase includes 441 Eskimos discovered by Captain Holm in 1894. The European population was 272. No real city exists in Greenland. The largest villages are Sukkertoppen with 382, and Julianshaab with 393 inhabitants. The census shows that the East Greenlanders are of pure Eskimo blood. The remainder of the population, however, is greatly mixed. The birth and the death rate of Greenland varies greatly from year to year. The death rate is greater in the south than in the north; consumption claims 31 per cent in the north and 28 per cent in the south. About 13 per cent of the deaths are from accidental causes, chiefly drowning. In 1901 about 84 per cent of the population sustained themselves by seal catching, fishing and hunting. The remainder are connected with the administration, mission and trades. Since 1834 there has been a tendency to replace the Europeans by natives in the subordinate positions.

Missionary Work.

In the report of the American board of foreign missions for 1904 by the editorial secretary, E. E. Strong, D. D., gives the statistics of the work as carried on by societies in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, and Ireland, and continental Europe. It shows that there are 25,672 stations and outstations, 5,814 men missionaries, 6,536 women missionaries, 64,347 native laborers, 1,209,011 communicants, 120,494 additions to the churches last year, and 1,027,566 persons under instruction. The income of all the societies last year was $16,118,380.

Costlier Than Champagne.

Although champagne is called the "wealthy water," there are few hotels in the country where one can pay more than $4 a quart for it, while, on the other hand, there are hundreds of places where Burgundy is sold as high as $35 a quart. At one hotel the menu advertises a special brand of this fine wine for $25 a bottle. There are any number of Rhine wines which cost above $3, and there is a big demand for them. Champagne does not improve with age as the other wines do, and this probably accounts for the difference.

Increase of New Corporations.

It is stated that the total capitalization of new corporations formed in the United States last month is about $48,500,000 higher than that of January, 1904.

Australia's Wheat Crop.

Beerbohm says of the Australian wheat crop of 1904-5 that a total crop in the commonwealth of 50,000,000 bushels is considered to be certain, against 75,000,000 bushels last year.

READ THE BOOK.

"The Road to Wellville" Parked the Way

Down at Hot Springs, Ark., the visitors have all sorts of complaints, but it is a subject of remark that the great majority of them have some trouble with stomach and bowels. This may be partly attributed to the heavy medicines.

Naturally, under the conditions, the question of food is very prominent. A young man states that he had suffered for nine years from stomach and bowel trouble, had two operations which did not cure, and was at last threatened with appendicitis.

He went to Hot Springs for rheumatism and his stomach trouble got worse. One day at breakfast the waiter, knowing his condition, suggested he try Grape-Nuts and cream, which he did, and found the food agreed with him perfectly.

After the second day he began to sleep peacefully at night, different than he had for years. The perfect digestion of the food quieted his nervous system and made sleep possible.

He says: "The next morning I was astonished to find my condition of constipation had disappeared. I could not believe it true after suffering for so many years; then I took more interest in the food, read the little book 'The Road to Wellville,' and started following the simple directions.

"I have met with such results that in the last five weeks I have gained eight pounds in spite of hot baths which take away the flesh from anyone."

"A friend of mine has been entirely cured of a bad case of indigestion and stomach trouble by using Grape-Nuts Food and cream alone for breakfast. "There is one thing in particular—I have noticed a great change in my mental condition. Formerly I could hardly remember anything, and now the mind seems unusually acute and retentive. I can memorize practically anything I desire." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Liver and Bacon.

Put the slices of bacon into a frying pan and cook slowly until they look clear and some of the fat is fried out. Now add the liver cut one-half inch thick and fry until cooked through, because under-done liver is not a wholesome food. Serve on a warm platter garnished with the crisp slices of bacon.

Dried Green Pea Soup.

Soak a cup of dried green peas over night. Drain and put into a saucepan with two quarts of cold water and cook slowly for one hour. Now add a teaspoon of salt and a bone from cold roast beef or from boiled ham and cook until the peas are soft and mushy. Strain, add a cup of thin cream and cook five minutes longer, adding salt and pepper as needed.

New Rochelle Doughnuts.

Beat one cup of sugar and two eggs together until light. Add two cups of milk, a few gratings of nutmeg and six cups of flour to which three heaping teaspoons of baking powder have been added. This dough will be soft and must be fried in spoonfuls dropped into deep hot fat. Do not make them large, and a dessertspoon is better for shaping them than a tablespoon.

Devonshire Cream.

This cream must be raised where new milk can be secured. Put a large pan of fresh milk in a cool place for twenty-four hours, then set it over the fire to heat just to the boiling point but not yet to allow the milk to boil. Take the pan carefully from the range without disturbing the contents and set away in a cold place for ten hours, when the thick, rich cream is ready for berries, fruit or cereal.

Cheese Sticks.

Mix three rounding tablespoons of sifted pastry flour and three rounding tablespoons of grated cheese. Add a pinch of salt, a few dashes of red pepper and two gratings of nutmeg. Now mix with one tablespoon of milk, the same of melted butter and the yolk of one egg. Divide in halves, roll very thin and cut in narrow strips three inches long. Bake quarter of an hour and serve piled in log cabin fashion or in bunches.

On Tail Steer.

Simmer the ox tails in water to cover for twenty minutes, then drain, add enough good stock to cover, also one onion and one carrot sliced, for each tail, and a pinch of sweet herbs. Simmer until the meat is ready to fall from the bones; then take up the meat and vegetables and make a sauce with a rounding tablespoon each of flour and butter to one and one-half cups of the liquid in the pan. Strain and pour over the meat. The liquid can be reduced at the last to enough for the sauce.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS:

Clear boiling water poured through tea stains will remove them.

Salt fish are best and quickest freshened by soaking in sour milk.

Kerosene will soften boots and shoes that have been hardened by water.

A glass of buttermilk taken the last thing at night will cure stomach troubles.

Fish may be sealed much easier by first dipping them into boiling water for a minute.

A teaspoonful of sugar added to pancake batter will make the cakes a golden brown.

A teaspoonful of turpentine put into the boiler with white clothes will aid the whitening.

Fresh meat, beginning to sour, will become sweet again if placed out of doors over night.

Wetting the hair occasionally in a solution of salt and water will keep it from falling out.

Salt will curd new milk; hence, in preparing dishes containing milk, the salt should not be added until they are cooked.

A spoonful of raw oatmeal, moistened with water, taken on an empty stomach, will cure constipation, if persisted in for some time.

To bring out the brilliancy of cut glass, ammonia should be placed in the water in which it is to be rinsed. All glass should be dried immediately, and not drained. A cloth dipped in ammonia and rubbed thoroughly on a coat collar will remove the greasy look. When the floor cloth gets really dirty, wash it with clean warm water, adding a little liquid ammonia. Change the water frequently, use a big soft cloth, wipe perfectly dry with a dry duster, as little pools of water left will rot the cloth.

One of the engine-drivers on the Paris Metropolitan railway is the son of a vice-president of the French Senate, who was formerly Minister of Finance.

There are 110,000,000 sheep and 28,000,000 cows in Argentina. In 1904 the exports of meat from the Argentine Republic exceeded in value $22,000,000.

DANGERS TO BE AVOIDED IN FEBRUARY.

Severe Weather.

February is a month of severe storms and intense cold. Even in the South where the prevailing temperature is much above wintry latitudes, February brings sudden changes of temperature.

Mercury sometimes drops 20 degrees in a single night. Therefore, the following health hints are applicable to the whole of North America.

Ventilation.
The sleeping rooms should be well ventilated, but so as to avoid direct currents of air.

Bathing.
Those in vigorous health should take a cold water towel bath every morning before breakfast. Those in feeble health should take a brisk dry-towel-rub every morning.

Diet.
The diet should be a generous one, including meat, and occasionally fresh vegetables.

Sunshine.
The nights being long and the days short, as much sunshine as possible should be let into the house during the day.

Cooling.
The head should be kept cool at all times. The feet should be kept warm and dry, day and night.

Peruna.
When unavoidably exposed to cold or wet, a few doses of Peruna will avert bad consequences.

Precaution.
When seized with a chill, or even slight chilliness, a dose of Peruna should be taken at once.

As much sleep as possible should be obtained in the forepart of the night.

Catarrh of Head.
Mr. Frank Cobb, 175 Summit Street, Deering, Me., writes:

"I was troubled with catarrh in my head. I wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice and he prescribed Peruna."

"I took it and am happy to say it helped me at once. I feel better than I have for years."

Bronchial Trouble.
Mr. J. Ed. O'Brien, Pres. American Pilot Ass'n, Pensacola, Fla., writes:

"I heartily give my endorsement to Peruna as an effective cure for catarrh and bronchial trouble."

Throat and Lungs.
Frank Battle, Jr., 111 N. Market St., Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"Peruna has cured me of chronic bronchitis. It is the grandest discovery of the age for the throat and lungs."

Pneumonia.
Mr. A. C. Danforth, St. Joseph, Mich., writes:

"I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. I was threatened with pneumonia."

"Peruna gave me relief within a couple of days. Three bottles saved me a large doctor bill and a great deal of suffering."

Thousands of Testimonials.
We have on file thousands of testimonials like the above. We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is constantly receiving.

Truhs that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)

ALABAMA STATE EVENTS.

Items of Interest Gathered as They Transpire Over the Entire State.

Young Woman Leaves Baby.

Mobile, Ala.—Thursday afternoon a well dressed young woman arrived here on the northbound Louisville and Nashville train. She went to a boarding house. She stated she was from New Orleans, and asked for and paid for a room. She placed her babe on a bed and requested that it be looked after until she could make some purchases. Late that afternoon she had failed to return. The babe began crying, and on entering the room and examining the child a paper was found pinned on its breast, the word "Martha" written thereon. A piece of wrapping paper on the bed showed the name Hattiesburg, Miss. The woman is thought to have left the city. The police department was notified and a search for the woman was made to no avail.

Colored Family's Troubles.

Girard, Ala.—A colored preacher named Delenger had a lively time with his wife and her people last night and considerable excitement was caused in that part of Girard. His wife rushed into F. C. Stagg's store and asked the people there to telephone for an officer, as her husband was killing her. The message had hardly been sent before in came the husband himself limping badly and with a stick in his hand, which he declared was for protection. He said that his wife and whole family were after him, including his mother-in-law, and that in the melee some one struck him on the leg. He, too, was looking for an officer.

Increases Stock.

Birmingham, Ala.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the American Trust and Savings Bank the proposed increase of $100,000 in the capital stock of the institution was ratified and the committee authorized to proportion the new issue of stock among those who had applied for the same. It is to be sold at $150 per share. The capital stock of this institution now will be $200,000. In addition to its capital the American Trust has a surplus of $75,000.

Work of Incendiary.

Gadsden, Ala.—Fire destroyed the drug store of Adams-Nowlin Drug Company in Alabama City at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. The fire was of incendiary origin and originated in front of the store. The entire stock is a complete loss, also the building.

Adams-Nowlin Drug Company place their loss at $5,000; insurance, $2,250. The building belonged to the Dwight Manufacturing Company, on which the loss was $1,500, fully insured. Dr. W. H. Acton lost his library.

The large store of Frank & Hagedorn, adjoining, narrowly escaped destruction, catching fire several times.

Drugged and Robbed.

Aniston, Ala.—A white man named Rutledge reported at police headquarters that he had been drugged and robbed by two white men, whom he did not know, and had only a faint recollection as to their description.

Rutledge came to Aniston en route from his home near Boaz to Temple, Ga. He had a friend he was to meet at Aderhold's restaurant and proceeded to the depot to take the train to Temple. This friend did not show up as expected and he encountered two strangers, who invited him to have a drink. He does not remember much else than that he found himself at the depot with his pocketbook missing. He said that he had $13 in the book, all he possessed.

Bomar in Jacksonville.

Birmingham, Ala.—Word has been received here from Dr. R. J. Willingham, corresponding secretary of the Baptist foreign mission board that Dr. E. E. Bomar has been located in Jacksonville, Fla., where he is very ill. Friends have gone to his assistance.

Sixteen Cars Wrecked.

Scottsboro, Ala.—A freight wreck at Limrock, six miles west of Scottsboro, at an early hour Thursday morning resulted in the derailing of sixteen cars and tearing up of the tracks of the Southern railway for a distance of 100 yards. All trains on this end of the road are delayed from ten to twelve hours. No one killed. No. 35, westbound passenger train, used the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis tracks to Deckerd via Elora and Huntsville. There was no mail at this place for eighteen hours. The wreck was caused by a broken flange on one of the freight cars.

Two Killed in Reeder's Mine.

Bessemer, Ala.—Robert W. Wright, aged 33, and Dave Wright, aged 31 both brothers, were killed by an explosion at Reeder's mines on Red mountain. The men were miners, and in drilling in room No. 4 struck a charge of dynamite that had been left in one of the holes by the men on the day shift. W. Odum, who was standing near by, was also painfully injured by the explosion.

Shot in a Fray.

Birmingham, Ala.—Helen-Bess, the ore mining camp across the mountain from Lakeview, was the scene of a lively scrap Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock, exaggerated reports of which reached Birmingham and caused considerable excitement.

A telephone message was received at the sheriff's office to the effect that four men had been shot and severely wounded and that the negroes and white men were up in arms against each other. Four deputy sheriffs were sent to the mines at once, but they found comparatively little trouble over there.

A negro named Homer Chester was shot in the back of the neck and badly wounded by W. B. Brittain, a white man, who fired in order to prevent the negro from cutting him and his father-in-law, who were standing together.

The negro was drunk and was chasing an old white man named Bellinger around with a knife. John Renfro, another white man, and this negro had been drinking, and it seems that they had a grudge against Bellinger. They went to his house with the avowed purpose of "doing" him. The old man rose to the emergency and knocked Renfro down, breaking his nose, but he had no weapon with which to defend himself against the negro. Bellinger ran between Brittain and his father-in-law, and the negro cut at him as he did so. He missed Bellinger, and in his excitement commenced cutting at Mr. Brittain, who drew a pistol and shot the negro.

Jury Justifies the Deed.

Jacksonville, Ala.—Owen Loadholtz was ordered released from jail by the coroner, who conducted an inquest over the body of Miss Mary Brown. The young woman was killed and her mother seriously and probably fatally wounded by Loadholtz in a shooting affray in a justice court Monday. Loadholtz had been brought into court upon criminal charges by Miss Brown. She was accompanied by her mother, and when the court announced a postponement of the case mother and daughter began firing on Loadholtz. He returned the fire, killing the young woman and wounding her mother. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Train Robbers at Work.

Montgomery, Ala.—Thieves, who concealed themselves in cars of an outgoing freight train of the Central of Georgia railroad, threw considerable freight off the train and alighted with it as the cars were passing through Highland Park about midnight.

The railroad section foreman, coming upon the thieves as they were about to carry off their booty, was fired upon.

A telephone message was sent to police headquarters, and Police Captain W. H. Taylor with a squad of mounted officers hurried to Highland Park to pursue the robbers.

Pipe Works Exempted from Taxes.

Gadsden, Ala.—At the session of the county commissioners the pipe works plant of the Coosa Pipe and Foundry Company, which is now erecting one of the largest pipe plants in the south in this city, was exempted from taxation for a period of five years. The city had already exempted them from city taxes and privilege tax for the same length of time. This plant will employ 500 men when it is completed, and Gadsden is doing all in her power to foster this industry and all others that may locate here.

Second Lieutenant Resigns.

Enterprise, Ala.—The resignation of G. W. Carlisle, second lieutenant of the Enterprise company, First Infantry, Alabama National Guard, was received by Adjutant-General W. W. Brandon. General Brandon immediately ordered an election to be held.

A Runaway Marriage.

Girard, Ala.—Miss Emma Favors daughter of Alderman J. W. Favors, of Columbus, and Jesse McCraney, of the same city, ran away to Girard Thursday afternoon and were married in the parsonage of the Baptist church, Rev. B. S. Raley performing the ceremony.

Centerville, Ala.—The notorious negro criminal, "Sugar Foot," who has given the officers and the convict authorities of Bibb county a great deal of trouble, was arrested in Columbus, Miss., Friday night, and Sheriff Crawford will leave tomorrow for that place to bring him back to the scene of his various crimes.

Supreme Court Adjourns.

Montgomery, Ala.—The supreme court has adjourned and will not be in session again until April 3. This completes the first meeting of the new supreme court of seven justices, and they have done splendid work, as may be seen upon examining the number of cases decided. The state needed seven justices, and now the work of that court can be gotten through in a much shorter time.

Freight Wreck.

Scottsboro, Ala.—A freight wreck at Limrock, six miles west of Scottsboro, at an early hour Thursday morning resulted in the demolishing of sixteen cars and tearing up of the tracks of the Southern Railway for a distance of 100 yards. All train on this end of the road were delayed from ten to twelve hours. No one will be killed. No. 35, westbound passenger train, used the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis tracks to Deckerd via Elora and Huntsville. There was no mail at this place for eighteen hours. The wreck was caused by a broken flange on one of the freight cars.

Both Acquitted.

Greenville, Ala.—The case of Katie Johnson, indicted for murder in the first degree as accomplice with her father, John Henry Johnson, to the killing of George L. Bryan on June 10, 1904, was tried in the circuit court before Judge J. C. Richardson and acquitted Thursday.

Maggie Johnson, like her sister Katie, was Friday freed of the charge of the murder of George Bryan by a jury of Butler county. After deliberating for twelve hours the jury Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock brought in a verdict of not guilty, and the second of the unfortunate sisters was free to go her way.

Another Stove Explodes.

Gadsden, Ala.—The range of the Commercial Hotel, which exploded on account of the freezing up of the water pipes, came very near being a disastrous affair. Miss Gypsy, the youngest daughter of Mr. Robert Lewis, the proprietor, was standing near the range when it exploded, and her hands were severely scalded. The building caught fire, but was quickly extinguished.

A piece of the stove struck the kitchen safe and demolished it, while the hot rack was crushed. A piece of the range went out of the window and struck the ground seventy-five feet off. The damage was about $200. No one was seriously hurt, which was very fortunate. Only one guest was in the dining room at the time.

Mobile and Ohio Holds Its Annual Meeting.

Mobile, Ala.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Mobile and Ohio, held in this city, elected the following directors: W. Butler Duncan, Samuel Spencer, C. C. Cuyler, Adrian Iselin, Jr., Thomas R. Jevons, Henry Hall, W. Emlin Roosevelt, E. L. Russell, C. Sidney Shepard, A. H. Stevens, Samuel Wolverton, R. D. Landford and A. W. Mackintosh.

Strike at Dynamite Mills.

Birmingham, Ala.—The employees of the Sterling dynamite mills went on a strike Friday, declining to accept a reduction in wages. Pending the rebuilding of that portion of the plant which was demolished last week by an explosion, the company decided on a cut in wages. The men declined to accept the reduction and quit.

Highwaymen Held Without Bond.

Birmingham (Ala.)—Jim and John Blackstock, cousins, and Jim Lathen were Thursday remanded to jail without bond to await trial in the criminal court on the charge of highway robbery. They were given a preliminary hearing before Judge Feagin Thursday afternoon in the police court, several people who were held up and robbed testified against them and positively identifying them.

Cold Weather Crippled Mines.

Huntsville, Ala.—The cold weather has largely crippled the coal mines operating in North Alabama and Southern Tennessee. Many of the mines are "froze up" and have been compelled to suspend operations until more favorable weather.

Few Fires in Huntsville.

Huntsville, Ala.—The fire loss in Huntsville this winter has so far been smaller than any other winter in the last fifteen or twenty years. There has not been half a dozen destructive fires during the winter and the last blaze was on January 23d, when a small residence was burned.

Long Run Around.

Birmingham, Ala.—A landslide occurred Friday on the main line of the Louisville and Nashville between Graces and Tacoma, necessitating the running of a number of through south-bound Louisville and Nashville trains via Bessemer. The distance around the loop is about seventy-five miles, while the gap cut out by the slide was only ten miles.

Mrs. Leach Very Ill.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Mrs. Elizabeth Fitts Leach, sister of J. H. Fitts, of this city, is very desperately ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. K. Kirkham, on Third street and Twenty-second avenue.

Hunting Accident.

Uniontown, Ala.—Tom Ware and Mr. D. W. Reynolds started out to hunt robins, and before they got out of town Tom Ware slipped off of a walk and his gun exploded, shooting Mr. Reynolds in the right hand and arm. The wound is not dangerous. Edward White while shooting robins rested his gun on his foot and it went off. The whole load went entirely through his foot. He is doing very well at present.

BACTERIA BULLETIN.

The Department of Agriculture Will Aid the Farmers in an Experimental Way.

NITROGEN BACTERIA FURNISHED

By Members of Congress on Application—Report of Result of Same Desired by Department.

Washington, D. C.—A letter from Dr. B. T. Galloway, Chief of the bureau of Plant Industry, which follows, explains itself.

The information by the Agricultural Department that it is prepared to furnish free this spring inoculating material to a limited extent for any of the leguminous crops, such as alfalfa, cowpeas, clover, soy beans, etc. The department is doing all in its power to encourage the preparation of bacteria by private individuals, but realizes that some time must elapse before farmers will be in a position to get reliable material at reasonable cost. Those interested in the matter should give the various suggestions set forth in this communication careful consideration. It is the purpose of the department to have the bacteria thoroughly tested, and to this end it will send the organisms with full direction to those who express a desire to undertake this co-operative work and will agree to furnish a report of the results accomplished at the end of the season.

Nature has furnished in the air itself all the nitrogen which the soil needs for its recuperation, and nature's plan for drawing the nitrogen back into the soil is through leguminous plants. Every one is familiar with the fact that cow peas are a great fertilizer and restorer to the soil. This is equally true of all other leguminous plants. This process is due to the condition of these plants which enables them to draw nitrogen from the air and restore it to the soil. Anything that hastens and increases this tendency in these plants is of course beneficial.

If the reports received from the department in reference to the use of bacteria can be relied upon, no more important discovery has been made within recent years.

We are in the midst of a great agitation for the reduction of our cotton acreage. That this will, and ought to be done, I have no doubt, for we can not produce a greater supply than the world needs without injury to the price of the total crop, and the manifest remedy, of course, is the reduction of acreage. Everybody assents to this proposition, but the practical question is, if we reduce cotton acreage 25 per cent what are we to do with the labor? Under the whip and spur of necessity, we might better afford to let one-fourth of our labor be idle than to raise cotton at a loss, but it is plainly impossible and undesirable to expect one-fourth of our labor to go permanently unemployed.

The solution of this difficulty, if we are to get any more than temporary relief from present conditions, is manifestly in the diversification of crops. The surplus labor which has been going to cotton must be turned into something else. The effort of diversification some years ago in many instances proved a failure due to the very few markets in the south. This condition apparently has been in large part overcome in recent years. The cities of the south are growing at a rapid rate and there is a demand in the south for a much larger supply of grain, hay and meat than is produced in the south. We are large importers of these commonest necessities of life. The Department of Agriculture represents that meat and hay can be grown in the south at a smaller price per pound and therefore more profitably than in any section of the United States.

The statistics of the hay crop last year showed that the southern hay raiser made more hay per acre and received a larger price per ton than the hay raisers of the north or west. This may be due and doubtless is in part to the fact that only a comparatively small quantity of hay was raised in the south. However, if this nitrogen bacteria will increase the product per acre of our hay and forage crops as much as 25 per cent and at the same time and in the same degree increase the fertilizing value of these crops, manifestly we will have made a large stride in the direction of a profitable diversification of our cropping system by the increased use thereof.

Each congressman earnestly requests every progressive farmer in his district who is willing to make the Hurt by Jumping on Train.

Mobile, Ala.—Joseph McGinnis, a young white man, a railroad employee, in jumping on the outgoing Southern railway passenger train slipped and fell. When the train was stopped and the man pulled from the track it was found a leg had been crushed off.

Selma, Ala.—The contract has been let for the county poor house at a cost of $2,200.

experiment on a small scale and to write him for this nitrogen bacteria, stating the quantity desired and for what plant, the preparation being different as to each. The request should be made not longer than two or three weeks before the bacteria is needed. It will, of course, take a few days after receipt of it to prepare and mail out, but it ought to be used just as fresh as possible, as it loses its strength after being prepared. They will promptly attend to all requests and would be glad to hear the result of the experiments.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., Jan. 28, 1905.

On March 2, 1904, I wrote a letter setting forth the relation of beneficial bacteria to soil improvement with special reference to the nitrogen-fixing organisms associated with leguminous crops. At that time our Laboratory of Plant Physiology had devised a means for growing these organisms in pure cultures, and it was believed that these cultures could be placed in the hands of farmers with directions for use, so simplified that any one of average intelligence could inoculate seed or soil with desired bacteria. These bacteria introduced into the soil in sowing clover, peas, beans, alfalfa, vetch, etc., form upon the roots of these plants small knot or nodules commonly called "nitrogen knots" or "nitrogen traps" from the part they play in securing nitrogen from the air. The nodules are necessary to a vigorous growth of legumes in any but the very richest soils, and absolutely essential in every case where such crops are sown for green manuring. The failure to get a catch on new ground is often due to the absence of these organisms and even in cultivated soils the bacteria adapted to particular crops, as alfalfa, soy beans, vetch, etc., may be lacking, although peas, in the same soil, are well supplied, as shown by the nodules upon the roots.

To test the method of inoculation by pure cultures, the department has sent out during the past year to every part of the United States a large number of packages for use with all the common legumes and, as a result of these experiments, we have evidence based upon the reports of practical farmers that inoculation (1) results in largely increased yields, where the bacteria are lacking, and (2) renders it possible to grow some valuable crops in sections where it was thought they could not be grown.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) B. T. GALLOWAY,
Chief of Bureau.

Bank of Sulligent.

Sulligent, Ala.—The new two-story brick building of the Bank of Sulligent is now completed and is an ornament to the town. The fixtures have arrived, and the carpenters are busy getting everything into position, which will be done in three or four days.

Came Near Being Drowned.

Opelika, Ala.—F. T. Hudson, Jr., the rural mail carrier on Route No. 4, had a narrow escape from drowning Thursday morning. About four miles from Opelika he had to cross the Frazer bridge, which is a covered structure. While crossing it the horse attached to his buggy became frightened at a piece of paper on the bridge and backed over an eight-foot embankment. The horse, wagon and Mr. Hudson got out of the cold water with his conveyance and the mail.

Bakery Burned; Loss $5,000.

Montgomery, Ala.—The larger portion of May's bakery, at No. 2 South Court street, was destroyed by fire at 5:50 o'clock Thursday morning. The total loss is approximately $5,000, covered by insurance. The bakery was owned by Duncan May, and the building by Mrs. E. T. Bragg. The fire originated in the bake room.

Deputy Shoots Six Times.

Johns, Ala.—Bob Story, a negro, has been shot and killed by Deputy Sheriff Greenwood. The negro, it appears, in resisting arrest, knocked the officer down. While on the ground the deputy sheriff drew his pistol and fired six shots, all of them taking effect in the negro's breast. Mr. Greenwood was released after a preliminary trial before Justice of the Peace Parson.

State Fight on Standard Oil.

Topeka, Kan.—Governor Hoch at noon Friday signed the bill passed Wednesday appropriating $200,000 for the erection and maintenance by the state of an oil refinery with a capacity of 2,000 barrels a day.

The signing of this measure will make it possible for Kansas to begin in earnest the fight started in this state recently against the Standard Oil Company. In signing the bill Governor Hoch sent a lengthy message to the legislature reviewing the fight which has ended in the present legislation and giving his reasons for signing the refinery bill.

Ensley, Ala.—J. W. Clayton, appointed postmaster at Ensley, has been a resident of Ensley four years. He came to this district from Winston, N. C., and engaged in wholesale groceries. He was born in Kentucky.

Montgomery, Ala.—The ordinance of the constitutional convention establishing a branch court house at Pell City, St. Clair county, today was declared void by the supreme court.

KILLED BY A BOMB.

Duke Sergius a Most Influential Member of the Czar's Council the Victim.

DOOMED IN DECEMBER TO DIE.

Assassins Are Arrested, and One of Them Coolly Says, "I Don't Care, I Have Done My Job."

Moscow—Within the walls of the far-famed Kremlin palace, and almost underneath the historical tower from which Ivan the Terrible watched the heads of his enemies fall beneath the ax on the famous Red Square, and within a stone's throw of the great bell of Moscow, Grand Duke Sergius, uncle and brother-in-law of Emperor Nicholas, and the chief of the reactionaries, met a terrible death shortly before 3 o'clock Friday.

The deed was committed by a single terrorist, who threw beneath the carriage of the grand duke a bomb charged with the same high power explosive which wrought Minister von Plehve's death. The missile was packed with nails and fragments of iron, and its explosion tore the imperial victim's body to ghastly fragments, which strewn the snow for yards around. Every window in the great, lofty facade of the palace of justice was shattered, and bits of iron were imbedded deeply in the walls of the arsenal, a hundred yards away.

Belongs to Noted Fighting Group. The assassin belongs to the noted Fighting Group of the socialist revolutionary party, which has removed other prominent officials, and long since passed sentence of death upon Grand Duke Sergius. The grand duke knew that he stood in the shadow of death. He was the recipient of repeated warnings and elaborate precautions were taken to insure his safety.

It was the irony of fate that Sergius, after taking refuge in his country villa during the strike troubles of a month ago, and later feeling even more secure in the palace within the Kremlin walls, should be killed while proceeding to the governor general's palace beyond the walls which he had abandoned to enable the police to better protect him.

Grand Duchess Elizabeth, when she heard of what had befallen the grand duke, was driven in haste to the scene of the tragedy and knelt hatless and coatless on the blood-stained snow and murmured prayers for the welfare of the soul of her slain consort.

Emerged in a Carriage.

The scene of the crime was the great open triangle within the Kremlin, bounded by the arsenal, treasury and courts of justice.

There a man clad in workman's attire stepped forward from the sidewalk and threw a bomb which he had concealed beneath his coat. A terrible explosion followed and a hail of iron pelted the grim stone walls of the arsenal and courts of justice. A thick cloud of smoke, snow and debris arose. When it had cleared, a ghastly sight was presented. On the snow lay fragments of the body of Grand Duke Sergius, mingled with the wreck of the carriage. The grand duke's head had been torn from his body and reduced to a shapeless pulp, and the trunk and limbs were frightfully mangled. A finger bearing a rich seal was found lying several yards away. Only a few fragments of clothes indicated that the body had been once clothed.

Doomed to Die.

St. Petersburg—The sentence of death on Grand Duke Sergius was contained in a proclamation issued by the social revolutionists of Moscow after the demonstration of December 11th of last year at St. Petersburg was put down. It read: "If our demonstration at Moscow (December 18th and 19th) is crushed in as bloody a manner as that of our brothers of St. Petersburg then the guilt thereof is upon the head of Grand Duke Sergius and General Trepoft, and we, the committee, in that event, have ordered their death."

Caused Tremendous Sensation.

St. Petersburg—The news of the tragedy in which Grand Duke Sergius was blown up created a tremendous sensation in St. Petersburg, where the announcement by telephone from Moscow arrived during the afternoon. Owing to the intense excitement prevailing at Moscow few particulars are ascertainable. The tragedy in reality was no great surprise, as it was known that the terrorists had already condemned the grand duke to death, and ever since the affair of January 22d the inauguration of a bomb throwing campaign had been anticipated.

Wants to Build a Skyscraper.

Mobile, Ala.—A syndicate composed of New York and Mobile capitalists have made an offer of $150,000 to William Vizard for the site of the destroyed Battle House. The proposition is to erect a ten-story steel hotel building. The offer is said to be under consideration, but Mr. Vizard asks $200,000 for the property. A compromise on the price may be effected.

Caught Under Wagon Bed.

Blocton, Ala.—Jack Shaw, a farmer living four miles from town, met with a serious accident Friday night. He was driving a one-horse wagon on his way home from town and accidentally ran over the end of a log. The wagon was turned upside down, his neck was caught under one edge of the wagon body and he lay in that condition for at least ten hours. He was found by Ples Reach next morning at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Shaw is in a critical condition, but it is believed that he will recover.

To Increase Steel Plant.

Ensley, Ala.—The plans and the cost sheets for the proposed improvements at the steel plant to aggregate something like $200,000 have been placed in the hands of the various foremen for the construction departments. Work, it is understood, will be commenced on improvements and additions at once.

When the plans of the company are carried out, the capacity of the plant, it is understood, will be increased one-third. The present monthly output is 21,000 tons, and when the work now under contemplation is completed, the output of the plant will exceed 30,000 tons of steel per month.

Stranger's Sad Death.

Opelika, Ala.—Last Saturday evening a stranger, giving his name as W. C. Green, went to the residence of William C. Jones and asked for lodging. He was taken suddenly ill Sunday morning and during the day had a stroke of paralysis. His speech was very incoherent, but before he became entirely delirious he told those watching him that he traveled for a New York house and was going to take a vacation. That is all he told about himself before his death Tuesday morning.

Brothers and Sisters Elope.

Scottsboro, Ala.—A romantic wedding in which four popular young people took part occurred in Marshall, just over the Jackson county line last Wednesday. The contracting parties were Blake Harris and Miss Karr and Younger Karr and Miss Harris. A brother and sister ran away with a brother and sister and had a double wedding. They were the sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Karr and Mr. and Mrs. George T. Harris.

Shooting at Goodwater.

Goodwater, Ala.—John Ford and Tom Tucker engaged in a difficulty Saturday night about 9 o'clock on the streets of Goodwater, and both were shot four times and seriously wounded, and Ford will very likely recover.

It is said that they were both drinking and the fuss started about nothing. Ford is prominently connected and is a good citizen, and it seems that after he was shot down by Tucker he got up and emptied his gun and then beat Tucker over the head with his pistol. Tucker has been in shooting affrays before.

Mules Run Amuck.

Greenville, Ala.—Two mules, which were hitched to a wagon, became frightened at a passing train and ran away, going up Commerce street toward the court house. At the postoffice they ran into another mule team. The tongue of the first wagon struck one of the mules in the breast, from which the mule died in a few moments.

Progress for Hattiesburg.

Hattiesburg, Miss.—The Mississippi Central Railroad Company, together with the Newman Lumber Company, has decided to build an immense car building plant and shops here, which will be one of the most complete in the South. It is expected to have the plant open for business by mid-summer.

Negro Hanged for Murder.

Owensboro, Ky.—Royal Green, a negro, met death on the scaffold Friday for the murder of James Coomes, a white man, at the fair grounds in Owensboro on July 31 last. After killing Coomes, Green drove a stake through his victim's neck, pinning him to the ground. He confessed the crime before death.

Steals a Fortune.

Boston, Mass.—The law firm of McPherson, Hyde & Damon announces the theft of notes and bonds to the value of $50,000. The names of the owners of the securities or details of the robbery were not discussed.

Blood Shed by Armenians.

Tiflis.—A district official named Gnouff has been assassinated at Igdyr by Armenians. The motives for the crime were political. At Vagarschabad, Trans-Caucasia, the mayor has been shot and killed near his residence. The murdered has disappeared.

Remembered War of 1812.

Stroud, Ala.—Ike Scott, a true representative of the old-time southern darkey, has just died at the age of 112 years. Even at this age he had a remarkable memory. He remembered distinctly the war of 1812, and could tell of happenings before the Mexican war as if they were recent events. He was perhaps the oldest person in Alabama.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

A fine baby boy has arrived at the home of W. E. Harrison.

The Father of his Country had another birthday yesterday.

J. I. Abercrombie was in Birmingham Friday and Saturday.

It is thought the garden rake will be in a convalescent state in few weeks.

H. S. Latham, of Montevallo, was in the city last Wednesday visiting his children.

Commissioner Pleas Shaw, of beat 4, was in town last Wednesday for a short time.

Clarence Smith came down from Wilsonville last Wednesday night to see Laurant, the magician.

T. F. Atkinson informs The Sentinel that he will move into the Armstrong building on the first of March.

Jas H. Fulton, of Saginaw was here last Thursday to attend the meeting of the county cotton growers.

J. W. Harrell, who is in the employ of the Southern Railway at Winona, Miss., is at home for a few days with his family.

Mrs. and Mrs. Joe Roberts and their children have been quite sick during the past week, suffering with an attack of the grip.

W. F. Davis, W. W. Wallace and O. O. Bird were out after birds last Wednesday, but we have not learned how many dozen they killed.

Rufus O'Hara, who has been at Decatur in the employ of the Southern Ex. Co., is at home for a visit with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. O'Hara.

Miss Janie Wallace, who is teaching in the Kingdom neighborhood, came in for a short visit with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Parker, last Wednesday night.

Hon. J. R. White was unfortunate in getting a fall one day last week which put him into bed for several days. He came near having a rib or two fractured.

Miss Margaret Browne, who is attending school in Montgomery, has been at home for a week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Browne. Miss Margaret returned to Montgomery yesterday.

F. M. Walton on rural route No. 2 out of Columbiana, came in and ordered The Sentinel, The Weekly Montgomery Advertiser and that fine map you have heard about—all for $1.50. Mr. Walton says it is the finest map he ever saw.

County Surveyor A. P. R. Dahl, of Calera, was in town last Thursday and while here paid The Sentinel a pleasant call. Mr. Dahl says he thinks the recent cold weather has injured the peach crop to some extent, but that other small fruit escaped unharmed.

The National Editorial Association will meet this year in Guthrie, Okla., June 6th, 7th and 8th. After the business of the association has been completed the delegates will go on a trip to Dallas and Austin, Texas, from there to Colorado Springs, Cripple Creek, Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland. The editor of The Sentinel is a delegate from Alabama.

The people of Montevallo, will regret to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Sam'l Morgan lost their little boy a short time ago from membranous croup. Mr. Morgan was agent for the Southern Railway at Montevallo some two or three years ago, but is now living in Riverside, Va.

Have The Sentinel and the Weekly Montgomery Advertiser sent to your address one year, and you will get a present of a fine map of Alabama. The map is the finest ever issued, and is a beautiful one. It is down to 1904, too. The entire cost to you only 1.50.

The many friends of Mrs. Amos Elliott are glad to know that she has been given charge of the music department of the Columbiana Graded Schools. Mrs. Elliott is an excellent woman, a fine musician and a competent teacher.

Considering that the thermometer has been playing hide and seek around the zero point for several weeks, one is in luck if he happens to be between two fires.

Tax Collector John H. Robertson informs The Sentinel that he has received 1089 poll tax payments for the year 1904, 23 for 1903, 10 for 1902, and 4 for 1901.

Miss Gertrude Roberts, who has been visiting her brother Lucius at the White House, returned to her home in Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. M. T. Wood, who has been seriously ill for the past ten days, was taken to Birmingham Tuesday to submit to an operation.

From the plainest sewing to the handsomest dresses can be had by calling on Mrs. J. W. Peers, at residence on Depot-st. f23-2m

A cold day is a tough proposition for a news gatherer; the people won't talk about anything else but the cold weather.

Chester Browne will go to Birmingham in the near future to take a business course in one of the colleges in that city.

An unmarried man doesn't know anything about the peculiarities of women, and a married man dare not tell.

Harry M. Roberts visited his brother, Rev. T. K. Roberts, in Oxford last Saturday and Sunday.

The union prayer meeting will be held at the Baptist church during the month of March.

J. A. MacKnight and son Harold, of Birmingham, are in the city attending court.

Attorney W. E. Thetford is up from Montgomery attending county court.

Rev. T. M. Nelson filled his regular appointment at Brierfield last Sunday.

A. J. Taylor was down from Wilsonville last Saturday a few hours.

County court convened Monday with Judge Longshore presiding.

Paul Rich, of Vandiver, is in the city this week attending county court.

Miss Alice Porter, who has been ill for the past week, is reported better.

Mrs. Oza Mansfield, of Birmingham, was called to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. M. T. Wood, who is critically ill.

Eugene Mason and Mrs. Ethel Kytle, of Wilsonville, attended the funeral of J. H. Mason's little boy in this city last Saturday.

The farmers report the roads in a terrible condition, and that it is almost impossible to get about with a wagon.

Horace Hammond, of Birmingham, was in the city last Saturday, called here by the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. M. T. Wood.

Pierce Mason, who is attending the Southern University at Greensboro, is at home for a few days' visit with his mother and sisters.

Geo. E. Mason, after a visit of two weeks with his family, left last Sunday to visit his customers in the interest of a large Tennessee clothing house.

John Porter, of Coleanor, accompanied by his little son, was in the city over Sunday visiting his mother, Mrs. E. Porter. He returned to his home Monday accompanied by his daughter Lois.

WANTED.—Men and women to handle our high grade line of toilet preparations and flavoring extracts. Salary and commission. J. H. Ragsdale, Southern representative, Pulaski, Tenn.

Rev. G. T. Harris and family, who have been victims of grip, are all about well again, and nothing preventing Rev. Mr. Harris will fill his regular appointment at the Methodist church next Sunday morning and at night.

The debate which was to have taken place at the Academy tomorrow (Friday) night, has been postponed one week. The members of the club are taking great interest in the public appearance they are to make, and each of the speakers is working like a beaver.

J. R. Chandler, a former citizen of Shelby county, and who went from here to Laurel, Miss., has gone to Hattiesburg, Miss., where he has a position with the Carley Manufacturing Co., and in a letter to The Sentinel expresses himself well pleased with his new location. Mr. Chandler is a son of Dr. Chandler, of Vincent.

The people of Columbiana sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mason who mourn the death of their little three year old boy, which occurred last Friday. The prattle of his little tongue and sound of his footsteps will be heard no more in the home where he was almost idolized—the little feet have climbed the golden stairs at the top of which which he will await the coming of father and mother. Catarrhal fever was the cause of his death. The funeral took place from the home last Saturday afternoon, and was attended by a large number of friends of the bereaved parents. Rev. C. W. O'Hara having charge of the services.

Montevallo.

There was an "Uncle Remus" reading at the Chapel Monday night of last week, of which your correspondent has been unable to get a report.

The teachers at the A. G. I. S. gave the students a valentine party which was greatly enjoyed. The reception hall was gorgeously decorated for the occasion.

Washington's birthday is to be celebrated one day ahead of schedule time. Dr. Staggs, of Birmingham, is to give an address, and there will be interesting exercises.

Another fire alarm sounded Saturday night. It was in the cottage occupied by teachers on the campus, where there was a defective flue. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Of the sick in the Ebenezer community, mention of which was made last week, Mrs. Jos. F. Johnson has died. Her husband is still in a precarious condition. J. N. Wyatt's patients are improving.

The many friends of Rev. H. E. Wheeler regret to know he is confined to his home with rheumatism. Dr. Peterson filled his pulpit Sunday. There was also preaching at the Baptist and Presbyterian churches. Dr. Beard again disappointed his congregation on account of continued illness.

The elements hoisted a flag of truce about noon last Friday, and forthwith the authorities announced that the postponed Recital would be given at the A. G. I. S. that night. A large audience responded to the summons, and a most enjoyable program of readings by members of that class in oratory was given. They were assisted by the orchestra and class in physical culture.

After the opening number, a stirring march from Wagner, Miss Mary Landerdale gave with much pathos and depth of feeling the beautiful poem, "In the Children's Hospital."

As "all the world loves a lover" the pretty love scene from The Hunchback, Act II, so charmingly rendered by Miss Grace Watts, was enjoyed by "all the world" represented in the audience.

The tragic story of Time was finely rendered by Miss Elizabeth Allen. She touched in the hearts of the listeners the chords of pity for sinful, suffering humanity, though we could not but wish the author had pointed to the "Rock of Ages" as a sure refuge in life, rather than in a suicidal death.

The pathetic story of Patsy and his kindergarten teacher was beautifully told by Miss Marion Black.

The serious character of most of the pieces was relieved by vivacious description of "The Bumble Bee" given by Miss Della Shipp.

Those who heard Miss Willie May Thornton's representation of Shylock last Commencement were glad of the opportunity to hear her again, and her reading of the court scene from "The Boy Orator" on this occasion is judged by some to be the finest achievement which has been presented by the pupils in this department. Miss Thornton possesses in a high degree the dramatic talent, and we shall expect great things of her.

Those who were interested in the beginning of the A. G. I. S. orchestra last year will be glad to note the addition this year of more violins, another flute, the mellow French horn, the martial tones of the trombones, and last but not least (except in size of instrument and player) the piccolo. One of the prettiest musical numbers was the Melody of Dancla in which the theme was presented and carried throughout by piccolo and flute, sometimes in unison, and sometimes in answering phrases, or in duet form. To the earnest student of instrumental music, whether piano or organ, the value of the study of orchestration can not be over estimated, and the variety of tone color combined in its second year's work, and the steadily increasing interest in this the highest form of instrumental music, lead to the belief that the department of orchestration in the A. G. I. S. will some day be one of the leading educational factors for Alabama music lovers.

A fitting climax to the evening's entertainment was the combination of music and the poetry of motion in the hoop drill by the Physical Culture Class. The audience seemed transported to some ancient festival scene as the Grecian maidens entered from each side of the rostrum. Gliding rather than marching, with the dreamful music as the only guide, they formed one complication after another, one graceful pose after another, one most beautiful scene showing groups of sleeping maidens with angels hovering above them with outstretched wings. A goodnight wave of the hoop gave the audience a poetic dismissal and they departed with best wishes that the efforts of the efficient teachers in these departments may ever be rewarded by results as successful as those they had just witnessed.

Only nine days this year have been blessed with any sunshine whatever.

Lots of Sweetness.

Have you tasted that fine candy Roberts & Robertson have just received? U-m-m-m but it's good, and purest of the pure, too.

Local Taxation.

Editor Sentinel, Columbiana:

Inasmuch as local taxation for public schools is being agitated, I wish to say through your paper that this is one of the most important steps that could possibly be inaugurated for the upbuilding of our country. The best schools are in those counties that have local taxation. All persons are agreed on the value of good schools to any community, and the importance of maintaining these schools is recognized by all private and public citizens.

To my mind, taxation is the only feasible plan that will lighten the burden and yet raise a fund sufficient to supplement the present school fund at least forty or fifty per cent. Fifteen cents on the hundred dollars increases the taxes on one thousand dollars only $1.50.

The law of Alabama says we must have public schools of not less than five scholastic months of each scholastic year. How can we maintain a five months' school with only $125? It will take double this amount to properly do so. Let us go about this business in earnest. Read, write and talk about it. Tell your friends of the necessity of local taxation, and show them wherein their taxes will be only a trifle more than for the preceding years.

I long to see the day when Shelby county will be the banner community in regard to public schools. It is high time for her to rally to the front. Every intelligent person will agree with me that education is essential to good citizenship, and good schools essential to education; and I hope the time is close at hand when every elector will agree with me that local taxation is essential to good schools.

By carefully considering the facts mentioned above we should not hesitate a moment, but make up our minds at once to, when the proper time comes, cast our ballot for a special tax of not less than fifteen cents on the hundred dollars.

Yours for better schools,
R. F. LYON.

Farmers in Beat 10.

Harpersville, Ala., Feb. 12.

There was a large number of the farmers of beat 10 met in mass meeting Saturday evening by request of Commissioner R. R. Poole. C. H. Florey was elected chairman, and R. B. Posey, secretary and treasurer.

After the object of the meeting was explained by the chairman, about forty names were enrolled. G. W. Green, R. H. Glaze and J. R. Bird, sen., were elected delegates to the convention at Columbiana, Thursday.

Messrs. E. V. Caldwell, G. W. Green, R. T. White, G. W. Goswick and J. R. Baker were appointed as committee on acreage, who will make a report at the next meeting.

On motion the meeting adjourned to meet Saturday evening, the 18th, at 2 o'clock.

C. H. FLOREY, Chm.
R. B. POSEY, Sec.

(A telephone message from Mr. Florey to The Sentinel says that owing to the bad weather the delegates from beat 10 could not attend the meeting at Columbiana last Thursday.)

Obituary.

On the 5th day of February, near Sterrett, the angel of death visited the home of Ingraham Coshatt claiming for its victim his loving bride (nee Miss Minnie Weldon) of less than a year.

As a daughter, wife and sister she was ever faithful, devoted, temper and true. She has left indelibly inscribed upon the hearts of all who knew her those graces which adorned her life. Those who enjoyed her friendship could not fail to appreciate her genuine worth and sterling integrity. She leaves a husband, father and mother, four sisters and two brothers who mourn her death. Our loss is her gain as she was a christian lady, a member of the Baptist church at Liberty. Miss Minnie was a fine musician and in "Singing for Joy" will be found several of her compositions, one in particular "These Are They in Bright Array." This one, we think, is used. She is one of those who are "in bright array." She was a sweet alto singer. We hope she joined those "in bright array" in their everlasting songs where tongues never tire. These are they standing at the pearly gates watching and waiting in their bright array. She has crossed over the great beyond where sorrow, sin nor death never come.

Wherever I go, on sea or shore,
I'll think of thee forever more;
I'll go away and leave you here,
Although you are dear to me,
You loved me once, or I thought so,
But now my dependence I know,
'Tis God's way, His will be done,
Be thankful it but one true heart
Shall for thee the moment's pain,
Ere it can say "we meet again."

ELLA DICKERSON.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR.
A magic lamp, unluckily for the lack of legendary gem and carved scroll, burned in a dusky chamber of the world. With untrimmed wick a-shoulder in the bowl.
Then timid chance—the chamberlain of God—A-stumble in the dark, with groping hand Scattered the crust of ashes from the wick—And lighted every corner of the land!

THE GOLD STREAK
By S. A. WEISS.

YES, Robert, I know it's a poor place, but I don't feel willing to give it up. It's been my home—as it was my father's before me; and I did hope—with a sigh—"that you'd have taken to it, and made it as good as 'twas in his time. Perhaps if you'd marry and settle down here, with a good managing wife to help you, you'd do better and be better satisfied; and if it weren't for old David Gardner's obstinacy, you and Letty—"
"Enough, mother!" interrupted Robert Langly, flushing all over his handsome, sunburnt face; "it's no use saying anything more on that subject. I'll never ask any woman to marry me so long as I know that I cannot afford her a servant, or so long as there's a mortgage hanging over the roof that I'd bring her to."
His mother looked at him anxiously over her spectacles.
"It isn't wasn't for the mortgage," she said, slowly, "we might get along. 'Twas that worried your father into his grave—that, and not finding the gold-streak—"
Her son made an impatient movement, and she added:
"Don't you think you could get a little more time allowed us, Robert? Maybe when the crop's sold, and the apples and cider—"
"Mr. Davis won't hear of it, mother. I saw him yesterday and talked it over, but he insists it must all be paid by the first of August. Ah, here he comes now."

And Robert went out to meet the well-dressed, sharp-eyed man in a handsome trap, while his mother remained in the back porch, with sleeves rolled up, mixing food for the poultry.
"There ain't many of 'em to feed now," she said, talking aloud to herself, as she had been accustomed with her late husband. "Then there's old Speck missing—the best layer of 'em all, and Gold-streak's fit for nothing since her leg's broke. Ah, me! I'm mighty afeared that she's the only gold-streak we'll ever know at this place!"
"What's that about a gold-streak, Mrs. Langly?" exclaimed a clear, young voice.
And a girl with a sweet face and bright brown eyes and a blue-striped chintz dress, fitting perfectly to her trim figure, stood smiling before her. Mrs. Langly's face brightened immediately.
"Why, Letty, how do you always manage to take one by surprise, as if you'd risen out of the earth or dropped down from the clouds! Well, you're welcome. I'll tell you about the gold-streak if you care to listen."
"You see," she continued, "the Langlys come of Scotch stock, and it's been said that Rob's great-grandfather Langly, over in Scotland, had the gift of second sight—that is, seeing and knowing things that are going to happen. But I never did think much of it, though my husband—poor departed Jeems!—believed in it as firmly as he believed in summer and winter. Well, about eleven years ago old Alick Langly paid us a visit. I hadn't seen him but once before in my life—for he lived a long way from here. Him and Jeems, they walked all over the farm, and it was a far better cultivated place then than it is now, though nothing compared to what it was in my father's time. Jeems' Uncle Alick didn't seem to think much of it, though.
"The day he went away," she went on, "he was standing and looking all around him on the farm. All of a sudden he says, 'Jeems—Jeems and Mary—turning to me—'I've one thing to say before I go. Stick to your farm, for there's a streak of golden luck in it.' Of course, I asked what he meant; but all he would say was, 'I've seen it—I've seen it by the power that's given us to look into the future. I've seen a streak of gold-luck running through your land that's to better your fortunes in good time. Don't part with it until your luck's found.' And that same day he went away, and the first we heard of him after he got home was that he was dead."

There was another pause, and Letty said:
"And you think there is really a vein of gold to be found on your farm?"
"Jeems thought so. To his dying day he believed in it."
"And what does Robert think about it?" inquired the girl, with a faint flush on her cheeks.
"Oh, he thinks it all nonsense—about the gold, and the second sight, and all." Just at this moment they heard Mr. Davis' trap roll away, and Robert came around the corner of the house.
He looked a little excited, but that might be from finding Letty there. He walked home with her across the fields to the next farm. When he returned, he said, quite abruptly:
"Mother, Mr. Davis wants to buy the farm. He's offered more for it than I ever dreamed it would bring. He seems quite anxious to get it; and when I told him that you objected to part with it, he actually offered to let us off with the balance of the mortgage, provided the business is settled at once."
"Why, Robert, what can he mean?"
"I don't know. There's something in it I don't understand; but if you've no objection, I'll go to-morrow and see Lawyer Pannell about it."

Robert had expected to be only one day from home; but he stayed three. And, meantime, the odd boy going to bring the cows from the meadow, reported that there were a number of men passing through the farm, looking about, examining the ground, and acting in a very strange and unaccountable manner.
"Good gracious!" thought Mrs. Langly. "They surely can't be looking for the gold-streak!"
She was very anxious for her son's return. When he did come, she noticed the bright glance and the brisk manner in which he dismounted from his horse and came straight toward her, as she stood at the steps to welcome him.
"Well, Rob, I see you've got good news,"
"The best news, mother," he answered, cheerfully.
"Tears came into her eyes. 'I shall hate to give up the old home, after all.'"
"You needn't give it up, mother. We won't sell the farm. Mr. Davis was sharp," he added, contemptuously, "but fortunately we escaped the trap he baited so nicely."
"Why, what is the matter, Robert?"
"Why, only this, mother. They are going to run a new railway through our farm, which will increase its value tenfold."
His mother's first words showed how much she had the happiness of her son at her motherly heart, when she said, with moistening eyes:
"You and Letty can marry now, Robert!"
A few months afterward Mr. Robert Langly stood with his mother on one side, and his wife leaning on his arm, on the meadow slope, watching from a distance the busy laborers throwing up a clay embankment, where the new railway was to be laid.
The sun was slowly sinking on the horizon, and its almost level rays shone redly on the yellow clay, freshly turned up and gleaming in a long bright line against the green of the fields beyond.
"Dear me!" said Mrs. Langly. "I never knew there was so much clay on the land; for all father's talk about a clay substratum over there. How red and yellow it looks! and how that long line of wet clay shines in the sunlight like a streak of gold!"
At this, Letty turned with bright eyes, full of a sudden surprise.
"A streak of gold? O Robert, how strange! Can this be the streak of gold-luck that your father's Uncle Alick foretold?"
Mrs. Langly sank on the grassy bank, quite "shaken," as she declared, with this realization of the fulfillment of the prophecy.—New York News.

Freak Periodical Puzzles Readers.
A peculiar periodical named the Brutalitarian has appeared in London, and its readers are puzzled over the true meaning of its frankly brutal utterances. They are not sure whether the editor is a wag or a crank, yet the concluding paragraph of the following extract from its pages would seem to indicate that the Brutalitarian is animated by the spirit of irony:
"It is full time, in this age of decadent humanitarianism, that some trumpet-tongued protest were raised against the prevalent sentimentality, and that there should be an attempt to organize and consolidate the forces * * * that make for manliness and patriotism."
"If we are fools enough to allow the use of the lash to die out, good-by to all the sterling traits of an Englishman's character!"
"What could be more pitiful than the plea put forward by the naval lords, for instance, that boys in the Royal Navy are not 'flogged,' but 'bitched,' in spite of the fact that every public school man in the country knows that the terms are identical?"
"The Brutalitarian will at least make it impossible for our friends to repeat these errors, for it will frankly, fully and consistently uphold flogging (under that name), whether with birch or cane or 'cat,' or any other instrument, as the mainstay of British education."

"War and sport, flesh eating and vivisection are all kindred practices which must stand or fall together."—New York Mail.

Kimberley "Siege" Babies.
During Lord Roberts' tour in South Africa he chanced to be in Kimberley on his seventy-second birthday and the people of that city presented him with a pair of diamonds. One of the "siege babies," a boy of four years, made the presentation speech. During the siege of Kimberley by the Boers about fifty babies were born. Lord Roberts had his photograph taken in the midst of the "siege babies" on the steps of the town hall. Most of the "siege babies" bear names recalling the war. Thus, while "French," "Buller," "Methuen," "Bobs" and "Kekewich" occur, "Rhodes" is even more frequently used and "Siege" seems most popular of all.

Algiers as a Coaling Station.
For many years Algiers has been one of the principal ports in the Mediterranean as a coaling station. The coaling trade at Algiers has steadily increased from the year 1885 to 1900, during which period it successfully rose from 5000 tons in 1890 to 244,000 tons in 1895, and 290,000 tons in 1900. During the same time the coal trade at Gibraltar, which had risen to 562,000 tons in 1880, gradually decreased to 272,000 tons in 1895, to rise to 309,000 tons in 1900. Algiers supplied in 1902 for ships' bunkers 297,000 tons, and in 1903 she supplied 339,000 tons, whereas the amount supplied by Gibraltar fell to 167,000 tons, and finally to 123,000 tons.

Girls, Can You Carve?
One of the minor accomplishments to be acquired by every girl is the science or art of carving. Let her learn to cook by that divine art, but to understand the graceful dissection of a joint of a fowl is still more important if she intends being at the head of an establishment. Generally this duty falls to the man of the house, who, though he may not be skillful, is yet strong of wrist, and whose right is to hack and slash without reproach from the other end of the board. But when a lady can easily and dexterously perform this share of a man's prerogative it has a very pretty appearance.

HUNDRED ENTOMBED.

An Explosion in the Mines at Virginia City. Near Birmingham Monday

BADLY BURNED AND MUTILATED

One Hundred and One Bodies Rescued from Awful Catastrophe Up to Sunday Morning.

Bessemer, Ala.—By a "dust" explosion in the Virginia mines, 17 miles southwest of Birmingham, at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, between 110 and 135 miners, negroes and whites, are entombed 700 feet below the surface, and probably none will live to tell the story of the disaster.

The mines are the property of the Alabama Steel and Wire Company, known as the Schuler property.

Monday afternoon the day shift prepared the last shot, which is at 4 o'clock, and some one below the third level made the fatal mistake of overcharging or undercharging a shot. Either of these will cause the dust accumulated about the shot to ignite and result in the explosion. From the little beginning the explosion came, dealing death and destruction.

There has been considerable delay as the rescuers have had to rebuild the props which support the roof of the main slope. The force of the explosion tore away these props.

The force of the explosion was so great that rocks, rafters, sticks and other missiles were hurled 350 to 400 yards from the mouth of the shaft. The tracks leading into the mines were covered with dirt and rafters which formed the props.

It is stated by witnesses that the flames from the explosion leaped more than a hundred feet into the air.

At frequent intervals members of the rescue party are brought to the mouth of the shaft overcome by the gases and fire and at the place where the rescuers have reached.

State Mine Inspector Gray Monday night explained the probable cause of the explosion. He stated that a "windy shot" and a "dust" explosion were similar. A windy shot is when the force of the explosion blows outward and creates a great deal of dust and also raises all the dust in the room.

In this dust there is more or less gas and this all explodes. The explosion spreads from room to room with awful rapidity, overtaking in a few seconds any one who might attempt to escape.

"The explosion was evidently due to a 'windy shot.' This mine is one of the best ventilated mines in the district and this very fact, added to the intensity of the explosion. I do not think the bodies will be brought to the top until nearly daylight, although we may find some at any time. In my opinion there were at least 135 men in the mine at the time of the disaster, of this number at least 100 were white miners."

About 7 o'clock Wednesday night the rescuers had to come to the surface and announce that they could progress no further until they received disinfectants. The physicians at the mines were able at the time to supply a small amount of disinfectants, but the supply was limited and it was necessary to send to Bessemer for more.

Could Not Stand Stench.

The "damp," the fumes resulting from the explosion and the burning are increasing, and the workmen are progressing slowly. Late Wednesday afternoon four of the rescue party had to be brought to the surface, unable longer to stand the strain of the stench and the "damp." Two of them were rapidly becoming unconscious and the physicians had to hasten to their assistance. They recovered rapidly after they were brought to the surface, but a few minutes more would have sealed their fate.

The rescuers had gone beyond the current of good air in their efforts to get to those bodies which were beyond. They failed to notice that their safety lamps were burning low and that the flame was bad, and suddenly they found themselves overcome. Others who were in the mine at work on another portion hastened to their aid and a "tip" was sent to the top to bring down a physician. Dr. Glasgow, resident physician at the mines, went down and soon the men were brought to the top, where other physicians were in attendance, and they could be given medical assistance.

Bodies were recovered rapidly until about 6 o'clock Wednesday night. Most of these men were found in the third and fourth levels, and many of them were horribly burned and mutilated. Very one of the bodies were decaying rapidly and the rescuers could scarcely stay in the mines long enough to place the bodies on the "tip" and send them to the surface.

These men showed that they were near the origin of the explosion where its force was the greatest, for the skulls of some of them were literally riddled with holes and fractures. There were at least a dozen small holes in the skull of one man, and three or four fractures, showing that something had been driven against his head with enormous force.

The workers are straining every nerve to get into the "third left," for there they expect to find about forty miners and helpers. They also expect to find the greatest damage done in this level, for it was here that many think the explosion originated and was most powerful. The indications are that the explosion started on the third level and that the force of it was upwards, but at the same time the fire spread downwards towards the foot of the slope. At the bottom of the slope the timbers and props are in some places not even jarred, and many of them could easily have been pulled from their places before the explosion. But in the upper levels they are all torn down and displaced, and some of them have been driven long distances from their places.

At Third or Fourth Level.

All this points to the explosion having been strongest about the third and fourth levels, while below they are not so badly charred by the fire.

The bodies found on the upper levels are also in much worse condition than those lower down. They are more badly burned and worse mutilated.

Coroner Paris empaneled his jury Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in Bessemer.

The jury will commence its active investigation into the trouble as soon as possible, and Coroner Paris intends that it shall go down in the mines and make as thorough an investigation of the conditions as possible. He has selected several men who are capable mine men and thoroughly familiar with every detail of the work.

The coroner is having the bodies fully identified as they are brought to the surface, and then they are delivered to the families or to the undertakers to be prepared for burial. Identification becomes harder as decomposition sets in, and it is possible that some mistakes will be made, but at present it is not believed any have been made.

Three Bodies in Water.

There are three bodies in the mines which will scarcely be reached for a week or ten days. They are those of the pumper, coupler and one other man who were all in the very lowest portion of the mine, which is now filled with water. The water has risen about 50 feet in the slope and it will be impossible to get it out until the piping can be repaired and the engines can commence work.

A conservative estimate of the loss to the Alabama Steel and Wire Company is $100,000, which will have to be spent for repairs and getting the mines open again. Much new machinery will have to be put into the mines, pumps and other machinery having been ruined by the explosion and fire. Many portions will have to be bratticed again and it will require a long time to get the debris cleaned out.

It may be late Thursday night before the last of the bodies are brought to the surface, and it is even possible that the rescuers will not be able to get into some places until tomorrow. The damp is increasing and also the stench.

In the third left is where it is thought more bodies will be found than in any other level, and they are trying to get into it as soon as possible. The work will be much harder, it is believed, in this level.

The last special train sent to Bessemer arrived there about 8 o'clock Wednesday night. It contained about a dozen bodies, the last to be brought from the mines. The train will not return to the mines until this morning, as it is believed that the rescuers will not succeed in getting out many bodies until this morning.

Have Never Slept.

There are men at the mines at work this morning who have not closed their eyes to sleep since Monday afternoon, and some of them who will probably not get any sleep for a day or two to come. During all that time they have been at work, and they have proven themselves heroes in many instances.

All Identified Save One.

So far all the bodies that have reached Bessemer have been identified save one. This is the body of a negro and is supposed to be William Howard. Owing to the many mangled bodies some difficulty was expected in many instances in the identification.

Birmingham, Ala.—At 12 o'clock Sunday morning 101 bodies had been taken from the Virginia mines, the scene of Monday's explosion, and the rescuers were within a short distance of eight or ten more, and expect to get them out within the next three or four hours. They are finding the bodies badly decomposed now, and large quantities of disinfectants are required before the rescuers can continue their work. All have been identified except one negro.

The work is progressing more rapidly now than it did Wednesday night, as the disinfectants are enabling the rescue parties to enter all the chambers on the various levels and proceed with their work just as rapidly as they can carry the air with them.

Relief Committee Goes to Mines.

The relief committee appointed by the Commercial club and the one from Bessemer went to the mines Thursday and commenced the work of aiding those who suffered from the explosion. The committee has about $13,000 at its disposal and this money will be used judiciously. It is being distributed in amounts according to the need and the size of the family which needs the aid. In families where there are only one or two to be fed the committee is giving $25 for the immediate relief, and the amounts range from that on up to $75 as the size of the family increases.

Money Found in Clothing.

In removing the clothing from the bodies, which the undertakers carefully roll up and turn over to the bereaved, $70 was found in the clothes of one of the Italian miners.

Relief Work Going On.

In the homes of the Birmingham district the voice of humanity has spoken in behalf of the destitute families of the dead miners at Virginia City.

The people of this vicinity are responding magnificently to the pathetic appeal.

More than 23,000 has been subscribed for the relief of the Virginia mine sufferers, and the work is going on steadily.

The relief fund which is being raised by Bessemer has up to date gone over $4,000, and the indications are that it will reach $5,000.

The fund that the Commercial Club of Birmingham has raised for the relief of the Virginia sufferers has reached the splendid figure of $9,213.22. The committees are still at work, and it is expected they will further swell that amount.

The executive board of Alabama District No. 20, United Mine Workers of America, has generously appropriated $5,000 out of the district funds to relieve the sufferers.

Killed Her Brother.

Anniston, Ala.—Death came to Alton Dale Thursday at the hands of his sister, Josie, a girl of 14 years.

Josie, who is about one year older than Alton, accidentally shot her brother, the wound proving fatal.

The accident happened while the other members of the family were at the breakfast table. The children were playing with guns owned by their father. Alton, the boy, had a single-barreled shotgun and Josie had a 22-calibre Remington rifle. They had gone through several motions with their weapons, and at the time of the fatal shooting they were snapping them in order to see which could make the louder noise.

They thought the guns were not loaded, and little Josie was far from evil intention when, with her rifle pointed toward Alton, she caused the hammer to fall and the gun was discharged, striking the boy.

Investigation Ordered.

Montgomery, Ala.—Acting Governor Cunningham has issued an order to State Mine Inspector J. W. Gray to make a thorough investigation of the deplorable disaster at Virginia mines of Monday afternoon, whereby over 100 miners lost their lives.

The mine inspector is instructed to make a careful examination of the causes which led up to the explosion and report them in full to the governor. Mr. Gray has already proceeded to investigate the calamity, rushing to the scene soon after the news of the explosion was spread.

Mud So Bad Mules Stick Up.

Cullman, Ala.—Stock in this community has suffered a great deal on account of the very bad condition of the roads, made so by the bad weather. Herman Groffman lost a fine mule about one mile from Cullman. The mule mired up in the mud, and in his efforts to free himself burst a blood vessel and died in a short while. Gus Screws had a fine mule, which he valued at $200, break his leg in the stiff mud. The mule was one of a matched pair worth $400. J. M. Bright had a good mule to break a leg in about the same manner.

Kicked His Eye Out.

Decatur, Ala.—Davie Chunn, an employee of the Louisville and Nashville railroad shops, is about to lose an eye on account of a rabbit hunt the other day. While hunting rabbits in the "Black Bottoms" he shot and wound a large swamp rabbit and when he went to pick the rabbit up the rabbit kicked him in the left eye, nearly putting it out.

A Negro Tragedy.

Andalusia, Ala.—In an altercation at Opp Saturday, Kid George, a negro, shot and killed another negro and wounded another one. The difficulty occurred over "irregularities" in a "skin" game. Deputy Sheriff Prestwood went to Opp with blood hounds and chased George nearly all night, finally capturing him. He brought the negro to Andalusia and put him in jail.

Suicide in Theatre.

Chicago, Ill.—Suicide in the balcony of a crowded theatre was the method of death chosen by an unknown man about 22 years of age, who shot and killed himself at the Chicago opera Saturday afternoon during a vaudeville performance. Death was instantaneous and the body fell over into the lap of a woman occupying an adjoining seat. She and several other women fainted.

Thief's Nerve Deed.

Eufaula, Ala.—While attending an entertainment at the St. Julien Hotel a few evenings ago, Lee Shealley had his horses and surrey in which he and his family rode to the city stolen. The thief drove about two hours when he unhooked the horses and taking a portion of the harness turned them loose to graze. No clue to the guilty party has yet been found.

STATE HAPPENINGS

Of General and Local Interest as They Occur.

Postoffice Robber Captured.

Thorsby, Ala.—While attempting to rob the safe of the postoffice at Thorsby Friday night John W. Johnston, a young white man, was captured by Postmaster Bice and five other men, who were secreted in the office.

The prisoner was taken to Montgomery Saturday morning in shackles and handcuffs. He will have a hearing Monday.

Through a close friend Postmaster Bice was informed that an effort would be made to rob the postoffice Friday night. The robber thought he had the combination of the safe and entered the place at 11 o'clock. He was immediately overpowered by the men.

In Hands of a Receiver.

Montgomery, Ala.—Acting under a bill of complaint filed in the United States court Saturday morning by the North American Trust Company of New York, Maj. E. E. Winters was appointed receiver of the Montgomery Traction Company by Judge Jones.

The bill alleges that the company has defaulted in the payment of interest on $400,000 bonds.

The operation of the street railway will not be interfered with. Major Winters was general manager of the company. The receiver's bond is fixed at $15,000.

Railroad to Mines.

Jasper, Ala.—Work has begun on the three-mile extension of the Southern Railway to be constructed from the line near Oakman to the property of the Atlas Coal Company. The line will touch one of the richest coal regions in Walker county. It is rumored that a bank will later be organized in Oakman as a result of the awakening industrial interest.

Makes Material Improvement.

Mobile, Ala.—The International Mahogany Company, of which L. M. Moragues is vice-president and in charge of the plant in this city, has just floated $500,000 bonds in New York. This money will be expended in improving the works of the company in Mobile, Mexico and Central America. Among the improvements to be made here is the immense wharf to be constructed on the river front at Three Mile Creek, which is to have a frontage of 600 feet, sufficient to accommodate three vessels of ordinary size at once. Near the wharf the company will also erect a large saw mill for the purpose of sawing the logs of mahogany for shipment by rail to New York.

Quarantine Stricter.

Mobile, Ala.—The Maritime Quarantine Association of Alabama, Louisiana and Texas, in session here Friday, adopted quarantine regulations for the ensuing year. The regulations are practically the same as last year, the restrictions against passengers from Cuban ports outside of Havana being made closer. All passengers from these ports will be required to produce satisfactory certificates that they have not been in infected towns within five days prior to sailing.

Escape Captured.

Union Springs, Ala.—A few evenings ago two young negro men escaped from jail by getting possession of the keys of their cells in some unaccountable way. When Deputy Sheriff Knight went into the jail late in the afternoon he found the door to their cells open and the prisoners gone. One of them was recaptured at Troy and brought back.

Will Build Independent Refinery

Paola, Kan.—Work on an independent oil refinery to be located here will begin this week. The refinery will have a capacity of 350 barrels a day, and will, it is said, be ready to market oil by May 12. From twenty-five to thirty storage tanks will be erected. The Paola Refinery company will own the new plant.

Wife is Dead, She Took Morphine.

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs. G. W. Barrow died of morphine poisoning. She left a statement saying her domestic relations were strained.

Old Records Gone.

Philadelphia, Pa.—A fire which occurred in the old orphan's court building destroyed some of the oldest legal documents in the country, including the papers of William Penn.

To Provide Big Fund.

Birmingham, Ala.—L. B. Musgrove, the well-known Walker county coal operator, has offered the suggestion that all miners, union and non-union, give one day's work and all operators one day's profits on their output towards a fund which will be placed at interest so that an annuity can be secured to be used in case of any big accidents. The suggestion will be taken up, committees having been appointed to investigate the feasibility.

Alleged Murderer Captured.

Huntsville, Ala.—Richard Young, a negro charged with the murder of Miss Belle Bloodworth at Decatur, was captured here Saturday morning and taken to that town to stand trial. The arrest was made here by Special Detective J. C. Lance, assisted by the local police force. Young offered resistance, but was compelled to yield at the muzzle of a gun. A special colored detective has been chumming with Young several days. He asserts that Young admitted the murder.

Capitalized at $50,000.

Decatur, Ala.—The Long Distance Telephone and Telegraph Company, with a capital stock of $50,000, has been incorporated in this city. The company bids fair to become a strong competitor to the Bell and other companies in Alabama and the adjoining states.

A New Inspector.

Montgomery, Ala.—Postoffice Inspector Owen J. Clark has been assigned to duty in the middle district of Alabama with headquarters in Montgomery.

Mr. Clark was formerly stationed in Kansas City. He arrived in Montgomery yesterday.

The work in this district is to be divided between Postoffice Inspector M. W. McCrea and the new inspector. The district comprises twenty-five counties, and the work has grown so that the department placed another man in the field.

Given Four Months.

Birmingham, Ala.—Ed Johnston, the negro who was yesterday sentenced to four months in the criminal court, on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, is the one who was arrested some time ago charged with the murder of Miss Belle Bloodworth in New Decatur. He was convicted of the charge in the criminal court last week.

When arrested at Warrior shortly after the killing of Miss Bloodworth Johnston had a pistol concealed on his person. The authorities of Morgan county declared that Johnston was not the murderer of Miss Bloodworth, but he was held for trial on the other charge.

Charged With Embezzlement.

Sidney, O.—H. W. Wagner, president of the defunct German-American Bank which failed last August with liabilities of about $800,000, was arrested this morning charged with embezzlement. Frank D. Reid, the cashier was arrested at Toledo Saturday night on the same charge. Both men were arraigned before Mayor Moore and pleaded guilty and were placed under $2,000 bond.

When the bank failed a shortage of $24,000 was found which is yet unaccounted for. The men are charged in the affidavit of embezzling funds to the amount of $100,000.

Supposed to Be Drowned.

Mobile, Ala.—Lawrence Thomas Smith, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Lawrence Smith, of Whistler, is missing from his home since February 15, and fears are now entertained that he was drowned in Three Mile creek. Evidence to warrant the fear has been found in the shape of the boy's hat and a sack of tobacco, both of which were found by a woman near the railroad bridge and identified by members of the boy's family.

$5,000,000 FIRE LOSS

New Orleans Visited by the Most Disastrous Fire of the Season.

NUMBERS OF CARS BURN.

Million Bushels of Grain Total Loss.

Flames Discovered at Docks at About 7 O'clock.

New Orleans, La.—Fire involving millions of dollars loss in property, and that strikes a serious blow at the immense export trade of New Orleans, swept the river front Sunday night, and wiped out the vast freight terminals of the Illinois Central, known as the Stuyvesant docks. Nearly a dozen squares of modern wharves and freight sheds, two grain elevators, hundreds of loaded cars, and quantities of freight, including 20,000 bales of cotton, were destroyed, and a large number of small residences.

The fire was still raging furiously at midnight, when it had almost reached the upper end of the Illinois Central property. It has not been determined whether there has been any loss of life.

The ocean-going shipping seems to have escaped damage. A number of firemen and employees of the docks were injured. Actual estimates of the losses are impossible, though they may exceed $5,000,000.

Extend Twelve Squares.

The Stuyvesant docks extend from Louisiana avenue almost to Napoleon avenue, a distance of twelve squares. The wharves between these two points were covered with miles of trackage and steel and iron sheds ran the whole distance. The two grain elevators were of the most modern construction, the upper one having a capacity of a million bushels.

Thousands of bales of cotton, several thousand packages of sugar, quantities of cotton seed oil, and oil cakes, lumber and every conceivable variety of freight filled the warehouses and sheds. Practically all the export business handled by the Illinois Central was put aboard ships at these docks. The docks and improvements have been under construction for ten years past.

Beyond Control Instantly.

The fire was discovered shortly after 7 o'clock. It was said to have resulted from a journal that had not been sufficiently oiled. The whole plant was equipped with gigantic water tanks and fire extinguishing apparatus, but the blaze, almost instantaneously got beyond control, communicating through the conveyors to the lower elevator, and some of the sheds.

The response of the fire department was prompt, but owing to the fact that the terminals were inaccessible, partly due to fences and tracks, the engines found difficulty in reaching the flames. In half an hour the fire covered two squares, the lower elevator was practically consumed.

As soon as it became known that the scene of the fire was the Stuyvesant docks, harbor tugs hastened to the wharves and vessels that were moored there were pulled out into the river. At the same time switch engines were rushed to the wharves and hundreds of box cars loaded with freight were drawn to points above the upper end of the terminals before the fire reached them. Many hundreds more, however, were consumed.

Heavy Wind Was Blowing.

At midnight more than nine squares of the terminals had been completely destroyed, and it seems unlikely that the fire would be checked until it reaches Napoleon avenue, which also is a very broad street. During the fire a heavy wind blew, and the blaze was of indescribable fury, carrying brands to great distances, driving back the crowds of sight-seers. Immense pieces of corrugated iron, torn from the sides of the upper elevator, were carried through the air as if they were feathers, and dropping in every direction, constantly endangered the lives of the firemen and spectators. Probably fifty thousand people visited the scene during the progress of the fire.

Aside from the tremendous loss involved in the destruction of physical property, the fire is a calamity to New Orleans in the temporary abatement of the immense export business of the Illinois Central, particularly in the matter of grain shipments.

Union Springs, Ala.—A Jew, Mr. Nathan, who keeps a little store on the edge of town, was Thursday evening attacked by a negro with a stick and beaten unmercifully. The negro is now in jail awaiting trial, which will be held Friday.

Chicago Glee Club March 22nd.
Going? Sure!

Dr. J. H. Gunn, of Calera, was in town a day or two last week.

Mrs. W. C. Williams was up from Shelby a few hours Monday.

E. A. Turner was down from Calais last Thursday on business.

Geo. D. Campbell visited with friends in Wilsonville last Sunday.

Merchants say that butter and eggs are pretty hard to get just now.

J. I. Abercrombie has been suffering with rheumatism for the past week.

Dr. Harrison, of Dogwood, is in the city visiting at the home of W. E. Harrison.

Wesley Ozley, of Longview, was in town Monday. We acknowledge a pleasant call.

G. E. Abbott and daughter, of Shelby, were in town a few hours last Thursday.

Little Karl, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harrell, has been quite sick for a week past.

Mayor W. B. Browne was a visitor to Talladega last Sunday, returning Monday.

The "I told you so" man who predicted we would have a severe winter is bobbing up.

Some of the school children are beginning to figure on the summer vacation already.

Miss Stella Powell visited at her home in Childersburg from Saturday until Monday.

P. O. West, one of the young farmers of beat 4, was in town a few hours last Thursday.

Mrs. H. E. Whitaker has gone to Wilton to visit with Miss Alice Little for a few days.

Remodeling of the Methodist church will begin just as soon as the weather will permit.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Erick drove to Shelby last Sunday for a few hours' visit with friends.

Mrs. E. B. Nelson visited with friends and relatives in Birmingham a few days last week.

H. S. Latham, of Montevallo, was in the city the fore part of the week visiting his children.

Mrs. Henry Milner has returned from Birmingham where she had been having her eyes treated.

Pierce Mason, after a visit of more than a week at home, returned to Greensboro last Monday.

Hon. E. S. Lyman, of Montevallo, was in town a day or two last week. We acknowledge a pleasant call.

Last Sunday was a beautiful day, and a number of our young people took advantage of it and enjoyed a drive.

There is said to be one or two cases of well developed Spring fever in town. Wasn't looking for it so soon.

The Sentinel received a pleasant call from L. B. Riddle, one of Wilsonville's prominent business men, last Thursday.

Rev. Joseph Dungsingson will preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning and night. All are invited.

Dr. W. S. DuBose has gone to Attalla to visit his daughter, Mrs. L. M. Dyke, for a few days. He returned Sunday.

T. J. Weaver is remodeling the interior of his store room, and will put in a stock of millinery in time for spring trade.

L. M. Dyke was down from Attalla a day or two last week visiting relatives and looking after some business matters.

The arrival at this office of a poem on "Spring" is a little premature. We read one verse and it gave us spring fever.

Uncle John Cromwell is improving, and his friends are glad to see him out again. He has had a siege of it for several weeks.

Mrs. Edgar Cary, of Keystone, was in the city several days last week visiting her father, Rev. H. M. Millstead, and family.

It is regretted that Hon. J. R. White is still confined to his room, suffering from the effects of a fall received some ten days ago.

The Columbiana Mercantile Co's buyer left for New York the fore part of the week, to purchase the new spring stock for the firm.

R. Z. Hill, one of the farmers of beat 9, is among the number who have renewed their subscription to The Sentinel during the past week.

J. L. Martin, of Wilsonville, is among those who have ordered The Sentinel, the Weekly Advertiser and the map during the past week.

We heard a man a few days ago kicking about his hard luck in getting along, yet he was strong and hearty looking and didn't look hungry.

Mrs. Floyd Wilkins, of Wilsonville, came down to Columbiana last Friday for a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Nelson.

S. F. Allen, of the firm of Allen Bros., of Montevallo, was in town last Thursday. He made this office a pleasant call, and left an order for some job work.

Boys, fix your dates for the Chicago Glee Club. It comes to the Academy on the 22nd, and is the best entertainment in the lyceum course.

Wonder if men who make fun of what the average woman carries in her pocketbook would be willing to show down the contents of their pockets? Honest, now.

J. T. McGaughy and Wm. Bradley, of beat 4, have sent us their subscription to The Sentinel and the Weekly Advertiser, and will also get the fine map that is being offered as a premium.

The latest from the bedside of Mrs. M. T. Wood, who has recently undergone an operation at a Birmingham infirmary, is that she is getting along nicely.

From the plainest sewing to the handsomest dresses can be had by calling on Mrs. J. W. Peers, at residence on Depot-st. f23-2m

That good old man, W. E. Millender of near Harpersville, was in town last week and ordered The Sentinel, the Weekly Advertiser and the map sent to his address.

In this issue will be found a change in the advertisement of I. Gordon, the tailor. Mr. Gordon is talking about that Spring suit you are going to have made.

J. P. Roberts, who has been sick with an attack of grip, is able to be at his accustomed place at the store of the Columbiana Mercantile Company. Mrs. Roberts has also recovered.

Chicago Glee Club Mch. 22.

R. E. Bowdon, the genial superintendent of the Keystone Lime Works at Keystone, was in town last Thursday attending to some business in county court. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call.

The public is cordially invited to attend the public debate at the Academy tomorrow (Friday) night, to be given by the debating club of the Graded School. Encourage the young men by going to hear them.

In this issue will be found the advertisement of Nolan Barnett, who has opened a bicycle repair shop at the blacksmith shop of J. T. Barnett. He will also keep a stock of fixtures. If your wheel gets out of tune take it to him.

The Sentinel has just received a new stock of stationery—linens and bonds—the best goods in the market, and the price is no higher than what some have been paying for common stock. We guarantee our work to be satisfactory.

Shelby Springs will probably be leased to J. A. MacKnight for a period of several years. Mr. MacKnight will, if the deal goes through, give this pretty resort a thorough over-hauling, and will probably keep it open all the year round.

Workmen commenced upon the 2-story building of J. H. Mason last Monday. It is to be of brick, and fills in the gap between the Columbiana Savings Bank and the store of J. H. Abercrombie & Son. W. G. Parker has the contract, and the work will be pushed as rapidly as weather will permit.

T. J. Weaver & Co. will open a millinery business in a few days, with Miss Mattie Fallaw in charge. Miss Fallaw has been in Atlanta the past week selecting the stock, and writes that she will be here by March 5th or 6th with the prettiest line of millinery ever shown in the city.

Uncle Sam Gist, of Calera, was in town last week a witness in county court. Mr. Gist is a veteran newspaper man of Alabama, and although out of harness now he still has a "hankering" for shop. We regret that he is quite feeble this winter, but hope that with the coming of spring his health will improve and his strength increase.

E. V. Caldwell, of Harpersville, was in town Tuesday.

T. C. McKibbin, of Calera, was in town a couple of days last week attending county court. Mr. McKibbin is transfer clerk for the L. & N. and Southern railways and has been in the employ of those companies for more than fifteen years—ample proof of faithful and efficient service. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call from Tom while here.

W. W. Albright circulated a subscription paper for the benefit of the families of the Virginia miners, near Birmingham, who met death in so horrible a manner last week. Mr. Albright succeeded in raising $16.00 which has been sent to the sufferers.

Chicago Glee Club.

The next attraction in the Lyceum course is the Chicago Glee Club which comes to the Academy on Wednesday night, March 22nd.

This may be termed the best attraction in the course. The Club is greeted with crowded houses wherever it appears, and in a second appearance a larger audience than the first comes for the reason its members are entertainers—every one of them. The writer has heard this musical organization on two different occasions at Montevallo, and in each instance the large chapel of the Girls' Industrial School was crowded to the doors. The Club will give you good music and plenty of it—the members are not stingy and we have seen them respond to a half a dozen encores before proceeding with the regular program.

The Sentinel hopes to see the Academy full to the door—every seat filled and all standing room taken. You will get your money's worth from the Chicago Glee Club every time. Remember the date, and go when the time rolls around.

Watch for announcement of the Millinery Opening by T. J. Weaver & Co.

Purchased Stable.

Simon and Leo Frieberger, last Saturday, purchased the livery stable and stock of E. W. Burt and took immediate possession. They inform The Sentinel that a competent man will have charge of the stable, and the excellence will be maintained that was established by Mr. Burt, and promise faithful service to patrons.

From Mr. Burt we learn that he will go to Collinsville to assume personal charge of a hardware store which he and Henry Milner purchased in that place some time ago, and he will remove his family to that place as soon as he can get a house in which to live.

The people of Columbiana regret the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Burt from our town, but take pleasure in commending them to the people of Collinsville as being worthy of their confidence and esteem. The Sentinel trusts their new home may be a most pleasant one.

A report from the Harpersville school goes over to next week.

District Conference.

The Talladega District of the North Alabama Conference of the M. E. church will convene in Columbiana on Thursday, May 11th, and remain in session over the following Sunday.

There will be in attendance some thing like twenty preachers and their wives and four delegates from each church—making in all over a hundred visitors and guests. The Sentinel believes that the homes of our people will be thrown wide open to the visiting clergymen and delegates, and send them back to their charges with pleasant remembrance of Columbiana and her people.

Chicago Glee Club Mch. 22.

The young men of the Debating Club in the public school would like for all their friends to come to the Academy tomorrow (Friday) night. It is their first appearance in public debate, and we doubt not the attendance will be large. The boys have been preparing for this occasion for several weeks. Let's all go.

Wanted

TERRIBLE SCENES

AT VIRGINIA MINE

Strong Men Weep in Sorrow
With Bereaved.

A COLUMBIANA MAN

Tells Story of the Misery Caused by Disaster.

The terrible disaster at the Virginia Mines near Bessemer, last Monday afternoon, is among the worst this country has ever known. More than one hundred families have lost the father, and many of them one and two sons. Mr. Lefkovits, of this city was visiting in Bessemer at the time it occurred, and in speaking of the frightful accident, he said:

"I was standing in my brother's store when the news reached the city and a number of us immediately secured a carriage and drove to the scene of the disaster, some five miles from Bessemer. When we arrived already a large number had gathered about the entrance of the slope, and things that I saw there made me heart sick. Many women and children were rushing here and there begging some one to do something, while their cries and screams were pitiable to the extreme. Others were standing about and over their faces had crept a look of mute despair and unutterable anguish, for down in that black hole were fathers, husbands, sons, and brothers who were battling for life. The force of the explosion was something terrific, for the effect of it could be seen about the entrance to the slope.

"The cries of the mothers, wives and children were too much for me; no man could have witnessed those scenes without having his heart throbbing in unison with the wails of anguish which could be heard on every side. Work was immediately commenced for the relief of the imprisoned men, and men worked as they never worked before; heroic, indeed were the efforts made, and the cries of the women and children spurred the men to even greater efforts.

"As I said before, the scene made me heart sick, and I had to leave, and I hope I may never witness another such. Horrible does not express it," and as Mr. Lefkovits turned away it was easily seen he was still affected by what he witnessed.

Over one hundred bodies have been recovered from the mines—only two or three showing any signs of life, and they died soon after being brought to the surface.

The terrible affair touched the hearts of the people as soon as it became known, and from all over the country money was collected and sent to the relief of many who had been deprived of their means of support by the death of a loved one. It is said that more than 250 children have been made fatherless by the accident.

Shelby People Mourn.

The great disaster in the Virginia City mines, near Bessemer, has caused a wave of sorrow and sympathy to sweep over all Alabama, but the horrible affair has brought even a greater sorrow and grief to a few people in our own county who mourn for loved ones whose lives were snuffed out with the scores of other unfortunate men.

The Sentinel is informed that Joseph Scott, one of the dead miners, was a brother of Mrs. W. E. Harrison, wife of County Treasurer Harrison, of this city, and since learning of the fate of her brother Mrs. Harrison has been prostrated with grief.

Judson Wells, another of the victims, was a brother to Mrs. M. Woolley, of Montevallo, and was well known at Jemison where he lived some years ago.

Walter Green, another of the dead miners, is remembered by Columbiana people as a resident of this place about eight or ten years ago.

Columbiana's Mite.

Through the efforts of W. W. Albright in circulating a subscription paper, a contribution of $16.00 was raised and sent to Col. R. N. Rhodes, of the Birmingham News, to be added to the fund for the benefit of the families of the dead miners at Virginia City. Mr. Albright's effort for so humane a cause is a commendable one.

A check for $11.85 was sent on Thursday, and on Saturday another check for $5.05 was sent. Receipt of the money has been acknowledged in the Birmingham papers.

Quarterly meeting will be held at Good Hope church on Saturday, March 11th, and all are cordially invited to attend.

GOOD MORNING
MERRY SPRING TIME.

Presto! Weather has changed; rain has disappeared and Spring has arrived. So have my Spring samples for Spring Suits. I invite the public cordially to come and inspect my samples. Now is the most opportune time for you to select your Spring wear as we do not sell but ONE SUIT OF A KIND. As soon as suit is sold, sample is destroyed unless otherwise requested. As all suits are made by myself on premises, I will thank you for giving me your order now, so that I may have ample time to make it. Cleaning, repairing and pressing satisfactorily done. Thanking you for past and future patronage I remain, yours truly,

I. GORDON.

Help for Women Passing Through Change of Life

Providence has allotted us each at least seventy years in which to fulfill our mission in life, and it is generally our own fault if we die prematurely.

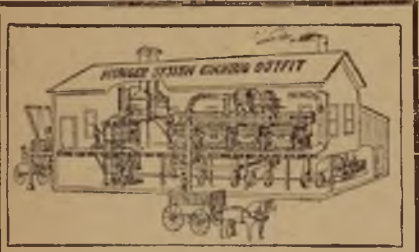

Mrs. Mary Koehne

Nervous exhaustion invites disease. This statement is the positive truth.

When everything becomes a burden and you cannot walk a few blocks without excessive fatigue, and you break out into perspiration easily, and your face flushes, and you grow excited and shaky at the least provocation, and you cannot bear to be crossed in anything, you are in danger; your nerves have given out; you need building up at once! To build up woman's nervous system and during the period of change of life we know of no better medicine than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here is an illustration. Mrs. Mary L. Koehne, 371 Garfield Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years in my family and it never disappoints; so when I felt that I was nearing the change of life I commenced treatment with it. I took in all about six bottles and it did me a great deal of good. It stopped my dizzy spells, pains in my back and the headaches with which I had suffered for months before taking the Compound. I feel that if it had not been for this great medicine for women that I should not have been able to-day. It is splendid for women, older or young, and will surely cure all female disorders."

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick and ailing women to write her for advice. Her great experience is at their service, free of cost.

A Handless Typewriter.

The district attorney of Mojave county, A. T., lost his hands several years ago in an explosion in a gold mine. Though he is handless, Attorney Dickson is able to perform all the tasks that fall to the lot of a man in his profession. He eats and dresses with no more difficulty than people who have the full use of their hands. Around Kingman, the county seat of Mojave county, Attorney Dickson has the reputation of being one of the swiftest performers on the typewriter. In using the typewriter Dickson fastens two short sticks, especially made for him, to the ends of his arms, and seated well above the typewriter, strikes down with unerring aim and with a rapidity that is marvelous.

PHOTOGRAPH FRAMES.

This is the season of the year when the average home-maker finds her mantels, secretaries, chiffoniers and table overflowing with photographs, and she yearns for the old-fashioned album which some two or three years ago she turned over to moths and mice in attic recesses.

Perhaps, in a sudden spasm of tidiness, she decides to unearth the family photograph album and refill its empty spaces, or she may even think she will find something new in albums—and so she will—the most hideous combinations in celluloid, plush or burnt wood, all built over a music box which grinds out "Teasing" or "Good-bye, Little Girl, Good-bye," as one turns the pages in search of familiar faces.

But the good old-fashioned album, bound in a desirable quality of leather is not to be found in department store nor book shop. In its place has come the box, or rather, many boxes, supplemented by pliable leather receptacles resembling glove and handkerchief cases, and for unmounted photographs, the camera book.

Boxes for use in the drawing room are covered with exquisite silk tapestries. A mauve tapestry, showing stripes of tiny pink roses, forms the cover for one of these boxes. The edges are bound with mauve braid and bullion, and a large square piece of glass in the center of the lid reveals the contents of the receptacle.

These boxes are big enough to hold the large size portrait photographs, and can be ordered in silk or tapestry to match the decoration of the side walls. In this same size, but heavier and more costly, are the boxes of beaten brass and bronze. These have figures of cupids or pastoral scenes carved in bold relief on the sides and lid and stand on four low carved legs. A carved box plated with silver showed the reclining figure of Father Neptune surrounded by water nymphs.

The housekeeper with scores of family pictures to care for will appreciate a deep leather box two feet in length. A particularly handsome box of this sort has a figure of St. George on a fiery steed carved on the hinged cover and outlined in gold. Wonderfully artistic carving is also shown on boxes of weathered oak from which a rugged Indian's head, the spreading antler of a deer or the figure of a bear stand out as if molded in bronze. This is another favorite design for carved wood.

More novel is an oblong frame of olive wood an inch in width, from which is suspended a bag of green leather folded like an accordion. When not in use this case is not more than two inches of thickness. The cover is of olive fastened with a silver clasp and lined with green suede. A loop of the suede holds a magnifying glass.

Long flexible cases contain two pockets for photographs and are tied with a silk cord and tassel. Among a bride's gifts was a gilded leather case carved in flower design and lined with champagne-colored moire silk. This was tied with a satin cord and tassel in champagne color. The corner of one side was showing a girl in an 1830 gown, with a sprightly beau in knickerbockers standing against a background of pink apple blossoms, stalks of pale lavender and white fleur-de-lis roses about their feet.

WAGE EARNING WOMEN AS WIVES.

"Does the girl who remains at home make a better wife than the girl who goes out daily to earn her living?" I asked a woman suffragist recently.

"Any wage earning woman who wills it may by her attitude of mind make her experiences yield good to her instead of evil," she answered. "She may be a refining, beautifying presence amid the rough realities of a purely practical sphere, and there is no doubt that she may benefit from the battle with the world and make her the very best wife in the world."

"Doesn't her experience tend to harden her nature?" I ventured.

"Not if she wills it otherwise. Her experiences with the various people will make her sympathetic and fit her for any emergencies which may come up," was the answer. "The voice of protest has been raised so constantly against the wage earning woman that we have somewhat come to regard her position as self-imposed. Why not take a hopeful view of the situation."

"When a condition cannot be helped it should be resolutely met with a spirit that will know no evil effects. There are over 5,000,000 women in the United States today who are self supporting and the number is increasing at a rapid rate. To say that the self supporting woman is not menaced by dangers and harmful influences would be absurd. These dangers do exist. And yet to place undue stress upon them and say that a woman must eventually yield to them is absurd. It all rests with the woman herself. It is a duty that confronts her. The woman of today may determine what her experiences shall be if she takes the stand that nothing can rob her of her refinement and of that charm, womanliness. Every woman may turn insult, discourtesy and danger from her path and draw to herself the esteem and regard of men associates and employers."

—Exchange.

RESTING.

When one has something particular on hand for the evening it is advisable to "rest up" for it during the day, and here is a formula for that process suggested by an excellent English nurse:

First lie down in the afternoon with only a loose gown on, so that the body can relax properly. Next take a quick warm bath, afterward rubbing the spine well with eau de Cologne.

Next the face is to be gently washed in water softened with bran, as hot as can be borne, then rinsed off with cold water to which a dash of toilet vinegar has been added. To brighten the eyes, give them a bath by means of a teacupful of slightly salted tepid water. Dress with liberation, and if possible have someone do your hair for you, if you do not keep a maid.

It is a great aid to a successful toilet to have all your things laid out ready so that you do not have to rummage in bureau drawers or turn out boxes or fumble in closets at the last minute. Whatever you are going to need in the way of clothes, stockings, shoes, handkerchiefs, gloves, fan, etc. should be where you can lay your hand on them when you want them.

As a last touch the nurse suggests for a capital pick-me-up Mrs. Grover Cleveland's recipe—a glass of boiling hot milk with nutmeg sprinkled on top.—Chicago News.

NECKLACES BECOME POPULAR.

The most casual observer can not have failed to notice on every hand evidence of the fad for old-fashioned jewelry, especially in necklaces and chains. It would seem that every woman is prowling into mother's or grandmother's or auntie's jewel box for articles long ago discarded by their owner, scoffed at by the present generation for years, but now sought for in eagerness. The woman who was wise enough to treasure her jewelry instead of allowing her little daughters to play with it, and more often than not lose it, is the center of envy now, for she arranges herself or her daughter—both sometimes—with jewelry that calls forth words of praise and compliment—or thoughts of envy and jealousy as the case may be.

The girl lucky enough to induce her mother to part with some rare set of necklace, locket, brooch and earrings, hastens to the jeweler, who cleans and polishes, and perhaps mounts the rings on the brooch as pendants. But the old-fashioned necklace is not enough. Along with it, as likely as not, are strands of modern beads. Oriental beads, pearls or corals. Indeed, it is wonderful the amount of jewelry that the modern woman of accepted good taste wears even in the day time. Besides a necklace and strands of beads, she will wear a brooch at the throat, one or more fancy pins at the back of her collar, on the front of her bodice a brooch, maybe a small sunburst.—

A BROWN LUNCHEON.

Just to vary the monotony of life there is the "brown" luncheon. The creamed lobster is served in cups covered with brown tissue paper, the browned chops, browned fried potatoes and browned rice croquettes on plates decorated with a design of brown oak leaves and acorns. The ice cream is chocolate frozen in shape of large English walnuts, and the little squares of white cake bear the design of a leaf in tiny chocolate candies. The courses are served from large wooden trays ornamented in pyrographic work, decorated in brown leaves, and the water is poured from a little brown jug.

All the decorations are brown, shading from seal to orange. The candies are yellow with autumn leaf shades. The name cards are placed inside little boxes decorated with pyrographic work and suitable for jewel boxes. The hostess wears a gown of panne velvet in the shade of brown known as "burnt onion," and the maid's apron and headress are decorated with brown bows.

WHAT MRS. GRUNDY SAYS.

When a woman is in love, she does not have to do much talking to make the fact known.

Most men kiss their wives just to show they were not forgotten how. Some women seem to think it necessary to pretend to know a great deal.

Women like to talk about the splendid times they had when they were being courted.

It always makes a man cross to tell him how he raved about the girl he didn't marry.

Some women have a rare knack of working in all their relatives without husband's consent.

A wife who knows how to take care of money is not always a general favorite.

When a man steals a kiss he looks as though he ought to be thrashed.

PARENTAL DUTY.

Parents should begin right; that is, when the child is young; they should teach their children to be courteous, brave and truthful, says Farmers' Home Journal.

The father should always come in to his home with a bright smile and loving words for all. He should never speak harshly, and, above all, never swear in the presence of his children. For the mind of a child, like the sculptor's clay, is easily molded—first impressions are never forgotten.

No father or mother can be too careful in selecting associates for their children; they should know that every boy and girl that comes into their home leads pure and upright lives.

Parents should do everything they can to make their children contented. Therefore, let them all the home with music, books and flowers. No home should be without music, for it makes glad the heart.

The Land of Gold.

The Yukon territory, which prior to 1898 formed a part of the Northwest territory, has an area of 196,976 square miles, 196,327 being land, and 649 water. The population is estimated at 12,000, of whom 7,200 are Americans. It is purely a mineral country, and has produced since 1885 when the output of gold was first recorded, to the end of 1903, $97,063,500 in gold. Dawson, the capital of the Yukon territory, and the residential and commercial center of what is commonly known as the Klondike, has a population of 3,500 persons of various nationalities, the Americans with 2,450, forming 70 per cent. of the total.

Enormous Steel Band.

What is declared to be the largest and heaviest cold rolled steel band saw ever made has just been turned out at the Disston works, Tacony. It is twenty feet long, fifteen inches wide, 134 inch thick, and weighs 1,474 pounds. By repeated rolling the thickness of the band was reduced from .270 to .134 inch. The saw is perfectly straight and is a marvel of thickness. Bands up to fifteen feet long and fourteen inches wide are regularly made at the Tacony plant, but it is said that never before has a band of such length and weight been cold rolled at any shop in the world.

Can Live Without Spleen.

That a human being can live without a spleen has been now thoroughly established. At one time it was supposed that the spleen produced the red blood corpuscles or the white ones, or changed the one into the other; but since it is known that the bone-marrow has something to do with the production of corpuscles, and that spleenless men can live in perfect health, more and more operations are being performed for the removal of this organ.

Women Use the Sword.

All well educated Spanish women are taught from the earliest years to handle the sword, and as a result they are noted for their admirable figures and easy walk.

Native Ink.

The ink plant of New Grenada is a curiosity. The juice of it can be used as ink without any preparation. At first the writing is red, but after a few hours it changes to black.

Chance For a Reformer.

Some day a great reformer, in whose aspirations sense is duly blended with enthusiasm, will make and win a great fight for pockets in women's street clothes. Why woman does not have more and better pockets in her clothes is one of the mysteries of civilization.—Harper's Weekly.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are cured by a catarrh which is nothing but a local inflammation of the mucous surfaces.

Japan Catches Most Fish.

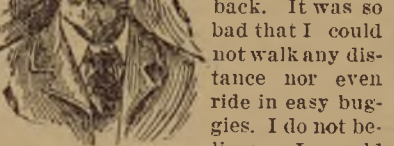

Japan is the leading fishing nation today, although the value of her sea products is surpassed by that of two other countries. The United States, outside of Alaska, and Great Britain each produce about $45,000,000 worth annually, and Japan produces about $30,000,000 worth. Japan leads in the proportion of the total population engaged in the fishing industry, in the actual number of people living by the industry, in the relative importance of fish products in the country's domestic economy, and in the support given by the government to the industry.

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Depue, N. C., says: "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance nor even ride in easy buggies. I do not believe I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe. This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me, and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME

Are Never Without Pe-ru-na in the Home For Catarrhal Diseases.

Remarkable Cures Effected By Pe-ru-na.

Under date of January 10, 1887, Dr. Hartman received the following letter: "My wife has been a sufferer from a complication of diseases for the past twenty-five years. Her case has baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. One of her worst troubles was chronic constipation of several years' standing. She was also passing through that most critical period in the life of a woman—change of life."

"In June, 1895, I wrote to you about her case. You advised a course of Peru-na and Manahin, which we at once commenced, and have to say it completely cured her."

"About the same time I wrote you about my own case of catarrh, which had been of twenty-five years' standing. At times I was almost past going. I commenced to use Peru-na according to your instructions and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me."—John O. Atkinson.

In a letter dated January 1, 1900, Mr.

Atkinson says, after five years' experience with Peru-na:

"I will ever continue to speak a good word for Peru-na. I am still cured of catarrh."—John O. Atkinson, Independence, Mo., Box 272.

Mrs. Alla Schwandt, Sanborn, Minn., writes:

"I have been troubled with rheumatism and catarrh for twenty-five years. Could not sleep day or night. After having used Peru-na I can sleep and nothing bothers me now. If I ever am affected with any kind of sickness, Peru-na will be the medicine I shall use. My son was cured of catarrh of the larynx by Peru-na."—Mrs. Alla Schwandt.

When old age comes, catarrhal diseases come also. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

Current News Garnered as It Falls From the Plant of Report.

Factory Was Destroyed.

Girard, Ala.—The plant of the Chattahoochee Chemical and Mining Company was destroyed by fire Thursday morning between the hours of 1 and 3 o'clock. It is not known how the flames originated, and the theory of incendiarism has been advanced. When the watchman discovered the fire it was rapidly getting under good headway.

The entire plant, including buildings, officers, stables, four Central of Georgia freight cars and one thousand tons of guano was destroyed. The loss is estimated at from $25,000 to $35,000, and is partially covered by insurance.

This plant, a guano factory, was erected about two years ago, and was the largest industry in Girard.

Burned With Powder.

Gadsden, Ala.—An accident which may prove serious, occurred Friday at the ore mines of Hammond Bros., a few miles above the city, in which three boys and a girl were badly burned. The children, whose ages range from 5 to 14 years of age, were playing near an old powder magazine on the mountain and found a can of powder which they broke open and pouring out a quantity threw it on a fire they had near by. The powder flashed up and quickly communicated with the can when it exploded with a deafening report and the children were burned and bruised about their faces and body. Two of the boys are in a dangerous condition and may not survive the accident.

Killed By Train.

Gadsden, Ala.—An unknown white man was run down and ground to pieces early Wednesday morning between Caldwell and Whitney by the Alabama Great Southern northbound passenger, the news being brought to Gadsden by passengers on the train. It seems that the old man lived near one of the above named stations and was walking along the side of the track with a plow on his shoulder and as the train neared him the engineer was horrified to see the old man step into the center of the track. The engineer shrieked out a warning, applied the brakes and reversed his engine but to no avail and the man was run down. His name could not be learned.

New Bank at Decatur.

Decatur, Ala.—Official notice of the organization of the Commercial Savings Bank and Trust Savings Company, of New Decatur, was filed with the secretary of state Friday. The capital stock of the bank is $25,000, all of which is paid in.

The incorporators are L. J. Fenn, A. C. Cain, Mrs. Mary Jennings, E. C. Payne, Samuel Blackwell, M. L. Hardage, B. W. Watson, W. H. Simpson, C. E. Malone, R. H. Walcott, James A. Hill, L. W. Barton, A. A. Hardage, J. D. Jervis, Abe Jervis, G. R. Sullivan, W. R. Smith, T. H. Mattocks, John Flippin, L. B. Wyatt, William Scharfeng, W. A. Warner, B. L. Malone, G. W. Russell, A. Z. Bailey, Putnam and Austin, A. J. Wilson, Morris Wilson, Claude Wilson and G. L. Bombs.

Home Destroyed by Fire.

Scottsboro, Ala.—Fire destroyed the home of R. Scott Parks Monday afternoon at Randall's chapel, near Scottsboro. Everything Mr. Parks had in his home was burned, as all the family were here at the time of the fire. The cause is unknown. There was no insurance.

Will Pay Dividends.

Opelika, Ala.—The depositors of the Shapard Bank, which failed in Opelika about a year ago, will be paid a dividend of 25 per cent.

There are about $30,000 due depositors and the assignees will pay out about $20,000 on the first dividend.

Santa Fe Included.

Topeka, Kan.—The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad is to be included in Attorney General Coleman's suit for conspiracy against the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Coleman said that the Santa Fe was left out of the original petition by an error of the state stenographer.

He will at once file an amended petition to include the Santa Fe. The suit is brought against all the railroads of the state. The strongest feature of the suit, according to the attorney general, is that relating to the failure of the Standard Oil Company to pay charter fees, thus having no authority to do business in the state.

Oakman to Have a Bank.

Jasper, Ala.—From reports Oakman is to have a bank some time in the near future. According to the report, Messrs. M. F. Cannon & Son, the largest merchants in Oakman, are the leaders in the movement. Fifteen thousand dollars will probably be the capital stock of the bank. The Messrs. Cannon have large stores both at Oakman and Berry. Other local capitalists will subscribe to the new bank.

Jordan at Opelika.

Opelika, Ala.—An immense audience of representative farmers from Lee, Chambers, Macon, Tallapoosa and Russell counties, assembled in Opelika to hear the addresses of Hon. Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association, and other distinguished speakers. Hon. N. P. Renfro, president of the Lee County Association, called the meeting to order and presented Hon. Lum Duke, of Opelika, who introduced Hon. R. R. Poole, commissioner of agriculture. Hon. R. R. Poole, in an address, described the organization, composition and purpose of the Cotton Growers' Association. His speech was enthusiastically received.

Colonel Duke then introduced Hon. Harvie Jordan, who delivered a most masterly address, discussing the cotton situation in the Southern States and eloquently appealed to the farmers to decrease the cotton acreage and the use of fertilizers.

W. H. Seymour, president of the Alabama Association, and E. D. Smith, of the South Carolina Association, delivered eloquent addresses on the line of the other speeches. All the speakers were enthusiastically applauded.

New Construction Company.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Jefferson Construction Company, of Birmingham, with a capital stock of $125,000, Friday gave notice of its incorporation to Secretary of State E. R. McDavid. The incorporators are W. H. Woodward, Frank Nelson, Jr., and F. B. Nabers.

Other notices of incorporation were filed as follows:

Alabama Mining Company, with a capital stock of $100,000. The headquarters of the company are at Birmingham. The incorporators are S. J. Simpson, E. D. Stone, and R. P. Gaines.

Crockett Wall Paper Company, of Birmingham, with a capital stock of $5,000. The incorporators are J. R. Adams, Kate C. Adams and W. J. Crockett.

Great Mining Improvement.

Ensley, Ala.—The Tennessee company is doing a large amount of improvement and repairing at mine No. 5, near Wylam, of the Pratt division. New machinery is being installed, the tipples are being repaired and new tracks are being laid. The company is also building fifty new houses near the mines in which the miners and their families will live.

For the past several weeks a large force of workmen have been engaged in installing new machinery and making other improvements.

When the plans projected are carried out No. 5 will be one of the best equipped mines in the state. For the past two or three years it seems that the policy of the Tennessee company is to equip all of its mines with modern machinery. No. 3 has recently been made one of the best mines in the state, and now No. 5 will soon rank in the same class.

The company is also sinking another shaft on its properties near Booker City.

White Men Sentenced.

Montgomery, Ala.—J. H. Wise and Lawrence McDonald, white men, charged with grand larceny, entered pleas of guilty in the criminal division of the city court of Montgomery and were sentenced to two years each in the penitentiary by Judge William H. Thomas.

Wise was charged with stealing an overcoat from J. H. Dodd at the Hogan house, where both men were rooming, while McDonald took a similar article of apparel from the residence of Patrolman T. J. Swearingen. He was employed to paint the house occupied by Mr. Swearingen, and was subsequently discharged. He returned, however, and took the overcoat.

The men will be taken to the penitentiary in a few days.

Heavy Damages.

Gadsden, Ala.—A verdict for $11,500 damages was rendered against the Alabama Steel and Wire Company in the city court in the case of the administrator of a man named Cahill, who sued for $25,000 for the death of Cahill.

Cow Ordinance in Force.

Florence, Ala.—The beginning of a new era was marked in Florence Friday when the ordinance prohibiting the running at large of cows within old Florence went into effect.

It is expected that the city, which is already one of the most beautiful in the south, will be greatly improved by the planting of trees and the removal of fences. The Civic Improvement Association worked long and faithfully for the cow ordinance with the view of planting trees in the streets and encouraging the planting of flowers in the yards.

The ordinance as originally passed has been amended so as to change the boundary, including East Florence.

Iron Pipe Improvement.

Bessemer, Ala.—The United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry company is making preparations to shortly begin work on the proposed improvements on its plant, near this city. It is estimated that the company will expend about $250,000 on addition and improvements. When the present plans are completed the capacity of the plant will be doubled.

BRILLIANT PAGEANTRY

The Inauguration National in Its Aspects, and Devoid of Sectionalism.

TENSION OF INTEREST.

Chief Justice Fuller of Supreme Court

Administers Oath to Mr. Roosevelt.—Guns Salute.

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt took the oath of office before a vast gathering of the people he has been elected to serve. The attendant scenes were not unusual. Inaugurations from the time the east front of the capitol first became the setting for the ceremony have been much the same. Many of the central figures have officiated in like capacity on other occasions when presidents have acceded to the highest office in the gift of the American people. Chief Justice Fuller, in administering the oath, repeated a solemn function he has performed four times—today his last. Yet, with all this repetition, nothing was jaded and everything appeared new.

The great crowd assembled for the crowning event of a day full of features, cannot be estimated even by comparison. It extended far beyond the reach of the voice and was so densely packed as to carry the stage out of the sight of many. The capitol plaza, resplendent in accommodation, the thousands eager to view the ceremony was completely filled. People came by its numerous streets and avenues, which, like so many yawning, ravenous maws, greedily swallowed the throng until every coign of vantage was occupied. The trees, barren of foliage, carried their human burdens on limbs capable of bearing the weight of man or boy, and so far away as the terraces and marble steps of the library of congress thousands stood.

Spectators Sought Positions. Hours before the ceremony could be expected to take place the people sought the most advantageous positions.

The scene was one of remarkable animation. Those who sought places maintained a running fire of rally and pushed and jostled each other, the sound of their voices mingling with the shuffling of feet on the asphaltized plaza.

Although the ceremony differed little from those that have preceded it, in the great sea of spectators probably there was a larger number of representative Americans than any inauguration has brought to Washington. The Eastern states were rivalled in point of attendance by reason of President Roosevelt's great popularity in the middle and far West.

National Inauguration. It was the first national inauguration since the civil war.

The South sent up its warriors and its state officials. Men who fought each other for years under different flags; men who fought together in the war with Spain under one flag; executive officers of the state who upheld the stars and bars, and those who stood for the flag of the Union march together in review before their common president, a soldier of the republic.

With these to illustrate our new nationality, came marching representatives from the Philippines and Porto Rico, lands where the sunset fading from the flag in the far Pacific is the sunrise on its folds along the Atlantic horizon.

Tension of Interest. During the hours intervening between the gathering of the crowd and the cemetery there was no letting down of the tension of interest. The passing of a uniformed horseman was sufficient to call forth cheers, although in some sections the multitude showed signs of restlessness.

As rapidly as the troops arrived they took the position assigned to them. The military escort stretched far to the left and consisted of all branches of the service—horse, foot and artillery. To the right were grouped division after division of state troops and in different places of honor the other organizations took their stand to await the signal to move.

Inaugural Preparations. The movements of the gathering troops and organizations were not all the crowd had for its entertainment. Directly in its front preparations were in progress for the inauguration itself.

A monster stand in the form of an open amphitheater had been erected on a line with the rotunda of the capitol and there decorators were engaged in arranging for the ceremony and Huntsville, Ala.—John Morris, of Belford county, Tennessee, and Chas. Stevens, of Merrimack, Ala., were brought to this city Saturday by Sheriff Russell, of Sherman, Tex., who had arrested them on charges of sedition. The sheriff left for Texas with his prisoners.

A manuscript copy of Edgar Allan Poe's poem, "Ulalume," all in the poet's own handwriting, has been sold at auction for $10,000.

Boy Kills Negro. Memphis, Tenn.—As the result of a quarrel over a buggy whip J. O. Watson, a white boy, aged 18 years, an employee of a steam laundry here, shot Joe Turner, a negro coachman, in the abdomen. The negro died at the city hospital. Watson fled after the shooting, but later surrendered to the police.

ushers busied themselves learning the sections to be assigned to the various officials and distinguished guests.

The Official Party.

At about 1 o'clock the official party came through the main door. Cheers were sent up from the enthusiastic multitude, all eyes were directed that way and strained to get the first glimpse of the president.

The official entrance was dramatic. All except those who were participating in the ceremony were stated. When the justices of the supreme court, with the exception of Chief Justice Fuller, emerged from between the Corinthian pillars and marched down the sloping carpeted aisle to their station, they were greeted with applause. The justices wore their robes and skull-caps. Then came the members of the diplomatic corps in their gorgeous uniforms, and they evoked thunderous applause. Led by Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador and dean of the corps, and followed by the others in order of precedence, they took seats on the right of the stand. Strolling in after them came members of the cabinet, senators and representatives in congress.

Taking as a signal the arrival of Mrs. Roosevelt and a party of friends, and a moment later by Vice-President Fairbanks and his escort, the applause subsided to await the coming of the man of the hour.

President Roosevelt came forth from between the massive pillars quietly and composedly. He was escorted by Chief Justice Fuller. With measured tread in harmony with the dignified step of the chief justice, the president advanced in state down the long aisle of distinguished guests. By this time all were standing and nothing could be heard above the roar of thunderous welcome. Immediately following came, arm in arm, the members of the committee on arrangements. As the president passed down the aisle he bared his head and with characteristic sweep of his hat bowed in acknowledgement of the salutations from the stand and the ovation from the people.

Oath Administered.

At a sign from Chief Justice Fuller the clerk of the supreme court stepped forward holding a Bible. A hush fell over the crowd. The president raised his right hand and the oath to support the laws and constitution of the United States was reverently taken amid deep silence. When this had been concluded there was practically no demonstration and the president began his inaugural address. As soon as he finished speaking he re-entered the capitol and as he disappeared within the building a signal was flashed to the navy yard and the roar of twenty one guns was begun in official salute to the president.

Fireworks Display.

Washington, D. C.—A great mass of people filled the ellipse south of the white house, and viewed the display of fireworks, the concluding outdoor feature of the day's program. The pyrotechnic display was one of the most elaborate ever undertaken in Washington on any similar occasion. For more than an hour the air was filled with whirlwinds and streaks of fire, showers of vari-colored sparks and bursting bombs.

The Washington monument, rising in the background of the pictures painted in fire, was the object of powerful searchlights, adding materially to the ever-changing scene. The white house. Many of the features could be seen all over the city.

First of all was the president's salute. Twenty-one aerial meteors bursting with terrific report high in the air, constituted the salute. This was followed by a grand illumination of the white house lot, or ellipse, with powerful colored lights.

Another honor shown the newly installed president was the displaying of a colossal fire portrait of himself.

A novelty was produced by mammoth shell which, at a height of 100 feet released a large bomb with red, green, blue and white stars, followed by a gold shell representing Cuba, and silver shells for Porto Rico, finishing with a number of smaller shells for the Philippines.

A huge pyrotechnic American flag 300 feet long and 150 feet wide, was unfurled at a high altitude to which it was carried by balloons.

An immense bouquet of American Beauty roses burst forth as a set piece, changing into a portrait of Mrs. Roosevelt.

A mammoth fire wheel, making a revolving ring of fire nearly 100 feet in diameter, was another attractive feature.

There was an ascent of 100 large prismatic whirlwinds forming umbrellas of fire and the flight of twenty 50-inch bombs produced pleasing combinations in color effect.

The display concluded with the flight of 350 colored bombs. At times the bursting of the shells gave the idea of a sham battle. A clouded sky added to the success of the fireworks program.

Boy Kills Negro.

Memphis, Tenn.—As the result of a quarrel over a buggy whip J. O. Watson, a white boy, aged 18 years, an employee of a steam laundry here, shot Joe Turner, a negro coachman, in the abdomen. The negro died at the city hospital. Watson fled after the shooting, but later surrendered to the police.

FIGHTING HEAVILY.

And Bloody Losses Reported. In Five and Half Miles of Mukden.

RUSSIANS ARE FIGHTING STILL.

Japs Making Heavy Gains—Have Captured Quantities of Spoils—Great Battle is Imminent.

Tokio—Field Marshal Oyama is continuing his great drives around both flanks of the Russian army. His front is now a huge bow, the base on the Shakhe river, the right arm reaching a point east of Fushun, and the left extending to a point west of Mukden. He is steadily tightening the great cord of men and steel. General Kuropatkin is striving desperately to check the Japanese advances, contesting the flank encroachments and hampering the Japanese center. The Japanese are making heavy gains of ground west of the railway, and have captured great quantities of stores and other spoils. There already has been bloody fighting and heavy losses, and this will be vastly increased when the masses of infantry meet. Field Marshal Oyama, reporting on March 4th, says:

"A few days ago our force in the Hsienchung direction pressed the enemy into his position at Tita, which is fifteen miles southeast of Fushun and Manchuntan, fifteen miles south of Fushun. The engagement continues in the Shakhe direction.

Four Attacks Repulsed.

"The night of March 3 the enemy made four determined attacks against our positions at Housuntupolzu and Tangshiatun. All were entirely repulsed.

"In the district east of the railway the enemy's frequent small attacks were repulsed.

"In the district east of the railway our force is continuing fierce attacks and has occupied the districts of Wuchenyeng, five miles west of Shakhe village, and Taishonpao, three miles northwest of Wuchenyeng and Shunopao.

"The force on the right of the Hun river is dislodging the enemy northeast of Siapochol, which is between the Hun and Liao rivers, and has advanced north. This force carried the enemy's defense line between Chun-tan and Shufangtai and pursued the enemy fiercely. The fighting zone now lies between Wochiao, fifteen miles southwest of Mukden. Taitse, thirteen miles west of Mukden, and Lamuh, four miles north of Taitse.

Casualties Heavy.

"During a previous engagement the enemy's casualties were heavy. The spoils captured were great. No time to investigate. We captured large quantities of provisions at Wanchanjao and captured a clothing depot at Tahantai."

Estimates of General Kuropatkin's forces between Shakhe and Tie Pass prepared here give a total of slightly more than 400,000, composed of 335,000 infantry, 33,000 cavalry and 35,000 artillery with 1,504 guns. This estimate does not include troops at Vladivostok and other garrisons, railway guards and other employees. The grand total east of Lake Baikal is estimated at 700,000 men.

Twenty-five Years for a Dime.

Huntsville, Ala.—John Horton has been sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary for killing Albert Hereford in a crap game after disputing over a shot that involved a dime.

Two Accidents From Fire.

Gadsden, Ala.—There has been an epidemic of accidents and deaths the past two months in this section from fire. The news reached Gadsden late Friday evening of two more accidents. Out in his field near Keener, Etowah county, Mark Sheffield and his little daughter were burning grass when the clothing of the little girl caught from the burning grass and was burning rapidly when her screams attracted the attention of her father, who ran to her rescue and succeeded in putting out the flames, but was badly burned on his hands in the effort, but fortunately his little daughter was not badly hurt and will soon be out again.

Near Whitton, DeKalb county, a little daughter of James Tipton was burned to death. She was standing in front of the fireplace and with a stick was trying to knock soot from the back of the chimney when her dress became ignited and she was horribly burned before aid reached her, dying in great agony in a few hours.

Cotton Movement Lively.

Florence, Ala.—The movement of cotton was very heavy in Lauderdale county last week, despite the fact that 7 1-2 cents is the highest price paid in the local markets. Over 500 bales were sold in one day at Center Star, representing a value of $20,000.

Atlanta, Ga.—Two robbers blew the safe of the East Point postoffice and got away with $1,500 worth of stamps and $20 in money.

Jap Prisoners Exhausted.

Mukden—Refugees are arriving here from Simintin, north of the Hun river. At the close of Friday's battle the Japanese, who were taken prisoners, were unable to talk or remain awake from exhaustion. It is reported that the Japanese have fallen back from the position they held on March 3d.

The Japanese continue their demonstration along the front.

Assaults Repulsed.

St. Petersburg—The advance guard of the Japanese left army was within five and a half miles of Mukden station Saturday, according to a telegram from General Kuropatkin. Other Japanese had captured Suchudsia and Lanchanapa the same day, while their attacks on Putloff Hill and thirteen fierce assaults on Kandolecan were repulsed.

Artillery Duel Raging.

Mukden—An artillery duel has been raging since morning to the westward of Mukden and the Japanese shells are exploding within three miles of the imperial tombs.

The line of the Japanese advance guards extends about seven miles parallel with the railway.

Scattered Chinese villages, which are practically the only shelters in this open plain, are receiving particular attention from the gunners.

Throughout the day the Russian batteries replied vigorously to the Japanese fire and the exchange of shrapnel has been terrific. The whole of the fire zone is occasionally obscured by dense white smoke from exploding missiles.

Carnage Great.

Mukden—The carnage at the center and both flanks has been enormous. The Japanese at many places simply threw away their lives, beating against the Russian powerful fortifications in attacks which, in the center apparently, were intended chiefly as a demonstration to cover the driving home of General Nogai's blow. It is believed now that the operation to the eastward was in part the nature of a feint, with the design to draw reinforcements thither. If this was the design, it was successful, General Kuropatkin having sent the first corps to the assistance of General Linovitch.

According to prisoners the Japanese force on the Liao river includes the First, Seventh and Ninth divisions from Port Arthur. Part of the turning force is probably made up of reserves which came from Yinkow by rail on seven trains. The Port Arthur veterans advanced to the attack shouting in Russian: "Out of the way for us; we came from Port Arthur." They offered their lives with the same fanatical bravery and were as unshaken by heavy losses as at the siege of Port Arthur.

Engine Jumps the Track.

Aniston, Ala.—The Seaboard Air Line engine No. 251 jumped the track at Jacksonville Sunday and was delayed one hour and 50 minutes while waiting for the relief engine, which was sent in from the main line at Tredegar. It seems that the cause of the derailment was a loose wheel on one of the axles under the tender.

As the train was running slowly at the time of the derailment no one was hurt and the damage done to the engine was inconsiderable.

Pratt City, Ala.—Lawson Simes, Victor Griggs and Cleveland Griggs, three white youths, who were arrested Sunday afternoon near North Birmingham by Birmingham detectives, were brought to this city on the charge of having held up three men in this city and three in Thomas Saturday night between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock. Tonight M. H. Harper and Squire Harris, a negro, who were held up, went to the city jail to see the young men, but they were unable to positively identify them. The prisoners stoutly denied that they committed the robberies. Several witnesses, however, asserted that they saw the two Griggs boys and Simes in Pratt City last night. According to the policemen the youths admitted that they were in Pratt City Saturday evening.

The young men will be held until Arthur Davenport, who was robbed near Thomas Saturday night, has an opportunity to identify them. Both Mr. Harper and Harris talked to the young men and while they thought they were near the size of the highwaymen, they would not state positively that the young men under arrest were the guilty persons.

King Edward to President Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C.—A sealed personal letter of congratulations from King Edward VII was delivered to President Roosevelt by Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador. Its contents are not made public.

A number have complimented us on the excellence of the last issue of The Sentinel. Kind words spur one to even greater effort.

The Senate has acquitted Judge Swayne, by a strictly party vote, on all the articles of impeachment brought by the house of representatives.

Four members of the California State Senate have been expelled from that body by a unanimous vote of its members. It was proven they had accepted bribes.

Insurance rates are high up in the air. Fire protection in the shape of water works would reduce the insurance rate at least one-half. Let's make the effort.

The Senate has called a halt on some of the erratic actions of the President. That body gives the Big Stick man to understand he is not altogether the whole thing.

Along with other things, Columbiana should have an electric light and water works system. If we can't have an entirely new suit of clothes, let's get a piece at a time.

The Standard Oil Company is now trying to get control of all the great trunk lines in this country. That octopus would soon have a corner on the moon if there was any way of reaching it.

Editor M. W. Camper, of the Florence Times has been appointed a member of the board convict inspectors by the Governor, to succeed Thomas Bradford. The appointment is a fitting one, and The Sentinel congratulates friend Camper.

The Sentinel is informed by members of the council that Columbiana will give $10,000 toward securing the Columbus, Birmingham and St. Andrews Railroad. If we get that road it will be worth to our town ten times that amount.

The Standard Oil Company will have to knuckle to the Sunflower State or stop doing business in Kansas. The legislature of that State apparently means business. The people out there are tired of Robafeller's methods, and are showing a determined hand.

The muddle in Colorado over the election of Governor is becoming more mixed than ever. Adams, Democrat, was elected and has been inducted into office, but it seems that the Republicans are using every means, fair or foul, to have him ousted, claiming his election to be fraudulent.

Judge Osceola Kyle has resigned his position as United States Judge in the Panama canal zone, and will be succeeded by Ezekiah Gudgeon of North Carolina. Judge Kyle resigned because he did not like the country. It is said, however, that he is to be given a still better appointment by the President.

Senator Kearns, of Utah, before retiring from the Senate last week, scored Mormonism from a izzard, skinned the apostles and elders and poured salt brine on the sore places. He said "Mormonism is a blight upon the American people, and that its insidious creed is being spread everywhere; that polygamy is practiced as much as it ever was."

Secretary Pepperman of the Alabama Press Association has an interesting article in the last issue of his Southern Odd Fellow about the meeting of the executive committee of the national association in Indianapolis two weeks ago. It is very evident that friend Pepperman will not again visit a northern state when the ground is covered with sleet and snow. He must have forgotten his feet warmers.

The Huntsville land office was closed last week and the records of the office were shipped to Montgomery to become a part of the land office in that city. It was the oldest land office in the country, having been established in 1810, antedating the admission of Alabama as a State. In the ninety-five years of the office there has been 28,000 entries and 14,112 final proofs made.

More About Local Taxation.

Editor Sentinel, Columbiana.

I am glad to know that some of our citizens are taking so much interest in the cause of education. It is high time that we, as citizens of Alabama, with so much illiteracy, should devise some plan to educate and refine the rising generation in the rural districts. The schools in the villages and towns are far more able to take care of themselves than the rural schools are. To remove the illiteracy some measure must be adopted whereby the length of the term can be made of longer duration, and at the same time revive the interest of those parents and guardians who have children to educate. I do not know of a better plan than that of local taxation. Neither can I understand why any man of limited means can be opposed to it, because his taxable values are not very great. It will afford better opportunities for his descendants to obtain a common education, so that they may be placed upon a level with the city boy and girl. It will decrease if not abolish the necessity of the supplement fund, so much dreaded by some, which is an absolute necessity to keep the public schools open for five months in the year under the present system, in almost every district. A local tax for school funds is necessary because it is such a difficult task to raise a supplement fund sufficient to keep the schools open the required length of time.

Some few patrons usually have to pay the supplement, and I find that these men are generally satisfied patrons, while others will throw their money away, so to speak, for alcoholic liquors, and other unnecessary articles which are soon gone forever, rather than pay a few dollars to the support of a school for the sole purpose of educating, and refining the morals of the children of their own flesh and blood. And at the same time, some of the latter class are almost continually grumbling and growling about something, or meddling with the affairs of the school in some way unbecoming to those whose children, if sent to school at all, are obtaining what education they get at the expense of the other fellow.

I know men who never pay a dollar, nor even a dime, nor contribute in any way whatever for tuition, fuel, or any incidental fees, expecting, seemingly, the other fellows to do it. It's an unfair deal, and that is why I am in favor of a local tax.

In local taxation every man would pay an even share according to the amount of taxable property he owns, thereby lengthening the terms of the rural schools without the supplement fund, and as a result, the minds of the coming man and woman would be elevated to a higher plane of civilization.

Probably some will say that this and other letters written by teachers in the interest of local taxation are for the benefit of the teachers alone, but not so. The teachers in the rural schools can see more readily than anyone else the necessity of longer terms of schools, and a heartier co-operation of the patron with the teacher. The writer has children to educate, and is therefore in favor of maintaining better schools.

The future development of our country depends principally upon our farmer boys and girls in the rural districts. Then let us be "up and doing"—working, ever working for the betterment of the cause of education, and the up-building of the rural parts of our country and State. Let us hear more from those who are interested in local taxation.

I agree with R. B. Posey, our clever Commissioner, that "our taxes are high, but not much of the high taxes are taken up by our rural schools, and if the rural, or the Normal and State institutions shall do without these funds pray let it be the latter. But if we can't get the money otherwise, let us have local taxation.

Respectfully submitted,

G. D. BALDWIN,
Farmer, Ala.

There used to be a time when the inaugural ball was purely a social affair and the lines drawn as tight as a catgut on a fiddle. But now it is "come all ye who have the price," and a good many ginger cakes coughed up the price at the recent inaugural ball. The assemblage was like a blackberry pie—a streak of black between two streaks of white.

According to Mr. Kearns Mormonism and Utah are about as rotten as you'll find them anywhere.

We Are With You.

Mr. Pepperman, secretary of the Alabama Press Association, is asking suggestions of members as to the next trip of the Association. Suppose we all spend a week at business, and getting acquainted with each other, in some quiet Alabama spot for a change.—Talladega Reporter.

The Sentinel agrees with The Reporter's suggestion in the main. We suggest that a week be spent at the Camp Grounds near Biloxi, Miss. It is a delightful place, located on the Gulf coast. If desirable a business session could be held each morning, while the afternoon and evening could be given over to boating, bathing and fishing. The Camp Grounds are but a little way from Beauvoir, the old home of Jefferson Davis—converted recently into the Mississippi Soldiers' Home—one of the most beautiful places in all the South. We believe that arrangements can be made with those in charge of the Camp Grounds to care for the party. One day could be spent at Ship Island, about a dozen miles out in the Gulf, and which is reached by steamer at a cost of a few cents. We'll pit such a week of pleasure, enjoyment and rest against any other made up of long, dusty, hot railroad rides.

If you favor such a trip, write Secretary Pepperman and push it along the line.

Judge Swayne was as guilty as those men who were convicted of grafting in the postal department and are now doing time in the West Virginia penitentiary, yet the United States Senate endorsed Swayne's acts by acquitting him of graft which had been proven. In this action the Senate tells the world that honesty and justice have no show with partisan spirit.

Montevallo.

Dr. C. T. Acker, of Columbiana, is here for a few days, recuperating.

A Dr. Naff, of Birmingham, contemplates locating in Ebenezer community.

Mrs. H. E. Whitaker, of Columbiana, was a visitor in Montevallo last Saturday.

W. F. Thetford, of Montgomery, has been in Montevallo several days on legal business.

The friends of H. D. Lyman note with great pleasure his promotion to the position of cashier of the Peoples Saving Bank & Trust Co. of Birmingham.

Presiding Elder Hawkins occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday. His services are always enjoyed. The pastor, Rev. H. E. Wheeler, is still confined to his home with rheumatism, much to the regret of his numerous friends.

Frank, son of J. N. Wyatt, died at his father's new home near Ebenezer, Monday morning, after an illness of about forty days, during which he battled bravely against a complication of diseases, resulting from an attack of grip. He was just entering into manhood and his future seemed full of promise. His stricken parents and their family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community.

Ed. Denson, a son of Marens A. Denson, died at his father's home Monday afternoon of last week. He had a severe attack of pneumonia in both lungs and it was realized from the first that the chances were against his recovery. He was in the prime of manhood, and a good citizen. Two of his brothers, W. B. and W. E. Denson, are in business in Montevallo. The family have the sincere sympathy of the community.

Last Saturday night, two negro servants at the dormitory got into a difficulty, and after leaving the building one of them proceeded to operate on the other with a knife, and a good deal of blood flowed, though no serious injury was inflicted. Marshal Eddings was put on the trail of the carver and soon had him in the calaboose. Justice Harris heard the facts next morning, and committed the defendant John Check, in default of $500.00 bail, on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

John Cunningham, aged about 67 years died Tuesday morning of last week, at the residence of his son-in-law, R. T. Newton. Mr. Cunningham was a son of the late Joseph H. Cunningham, one of the pioneers of Shelby county. His surviving brothers are Benj. F. Cunningham, who lives on a part of the old homestead, and J. H. Cunningham, of Riverside. He also leaves two grown sons, J. F. and Walter, and a daughter, Mrs. R. T. Newton. His wife died several years ago. He was one of Col. Jno. P. West's Company, of which he was 2nd Sergeant, 2nd Alabama Cavalry, in the civil war and made a valiant soldier. Since the war he has resided at Dogwood on his farm. He was an honest, upright citizen, and will be sincerely mourned. His last illness was long and distressing, but he bore it with fortitude becoming a brave, christian man. He was buried at Harle's graveyard. The funeral services, in which many of his old friends took part, was conducted by Rev. J. T. May, at Ebenezer.

The patrons and friends of the Montevallo Public School, in response to invitation of the Franco-na Club, filled all the spare room in the school building last Tuesday morning to witness the celebration of the Great People of February. The exercises were under direction of Miss Pettus, one of the teachers, and was well rendered. The program was long, but full of interest throughout, and the manner in which it was carried out attested the careful training by the teachers. Among the great ones treated of were Longfellow, Lincoln, Lanier, Lowell, Edgison, "St. Valentine" and, greatest of all, Washington. Among the most interesting features were quotations by the classes from the authors mentioned. Every one present will hereafter remember the pre-eminence of the "baby month" in the production of great men. Misses Allen and Pettus, as well as their pupils, fully merited the shower of congratulations they received.

For Sale.

The Columbiana Land Co. has the following property for sale, but the prices quoted will only hold good for only a short time:

Good six-room house and one acre of ground in Montevallo; good location, convenient to the Girl's Industrial School, price $750.

Sixty acres (30 acres cleared) one mile north of Columbiana. Part of east half of southwest quarter, and part of west half of southwest quarter, section 14, township 21, range 1 west. Valued at $10.00 per acre; one-third cash, balance on time.

Weldon.

Miss May Baldwin spent Saturday night with Miss Mattie Hester.

L. R. Sewell, of Birmingham, visited his parents for a few days last week.

R. B. Posey, of Harpersville, was in our community last Saturday on business.

W. J. Sewell and Austin Thrasher spent Friday and Saturday in Columbiana on business.

Misses Belle and Mattie Messer, two lovely young ladies, spent Sunday with Miss Clara Shaw.

Rev. A. C. Messer preached a very interesting sermon to a large congregation at Union last Sunday.

The singing at the residence of John W. Shaw, Friday night, was a grand success, and enjoyed by all present.

Andrew Adams left Monday for Birmingham where he goes to apply for a position as motorman on the electric cars.

A. F. Blackerby, of sunny Florida, is visiting relatives in our community to the delight of some of our young people.

A. B. Holcombe and family will move to Pelham, their future home. While we regret to lose them, we wish for them much success in their new home.

There is some talk of Weldon having an R. F. D. Route soon. If this be true it will be a great advantage to our people who live so far from the postoffice.

Well, as this is the first attempt to write any for this paper since it has gone under the management of present editor, I will close for this time.

Has one great hobby, and that is SHOES.

A good shoe is desired by everyone, and to get the very best has been Mr. Johnston's aim. The best is the cheapest in the end, and when you come to think of it, they cost but little more, if any, than a poor shoe. Money is none to plentiful and you want all you can get for your dollars.

Johnston Sells Groceries, too.

"Opportunity knocks at your door but once in a lifetime."

New Matting.

We have just received a new line of matting—some of the prettiest figures and designs we have seen. Come in and see it and you will throw away that worn and faded piece at home and buy new.

Are You Gardening?

If so, you want the best seed you can buy. We have a varied supply and it is warranted to grow. We keep seed for anything that grows in garden or field—and the best.

High Grade Fertilizers.

Farmers, do not throw away your money in buying a poor grade fertilizer. You expect results from its use or you would not buy. We keep only the best grades—warranted to bring results—what you want.

Spring Dry Goods.

Our new stock of Spring Dry Goods is coming in now, and we cordially invite the ladies to call and examine it. New shades, new patterns and new designs are all shown in the Spring styles—all are beautiful.

Spring Clothing.

We are showing a pretty line of new Spring Clothing, and we invite the young men, the middle-aged men and the elderly men to inspect it. Bring in the young boys, too; we can fit them out nicely.

Fine Shoe Line.

Moderate price, durability and neat appearance is what one looks for when buying a shoe. We can satisfy your taste and within the capability of your purse. Try us.

Hardware, Groceries.

Of course, you are aware of the fact that we have the largest stock of hardware in the county, and a well selected stock of groceries and flour. We will be glad to see you.

A duet render at the Presbyterian church last Sunday night by Miss Edna Nelson and W. B. Browne, is among the prettiest songs we have heard in a long time. Miss Esther Mason presided at the instrument.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of the Columbiana Mercantile Co. in this issue. They have extended the time of their "Rummage Sale" two weeks longer. It's a bargain sale all the way through.

Owing to illness of Miss Mattie Fallaw, who was to have been milliner and trimmer for T. J. Weaver & Co., was unable to fill her engagement, and Miss Clara Watkins an experience milliner, has been engaged. Miss Watkins arrived in the city Monday.

YOUNG ORATORS

IN PUBLIC DEBATE

Before a Large, Enthusiastic Audience of Friends.

SCHOOL DEBATING CLUB

Give an Instructive and Very Pleasant Entertainment.

A large audience gathered at the Academy last Friday night to hear members of the debating club of the Graded Schools in their first public appearance. The subject of discussion was:

"Resolved, That the signs of the times indicate a subversion of our Government."

The meeting was called to order by Mr. John Broadhead, president of the club, and the secretary, Mr. Roy Lester read the order of the program and announced the speakers. The judges chosen to pass upon the arguments which would be presented were Rev. G. T. Harris, Rev. Joseph Duglison and Mr. John A. Carter, a traveling salesman of Talladega.

The first speaker was Mr. John Strickland on the affirmative, and his argument was clear and convincing, and was backed up by statistics that the negative failed to controvert. The subject of intemperance, Mormonism and strikes, and their attendant evils were handled in a manner surprising in a boy of his years, and while he was somewhat faulty in his memory toward the latter part of his argument, yet that did not deteriorate from its effects.

The next speaker was Mr. Walter Lucas for the negative. His argument was based almost wholly upon the advance of the Protestant religion and a peroration upon the patriotism of the American people. They had arisen as one man to meet problems which had come up and had solved them, and would do so again and again if it were necessary to preserve our government. Mr. Lucas was almost perfect in memorizing which added much to the interest of his speech.

Following Walter Lucas came Mr. Melville Wilson for the affirmative. He admitted the truthfulness of the statement made by his opponents as to the advance of the christian religion, but hand in hand with this advancement traveled the insidious vices of crime and immorality. He took up and analyzed the extravagance of the law-makers of the land, the corruption to be found in those bodies and cited as illustrations of his position the scandals of the Missouri legislature, the Massachusetts legislature and the almost universal prevalence of hooding by such men whose lives should be pure and free from such demoralizing influences. His argument was wholly along these lines, and he had it well in hand.

The last speaker was Mr. Joseph Sessions, for the negative. His speech was a beautiful picture of word building, and would have reflected credit upon one far more advanced in years than this young man. His tribute to the American home and its influence for the betterment of the condition of not only our country, but for all mankind was indeed beautiful. He had his speech perfectly memorized, and delivered it in an easy, self-possessed manner that won the admiration of the large audience. He was hampered somewhat in his delivery by a cold, yet the beautiful phraseology of his argument made the listeners forget the disadvantage he labored under because of his throat. Mr. Sessions may well be proud of his effort.

The judges then retired to make up their decision, and after a short deliberation the victory was decided in favor of the affirmative. Rev. Mr. Harris, who spoke for the judges, paid a tribute to the young men—all of them, for the line of thought expressed by each and for the facts and figures produced through which to sustain their respective positions, and the judges had decided that the burden of proof had been furnished by the affirmative.

The frequent applause accorded the young men by the audience was deserved in every instance, and each was congratulated by many upon their effort at the close of the exercises. The evening was one of real pleasure, and The Sentinel but voices the sentiment of those present—that the debating club give us another public meeting. Not only are the young men to be congratulated, but great credit is due Prof. Dowell who had taken such great personal interest in their efforts for the occasion—application and persistence being two principles which Prof. Dowell insists upon in all studies or matters pertaining to the successful conduct of school.

Mrs. Beulah Horton, wife of Marsden Horton, who lives six miles east of Columbiana, died on Tuesday of last week, and was buried at the Williams cemetery on Wednesday, Rev. G. T. Harris officiating. The deceased was about twenty-nine years old, and leaves a husband, with other relatives, to mourn her death. She was a good christian woman, and a consistent member of the Methodist church. To the bereaved is extended the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

A new Knights of Pythias lodge is to be instituted at Guirnee this week. That means an all night job for those who will demonstrate the work and a fine supper when all is over. The Pythian order is growing rapidly all over Alabama.

GOOD MORNING

MERRY SPRING TIME.

Presto! Weather has changed; rain has disappeared and Spring has arrived. So have my Spring samples for Spring Suits. I invite the public cordially to come and inspect my samples. Now is the most opportune time for you to select your Spring wear as we do not sell but ONE SUIT OF A KIND. As soon as suit is sold; sample is destroyed unless otherwise requested. As all suits are made by myself on premises, I will thank you for giving me your order now, so that I may have ample time to make it. Cleaning, repairing and pressing satisfactorily done. Thanking you for past and future patronage I remain, yours truly,

ALABAMA NEWS.

Current Events Gathered as They Happen.

Catastrophes on Southern.

Selma, Ala.—News has reached Selma from Wagner in Washington county, of a collision with a hand car by a Southern railway train near that town and the death of one person whose name is not given, and the injury of several workmen.

The hand car, according to the report, was crossing Bisset creek, only a short distance from Wagner, when the train struck it. The car was knocked off the trestle and the workmen, numbering six or more, fell into the creek. One, a negro, was so badly injured that he couldn't swim to the banks and was drowned.

Several others, it is understood, are seriously hurt, but it is not believed that more deaths will result.

New Ore Mines Are Very Valuable.

Gadsden, Ala.—The Alabama Steel and Wire Company is rapidly developing one of the finest iron ore mines in the state near Porterville, in DeKalb county. The ore is the same vein as that at Crutup, in this county, but is larger. The vein is not only larger, but the ore is superior, being 4 per cent. lower in solubles and 2 per cent. lower in phosphorus. This makes it particularly well suited for steel making.

These mines near Porterville are now producing most of the ores used at the local steel mill.

New Incorporations.

Montgomery, Ala.—The following new corporations have informed the secretary of state of their incorporation: Robinson Lumber Company, of Mobile; capital stock, $10,000; incorporators, E. S. Robinson, W. A. Robinson and J. B. White. Domestic Laundry Company, Birmingham; capital stock, $10,000; incorporators, Joseph and Perry W. Brewer and Isaac Price. Standard Cattle Guard Company, of Birmingham; capital stock, $50,000; incorporators, Smith Abernathy, G. W. Morgan and W. T. Coggin.

Held Up By Three Negroes.

Birmingham, Ala.—George W. Hewitt, a young white man, was found in a semi-conscious condition on Avenue B and Eighteenth street Thursday night about 8 o'clock, and, according to his story, he was held up and robbed by three negroes, who hit him over the head with brass knucks.

After being picked up he said: "I had just been paid off and was going home. I was walking up Eighteenth street and saw the negroes standing on the corner of Avenue B. I never suspected anything until I was right at them, when one of them struck me with something. I had my money, which was in bills, clutched in my hand, and I held it when I fell. In this way the robbers did not succeed in getting it."

When picked up and placed in the ambulance Hewitt still had the money, about $30, clasped in his hand. He had a number of bruises about the face and head, beside the blows which bruised his eyes. Dr. Whelan thinks that the young man is telling a straight tale, and the condition in which he was found bears out his statement.

Killed by Switch Engine.

Birmingham, Ala.—Thomas Dunn, an aged white man, who has been in the service of the Alabama Great Southern railroad for about twenty-five years, was Friday morning run over and killed by a switch engine in the Eighteenth street yards of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. He lived a few moments after he was hurt.

To Resume Soon at Coosa Furnace.

Gadsden, Ala.—The old Coosa furnace, the charcoal stack that ceased operations when its owner, the Southern Car and Foundry Company, went to the wall, is now being overhauled preparatory to going into commission as soon as possible. The main stack is being cleaned out, and extensive repairs are to be made on the entire shell. Workmen are also going over the machinery, and the entire plant will be placed in first-class condition. The plant should have a daily capacity of from fifty to sixty-five tons of very fine iron.

Coleman Reappointed.

Aniston, Ala.—Hon. Thomas W. Coleman has received notice of his reappointment as judge of the city court of Aniston for a term of four years. The appointment was made by Acting Governor Russell M. Cunningham. Judge Coleman's present term expires on Monday, March 13, having served on this bench several years.

Killed in Collision.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—There was a head-on collision in the Mobile and Ohio railroad yards and as a result John Cunningham, the negro fireman on the switch engine, lost his life. It seems that the northbound local freight coming in from Montgomery, met the switch engine, which was without a headlight, and before the engineer could stop his train the two engines had collided.

Railroad Commission Differs.

Montgomery, Ala.—There was the first difference of the new organization in the meeting of the state railroad commission Friday when President B. B. Comer refused to vote, or rather did not vote, with Associates Tunstall and Sanders in matters that came up for adjusting fertilizer rates in the state, but the others voting to take the question up at the next regular meeting, the first Monday in April. This day was set. Mr. Comer wanted the next regular meeting to take up the question of rates on farming implements, including wagons and vehicles and also the rate on live stock, but his motion was lost for want of a second, Mr. Sanders explaining that there was already more set for the April meeting than could be attended to.

The business of the commission was to hear the complaint of J. W. Huger, president of the American Fertilizer company, against the Seaboard Air Line Railway, with regard to fertilizer rates in Alabama, a specific case being cited on the difference of the rate between Columbus, Ga., and Hurtsboro, Ala., and Montgomery and the same point. This case went over from the regular session last Monday.

Mr. Comer presented a table of rates showing that the state had not the same advantages as others on fertilizer freight and thought something should be done as the season would soon be over. He was opposed to postponing the hearing until the next regular meeting on the score that the attorneys for the railroads could not get here. The others outvoted him, however, and the hearing was carried over.

President Comer then moved that at the time of the regular monthly meeting on April 3, 1905, that this commission take up at the same time the question of the rate on farm implements, including wagons and vehicles, and also the rate on live stock, for the purpose of adjusting the same. The motion had no second. Commissioner Sanders stating that the commission had before it to be heard at that meeting as much as it could well attend to.

Two Negroes Hanged.

Birmingham, Ala.—Alec Robertson and Jud Braham, negroes, were hanged in the county jail yard Friday morning an hour apart for the murder of women.

One of the men, Robertson, was a rough laborer, and was said to be a mean man. He was without education and in life lived with a bad lot.

Braham was an educated negro, polite and affable, and respected by both white and colored. Previous to the crime for which he paid the death penalty Friday morning he never knew what trouble meant. A great deal of sympathy was manifested for Braham and a strong communication was sent to the governor asking that the death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. The efforts to save the negro's neck were without result.

Again Examines Miller's Books.

Jasper, Ala.—State Examiner Wilkinson, of Montgomery, is in Jasper and is making a thorough examination of the books of ex-Treasurer Miller. Mr. Wilkinson is sent here at the request of the commissioners' court, and the shortage in the account of the ex-treasurer was the cause of the action of the court in making a request for a special examiner. Mr. Miller has paid into the county treasury the sum of $11,034.70, the amount of his shortage as shown by the examination made by Mr. J. L. Morris. A receipt was given for this amount, but not in full settlement of any further shortage that may develop. It is not known just how long a time will be required to make a thorough examination of the books.

Young Man Is Held Up.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Finch Robertson, who is employed by the S. F. Alston Company, was held up Thursday night about 9 o'clock, while crossing the county bridge, by two men, one slipped up behind him catching his right hand while the other pointed a revolver in his face. Mr. Robertson with his left hand, with as much grace as a fellow could command before the point of a gun, delivered up $27 into the hands of the unknown men, when they fled with the money. It was too dark to distinguish features, but Mr. Robertson thinks that one was a white man and the other a negro.

Patents Issued to Alabamians.

Washington, D. C.—The following patents have been issued residents of Alabama: John W. Belyu, Alexander City, automatic leveling instrument; Jeff Chambliss, Jackson Gap, bicycle brake; Robt. M. Jenkins, Carney, railway gauge; William M. Thomas, Greensboro, vehicle seat.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Birmingham Water Works Company has advised Mayor Drennen that it will furnish the water supply for the Rescue Home of the Salvation Army free of charge. An effort will be made to have the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power Company supply the home with electricity, for illumination free of charge inasmuch as the institution has not yet gotten itself on a strong financial basis.

JAPS HAVE MUKDEN

Marched Into the City at 10 O'Clock Friday Morning—Russians Retreating.

DRIVEN FROM BOTH CITIES.

Kuropatkin's Awful Defeat Sheds Gloom Over Russia—Rival Commanders Break the News.

St. Petersburg.—Saturday the following telegram was received: "Last night all our armies commenced to retreat."

The greatest defeat in the history of the far eastern war was made known in St. Petersburg Friday night, but only in the foregoing eight words from General Kuropatkin to Emperor Nicholas. This brief message was flung about the streets in newspaper extras, and it was passed from mouth to mouth. Two thoughts formed instantly in the minds of every one, and two words were on every lip: "Surrender!" "Peace!" The former dreaded, the latter hoped for.

General Kuropatkin is no maker of phrases, his words never are quoted like the famous "all is lost save honor," but his laconic message hides more than probably any two other sentences in the literature of war. St. Petersburg knows nothing of the extent of the disaster, not even the lines of Kuropatkin's retreat—whether the route to Tie Pass is still open, whether he is endeavoring to cut his way through to safety, or whether, as many pessimists believe, he has taken to the mountains. If he has fled into the mountains he will inevitably be hemmed in and starved into surrender.

The dispatch from Kuropatkin has been studied, and from the words "all our armies" optimists draw the conclusion that the bulk of the Russian force got away clear, the commander-in-chief sacrificing, however, the devoted rear guard, which flung itself as prey to the Japanese, who were closing in on their trail, and sacrificing on either hand the greater part of his heavy artillery, especially the siege guns and enormous quantities of supplies.

Details Are Unknown. St. Petersburg.—Of the present situation of the army of the proportion of Russians left on Japanese hands, or of the prospect of the escape of the remainder, St. Petersburg at this moment knows less than the smallest hamlet in America. Since the Associated Press' Mukden dispatch was filed at 5 o'clock Friday morning, no dispatch save the brief announcement of the retreat of the Russian army has been received, General Kuropatkin's preceding dispatch giving the last details to the position of the army having been written at 9 o'clock Thursday evening. The members of the general staff when asked for information, said:

"We know nothing. We hope he will bring the army off safely, but we don't know how he will do it. We only know he has commenced the retreat. That is all."

Every one now is discussing peace, which many of the staunchest advocates of war, bureaucracy and officers now declare to be inevitable. It is openly bruited that Rojstvensky's fleet has been recalled and is now on the way homeward.

Fushun Has Fallen.

Washington.—Fushun has been captured by the Japanese forces, according to the following cablegram received by the Japanese legation from Tokio under today's date. "Our detachments occupied Fushun on the night of March 9th and now are attacking the enemy, who is posted at the angle of the heights north of Fushun."

Opinion of the Defeat.

St. Petersburg.—The dispatches from Tokio and Yinkow announcing that Mukden had fallen and that the Japanese captured thousands of prisoners and enormous quantities of stores and guns only confirm the worst fears entertained here, the dispatches of the Associated Press received here last night having shown that the trap was sprung.

Another officer who was asked his opinion of the report that the major portions of the armies of General Bellinger and Kaulbars was cut off, said he thought that considering the situation anything was possible. It was his idea that Kuropatkin may have deliberately sacrificed 100,000 men by hurling two or three corps at the Japanese in order to bring off the bulk of his shattered army.

The official reports which have arrived are being held at Tsarsko-Selo, where a council of war is in progress. They will be given out later. It is very questionable if a large portion of the Russian army has been made prisoners, and also whether Kuropatkin will attempt to make a stand at Tie Pass, although the place offers natural advantages for defense and besides has been fortified.

The Generals Break the News.

Bulletin, St. Petersburg.—General Kuropatkin has sent the following dispatch to Emperor Nicholas under today's date:

"Last night began the retreat of all our armies. During the night there was no fighting, but a heavy cannonade continued."

Bulletin, Tokio, 8 p. m.—Field Marshal Oyama telegraphs as follows under today's date:

"We occupied Mukden at 10 o'clock this morning."

"Our surrounding movement in which we have been engaged for some days past, has now completely succeeded."

"The fiercest fighting continues at several places in the vicinity of Mukden."

"We captured a great number of prisoners, enormous quantities of arms, ammunition, provisions and war supplies. There is at present no time to investigate the number of these."

Driven from Both Cities.

New Chwang.—According to reliable information received here the Russians have been driven out of Mukden and Fushun and, with the railroad cut, are retreating in a demoralized condition to the hill country toward the north-east.

Detached bodies of Russians are roughly trenching with a view to checking the pursuit, but no great rear guard action is being fought.

It will be impossible for the Russians to keep up any sort of resistance for many days, as there are no means of provisioning in the rough country through which they are retreating.

It is believed the Russians may attempt to reach Kerin, 25 miles north-east of Mukden, through the valleys, but a special Japanese corps from the direction of the Yalu river (probably General Kamamura's forces) threatens to cut them off.

General Kuropatkin is advancing north-west and is forcing the Russians against General Nog's army.

The casualties on both sides have been enormous. The Russians' sixteenth army corps was practically annihilated at Tatchekiao. Eight thousand Russians fell at Liukuanpo.

World's Visible Supply.

New Orleans.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, made up from special cable and telegraphic advices, compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and the year before. It shows an increase for the week just closed of 2341 against a decrease of 136,517 last year and a decrease of 39,694 year before last.

The total visible is 4,172,494 against $4,170,150 last week, 3,371,090 last year and 3,777,000 year before last. Of this the total of American cotton is 3,383,490 last year and 2,413,008 year before last, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 1,107,000, against 1,026,000 last week, 1,088,000 last year and 1,164,000 year before last.

The total world's supply of cotton as above shows an increase compared with last week of 2,341, an increase compared with last year of 701,404, and an increase compared with year before last of 395,486.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton as above there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 2,094,000 against 1,922,000 last year and 1,998,000 year before last; in Egypt 195,000 against 241,000 last year and 156,000 year before last; in India, 637,000 against 391,000 last year and 694,000 year before last; and in the United States 1,246,000 against 917,000 last year and 929,000 year before last.

Corrected by deduction of 18,689 bales Styvesant duct fire, taken from week ending March 1st.

New Orleans, March 10.—Secretary Hester gives the taking of American cotton by spinners throughout the world as follows, in round numbers:

This week 305,000, this year against 281,000 last year, 284,000 year before last.

Total since September 1st this year 7,306,000 against 7,039,000 last year and 7,247,000 the year before.

Of this northern spinners and Canada took 1,568,000 bales this year, against 1,803,000 last year, and 1,715,000 the year before; southern spinners 1,384,000 against 1,327,000 last year and 1,278,000 the year before; and foreign spinners 4,354,000 against 3,909,000 last year, and 4,254,000 the year before.

The "Mountain-High" Waves.

The size of the Atlantic waves has been carefully measured for the Washington Hydrographic Bureau. In height the waves usually average about 30 feet, but in rough weather they attain from 40 to 48 feet. During storms they are often from 500 to 600 feet long and last ten or eleven seconds, while the longest yet known measured half a mile and did not spend itself for twenty-three seconds.

DIPLOMATIC CORPS SHIFT

President Makes Changes in Ambassadors and Ministers.

CORTLEYOU IN THE CABINET

The Senate Acts Immediately on Nominations of Two ex-Members—Wynne Gets Consular—Other Appointments in Consular Service—Men Who Are Shifted About.

Washington, D. C.—The President sent to the Senate a long list of diplomatic and consular nominations in addition to those of the Cabinet. The latter were immediately confirmed. Nominations for two ex-Senators also were sent in, namely, Cockrell to be Inter-State Commerce Commissioner, and Quarles to be Judge of the Eastern District of Wisconsin. These two nominations were also confirmed.

With the exception of Mr. Wynne, all the members of the last Cabinet were reappointed. Mr. Cortleyou takes Wynne's place in the Postoffice Department, and the latter gets the Consular-Generalship at London, England, vice H. Clay Evans, late Commissioner of Pensions, who has been at London about two years. Secretary Shaw is renominated with the understanding that he will retire in February, 1906, when he will have served a full four years.

The nominations sent in for Ambassadors were decided upon and the announcement of the proposed changes made some time ago. Of the eleven Ministers nominated only six are new men. The other five are now in the diplomatic service, and are to be transferred from their present places to those for which they have been nominated. Four of the five Ambassadors named are in the diplomatic service, and Mr. Reid, who goes to London, was Minister to France under President Harrison. Those nominated to be Ambassadors are:

Whitlaw Reid, New York, to Great Britain.

Robert S. McCormick, Illinois, to France.

George V. L. Meyer, Massachusetts, to Russia.

Edwin H. Conger, Iowa, to Mexico.

Henry White, Rhode Island, to Italy.

Ambassador Bellamy Storer will be retained at the Austrian court, although there has been a stiff fight among Ohio politicians over the matter.

Mr. McCormick and Mr. Meyer are now serving respectively at St. Petersburg and Rome. Mr. Conger is Minister to China, and Mr. White First Secretary of the Embassy at London. Those nominated to be Ministers are:

William Woodville Rockhill, District of Columbia, to China.

David J. Hill, New York, to the Netherlands.

Henry Lane Wilson, Washington, to Belgium.

William Miller Collier, New York, to Spain.

Brutus J. Clay, Kentucky, to Switzerland.

Thomas J. O'Brien, Michigan, to Denmark.

Charles M. Graves, Minnesota, to Sweden and Norway.

Edward C. O'Brien, New York, to Paraguay and Uruguay.

John B. Jackson, New Jersey, to Greece and Montenegro, and diplomatic agent in Bulgaria.

John W. Riddle, Minnesota, to Rumania and Servia.

Samuel R. Gummere, New Jersey, to Morocco.

These nominations in the Consular service were made:

CONSULS GENERAL.

Robert J. Wynne, Pennsylvania, at London.

Frank H. Mason, Ohio, at Paris.

Alexander H. Thackara, Pennsylvania, at Berlin.

Hoffman Philip, New York, at Tangier, Morocco.

Thomas Sammons, Washington, at Niu-Chuang, China.

Stanley Stoner, Missouri, at Calcutta, India.

Henry P. Miller, Oregon, at Yokohama, Japan.

J. Lynn Rodgers, Ohio, at Changhai, China.

George W. Roosevelt, Pennsylvania, at Brussels, Belgium.

CONSULS.

Frederick M. Ryder, Connecticut, at San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua.

Arthur J. Clare, Massachusetts, at Barbadoes, West Indies.

Robert Brent Mosher, District of Columbia, at Collingwood, Ontario, Canada.

Hunter Sharp, North Carolina, at Kobe, Japan.

DYING BY THE HUNDRED

Horrible Scenes Encountered Along Russian Line of Retreat.

Two Wheeled Cars Carrying Wounded Soldiers.

Headquarters of General Rennenkampf, near Oubeneputsa, via Mukden.—The road northward was crowded as far as the eye could reach by a continuous file of two-wheeled Chinese carts full of Russian wounded, the best testimony of the valor with which the Army of the East, fighting continuously for a fortnight, has defended every inch of the ground over which it has been compelled by superior numbers to retire.

Each cart bore from three to five wounded men, whose exhaustion was almost too utter for them to feel pain. Scarcely a groan or cry was heard—not even the moans of the dying. Only the dismal creak of the rude wheels and the thud of the ponies' hoofs were audible.

Most of the wounded had their heads covered with Chinese blankets or dirty coats, stiff with coagulated blood, hiding wan and dirty faces distorted with pain, sunken eyes and expanded nostrils. Here and there was seen a cart with two wounded men between whom was a corpse, which with every jolt pounded against the helpless living comrades of the man on whose face death had sealed the distortion of unbearable agony.

The valley in front of the Russian position has become a valley of death. Corpses strew the debatable ground, from which neither side could remove its dead.

Again and again the Japanese charged down the slope and up the hill. Again and again the Russians counter-attacked, trying to gain possession of "The Hill with the Tower." No quarter was asked for or given by either side. The enemy ceased only in death—the wounded with breasts torn open by shrapnel or bayonet essaying another shot with their last breath.

Here sat a Japanese upon a stone, a moment's pause for rest, having stretched him out into eternity.

There lay two foes with bayonets sheathed in each other's breasts.

Everywhere corpses—corpses—corpses.

For two days the Russians had been concentrating a heavy artillery fire on "The Hill with the Tower," stopping the Japanese sap work. At 2 o'clock in the morning the Russian skirmishers heard a noise at "The Hill with the Tower." Creeping forward they discovered that the Japanese were heaping up corpses as defenses. The Russian field batteries immediately opened fire and forced a cessation of the work.

At dawn the Japanese attacked the Russian positions near Oubeneputsa. The attackers were scarcely recognizable as valiant Japanese, so much had they moved forward and withal with undying persistence attack and get thrown back. They repeated this at 10 in the morning after a preparatory artillery bombardment and reached the Russian trenches, where a bayonet fight ensued.

At the crucial moment General Alekt commanding the vanguard, arrived on the scene with two companies and turned the scale against the Japanese. Among the wounded was Lieutenant-Colonel Iroostitsky, of the General Staff, who nevertheless remained at the front.

MURDERERS GOT $11.

Mystery of the Death of the Hunchback Clara McConnell Solved.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Two men have confessed to Superintendent of Police Taylor that they were responsible for the death of Clara McConnell, the hunchback, whose body was found in a maudlin pile on the outskirts of the Tenderloin here on February 13 last.

One of them is Harry Norris, who has already served two terms in prison for larceny and who was recently arrested after having stolen thirty or more overcoats from various places in this city. Norris is a degenerate, although a member of a well-to-do and respectable family of Wilmington, Del.

The name of Norris' accomplice the police are withholding. The motive for the murder was robbery. Norris and the other man lured Miss McConnell, who had a millinery store, to a stable on Clarion street below Cherry, struck her down with their fists, stole about $11 which she had tied in her handkerchief and then threw her in the refuse pit attached to the stable. She was not dead when thrown in, but was suffocated.

ZONE GOVERNMENT TO GO ON.

Secretary Taft Decides He Has Authority to Continue It.

Washington, D. C.—Owing to the failure of Congress to provide new legislation for the government of the canal zone, Secretary Taft was confronted with the question as to whether he could continue to administer the affairs of the zone. This question he decided in the affirmative.

JUDGE REAGAN IS DEAD.

Known as Father of Interstate Commerce Legislation.

Houston, Texas.—Judge John H. Reagan, sole surviving member of the Confederate Cabinet, died in Palestine, Texas, of pneumonia. Judge Reagan, who was eighty-six years of age, had been in failing health for a year or more.

In Jail for Shooting.

Birmingham, Ala.—J. J. Johnson, a young white man, is in the city jail charged with assault with intent to murder on J. H. Samuels, who runs a store at 1001 North Twenty-fourth street. Johnson shot at Mr. Samuels Thursday morning near the latter's store, but failed to hit him.

"L" AND SUBWAY STRIKE

Traffic Lines in New York City Partially Tied Up.

POLICE RESERVES CALLED OUT

After Three Days the Roads Again Operate Under Regular Schedule—Strike Breakers Importe From Other Cities—The Demands of the Employes—Local Union Expelled.

New York City.—The collapse of the strike on the subway and elevated lines was marked by a general attempt on the part of the former employes to recover their lost positions, and by the announcement that the local union had been expelled from the Brotherhood of Engineers.

Upon his arrival in Cleveland, Ohio, after a conference with labor leaders here, Grand Chief Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, sent a telegram to William L. Jencks, the head of the local union of motormen who went on strike, revoking the membership of the union. The telegram read as follows:

"To take effect at once, the charter of Local No. 103, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is hereby revoked. You will please forward the charter and all books belonging to the subdivision to this office by express."

WARREN S. STONE. The strike was begun three days prior to this by the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which the motormen of both the "L" and subway lines were members.

The grievances of the striking men briefly were a demand for higher wages by conductors, station agents, ticket checkers and porters.

Working hours to be cut from twelve to ten hours per day, with a fifteen-minute "swing" between runs. The other demands were as follows:

That the present physical examination now in force against motormen and other employes should be eliminated, and a practical road test substituted instead, to take effect January 1, 1905.

A day's work for motormen and other trainmen to be nine hours or less, motormen's mileage not to exceed 100 a day.

Relay for motormen, when headway is less than six minutes, should be allowed at southern terminals, loop or no loop.

All road work this was not now done. The men said this was not now done. The men said this was not now done.

For all employes, excepting tower switchmen, nine hours to constitute a day's work, with time and a half for overtime.

Tower switchmen, eight hours or less to constitute a day's work, with one day off duty a month, with pay; time and a half for overtime.

At 4 o'clock in the morning the strike was in full force. Trains had been taken to their destinations by the crews, and there deserted. The men obeyed implicitly the command of their leaders and quit work on the dot.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be, I tell it as 'twas told to me."

This is the Lenten period.

April 23rd is Easter Sunday.

Sunday and Monday were dreary, wet and soggy days.

J. W. Peers was a visitor to Birmingham last Saturday.

Now that winter is going, even the trees want to "leave."

Maj. John W. Bolin, of Wilsonville, was in town last Friday.

We are nearing the equinox—look out for some severe storms.

Mrs. M. M. McMahon, of Shelby Springs, was in town last Thursday having the papers drawn up for the lease of the Springs to Jas. A. MacKnight.

If parents would occasionally visit the public schools it would not only encourage the teachers, but spur the children to even greater efforts. Try it once.

The Sentinel got its type mixed again last week and said that Circuit Court would convene the first week in May, when it should have read "the first week in April."

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davis, Mrs. Geo. Bird and Jas. N. Robertson returned from New Orleans last Thursday where they had been attending Mardi Gras festivities.

Cakes, cakes at Roberts & Robertson's. The finest in the land.

A suggestion to the School Board: A chair and a table or desk in each of the rooms for the use of teachers would be a decided improvement—one that is needed.

Miss Annie Longshore is the only member of the graduating class of the Columbiana Graded Schools this year. Commencement sermon will be preached on Sunday, May the 14th.

Robert O'Hara, mail agent on the Central of Georgia between Birmingham and Macon, was in the city several days last week visiting his parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. O'Hara.

Delicious! Those cakes at Roberts & Robertson.

H. S. Latham, of Montevallo, was in town last Friday and Saturday visiting his children. The Sentinel believes that it would not take very much urging to get Mr. Latham to move his family here.

Chicago Glee Club Meh. 22.

The Sans Souci Club met with Miss Janie Wallace last Saturday at the home of Mrs. W. A. Parker. It was a magazine party and a most delightful time is reported. The next meeting of the Club will be with Miss Lallage Longshore.

From the plainest sewing to the handsomest dresses can be had by calling on Mrs. J. W. Peers, at residence on Depot-st. f23-2m Attorney J. J. Haynes, of this city has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address of the Lineville College in May, and the pupils of Lineville College will not be disappointed in their expectations to hear something good.

Henry Chapman has leased the ground floor of the new building being put up by J. H. Mason, and as soon as the building is completed Henry will fit it up in first class style for a barber shop. He will put in a stock of good cigars and will add a news stand. Later on he will probably add a bath room.

The Executive Committee of the Alabama Press Association is called to meet in the rooms of the Commercial Club, Birmingham, Friday morning, March 24th, at 10 o'clock. The committee will arrange the details of the annual meeting of the Association which is to be in Sylacauga this year some time in June.

Rev. T. M. Nelson and family have gone to Sycamore, in Talladega county, where they will make their future home. They carry with them the best wishes of our people that the surroundings of their new home may be most pleasant.

M. V. McClinton, one of the pioneers of Shelby county and a highly respected citizen of beat 4, was in town last Thursday a few hours. Mr. McClinton was a comrade of and in the same company with John Cunningham, who died near Montevallo a few days ago, and says of the dead friend that no braver soldier or more true friend never lived than Mr. Cunningham.

Mr. McClinton and his wife have been at the home of Walter Morrow for a few days, at the bedside of Mrs. Morrow who is a sister of Mrs. McClinton.

Reward Offered.

Governor Cunningham has offered a reward of $150 for the capture and delivery to the sheriff of Shelby county, the party who shot town marshal G. P. Harmon, of Calera, in the back a few weeks ago. This amount has been supplemented by $100 by the people of Calera, making a reward of $250.00 for the capture of the would-be assassin.

Notice to Farmers.

There will be a county meeting of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union at Columbiana the first Saturday in April. All farmers are invited to attend the morning session. Hon. E. J. Cook, of Guin, State Organizer, will address the convention. Locals will send delegates. Meeting called to order at 10 a. m.

Organizer.

Destroyed by Fire.

The home of R. H. Glaze, living near Harpersville, was totally destroyed by fire on Tuesday night of last week. Everything in the house was burned, Mr. Glaze saving nothing but the suit of clothes he had on at the time of the fire. The cause of the fire is supposed to have been a defective fuse.

No one was living with Mr. Glaze except those who were keeping house for him, none of his family being at home with him.

A subscription list was being circulated here Monday for his benefit, and it was liberally signed. Mr. Glaze's loss which amounts to several hundred dollars falls heavily upon him as he carried no insurance.

Chicago Glee Club Meh. 22.

Mrs. Stanfield, mother of Mrs. Philip Erlick, who has been suffering with an attack of rheumatism for the past three weeks, is improving and it is hoped she will soon be able to be out again.

The finest and largest assortment of slippers ever seen in Columbiana is being shown at the Slipper Sale now on at the Columbiana Mercantile Co.

Mrs. N. V. McClinton, of near Montevallo, was called to the home of Walter Morrow, near here, by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Morrow.

Rev. Mr. Partridge will fill his regular appointment at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and night. All are invited to attend.

W. W. Albright, who is employed in the carpenter department at the Piper mines, was at home for a visit with his family last Sunday.

Mrs. Clem Masterson, of Decatur, is visiting at the home of her sister Mrs. Walter Morrow, near Columbiana.

A communication from Calera came too late for this issue.

O. O. Bird was a Birmingham visitor last Saturday.

Resolutions

In memory of sister Clement Cromwell Watersworth, who departed this life Jan. 25th, 1905.

Sister Watersworth was born, March 18th, 1875, in Columbiana, Ala., where she lived until her marriage with Mr. T. H. Watersworth, June 27th, 1897. At the time of her death, she was a consistent member of the Columbiana Baptist church.

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has taken from our midst our beloved friend and sister, we the members of the Columbiana Baptist church

Resolved, First, That realizing our great loss, we bow submissively to the will of our Heavenly Father.

Second, That we extend our sincerest sympathy to the bereaved husband and little son, also to parents, brother and sisters of the deceased, and commending them to Him who "doeth all things well."

Third, That these resolutions be recorded upon our church minutes, and a copy be sent to the bereaved family as a testimonial of our love and esteem.

Shelby Springs Leased.

There will be a new management and a new deal at Shelby Springs this season. The property has been leased for a term of years to J. A. MacKnight and associates, of Birmingham, and Mr. MacKnight will move his family to the Springs immediately and assume the management. Extensive improvements will be made in time for the opening of this season, which will be about April 15th. The grounds are to be beautified with flowers and shrubbery, and a number of amusement features will be added. There will be bowling alleys, billiard room, lawn tennis, croquet and probably golf for the guests. The dancing pavilion will be enlarged, and a good orchestra will be in attendance throughout the season.

One of the attractions promised by the new management is something good to eat at all times. It is probable a cafe will be put in for transient customers, with buffet attachment, and also that a regular livery service will be established. All trains on the L. & N. will be met by an omnibus from the Springs, so that visitors from Birmingham can reach the resort in a little more than an hour.

Mr. MacKnight has an interesting family who will reside at the Springs. They spent the summer of 1904 at the St. Louis Exposition where Mr. MacKnight was Executive Commissioner for Alabama.

He was the originator of the Vulcan idea, and carried the idea to a most successful issue. Conservative advertising men have estimated that the great Vulcan exhibit was given over $500,000 worth of newspaper space in over 17,000 newspapers in the United States alone—a big lot of valuable publicity for Alabama's resources.

Play Ball.

A number of those interested in baseball, met in the office of J. S. Pitts last Thursday night and organized a club with the following officers:

W. E. Harrison, manager; Philip Erlick, treasurer; J. S. Pitts, secretary; H. M. Roberts, captain.

The players have not yet lined up, but it is the intention to make the best team possible from the number of good players in town, and to meet all comers as soon as the season opens and the boys have had some practice. New suits are to be purchased for the team, and it is the intention to play at least one game of ball on the home ground each week during the season.

Soon the grand stand will fill up. With the thick, the short, the tall, And the umpire on the diamond Will yell out "Say, play ball!"

Old Land Office.

The following letter from Hon. E. S. Lyman, of Montevallo, will be of interest to the people of Shelby county:

Montevallo, Ala., March 9.

Dear Mr. Whitaker:

Referring to your notice of the closing of the Huntsville Land Office—the oldest in the country—it may be of some interest to recall the fact that, in 1832, a land office for the "Coosa Land District" was established in Montevallo, of which Joab Lawler was Receiver, to accept which he resigned his position as State Senator. He had formerly been County Judge. The removal of this land office to Mardisville, two years later, took Judge Lawler from Shelby county, he becoming Receiver of the consolidated office. Subsequently there was another consolidation with the Lebanon, DeKalb county, office, and that, in turn with the Huntsville office.

Yours truly,
E. S. LYMAN.

Postponed.

Weldon, Ala., March 6.

Editor Sentinel, Columbiana:

Kind Sir and Friend:—Please give me space in your paper to state that the Sunday School Association of beats 8 and 11 is postponed from the third Sunday in April, until the fifth Sunday in April, 1905.

Resolutions

Passed by the Saginaw Sunday School, on the death of Mrs. M. M. Smith:

In the dispensation of divine Providence Mrs. M. M. Smith has been taken from us to join the great army marshalled at the throne of God, and

Whereas, It is not for us to question the wisdom of His will, but to accept this dispensation with humility and obedience. Therefore be it Resolved, That in the death of Mrs. M. M. Smith the Home Department of the Saginaw Sunday School has lost an earnest worker and devout christian, whose noble character shines like a beacon star in a dark firmament, and whose good and unselfish deeds inspire emulation, and whose deep love for family, and friends marked her daily life.

Resolved, That we tender the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this their sad affliction, and point them to that consolation which the world can not give and which cometh from God.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be displayed on the record of this Sunday School, a copy be furnished the bereaved family, and a copy sent to the Christian Advocate for publication.

GOOD MORNING MERRY SPRING TIME.

Presto! Weather has changed; rain has disappeared and Spring has arrived. So have my Spring samples for Spring Suits. I invite the public cordially to come and inspect my samples. Now is the most opportune time for you to select your Spring wear as we do not sell but ONE SUIT OF A KIND. As soon as suit is sold, sample is destroyed unless otherwise requested. As all suits are made by myself on premises, I will thank you for giving me your order now, so that I may have ample time to make it. Cleaning, repairing and pressing satisfactorily done. Thanking you for past and future patronage I remain, yours truly,

I. GORDON.

If a bicycle is worth anything at all, it is worth taking care of. If it gets out of repair take it to an experienced man—and Nolan Barnett is that very one.

WHEELS

If your wheel gets broken or out of fix, don't worry or fret, or try to fix it yourself. Nolan Barnett will do it for you in a short time, and save you all that worry. Find him at the blacksmith shop of J. T. Barnett.

TESTIMONIALS.

Gentlemen: It affords me such pleasure to say that we used and sold your goods largely last season, and have heard all of our customers say they have had very fine results. We have renewed our contract for the coming season for a larger amount of your goods, and we will sell your fertilizers EXCLUSIVELY the coming season, which we think the best testimonial we can offer.

Gentlemen: We beg to say that we think the fact we have sold your goods exclusively for the past five years, and have renewed our contract for next season's business which should be construed as our strongest endorsement.

I have been requested several times to make a statement as to what I thought of the Mutual Life Industrial Association of Georgia, but have declined to do so until now.

I have been making an investigation for the last six months as to the merits of the Association and have reached the conclusion that it is the safest and cheapest insurance offered to the people. I have taken Three Thousand Dollars in it, and take pleasure in recommending it to the people.

For Sale.

The Columbiana Land Co. has the following property for sale, but the prices quoted will only hold good for only a short time:

Good six-room house and one acre of ground in Montevallo, good location, convenient to the Girl's Industrial School, price $750.

Sixty acres (30 acres cleared) one mile north of Columbiana. Part of east half of southwest quarter, and part of west half of southwest quarter, section 17, township 21, range 1 west. Valued at $10.00 per acre; one-third cash, balance on time.

Runaway marriages are losing their flavor in these cold, businesslike times, says the Boston Advertiser. Too many proud papas and doting mammas are forgiving and forgetting all the knot is once tied, and some other method of arousing the family wrath will have to be devised to keep up the spice of romance.

Hardly a day passes without some account of more or less criminality as the direct visible result of reading "dime novels," the Boston Transcript avows. There is great necessity for a more general recognition of a psychological law, that what impressionable natures think about, or mentally dwell with, they grow like, or become. Suggestion is as sure in its trend as any principle in physics. Plastic and chaotic youthful minds, with little or no moral police, often live in an abnormal and tragic world of their own.

Some interesting experiments have been made to ascertain which wood lasts the longest. It was found, according to the Indianapolis News, that birch and aspen decayed in three years, willow and chestnut in four years, maple and red beech in five years and elm and ash in seven years. Oak, Scottish fir and Weymouth pine decayed to the depth of half an inch in seven years; larch and juniper were uninjured at the end of the seven years. In situations so free from moisture that they may be practically called dry, the durability of timber is unlimited. The roof of Westminster Hall, London, is more than 450 years old.

The number of telephones in use in 1902 was 2,315,297, or about one to thirty-four of the total population, states the New York Tribune. From that average, however, there were some wide departures. California, for instance, reported one for every fourteen, and Alabama one for every 134. The average number of messages per telephone for the year was 2190. In States that were well supplied with instruments the number of messages was smaller than this. New York reported 1404 and New Jersey 1147, while in Alabama the average number of messages per telephone was 3279 and in Tennessee 3557. In other words, the number of telephones gave a direct indication of the progressive spirit of a locality, whereas the amount of business which one instrument was required to do seems to have been in inverse ratio thereto.

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

ESTABLISHED 1875.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., MARCH 23 1905

VOL. 30. NO. 29.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

Current News Garnered as It Falls From the Plant of Report.

Seized by Tebbetts.

Mobile, Ala.—Collector of customs William F. Tebbetts, of the Mobile district, seized a million tickets for the Honduras National Lottery Company, and at the same time notified General W. L. Cabell and Messrs. W. Bollumet and James Ray, alleged officials of the company, to appear at his office. The collector refused to discuss the matter, but it is known the seizure is the result of correspondence that has been going on for some time with Washington.

The tickets were on board the steamer Hiram that reached here from Honduras, and the same vessel brought the alleged officials of the company.

The company has been operating in this city for years, and the tickets were to be had by any person who could pay the price. No secret was made of the existence of the company, and the seizure has created a big sensation.

Suicided Over Death of Daughter.

Gadsden, Ala.—Crazed with grief at the death of his little girl, Sam Mayes, a well-known farmer, committed suicide at the Commercial Hotel by swallowing about four ounces of laudanum. Ever since his daughter's death he had told his friends he had dreamed of her as dressed in white and beckoning to him. He declared, "I will be with her soon."

Mr. Mayes had eaten a quantity of canned meat, and it was at first thought that this had caused his death. The discovery of the empty laudanum bottle and the further development that he had bought the poison a few days ago disproved this theory. It was shown that he had been drinking heavily. He leaves a widow and several children.

Residence Is Robbed.

Birmingham, Ala.—A new suit of clothes, valued at $25, two ladies' skirts, collars, shirts, a sack of Graham flour, knives, forks and spoons are some of the articles taken by thieves from the residence of P. H. Moore at No. 722 Twenty-third street, north, Friday. The house was robbed some time between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Mrs. Moore was absent from home at the time, and the robbery was discovered by a little son, when he returned from the Powell school about 1 o'clock. Mr. Moore reported the matter to the police and detectives are at work on it.

Arrested for Counterfeiting.

Montgomery, Ala.—In the arrest of John Miller, who was committed to the Montgomery county jail by United States Commissioner John A. Elmore. It is believed by H. B. Mills, a secret service agent, that a notorious counterfeiter has been brought to justice. Miller was captured in Uniontown by Mr. Mills after he had been traced by the secret service agent from Mississippi. Mr. Mills says that he has evidence that Miller passed counterfeit silver dollars.

The prisoner appeared in the court room with handcuffs on his wrists. He was stolid and did not say a word further than to plead not guilty to the charge. His bond was fixed at $500, in default of which he was committed to the county jail.

Crawford Sheriff of Houston County.

Montgomery, Ala.—The governor has appointed N. B. Crawford sheriff of Houston county, to succeed C. E. Walker, deceased.

Big Fire at Opp.

Opp, Ala.—The stock of dry goods, groceries and hardware of Mizell & Benton, of this place, was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The total loss of Mizell & Benton is estimated at about $25,000. The damage to adjoining firms will be very large also.

H., T. & D. Road.

Decatur, Ala.—After slumbering for some time new life and new interest has been awakened in the Helena, Tupelo and Decatur railroad. Recently Major E. C. Finley, one of the directors of St. Louis, and R. H. Phillips, a well-known civil engineer of St. Louis, came here and went over a portion of the survey for the purpose of making arrangements to make a final survey as soon as the weather will permit.

This is more than a paper road, as it has been surveyed several times and charters have been secured through Alabama and Mississippi, and much of the right of way has been secured.

More Fertilizer Is Sold.

Plantersville, Ala.—One of the leading merchants of this place estimates that there will be 200 tons more fertilizer sold from this station than last year. We cannot say as to the acreage. If it is at other points like it is in this section will show up the farmers' agreement through the New Orleans convention as a burlesque on reduction of 25 per cent.

Wants Receiver for Railroad.

Montgomery, Ala.—A petition was filed with Judge A. D. Sayre, of the city court in equity, by Phares Coleman, attorney for Henry B. Gray, asking that a receiver be appointed for the South and North Railroad Company and asking that the petition be set for a hearing. Judge Sayre has as yet taken no action.

Mr. Gray's original bill of complaint in this court prayed for a receiver, but did not demand same. The object of the petition is to carry this prayer into effect.

A Conductor Injured.

An accident occurred on the Western railroad that may result in the death of Conductor I. B. Williamson.

The conductor was knocked out of his caboose, and was so painfully injured that his recovery is doubtful. At Louise, Ga., a station six miles this side of Hogansville, he leaned outside of his caboose trying to discover the cause of a rattling under the car in front. He leaned too far out, and was struck and knocked to the ground by a switch stand. He was in charge of fast freight No. 212, which left Montgomery for Atlanta Tuesday night. His train went on to Hogansville, where it took the sidetrack for train No. 35, which reached Montgomery at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. It was discovered then that Conductor Williamson was missing, and the fact was reported to the crew of the passenger train.

At Louise they found the body of the conductor lying on the ground by the switch stand. He was covered with blood, his head being badly crushed and one arm and one leg broken. He was carried to La Grange where he received the services of the best surgeons, but at last accounts he was in a very critical condition.

Southern to Build to Stevenson.

Scottsboro, Ala.—In railroad circles here there seems little ground for doubt that the Southern will commence at an early date the laying of its own tracks from Chattanooga to Stevenson, a distance of thirty-eight miles, and will allow its present lease from the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway to expire. The taking of any such step on the part of the Southern will be tantamount to a declaration that the Louisville and Nashville railroad, which controls the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis tracks, is ready to build its own bridge across the Tennessee river at Decatur.

The great difficulty of the Southern railway obtaining admission to Chattanooga from the south is the trouble in getting around Lookout mountain. Railroad experts say that a long tunnel will be necessary. Attaches of the Louisville and Nashville railroad tacitly admit that it is the intention of that road to build its own bridge at Decatur.

Received Swift Justice.

Huntsville, Ala.—Swift justice will be meted out to the negro prisoners who attempted to burn down the Madison county jail Monday night in order to effect their escape. The six men were arraigned before Justice C. N. Vought. Cleveland Harris and Robert Oley pleaded guilty, both being sentenced to six months at hard labor. The two defendants admitted that they tore up their mattresses and bunks and started a fire on the floor of their cell, hoping to burn the jail. Four other prisoners in the cell took no part in the transaction.

Postmaster Held for Embezzlement.

Mobile, Ala.—William McDonald, postmaster at Platteau, Ala., is in jail here awaiting a hearing on the charge of embezzling postoffice money order funds. He was arrested by a special agent of the postoffice department and brought to Mobile.

Got Stolen Watch.

Birmingham, Ala.—Detectives have recovered a valuable gold watch which was stolen in Montgomery three years ago. The watch was recovered in a loan shop in Birmingham, and according to the statements made by the pawn broken the time piece was placed in his establishment by a prominent citizen of Blocton, who claims that the watch was given him as a Christmas present in 1902. Numbers in the watch tally with the description given by the Montgomery police.

Dave Fleming, the owner of the watch, accompanied by C. L. Ruth, is here to identify it.

Fine Plantation Is Sold.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—The Hemphill plantation, fourteen miles south of this city, was bought by Henry King, the compensation being $21,000. The land is located on the Warrior river and is considered one of the most valued plantations in this section. The property was bought from R. C. Hemphill, a prominent wholesale broker in Birmingham.

Good Prospect for Strawberries.

Cullman, Ala.—As to strawberries, Cullman has never had a better prospect for a good crop. If the nice weather now prevailing continues the early varieties will be ready for the market by April 15. These early varieties are now in bloom and are in fine shape. If there is no heavy frost in April the crop will be the largest Cullman has ever had. The increase in acreage will add considerably to the crop's volume. The general farmer in Cullman county is in good shape and is making a good start on the year's work. Since the February cold spell the farmers have had good seasons for work and have taken advantage of every good day.

First Cotton Warehouse.

Birmingham, Ala.—Birmingham is to have the first cotton warehouse in the south. The Warehouse Company was organized Friday, with cotton merchants, manufacturers, bankers and capitalists among the stockholders.

The company has bought from Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Stevens and associates the old fire brick property on Thirty-fifth street between Avenue A and the Southern railway. This site is 400 by 480 feet and it is understood that the price paid was $40,000.

Construction work will begin at once and the warehouse will be finished by the fall in time for the next crop.

Three Coal Companies.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Premium Coal Company, of Birmingham, with a capital stock of $20,000, has filed with Secretary of State E. R. McDonald a notice of its incorporation. The incorporators of the company are R. W. Jackson, G. M. Bowers and L. G. Bowers.

The American Coal and Mining Co., with a capital stock of $10,000 and main office in Birmingham, also filed notice of its incorporation. The incorporators are E. C. Hartsell, James A. Ware and John H. Miller.

The Red Star Coal Company, of Walker county, gave notice of an increase of its capital stock from $20,000 to $75,000.

Bleachery Ready for Operation.

Gadsden, Ala.—The bleachery of the Adams knitting mill has been completed. R. L. Adams, owner of the mills, said that the completion of this addition was only a part of his plans, as eventually he would install yarn-making machinery so as to produce the manufactured product direct from the raw cotton. The knitting department is now employing twenty-five people, and it will be added to from time to time until the number of operations will be at least doubled. The yarn mill when built will use about a bale of cotton per day, and it is very likely that rope-making machinery will be added.

Tragic Death of Mrs. R. L. Williams.

Jasper, Ala.—Word has been received here of the tragic death of Mrs. John R. Williams at her home ten miles north of here. The accident occurred about midnight at her own home. It seems that she got up in the night and walked to a bureau, taking from a drawer a revolver. Before her frightened husband could reach her she fired deliberately at herself, the bullet penetrating the brain. Death ensued in a few moments. She leaves a family of several children.

Ohio Man Was Killed.

Montgomery, Ala.—A special says that letters on the person of a man killed by a passenger train at Wilcox Station, Ala., show that his name is Mowry K. Wilder, of 354 West Mulberry street, Springfield Ohio. The body was buried at Evergreen, Ala., the police being unable to communicate with relatives of the deceased.

Killed at Steel Plant.

Ensley, Ala.—Will Outlaw, white, was killed accidentally in the steel plant here. He leaves a widow, parents, several sisters and brothers. He was quite popular in Ensley. He belonged to the Maccabees and other orders. He was caught accidentally in some of the heavy machinery about the plant and crushed to death.

Rebuilding Burned District.

Athens, Ala.—Work of rebuilding the burned district is now getting under way and brick is being placed on the ground preparatory to rebuilding the destroyed buildings, and they will be handsome structures and will add very much to the town's appearance. It is hoped to have them ready for occupancy in a few months.

Repairing Virginia Mines.

Bessemer, Ala.—The work of repairing the Virginia mine has been started, and inside of another two weeks it is stated everything will be in readiness for a steady operation again of the plant.

New Editor for Tradesman.

Huntsville, Ala.—Col. N. F. Thompson has just returned from New York city, where he met Adolph S. Ochs and George W. Ochs and closed a contract with them to become editor of the Chattanooga Tradesman. Colonel Thompson will take charge of the Tradesman at once, and his wide acquaintance in industrial circles will enable him to contribute to the influence of the publication.

Peach Crop Is Ruined.

Decatur, Ala.—There will be no peach crop in this section this year. Reports from all over North Alabama show that the peach buds were all killed during the last cold spell, some three weeks ago. It was thought for a time the peaches were safe, but the warm sunshine during the past few days has dried up the buds, showing the fact that they had been frozen a few weeks ago. As a usual thing North Alabama has an immense peach crop. It is not known yet whether the other kinds of fruit are safe or not.

Wreck on the Ensley Southern.

Wylam, Ala.—A tri-weekly freight and passenger train on the Ensley Southern railway, between Short Creek, in the western part of Jefferson county, and Ensley, was wrecked Friday morning four miles from Ensley. The engine was derailed, with two freight cars, killing Engineer Joe Barnes, fatally injuring the negro fireman, painfully bruising a white woman, Mrs. Casine Perry, who was a passenger, and shaking up several passengers who were in the passenger coach on the rear of the train.

Weather Station at Anniston.

Anniston, Ala.—On July 1 Anniston will be one of five cities in Alabama to have the location of a weather bureau. At present stations are located at Mobile, Montgomery, Birmingham and Huntsville, but a station will be located in Anniston. The station will prove very beneficial to Annistonians and citizens of Calhoun county in many ways, chiefly that of receiving the weather each morning in accurate form, the weather bureau being credited with being correct 85 per cent of the time on its predictions.

Killed by Train.

Evergreen, Ala.—A young white man probably 18 or 20 years old was killed by a passenger train at Wilcox station and his body brought here Thursday for burial. Letters on his person showed that his name was Mowry K. Wilder and that his home was 354 West Mulberry street, Springfield, O. One of the letters was from Mrs. W. H. Wilder, his mother, and the other from his sister. Railroad officials endeavored to communicate with his people, but up to last night has not succeeded, and his body was buried in the cemetery here last night.

Jefferson Hotel Company.

Birmingham, Ala.—The name of the Jefferson Construction Company has been changed to the Jefferson Hotel Company. This is the company that was recently incorporated to erect a twelve-story hotel on the northwest corner of Fourth avenue and Twentieth street. A declaration has been filed in the probate court changing the name.

William Brock Is Bankrupt.

Huntsville, Ala.—William Brock general merchandise dealer of this city, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are $1,284 more than half that sum being secured by a lien and mortgage. His assets are $34. The unsecured liabilities are accounts due jobbers in all parts of the country.

Another Strike at Fall River.

Fall River, Mass.—Two hundred weavers in Stafford Cotton Mills Nos. 1 and 3 struck as a protest against the ten-loom system and other reported innovations which has been introduced by the corporation. About 150 weavers in No. 3 mill struck on Monday.

Alabama R. F. D.'s.

Washington, D. C.—Rural free delivery routes ordered established April 15: Baileytown, Cullman county, routes 5 and 6, population served 777, houses 177; Brantley, Crenshaw county, route 2, population 420, houses 105.

Kills Boy With Baseball Bat.

Americus, Ga.—Charged with murder, Grady Tevver, a young lad scarcely in his teens, was placed in jail late Friday. Returning from school, two boys, young Tevver and Augustus Oliver, disagreed about a trivial matter, whereupon the Tevver lad struck young Oliver a blow upon the head with a baseball bat, death resulting.

Investigate Stoesel's Conduct.

St. Petersburg—A commission has been appointed under the presidency of General Roop, a member of the council of the empire, to investigate the surrender of Port Arthur and act as a court to determine the responsibility of General Stoesel.

Woman Commits Suicide.

Little Rock, Ark.—Mrs. L. S. Owens, of Terrell, Tex., who was visiting her sister here, committed suicide by shooting herself twice with a pistol, once in the head and once in the breast. No definite cause has been assigned for the act.

American Minister Arrives.

Tangier, Morocco—Samuel R. Gummere, the first American minister to Morocco, has arrived here.

Natchez Mills' Liberality.

Natchez, Miss.—The Natchez Cotton Mills, employing 400 operatives, have given notice that commencing Monday, March 20, the time for a day's work for all employees would be reduced from eleven to ten hours. The pay remains the same.

THREE GOVERNORS

In One Day on Colorado's Close of the Contest. Adams Loses His Seat.

PEABODY RESIGNS HIS OFFICE.

McDonald Assumes Duties Reluctantly—Has Kept Himself Out of All

Factional Fights.

Denver, Colo.—In less than twenty-four hours Colorado has had leaders of factions to take the governor's chair from Alva Adams and to seat Lieutenant Governor J. F. McDonald after permitting James H. Peabody to hold office for one day and was carried to a conclusion Friday evening.

Governor Peabody, in the fulfillment of the agreement which he made prior to the general assembly deciding the gubernatorial contest in his favor, resigned Friday afternoon the office to which he was the day previous inaugurated. His resignation, of which W. S. Boynton, of Colorado Springs, had been custodian since Wednesday, when it was written, was filed in the office of the secretary of state Friday at 4:20 p. m. James Cowie, secretary of state, immediately certified Governor Peabody's resignation, and Lieutenant Governor McDonald was then sworn in as governor by Chief Justice Gabert. There was no further ceremony. Governor Adams was ousted and Governor Peabody installed by the general assembly about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Governor McDonald was sworn in about 5 p. m. Friday, thus completing the record of three governors in twenty-four hours.

Governor Peabody transacted practically no business of state while in the office of governor. He received many callers who urged him not to resign, and also many messages of the same import by telegraph and telephone. To all these he replied that he did not care to hold the chair. He said he was tired of the worry and excitement of his contest, and wished to go back to his bank in Canyon City. Half a dozen members of the national guard patrolled the corridors about the executive chamber during the day as a guard for Governor Peabody.

Lieutenant Governor MacDonald reluctantly takes the chair which Governor Peabody resigned after forcing Governor Adams out. The lieutenant governor has taken no part in the bitter fight over the governorship which has been waged ever since the election of November 8th. He absolutely refused to aid his friends in the legislature to make him governor, and made several rulings against them in his favor.

Senator Cornforth, president pro tem of the senate, becomes acting lieutenant governor by the elevation of Lieutenant Governor McDonald to the office of chief executive.

Adams Makes Statement.

"I am going back to my home and my business in Pueblo," said Alva Adams, who was deposed by the general assembly from the governorship after having served sixty-six days of the biennial term for which he was inaugurated on January 10 last.

"I am president of a savings bank and I have a hardware establishment, so I have no fear about the bread and butter proposition."

"At the same time," he added, "I am by no means in a jocular frame of mind. I have been outraged and I feel the resentment that is natural. However, if the people can endure it, I can. My friends, many of them in the opposite party, have stood by me staunchly. I shall never forget their devotion to the cause of right and justice. I was advised by some friends whose loyalty was supreme to hold the office by force, but I never for a moment had an idea of accepting such advice. I am for law and order. I simply submit to the outrage that can not peacefully be prevented."

Murder and Suicide.

Chicago, Ill.—Charles J. Hylinka, president of Hylinka Brothers, cut stone contractors, shot and killed his brother and business partner, Frank Hylinka, and then committed suicide in their offices at Washtenaw avenue and Twentieth street. When found both men had been dead for several hours. A revolver lay near Charles' right hand and this fact leads to the supposition that he killed Frank and then took his own life. Charges by Frank that his brother was taking more than his share of the profits led to a quarrel.

Coach Rolls Down Incline.

Fort Smith, Ark.—A coach containing about a dozen passengers on the Arkansas Western railroad can down an incline while switching near Waldron and crashed with terrific force into a train which was standing on the main line. D. C. Rogers, of Arkansas, was thrown against a stove with such force that he was fatally injured, dying a short time later. Several other passengers received minor injuries.

Boy Meets Death in Coffin Factory.

Meridian, Miss.—John Mazingo, a 12-year-old boy, employed in a coffin factory here, has met with a horrible death. While at work he was called to help lace the belt of the cut off saw, which had become broken. In carrying on this work, an idle piece of the belt became entangled in the shafting and the lad was quickly jerked underneath. The body was pounded almost into a jelly, as the shaft was revolving at the rate of three hundred revolutions a minute. The head, both arms and both legs were torn from the body, from which every inch of clothing was jerked. The remains were picked up in small pieces. He leaves a mother and three brothers.

Vandusen Wants Ruling.

Houston, Tex.—C. V. C. Vandusen, agent for the department of justice, has begun an investigation of the issuance of naturalization papers to Japanese, many of whom have settled in this vicinity recently. Mr. Vandusen holds that the Japanese were included in the inhibition applying to Mongolians and will make a report on the matter to the Texas authorities.

Under the Texas law the Japanese can not own lands until they are naturalized, and the farms are being held in trust pending the issuance of the paper.

General Hawley Dead.

Washington, D. C.—General Joseph R. Hawley, for nearly twenty-four years United States senator from Connecticut, died Friday morning. Death came peacefully after a coma lasting with but slight interruptions since Wednesday afternoon. At his bedside when the end came was Mrs. Hawley and her three daughters.

The body will be taken to Hartford, Conn., for burial, but the time for the funeral services has not been fixed. General Hawley's active career in the senate came to an end in December, 1902, when failing health compelled him to relinquish his legislative work. He was 78 years of age.

Reported to Washington.

Washington, D. C.—The secretary of the treasury received a telegram from William F. Tebbetts, collector of customs at Mobile, Ala., stating in substance that during the inspection of the baggage on board the Norwegian steamship Hiram, from Puerto Cortez, Honduras, there were found lottery tickets, a statement of prizes, list of drawings, trial balance sheets, newspaper advertisements and correspondence of a lottery company.

In reply to a request for instructions, the collector has been directed to seize the articles and proceed under section 18 of the present tariff act. Section 16 of this act prohibits the importation of lottery tickets, and provides that when seized they may be forfeited under legal proceedings and destroyed. Section 18 details the method of judicial procedure.

Shot by Negroes.

Vicksburg, Miss.—Meagre particulars have reached here of the shooting and probable fatal wounding of two white men by negroes at Dudley, in Washington county. Deputy Sheriff Duke, of Greenville, accompanied by a man from Boulah, whose name could not be ascertained, went to a cabin to arrest a negro wanted for some petty offense, when without warning the two white men were fired on from ambush. Both fell shot through the head. News of the tragedy spread quickly and a posse was hurriedly gathered and started in pursuit of the murderers. Bloodhounds have been sent for, and great excitement prevails throughout that section of the county.

Woman Struck By Car.

Columbus, Ga.—While crossing Fifteenth street on Second avenue in a semi-intoxicated condition, Lizzie Bulard, a white woman 35 years old, was run into by a street car and knocked down.

The front trucks passed over her and she was horribly mangled. Her body was pinned beneath a rod and the car had to be raised before she could be rescued. A leg and an arm are broken and she is so terribly mangled that it is thought she will die.

To Have Canning Factory.

Boaz, Ala.—Boaz is to have a canning factory, which will be erected by G. A. Gibson and associates at once so that the factory will be ready for the coming season. Mr. Gibson has an orchard of 20,000 trees and the entire crop will be canned. The section around Boaz is very fine for the growing of the peach and the entire section will contribute to the factory once it is started.

Killed by Train While Asleep.

Mobile, Ala.—Chris Bozeman, a piano tuner of Fulton, Ala., was instantly killed by an incoming passenger train of the Louisville and Nashville railroad while asleep on the track.

Sheriff Denies Lynching.

Camden, Ala.—G. L. Albritton, sheriff of this county, stated that the reported lynching of two negroes near Pine Annie is absolutely untrue.

BOMB THROWN IN CROWD

Cossacks Charge Those Who Try to Aid Victims.

TERRORISM REIGNS IN MOSCOW

Five Arrests Follow the Occurrence—Evening Promenades Thrown Into State of Panic—Brutality Again Shown by Czar's Troops, Who Show No Mercy to Onlookers.

Moscow, Russia.—Insurrectionary violence is rampant and dynamite was employed with probably fatal effect in the thick of a throng in Theatre Square, several persons being injured more or less severely. A bomb that must have been of exceptional size was hurled into the centre of a crowd crossing the square when the evening promenade was at its height. It exploded as it struck the ground, the sound being heard at opposite ends of the city. Fearful confusion followed the explosion, and when the smoke and dust cleared away at least half a dozen persons were prostrate a short distance from the spot on which the bomb struck, and dozens of others were struggling to their feet in a large ring. Groans from the injured mingled with the shrieks of women, the cries of frightened men, the curses of Cossacks and the signal whistles of detectives mixed with the people.

The crowd fled to the opposite side of the square, then paused and turned to ascertain the result of the explosion. A few of the more courageous hastened to the spot to lift the wounded from the ground. Three of those who did so were seized by the police and rushed out of the square to a barracks in a neighboring street. A sputa of Cossacks responded to the call of members of a Cossack patrol, who scattered in search of the larger body immediately after the bomb burst. The whole company of soldiers charged the crowd, slashing right and left with their whips and felling more than a score of persons with the flats of their sabres.

Five arrests were made in all. One of the captives was hurt terribly by a fragment of the bomb that struck the side of his head, stunning him and inflicting a deep gash. He was unconscious when dragged from the square by Cossacks. Indignant cries broke from the watching throng when he was seized, and it was then that the sputa, in close formation, made its charge. It is reported several bad casualties resulted from the onslaught of the soldiers and that five or six of the injured were hurried from the place by their friends before the police obtained their names. Terror reigned in all that part of the city after the explosion, and at an early hour in the evening the square practically was deserted.

Uprisings are reported from all sides, accompanied by plunder of wealthy estates and the burning of country houses. One of the most aggressive of those movements was the sack of a mansion owned by Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, in the Orel government. Everything portable was taken from the house by the marauders and the rest of the property was burned. Hundreds of prize cattle were driven off or killed and outbuildings went under the torch. Similar outrages were perpetrated in the plunder of an estate in the Dimitrov district that had belonged to Grand Duke Sergius. That property is close to Moscow and the flames were seen from the city. Cossacks were hurried to the estate, but they got there too late to capture any of the mob.

Warsaw.—Mutiny by reservists in Woloskowsk to escape Manchurian service resulted in the sentence of four of them to penal servitude for life, and of eight mutineers to twenty years. Five of their comrades were put to death on Monday. The mutiny was regarded as particularly dangerous, because the reservists evidently exerted strong influence over the other troops. Woloskowsk is an important recruiting station in the government of Grodno, and if the disaffection had not been checked promptly it probably would have assumed perilous proportions. The mutineers did everything in their power to stir other commands to rebellion, as was brought out by testimony in the course of the court martial that convicted and sentenced them.

NO WORK AT PORT ARTHUR.

Japanese Not Taking Trouble to Retortify Now.

London, Eng.—A despatch to the Evening News from Chetov states that the work of retortifying Port Arthur has come to a standstill. The garrison consists of only 4000 men. The siege guns and most of the soldiers have been sent northward. A few large guns have been mounted here and there to protect the city.

The ruined docks and the sunken Russian warships are untouched.

COMPULSORY MUTUALIZATION.

Wisconsin Assembly Passes a Bill Requiring It of Insurance Companies.

Madison, Wis.—The Wisconsin Assembly passed the bill providing for the compulsory mutualization of life insurance companies when a company acquires $20,000,000 of insurance. The bill requires the companies to apply annually ten per cent. or more of their surplus and earnings to the redemption of their bonds.

STRIKERS BURN NINE SHOPS.

Torch Used at Kharkoff and Several Persons Are Injured.

Kharkoff, Russia.—Nine shops and the Sushal Arcade were burned. The damage was $500,000. The cause, it was feared, was incendiarism. Nine persons were injured.

Any town will grow and prosper if its citizenship wish it to.

The Japs are somewhat on the Rough Rider order themselves.

Why not organize a Commercial Club, or an Industrial Association?

New York has been administered a dose of negro at the hands of the President.

The railroad fever is in town, now let's start a fever for some manufactory.

All the people of Alabama are glad Governor Jelks has been fully restored to good health.

Today's war news boiled down for busy readers is just this: the Russians are still running.

John D. Robafeller is said to be worth more money than all the citizens of Alabama combined.

The Clanton Banner, last week had an interesting write up of the Soldier's Home at Mountain Creek.

During the enforced absence of Governor Jelks, Governor Cunningham has made a model Executive.

At the battle of Mukden, the Japs captured more soldiers than the United States has in its entire army.

The Czar is credited with having a whole lot of sense, but he hasn't sense enough to know when he is ticked.

No member of the Alabama delegation in congress voted for the mileage grab bill, which is to their credit.

Kuropatkin is also a great general, but the trouble is that greatness in defeat doesn't count for much.

Justice has been bucked, gagged and blinded in Colorado, and the Republicans of that State are responsible for the infamy.

Commercial Clubs can do a great deal for a town. Columbiana has no such organization. Concerted action will help any town.

O. Z. Henderson, mayor of Aniston, died early last Saturday morning of congestion of the brain—having been ill but a few hours.

Only two absolute monarchies are in existence—Russia and the Standard Oil Co., and the twentieth century has both of them on the run.

A verdict of guilty was brought in against Mrs. Chadwick, and she was given a sentence of fourteen years, and fines aggregating seventy thousand dollars.

Walker county has two superintendents for its poor farm. The old one just wouldn't let go, and the new one has moved into one of the houses on the farm.

After a fight in the Missouri legislature, lasting since January, Major Wm. Warner was elected United States Senator last week to succeed Senator Cockerell.

Congressman Sydney J. Bowie has returned home from Washington. According to the Washington Star Mrs. Bowie was the handsomest woman in the capitol city this winter.

According to a Washington dispatch the president instructed Commissioner of Corporations Garfield to cut out of his report anything of a criminal nature he might find against the beef trust.

More corn and hogs, and less cotton, is the song of the Shelby county farmer just now, and if they put into practice the theory advanced every one of them will be better off when the harvest time comes.

Hint to busy people: Read the first chapter of a novel to get the lay of the land. Then turn to the last ten lines in the book, and you have located the heroine in the hero's arms, without worrying your head about what happened between.

One can notice in the daily papers every day where some Alabama town has secured some kind of a manufacturing enterprise.

Cannot Columbiana get something of this kind if a concerted effort is made? We should not become so wrapped up in self as to neglect opportunities which would benefit the town. Columbiana should be one of the best towns in the State; newspaper talk alone will not make it so. Manufacturing enterprises are not going to come without an invitation.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Governor Jelks, in his return to take charge of the reins of government after an absence of a year, is sincerely congratulated upon his recovery to health, and the hope is entertained by an admiring people that this has been complete and lasting, and that he may be able, not only to reassume and finish the duties of his term, but that he may be spared long years more to the benefit of his country.

The State is to be congratulated, too, that it was so well provided, in the emergency, with a Lieutenant Governor, to carry on the administration during the absence of the chief Executive. Hon. Russell M. Cunningham, hastily recalled from Europe, whither he had gone to perfect himself in the science of Surgery, took over the affairs of state with a master hand, and has conducted them during the past year with the ability of a veteran. He has demonstrated, thoroughly, his capacity, his statesmanship, his patriotism, his splendid judgment and general fitness for the duties of the high office, which, through the affliction of Governor Jelks, he was called upon to execute. In choosing the next Governor, the people can rest upon the assurance that in Russell M. Cunningham they have one tried, tested and true.

Governor William Dorsey Jelks, who has been in New Mexico for the past year for the benefit of his health, returned to Alabama last Friday, and has again assumed control of the affairs of state. Acting Governor Russell M. Cunningham has returned to his home in Ensley.

Dr. Cunningham is a native Alabamian, having been born in Lawrence county. He chose Medicine for his profession, and has made himself eminent in all its branches. He is the founder and genius of a notable infirmary at Ensley, where, for years, he has lived. He is in the prime of life; blessed with a vigorous constitution and physical hardihood; graced with charming manner and many magnetic attributes. He has strength, endurance, energy, vim and determination, guided by an intellect that does full credit to those qualities. His honesty is simple, rugged; visible in every feature, and in every act, public or private. One in his presence recognizes that he stands before an incarnation of sincerity and truth.

It followed, in the nature of things, that Dr. Cunningham would be called to the service of the State, and, hence, in 1890, he was elected to represent Franklin county, where he then lived, in the General Assembly. Later he removed to Jefferson county, and in 1896, was chosen State Senator from that district. In 1898, he was elected President of the Senate. He represented his district in the late Constitutional Convention, and became our first Lieutenant Governor under the terms of the instrument then adopted, in which capacity he is now serving. In all these trusts he has been faithful, has shown marked aptitude, ability and advancement in the science of statecraft.

He is a forceful orator, possessing all those qualities which so readily and surely attract the people. He is ripe in experience, mature in judgment, strong in body, tireless in energy, patriotic in purpose, pure in principle. In short, he combines in himself the material of which the right kind of public servants are made. Besides all this, Dr. Cunningham hails from the greatest county in the State, in point of population, wealth and material resources, and one which has been singularly modest in her calls on public favor, in the matter of offices.

In all his acts during the absence of Governor Jelks he was prompted only by a desire to do that which was right and just, and with an utter lack of assumption or bigotry. His appointments have been excellent—choosing such men as were fitted and capable—showing no favoritism whatever, and in every action displaying a high regard for the policies and wishes of Governor Jelks.

Dr. Cunningham has made an ideal Governor, and The Sentinel wishes to endorse, now and here, this honorable, noble son of Alabama for the next Governorship, and that this well-earned honor may be awarded him without contest or protest from any source.

The appointment of a negro, by the President, to be collector of internal revenue in New York City was a pretty severe jolt to those Republicans who have been applauding Roosevelt for appointing negroes to federal offices in the Southern States. Many of them have howled long and loud.

No greater crime against law and order has ever been committed in this country than the one perpetrated in Colorado a few days ago, by a Republican legislature, when Governor Adams, Democrat, was ousted from the Executive chair—a place to which he had been honorably elected—and the defeated Peabody installed as Governor. Rich corporations demanded that Adams be ousted, and as the Republican party is a tool of the corporations the infamous outrage was perpetrated.

At the first meeting of the Alabama railroad commission under its new president, B. B. Comer, the latter proposed a special meeting for March 22 to regulate fertilizer rates, contending that the April meeting would be too late for this season. He also moved to have the April meeting to take up the rates on farm implements and live stock. On both these propositions he was promptly voted down by the two associate commissioners. These matters will go to record, and will not be soon forgotten.—Roanoke Leader.

Brother Ward, of the Talladega Reporter, and Brother Whitaker, of the Columbiana Sentinel, are in favor of holding the Alabama Press Association outing at Biloxi, on the coast. Biloxi is one of the best fishing waters outside of Galveston we know of, and provided the Executive Committee will put the bridge on some of the members and not let them talk over five minutes we are in favor of it. The editors of Alabama need to get better acquainted with one another, and outing on the coast will be the means of knowing each other better. If one tires of the continuous session, he can sail over to Ship Island, Dauphin Island and several other places and get relieved of that tired feeling. We believe a week on the coast would be a recreation and pleasure for the craft, or if the quarantine is not on let them take a trip to Cuba. But cut the papers short, or else have them practical.—Centerville Press.

One farmer marketed 50 bales of cotton in one day at Huntsville last week, and received $2,460 for the bunch. Evidently they don't believe in holding cotton up in that section.

A Philadelphia man has embarked in the manufacture of eggs. That's all right, but the eggs we eat we want made in the good old fashioned way.

Has one great hobby, and that is SHOES.

A good shoe is desired by everyone, and to get the very best has been Mr. Johnston's aim. The best is the cheapest in the end, and when you come to think of it, they cost but little more, if any, than a poor shoe. Money is none to plentiful and you want all you can get for your dollars.

Johnston Sells Groceries, too.

"Opportunity knocks at your door but once in a lifetime."

New Matting.

We have just received a new line of matting—some of the prettiest figures and designs we have seen. Come in and see it and you will throw away that worn and faded piece at home and buy new.

Closing Out Stock.

We are closing out our Furniture Stock, and if you need anything in this line now is time to get it. You will find every piece a bargain both in quality and price. All must go.

Are You Gardening?

If so, you want the best seed you can buy. We have a varied supply and it is warranted to grow. We keep seed for anything that grows in garden or field—and the best.

High Grade Fertilizers.

Farmers, do not throw away your money in buying a poor grade fertilizer. You expect results from its use or you would not buy. We keep only the best grades—warranted to bring results—what you want.

—Go to see—

MILNER & CHRISTIAN.

—the Leaders—

Spring Dry Goods.

Our new stock of Spring Dry Goods is coming in now, and we cordially invite the ladies to call and examine it. New shades, new patterns and new designs are all shown in the Spring styles—all are beautiful.

Death of C. C. DuBose.

The people of Columbiana were shocked last Saturday morning on hearing that Clarence C. DuBose had been found dead in his bed at the Central Hotel. Mr. DuBose was on the street as late as 10 o'clock the night before, and was apparently in good health. His death was due to heart failure. When found he was lying in the bed in a perfectly natural position, and his features were as composed as though he were sleeping naturally.

Clarence C. DuBose was born in Atlanta, Ga., on July 5, 1860, and would have been forty-five years old had he lived until next July. When about ten years old he came to Columbiana with his parents and with the exception of a few months this has been his home for about thirty-five years. About sixteen years ago he married Miss Annie Roberson, in Indianapolis, Ind., and the fruits of that union are four children, three of whom are now living. He finished his schooling when he graduated from the University of Alabama a few years before his marriage. He was a learned man and could talk intelligently upon almost any subject. Mr. DuBose was owner and publisher of the Chronicle in this city for a number of years; was a versatile writer, and was well known throughout the State. Since the death of his wife, last September, Mr. DuBose has been more or less despondent, and it is thought this had something to do with his early taking off. Clarence, as he was generally called by those who knew him best, was a big-hearted man, and was a good friend—a better friend to others than to himself.

He is survived by three little daughters, Gertrude, Edith and Carrie, who are making their home with their grandparents in Indianapolis, Indiana, his father, Dr. W. S. DuBose, of this city, three brothers, Gordon DuBose, of Ensley, H. C. DuBose, of Monroeville, Dr. J. J. DuBose, of Bensenville, and two sisters, Mrs. E. W. Burt, of this city, and Mrs. L. M. Dyke, of Attalla, all of whom were present at the funeral except one daughter, Edith, who was ill and could not attend. To the three little girls, the aged father, brothers and sisters is extended the deep sympathy of all our people. And especially do our people sympathize with the three little daughters who have been bereft of both mother and father within a few months.

The funeral occurred from the Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a member, Sunday afternoon, a short service being held by Rev. Joseph Duglinson, after which the remains were taken to the cemetery by the members of Shelby Lodge, No. 50, Knights of Pythias, of which Mr. DuBose was a member, and consigned to the earth through the beautiful and impressive burial service of the order, Rev. O. A. Bently, of Wilsonville, conducting the service.

Lost.

The following cotton receipts have been lost:
No. 1743, weight 561 pounds; No. 1744, weight 499 pounds; No. 1741, weight 477 pounds; No. 1718, weight 528 pounds.

The above receipts are the property of the Columbiana Mercantile Company, and all parties are warned against negotiating for the same.

CALERA.

After the long severe winter and two weeks of beautiful spring-like weather, I will again let you hear from the "crossing."

The general health of the town is good—only two cases of sickness—Dr. Field and Mrs. Dr. Blevins are under treatment of physicians.

We have very few visitors from farmers; they are busy preparing for the coming crop. Town people are as well up with their gardens.

Manager Thorson, of the Diminick Land Co. is grading streets and sidewalks in front of his property, and other property is being improved.

H. O. Basset has opened a new drug store on the corner of Montgomery avenue, and Gardner street, in the Wade building.

Capt. J. W. Johnston, of Columbiana, was a visitor to the "crossing" one day last week.

Calera has preaching twice every Sunday, and prayer meeting three nights in the week.

I hear it talked now that Calera will very soon have a brick yard, and a local telephone system in operation.

UNCLE SAM.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon DuBose, of Ensley, H. C. DuBose, of Monroeville, and Dr. J. J. DuBose, of Bensenville, were called here Sunday by the death of their brother, C. C. DuBose.

Shelby County Cotton Growers.

The Cotton Growers Protective Association of Shelby County met in Columbiana, Ala., March 18, 1905, and was called to order by Judge Longshore.

1. The county President, Hosea Pearson, being reported ill, Col. W. T. Smith was called to the chair.

2. An address was delivered by Col. Smith on the purposes of this organization, showing clearly the vital importance of the farmers' hearty co-operation.

3. Col. Smith was unanimously elected chairman for the day.

4. The county secretary, W. E. Finley, tendered his resignation which was accepted.

5. G. D. Baldwin was elected secretary to succeed Mr. Finley.

6. The chairman called for reports from the various beats of the county and in response several beats were heard from, showing a tendency to reduce the acreage of last year at least 25 per cent on general average, but in some instances a great deal larger percentage.

7. A motion was adopted to adjourn forty minutes for dinner.

8. At 1:45 the association was called to order by the chairman.

9. A motion was offered to request the secretary of this organization to write the secretary of the State organization for at least 50 copies of the Constitution and By-laws of the Cotton Growers' Association, also for blanks for membership, and reports from the various beats, which was adopted.

10. A motion was offered and adopted requesting the delegates or treasurers of the various beats to pay over all money due the county and State organizations which they now hold to the treasurer of the county organization.

11. A motion was adopted requesting the President of each beat to appoint a committee to canvass their respective beats in order to obtain true reports on the reduction of acreage and commercial fertilizers, the number of bales of cotton on hand, etc.

12. A motion was adopted to authorize the county secretary draw from the treasurer money sufficient to pay for stationery used in the work of the organization.

13. Another motion was adopted requesting the Probate Judge of this county to cause to be printed in both of our county papers the law regarding the analysis of commercial fertilizers.

14. Judge Longshore delivered a short oration which was listened to attentively by the audience. He also offered some resolutions, as follows, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, First, That we, as members of the Cotton Growers Protective Association of Shelby county, in convention assembled, hereby pledge ourselves to reduce the acreage of cotton planted in 1905, 25 per cent less than we planted in 1904, in order to reduce the amount of fertilizer used accordingly. That, whereas the reports from the various beat organizations show a reduction in acreage and amount of fertilizers used, of more than 25 per cent, therefore be it Resolved, 2d, That this convention express its hearty approval of the firm adherence made by the farmers to the requests of the State and National organizations, as to the reduction of acreage, and the use of fertilizer.

3rd, That we urge the cotton growers of Shelby county to stand firm, and remain true to their pledges, believing that this is the surest and best course that can be pursued.

4th, That we warn the farmers of Shelby county against signing notes, debarring them of the right, to have analyzed the fertilizer sold to them.

15. On motion the Association adjourned to convene again on Saturday, the 15th day of April, 1905, at 10 a. m.

G. D. BALDWIN, Sec.
A. P. LONGSHORE, Treasurer.

Dry Valley Items.

John S. Oldham and wife, of Birmingham, are visiting friends and relatives here this week.

Frank Fallon returned from Birmingham last Saturday with his little son, Clarence, where he had undergone an operation for appendicitis. The little fellow is doing nicely.

George Crump, of Birmingham, is visiting here this week. George has just recovered from an attack of pneumonia, and he does not resemble a prize fighter by any means.

Spring has opened and our farmers are getting their lands ready for planting. There will be a reduction in this community of 25 per cent acreage in the cotton planting, and an increase of corn and hogs of 50 per cent.

The friends of Geo. W. Randall will be glad to know that he is convalescent after a very severe attack of the grip.

Mrs. N. C. Moore and Mrs. R. L. Woolley went down to Mobile on an extended visit, and to take in the sights of Mardi Gras.

Mrs. J. B. Wiggins has been confined to her room for several weeks with a severe attack of grip.

Miss Ida Horn, principal of the Session's Chapel school, was unable to teach last week because of an attack of grip, and her chair was filled by Miss Nannie Sessions.

N. T. and W. E. Lucas were running their grain several days last which seemed to be very much out of season.

Mrs. Florence Y. Hudson, teacher of telegraphy in the college at Montevallo, was an only visitor in our community last week.

C. H. Strain, well known in this section of the county, died at the home of his father in the Kingdom neighborhood, last Sunday, and was buried Monday.

His death was caused by cerebro meningitis. The deceased was about forty years old and was a bachelor. He was held in high esteem by those who knew him as a man of integrity and sterling character. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved.

Dr. L. M. Lathan, of Montevallo, was in the city a day or two last week visiting relatives.

Endorsed by Judge A. P. Longshore

I have been requested several times to make a statement as to what I thought of the Mutual Life Industrial Association of Georgia, but have declined to do so until now. I have been making an investigation for the last six months as to the merits of the Association and have reached the conclusion that it is the safest and cheapest insurance offered to the people. I have taken Three Thousand Dollars in it, and take pleasure in recommending it to the people.

A. P. Longshore.

For Sale.

The Columbiana Land Co. has the following property for sale, but the prices quoted will only hold good for only a short time:

Good six-room house and one acre of ground in Montevallo; good location, convenient to the Girl's Industrial School, price $750.

Sixty acres (30 acres cleared) one mile north of Columbiana. Part of east half of southwest quarter, and part of west half of southwest quarter, section 14, township 21, range 1 west. Valued at $10.00 per acre; one-third cash, balance on time.

A 5-room dwelling house, near school house in Columbiana, with one acre and a half of land attached, including garden and orchards. Will sell or rent at a bargain.

Out of 1500 New York policemen, only six qualified in the recent revolver practice. This should serve as a friendly warning to the "Innocent Bystander," admonishes the New York Sun.

The prices obtained in New York this week at the sales of several hundred horses, averaging about $700 a head, do not suggest the speedy coming of the "horseless age," of which we hear so much talk in the these days of automobiles.

To mitigate the asperities of tooth pulling is a human endeavor—the intention is worthy of applause even if it falls in some degrees short of its aim, declares the New York Times. But a Paris dentist who has recently been trying music as an anaesthetic to allay the pangs of his customers encountered legal opposition in the proceeding and was pulled up before a local court to answer. The ground of complaint against him was that in the Pharmacopoeia music was not recognized as an anodyne and that his use of it in such a way was irregular and unprofessional. He was let off with a small fine and a judicial admonition not to stretch the powers of melody hereafter to such an imaginative degree.

Since some genius discovered about five years ago that the familiar principle by which a full pail of water is swung overhead could be applied to a wheeled vehicle running on an inclined roadway with a kink in it, one sensation has followed another, states the New York Evening Post. First there were little cars running on rails. Then a man practised standing up in the car until he felt confident enough to make the trip on a bicycle. The next year so many men could do it on bicycles that every third-rate circus had one of them. Then, in rapid succession, we believe, came the man who performed the trick on roller skates, and the one who used but a single wheel. A year ago a daring rider took out the top section of the loop entirely, and made a third of the circle with no visible means of support. There never was a better illustration of the psychological principle that a thing which a man would think absolutely impossible, if he had to try it by himself, becomes relatively easy when he knows that some one else has been doing it without mishap.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Cincinnati Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—About nine months ago I was a great sufferer with womb trouble, which caused me severe pain extreme nervousness and frequent headaches, from which the doctor failed to relieve me. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and within a short time felt better, and after taking five bottles of it I was entirely cured. I therefore heartily recommend your Compound as a splendid uterine tonic. It makes the monthly periods regular and without pain; and what a blessing it is to find such a remedy after so many doctors fail to help you. I am pleased to recommend it to all suffering women. Mrs. Sara Wilson, 31 East 3d Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

If you have suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, leucorrhoea, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, some derangement of the uterus or ovarian trouble. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A QUICK RECOVERY.

A Prominent Officer of the Rebecca Writes to Thank Doan's Kidney Pills For It.

Mrs. C. E. Bumgardner, a local officer of the Rebecca, of Topeka, Kans., room 10, 812 Kansas avenue, writes: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills during the past year for kidney trouble and kindred ailments. I was suffering from pains in the back and headaches, but found after the use of one box of the remedy that the troubles gradually disappeared, so that before I had finished a second package I was well. I, therefore, heartily endorse your remedy."

COLUMBIANA, ALA., MARCH 30 1905

VOL. 30. NO. 30.

WARSAW'S CHIEF NOW

A Victim of Bomb—Six Policemen Injured—Bomb Thrower Escapes.

HE IS VERY CORDIALLY HATED.

Officer is Badly Injured, But Believed He Will Recover From Effects of the Explosion.

Warsaw—A bomb was thrown into the carriage of Baron von Nolken chief of police of Warsaw, at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. It was reported that the Baron was severely wounded.

11:30 p. m.—According to the latest information the attack on Baron von Nolken was the result of an elaborate conspiracy of the revolutionary party. Shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday night an elegantly dressed man went to the police station at Praga, a large suburb of Warsaw, on the other side of the Vistula, and threw a bomb into the court yard of the station, wounding seven persons, two of them dangerously. The man started to run away, but was caught by the captain of the station. He was found to be a Jew, but his identity has not been discovered.

Nolken Starts to Scene.
A telephone message was immediately sent to Baron von Nolken at the city hall informing him of the outrage. Baron von Nolken, accompanied by a police officer, took a carriage and started immediately for Praga. When passing the castle where the governor general resides, a man standing on the pavement threw a bomb at the carriage. Baron von Nolken, who was sitting on the side nearest the assailant, received the full charge of the bomb, while his companion escaped unhurt. The coachman was thrown from the box and the carriage was smashed.

Baron von Nolken was removed to the city hall and doctors were summoned, who found he had received injuries on the head, neck, arm and leg, which are believed to be serious.

Meanwhile the police officer accompanying Baron von Nolken saw the bomb-thrower fleeing, and pursued and caught up with him, but the criminal proved the stronger and tore himself away.

Another policeman fired twice after him without result. Half an hour later a man was found dead in Bowia street, whom the police believe to be the bomb-thrower. The police think the man shot himself to escape arrest.

Girl Wounded by Splinter.
A girl, who was passing the spot when the bomb was thrown, was wounded by splinters, and had to be taken to the hospital.

According to the theory of the police, the revolutionists calculated upon Baron von Nolken going to Praga on learning of the explosion of the bomb at the station, and knew he must pass the castle, that being the only road in which he could reach the only bridge across the Vistula. The affair occasioned great excitement. Several rumors say the revolutionists adopted this course of informing the police that they have more bombs besides those discovered in the Powanskie cemetery Saturday.

Baron von Nolken is very unpopular. He is hated by the masses of the Polish population, who hold him responsible for the sanguinary suppression of the disturbances here at the end of January. He has been here only a year, having come from St. Petersburg, where he was chief of the mounted division of the police.

Numerous Arms Discovered.
Moscow—An organized depot of arms and bombs was discovered recently on the premises of a rich merchant named Barazoff. Investigation disclosed a conspiracy to distribute the arms. There have been over 800 arrests in connection with the affair.

Curtis Jett Gets New Trial.
Frankfort, Ky.—A new trial for Curtis Jett, under sentence to hang for the assassination of J. B. Marcum, in Breathitt county, was ordered by the court of appeals. The case came up from the Harrison circuit court, and is one of the feud murders in connection with which Judge Hargis, Senator Hargis, Elbert Hargis and Sheriff Ed Callahan are now held at Lexington.

A fourth trial of Caleb Powers for the assassination of Governor Goebel will begin in a short time, the court of appeals having overruled the petition of the commonwealth for a rehearing.

Fire at Anheuser-Busch Plant.

St. Louis, Mo.—The freight depot of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association located in the center of its immense freight yards in the southern part of the city was totally destroyed by fire Sunday night, together with 17 refrigerator cars, the property of the St. Louis Refrigerating Car Company, of which Adolphus Busch is the president. The total loss is estimated at $125,000.

Six Policemen Injured.

Warsaw—According to later information, the bomb which exploded at the Praga police station was not thrown into the courtyard, but into a room of the station where the men assembled before going on duty. Six policemen were wounded and all the furniture, as well as one wall, was destroyed. The bomb-thrower, in trying to escape, met a policeman and shot twice, wounding the officer in the stomach. The prisoner himself was wounded, and has been placed in the hospital.

The man found dead in Sowia street proves to be a plain clothes policeman, who was seen pursuing Baron von Nolken's assailant. The police believe that the latter turned on the policeman and shot him dead.

Baron von Nolken's injuries are serious, but it is thought that he will recover.

Attempt to Assassinate.

Thomasville, Ga.—Officers report an attempted assassination at Wildwood, the winter home of Charles H. Thorne, a Chicago millionaire, six miles from this city.

The alleged attempt was made on Mrs. John Parker, daughter of Capt. John Nolan, Mr. Thorne's superintendent. Mrs. Parker's home is in Chicago and she has been spending the winter with her father here.

The evidence of the attempted killing was shown in the tracks of a man who appeared to have knelt about thirty feet from the window where Mrs. Parker was passing, where he deliberately aimed a gun at her, the bullet almost grazing her head. Two supposed clues have proved fruitless. There is no known motive for the crime.

Statements Are Premature.

San Domingo, Republic of Santo Domingo.—Statements published in the United States that diplomats here and fiscal representatives of foreign governments which are creditors of Santo Domingo have, after a conference, agreed on a temporary settlement of the financial questions involving this republic, are premature. Foreign creditors, principally Italy and Belgium, are taking advantage of the deferring of convention between the United States and Santo Domingo and the Venezuelan situation to determine the payment of their claims.

Eighty Bombs Discovered.

Warsaw—The police discovered eighty bombs today hidden in a brick grave in the Powonska cemetery in Warsaw. M. Meximovitch, the governor general of Warsaw, received the foreign consuls, officials, clergy and civilians this morning, and in his speech promised an impartial government without prejudice to any nationality. The speech has made a most favorable impression in Polish circles.

Alabama Shipping Radishes.

Georgiana, Ala.—The radish growers of this place will begin shipping to the eastern and western markets this week, and when this crop is off they will be ready to furnish the people in the cold climate, east and west, strawberries, Irish potatoes and peas. The Louisville and Nashville railroad is building additional tracks here to enable them to handle the business at this place.

Increase in Vegetable Raising.

Georgiana, Ala.—The local merchants at this place sold last year sixty-five car loads of commercial fertilizer and from information had from the railroad agent, this year's demands will call for about eighty-five cars. The farmers have reduced their acreage in cotton and are planting strawberries, vegetables, fruits and more corn, peas and potatoes than ever before.

Dies on a Train.

Childersburg, Ala.—Miss Willie F. Harding, a passenger from Perry, Ga., to Wausauville, in charge of her mother and father, died of tuberculosis in a sleeper on train No. 3 between Sylacauga and Childersburg.

More Coal Starts South.

Pittsburg, Pa.—More than 1,500,000 bushels of coal was started south Sunday. This amount, with what has gone before on the present rise, will total about five million. The rivers, though falling slowly, are still high, and the shippers believe there will be a coal-boat stage for some days yet.

Charcoal Furnace To Blow In.

Gadsden, Ala.—The Coosa Iron Company will blow in a charcoal furnace at Gadsden shortly. The demand for both kinds of iron, coke and charcoal, is very steady and good prices obtain. The railroads announce another extension of the rate from West Virginia to this district on coke.

Fire Destroys Lumber Mill.

Orange, Tex.—Fire destroyed the mill of the Orange Lumber Company, and 60,000 feet of lumber, the loss being $75,000, with an insurance of $47,000. The mill will be rebuilt.

Lexington, Ky.—Clem Beachy sold to Brook Curry, Slicka, trotter, b. c., by Moke, dam Sileion, for $2,500. His dam holds the 2-year-old trotting record of 2:13 1-2.

OCEAN LINERS STRIKE

And the Passengers on Hugh Vessels are Thrown Into a Panic.

TUGS COME TO THE RESCUE.

Albana Strikes the Parisian and Watter Begins to Pour Into Both Vessels—Steer for the Pier.

Halifax, N. S.—Two great trans-Atlantic liners, the Parisian of the Allan line, and the Albano, a Hamburg-American boat, both bound in, heavily laden with passengers, collided off the harbor's entrance Saturday. Both were seriously damaged, but reached their docks, and landed their passengers safely. The Parisian's stern touched bottom as she reached her wharf, while constant pumping kept the Albano free.

Both steamers were from European ports, the Parisian from Liverpool, England, and Moville, and the Albano from Hamburg. The Parisian had on board a thousand passengers, many of whom were bound for another port, St. John, N. B. The Albano carried about 800 passengers, nearly all for Philadelphia.

Parisian Tries to Escape.

The Parisian arrived off the entrance to the harbor at dusk, and was taking a pilot on board, when the Albano was seen coming in from sea. As the Albano approached the officers of the Parisian realized that there was danger of a collision, and the engine rooms were signalled for full speed ahead. Before the Parisian could get under way, however, the Albano struck her on the starboard side, a short distance astern of the engine room, crushing in the great steel plates and opening up a hole through which the water poured into her.

The bow plates of the Albano were bent, and the stem was twisted, but the water-tight compartments were promptly closed, and her pumps set vigorously at work.

Headed in at Full Speed.

Immediately following the collision the steamers headed into the harbor at full speed, the Parisian with a heavy list to the starboard, and the Albano somewhat down at the head. The Parisian had considerable water in her stern, which was also sinking deeper as she steamed along. Both vessels whistled for help and every tug in the harbor responded, and as the Parisian appeared in greater danger, several ranged themselves alongside that vessel and assisted in the pumping.

The passengers on board both vessels begged that the tugboats take them off, but the little steamers clung tenaciously to the side of the liner and never left her until she was safe at her dock. Many of the passengers rushed excitedly about the decks, while others knelt in prayer. Within a few minutes all had been supplied with life preservers, while the life boats were ready for instant launching in case the vessels showed signs of foundering.

Suspense Was Intense.

The suspense of those on board the Parisian was intense. Great volumes of water were pouring into the vessel, the engines quivered with the exertion of running the vessel at top speed. Half way up the harbor her stern had settled many feet, and the list to starboard had become most pronounced, but the steamer kept on with the fleet of tugs alongside working to keep her afloat.

As the vessel came alongside her wharf lines were thrown out, gangplanks lowered, and a thousand passengers rushed to land as the stern of the vessel touched the bottom.

The Albano had a somewhat similar experience, although her pumps were able to keep her bow compartments fairly free, so that the alarm on board was not so great. The Albano reached her dock a short time after the Parisian, and the passengers hurried ashore.

According to Captain Johnson, of the Parisian, the Albano was approaching from sea, signalled that she would pass astern of the Allan liner, but a moment later headed for the Parisian. Captain Johnson said that he rang orders to the engine room to go ahead full speed, and his vessel had just attained headway when the Albano struck the Parisian. The bow of the Albano smashed a hole twelve feet wide and extending from the rail to below the water's edge. After the collision, the Albano drew off and hastily securing a pilot followed the Parisian into port.

Girl Stops a Jail Escape.

Scottdale, Ala.—A daring attempt to escape jail was nipped in the bud Friday night by Miss Lula Austin, daughter of Sheriff D. O. Austin.

She found three of the steel bars cut which would have admitted the prisoners to the main corridor, and the rest would have been easy. She made them surrender the saws—six in number. All visitors are now prohibited by orders of the sheriff.

Had Just Attained Headway.

Meantime, the passengers of the Parisian became panic stricken. The deck was well filled with passengers, many of whom were immigrants, bound to the Canadian northwest. These rushed about the deck, women fainted, and there was a mad scramble for life preservers.

The Parisian is one of the finest steamers in the Allan fleet and carried on this trip 400 sacks of mail and 1,100 tons general cargo. An examination of her tonight showed the entire aft hold to be filled with water as far forward as the engine room compartment. She rests on mud bottom. On the opposite side of the same pier is berthed the Albano, with her twisted stern and damaged bow plates. It is believed that she can be temporarily repaired, so as to proceed on her voyage to Philadelphia.

Terribly Beaten.

Gadsden, Ala.—Odell Hatley, 13 years old, was terribly beaten up Saturday by Jeff Hinds, aged 18, in the work room at the cotton mill of the Dwight Manufacturing Company in Alabama City. Hatley was found unconscious at his work and taken home, it being supposed that he had been caught in the machinery, although his clothing did not show this.

Hatley's head and face were terribly beaten and bruised and his skull fractured, a piece of skull one inch wide and four inches long being removed. Hatley rallied after several hours and stated that he had been assaulted by Jeff Hinds, who beat him with a heavy piece of steel.

Murderer Captured.

Scottdale, Ala.—T. J. Harrison, who shot and instantly killed Thomas Lynneville last December at Section on Sand Mountain, was captured on Wednesday morning on Sand Mountain near the DeKalb county line by Messrs. J. W. Griesenhall and Jim and John Reed, his near neighbors, who had been watching Harrison's house for several nights, having gotten word that he had returned to his old haunts. There was an outstanding reward of $250 for his arrest.

Inter-Country Electric Line.

Selma, Ala.—The next inter-country enterprise that will spring into existence in this part of Alabama and one which will probably pave the way for other similar ones, will be an electric car line from Selma to Marion.

A subscription list headed by the wealthiest and most prosperous business men of both Selma and Marion will be started probably next week, and it is believed that it will not be long before work on the talked-of road will begin. A crude estimate on the cost of the electric car line is $200,000.

Making Charcoal Iron.

Shelby, Ala.—The Shelby Iron Co. has blown in their No. 2 furnace at Shelby, manufacturing charcoal iron again after a shut down of five months. There is an increased demand for charcoal iron, car wheel works and others using this class of iron needing raw material.

Wreck on the L. and N. Road.

Selma, Ala.—The Friday night Louisville and Nashville train from Flomaton, due in this city at 6:35 p. m., didn't arrive until nearly 9 o'clock, having been delayed by a wreck near Repton.

Six cars of freight were derailed near Repton, and it required several hours for the wrecking train at Pensacola, Fla., to get to the scene and clear the track.

Kills His Bride.

Atlanta, Ga.—A special from Jasper, Ga., says a young man named Glazier killed his bride Saturday evening, and that a posse is in pursuit of him to avenge the deed.

Glazier, who is about 20 years of age, had been married but a short time to his wife, four years his junior. They had separated for some unknown cause and she had gone to live with her mother. Glazier came to their home Saturday evening, asking the girl to return and live with him. Her mother aided his entreaties and she finally consented. They had been gone but a short time when shots were heard, and the young woman was found dead in the road, shot through the heart. Glazier had disappeared, and the sheriff of the county with an organized band of men is searching for him. Both families were well connected.

DeLoach Falls from Roof.

Anniston, Ala.—J. K. DeLoach, a well-known property owner, fell from the top of one of his houses in West Anniston and was badly injured. Mr. DeLoach was occupied in repairing the roof when in some manner he slipped and fell a distance of 20 feet to the ground.

Contract for Pipe Shops.

Gadsden, Ala.—T. F. Marlow was awarded the contract for the erection of the pipe shop buildings for the Coosa Pipe and Foundry company at $6,000, over several other bidders. Work is to be commenced at once and completed within ninety days. The main building will be 175x250 feet and will be equipped with all the latest known conveniences for the manufacture and handling of pipe and fittings.

Arrested for Striking a Boy.

Decatur, Ala.—Jim Gilbert, the negro who struck the 12-year-old son of Mr. Milam in the head with a hatchet last summer, was arrested in Birmingham a few days ago and was brought here by Officer Lem Jones. Saturday he was given a preliminary hearing and was found guilty. In default of a $2,000 bond he was sent to jail.

The boy recovered, but for a while it was thought that he would die. A posse chased Gilbert at the time, and if they had caught him he would probably have been lynched. Gilbert made good his escape and nothing was heard of him until a few days ago, when he was arrested in Birmingham.

Injured at Steel Plant.

Ensley, Ala.—While working around a ladle of hot metal at the steel plant Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock Either Drake, a well known young man, sustained several bad burns which may prove to be serious injuries. In some manner the hot metal was spilled out, badly burning Mr. Drake on the head and side.

Is Writing Her Biography.

Cleveland, O.—In an interview Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick announced that her autobiography was in preparation and soon would be given to the public. Mrs. Chadwick said she had received a handsome offer from a well-known publisher and that the work would be printed in the original style without alteration.

Lyons Is Hanged.

New Orleans, La.—Lewis Lyons, the murderer of District Attorney J. Ward Guarley, was hanged here. The crime was committed July 20, 1903. The murder was the result of Lyons' belief that the lawyer did not properly handle a damage suit case instituted by him, with the result that he (Lyons) was arrested on a charge of theft.

Weavers at Fall River Strike.

Fall River, Mass.—Two hundred weavers of the Granite Cotton Mills struck Thursday. The corporation operates three large mills and employs about 1,200 hands. The grievance is understood to be the number and method of running looms.

Children Burn to Death.

Superior, Wis.—Two small children of E. Syriang, a farmer living near Brule, set fire to the house in the absence of their parents and burned to death. They had hid under a bed for fear of a whipping for starting the fire.

Company Will Pay Fine.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—The Standard Oil Company has accepted judgment and a fine of $100 on one batch of fifty-one indictments recently returned.

Will Raise British Steamer.

Mobile, Ala.—The British schooner Georgiana left here for Roncador Reefs with an expedition for raising the cargo of the British steamer Buckingham, which foundered there with a cargo of railroad supplies in December last. The expedition is in charge of Captain Foster.

Leg Broken By a Jump.

Mobile, Ala.—Louis M. Tisdale, a well-known employee of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, is confined to his home with a broken leg. He fell in jumping from a buggy in Davis avenue.

Birmingham Man Is Arrested.

Montgomery, Ala.—George B. Alexander, of Birmingham, was arrested here charged by the government with opening a letter addressed to Rev. George B. Alexander, of New Orleans, and extracting money therefrom. Alexander secured the letter at the post-office general delivery window in New Orleans last Monday.

Indian Passes Counterfeit Money.

Montgomery, Ala.—The police have arrested Mark Longsite, alias Long-bight, a full blooded Indian on a charge of passing counterfeit money. The accused says he lives in the Indian Territory. The money is in half dollars, and is said to have been passed on a negro merchant.

Workmen Killed by Dynamite.

Wheeling, W. Va.—A quantity of dynamite was accidentally exploded near the camp of Cahill & Parnell sub-contractors on the Washab railroad extension at Okonoko, W. Va.

Details can not be ascertained, but it was ascertained that three workmen were killed and two injured.

County Treasurer Acquitted.

Pomeroy, Ohio.—The jury in the noted county treasury robbery case returned a verdict of not guilty against Treasurer T. J. Chase. The trial grows out of the robbery of the county treasury of nearly $15,000 last September in which Chase claimed he was held up by masked men, robbed and locked up in the vault.

26 Killed in a Big Landslide.

Semlin, Hungary—A great landslide occurred here Sunday. A squadron of soldiers who went to the rescue of a buried woman suffered severely, eight of their number being killed, and nineteen injured.

Riot in Riga.

Riga—In a riot here Saturday night one policeman was shot dead and two others wounded.

STILL WITH RUSSIANS

While the Retreat Has Temporarily Halted, the Japs Keep up With the Foe.

ATTACK MADE ON REAR GUARD.

Russian Army Blows Up All Railroad Bridges as They Go—Men Worn Out and Need Rest Badly.

Gunshu Pass.—The Russian retreat has reached the village of Sipinghai, seventy-four miles north of Tie Pass, where it has temporarily halted. The army has been practically without rest for months, and it is natural that fatigue should be evident. The Japanese are reported to be advancing on Sipinghai positions along the railroad and on both flanks.

A brisk action occurred near Kaliynan at five places, the Russian rear guard beating off two heavy attacks which lasted until midnight.

After blowing up railroad bridges north of Kaliynan at five places, the Russian retreat was continued March 19, 20 and 21, with only light rifle firing.

The Mukden branch of the Russo-Chinese bank removed all its moneys except $150,000.

Russians Occupy Sipinghai.

St. Petersburg.—The Russian rear guard is occupying a line of fairly strong natural positions thirty-four miles south of Gunshu Pass, the center being the railroad village of Sipinghai and the flanks covering the roads on either side, which apparently is the intention to defend long enough to force the Japanese to show their hands.

The Russians may, however, have been outflanked, and have no intention of making a serious stand, especially as all the correspondents continue to report rumors of wide turning operations on both flanks, indicating a probable basis in fact. The correspondents believe a resumption of hostilities on a grand scale and an important battle are improbable inside of three months.

People to Take Part.

St. Petersburg.—Interior Minister Boulignan's promise to the Moscow duma representatives, headed by Prince Galitzin, that representatives of the people will be allowed to participate in the deliberations of the commission which is to frame the new governmental assembly contemplated by the imperial rescript of March 3d, will be received with satisfaction by moderate liberals, and taken in connection with the announced concessions to Finland and Poland, indicates the government's intention to give heed to moderate demands. It is noticeable that M. Boulignan has left the manner of the selection of the popular representatives on the commission in the air, giving the government the opportunity to yield the point of election, instead of selection if the pressure should be too strong.

Rural Routes Established.

Washington, D. C.—Rural routes ordered established May 1: Center Grove, Morgan county, route 1, population 339, houses 97; Covin, Fayette county, route 1, population 340, houses 81; Greenville, Butler county, routes 1 and 2, population 1,329, houses 316. Hardy R. Speegle has been appointed regular, and Clay D. Speegle, substitute rural carrier, route 2, at Hartsville.

Saloonkeepers Bankrupt.

Huntsville, Ala.—S. P. Sullivan and B. F. Drake, saloonkeepers in the Decatur, filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in the United States court here. Neither of the petitioners has any assets and the liabilities of Drake amount to $3,034; those of Sullivan being $2,027.

Time Extended for Syrians.

Washington, D. C.—Minister Powell has cabled the state department from Port au Prince that the Haytian government by decree has extended from April 1 to May 15 the time allowed for Syrians holding forged naturalization American citizenship papers to withdraw from Hayti.

Two Men Killed in Wreck.

Jellico Junction, Tenn.—A freight train southbound on the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern was wrecked near here. The engineer and fireman were caught beneath the engine and roasted to death.

Warships to Leave Cuba.

Havana.—The celebration of the visit of American warships to Havana ended with a big American concert on the sea front and a carnival ball at the Cuban Athenaeum. The torpedo boat destroyer MacDonough has arrived here in advance of Rear Admiral Barker's North Atlantic fleet. The latter will appear in front of Havana, being rejoined by the visiting squadron, will proceed to Pensacola.

Alabamian Fights Over a Girl.
Columbus, Ga.—With a girl standing between them begging them not to fight, Jim Harris, armed with a pistol, and Jim Tom Hudson, with a drawn brick, advanced upon each other in front of the Muscogee boarding house on Broad street. Both are young white men.

Harris had crossed the Chattahoochee river from Alabama in a batteau to see the girl, Lizzie Worthy, a factory operative, and anticipating trouble armed himself. A quarrel arose about the girl, it is said, and Harris fired at Hudson over the girl's shoulder, the bullet missing him, however. Harris then ran to the river bank, and when the police arrived had paddled back to the Alabama shore.

No Understanding Reached.

Altoona, Pa.—Without coming to an understanding on the wage scale, the joint scale committee of the coal operators and miners adjourned to meet here again Wednesday next.

Before adjourning the joint committee appointed Coal Operator James Kerr and National Secretary W. B. Wilson, of the miners' organization, to appear before the legislative committee at Harrisburg next Monday to protest against the proposed bill to tax coal mined in Pennsylvania three cents a ton.

Until the face of the pending bill is known it would be difficult, if not impossible, to agree on a wage scale for the miners. The tax proposed would mean the collection annually of $870,000 from the coal business of the state and neither operators nor miners are willing to assume that additional tax burden.

Guatemalan Revolution.

Mexico City.—A Mexican coasting vessel recently arrived at Muege, lower California, carrying several empty cases that has been filled with Mauser rifles. The captain declared that he had passed more than 100 similar cases floating on the water and that those on board had been picked up. It is believed that the rifles which the cases contained were furnished the forces that are now said to be planning an invasion of Guatemala.

It is asserted that another war in Guatemala is probable. Guatemalan rebels, in the guise of laborers, it is said, are congregating at various points along the Guatemalan frontiers. The government of Salvador is reported in readiness to aid the rebels as soon as a revolution is launched.

350 Mile Railroad.

Knoxville, Tenn.—W. J. Oliver, a Knoxville railroad contractor, has been awarded the contract to build the New Orleans Great Northern road running north from New Orleans along the Mississippi river a distance of 350 miles.

He is to begin work at once at Silledell and the road is to be completed within one year. Oliver refuses to say who is behind the enterprise or what town is to be the northern terminus. His only comment is that it is a bona fide proposition.

A trestle ten miles long will be a feature of the road. This trestle will cross Lake Ponchartrain. Mr. Oliver claims he has had the details for two months, but has not been allowed to mention it by the capitalists back of the enterprise until their plans were fully matured.

Time Was Extended.

Washington.—Minister Powell has cabled the State Department from Port au Prince that the Haytian government by decree has extended from April 1 to May 15 the time allowed for Syrians holding forged naturalization American citizenship papers to withdraw from Hayti.

Twenty New Stars Found.

Santiago, Chile.—The astronomical expedition sent out by D. O. Mills, of New York, is rapidly accomplishing its object. Twenty double stars have been discovered.

The Mills expedition was sent from New York observatory with the sole object of searching for new stars.

Will Use Oil.

Topeka, Kas.—The battleship Kansas will be christened by breaking a bottle of Kansas crude oil over its prow in the place of a bottle of champagne as is the usual custom. This is the idea of Governor Hoch as expressed by him.

The statement was made in a conversation with A. D. Eddy, general counsel for the Standard Oil Company.

Rural Routes for Alabama.

Washington, D. C.—Rural free delivery route No. 1 will be established May 1 at McKenzie, Butler county, serving 403 people and 96 houses.

NOT SO IN SHELBY.

The Montgomery correspondent of the Ago-Herald, in speaking of the teachers of Alabama, thus soliloquizes:

"That man is prone to evil—and woman—as the sparks are to fly upward, is abundantly evidenced by the records and letters of the the Examiners' department of the State Superintendent of Education. Teachers, or rather some who would be such, stoop to all sorts of means to secure certificates, from stealing the questions and answers before examination, to chemically erasing figures and dates from lower grade papers to make them stand for more than they would legitimately in securing higher grading. Examiner Feagin finds that he needs a larger measure of grace each day to keep him from losing faith in a considerable share of his fellowmen in Alabama."

The above is a sweeping arraignment of the teachers of Alabama, and The Sentinel believes that it is an unjust reflection upon many worthy, honorable, conscientious teachers all over the State. The Examiner should name the counties in which such actions as he names have occurred or he should give out nothing in relation to the matter. It leaves a cloud upon all alike, and we do not believe this should be.

The Sentinel does not believe that any teacher in Shelby county, or any who desired to be and may have failed, stooped to any such practices notated by Mr. Feagin, and that gentleman should not place a cloud where it does not belong.

WILL GO TO BILOXI.

At the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Alabama Press Association in Birmingham last Friday, it was decided to hold a two days' business session at Sylacauga on July 19th and 20th, and then go in a body to Camp Grounds near Biloxi, Miss., for a week's outing. Secretary Pepperman was instructed to make the necessary arrangements for transportation and entertainment at the other end of the line.

President Greer is to arrange a program for the Sylacauga meeting. There promises to be a big attendance at the annual session.

LOOKING THIS WAY.

Orion, Ill., Mch. 18, 1905. Editor Sentinel, Columbiana.

A copy of your paper was sent me a short time ago by a friend, and as I would like to know more about your county, I will be glad if you would mail me one or two late copies.

Respectfully,
F. V. SAMUELSON.

We have mailed to Mr. Samuelson late copies of both The Sentinel and the Advocate.

The politicians are agitating the question of doing away with the present primary system of nominating candidates and going back to the old convention way. The primary system suits the people as it gives them a voice in the make-up of a ticket, while the convention plan is made up of trickery and trades, and is dominated by the politician—generally the man with a price. The primary suits the people, and it would be well for the politician to hands off if he wants to steer clear of a jolt.

An electric car line is to be built connecting Selma and Marion. It will be built by home capitalists, and will call for an expenditure of $200,000. Charlie Greer, of the Marion Standard, is so swelled up now over the tobacco growth in Perry county that we are afraid he will be compelled to put in a safety valve to dispose of the surplus when that trolley line is built.

It is rumored that Captain Hobson is being groomed for a candidate for Governor. The Captain is not averse to being Governor, but he will not admit he has his eye on the chair now being filled by Governor Jelks.

By the grapevine route The Sentinel learns that a member of the Alabama Press Association is to be married early in the summer, and that the outing of the Association to Biloxi is to be the bridal trip of the couple.

Col. Caleb Huse, who died at West Point, N. Y., a short time ago, was at one time commandant at the Alabama State University.

Hon. Emmett O'Neal, of Florence, is spoken of as a probable candidate for Governor.

CUNNINGHAM'S LETTER.

Birmingham News.

President B. B. Comer, of the Alabama Railroad Commission, this morning received a letter from Lieutenant and Acting Governor R. M. Cunningham on the subject of equitable freight and passenger rates in this State, which gives to that question an important phase.

Dr. Cunningham quotes section 243 of the new constitution relating to this matter, and then says that if inequitable rates exist and if the commission does not after a full and fair hearing correct them it will, in his judgment, be the duty of the Governor to call an extra session of the legislature on the question.

The position of Dr. Cunningham is construed as a practical endorsement of the position of President Comer in his fight for lower rates, the acting governor laying down the proposition that if the inequities complained of exist and the commission does not remedy them aid should be extended from the executive department of the government.

Saturday was Dr. Cunningham's last day as acting governor, and it will be noted that the letter was written that day. Saturday afternoon Governor Jelks filed official declaration of his return to the State and resumption of his duties as governor. It is not known whether or not Governor Jelks was shown the letter or not before it was sent to the commissioners. It is known, however, that both Governor Jelks and Dr. Cunningham were at the executive office on Saturday.

A long distance telephone inquiry to Private Secretary Kirk Jackson in the governor's office failed to throw any light on the subject. He said that Governor Jelks is in Eu-faula today and he was unable to say if the letter of Dr. Cunningham was shown to Governor Jelks, or if Governor Jelks approved of the sentiments contained in it.

The letter, as will be noted, is addressed to all three members of the commission, and Mr. Comer received his copy of it in this morning's mail.

THE LETTER.

The letter is as follows:
"CHIEF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT ALABAMA.

"Montgomery, Ala., March 18.
Messrs. B. B. Comer, President, and W. C. Turnquist and W. T. Saunders, Associate Commissioners, Alabama Railroad Commission, Montgomery, Ala.

"Gentlemen—There is not at this time, nor has there been for many years a more important and practical question to the people of Alabama than the establishment of a fair, just and equitable freight tariff to be charged by the common carriers in this State.

"Since the adjournment of your last meeting I have been seriously debating in my mind the duty of the governor and the propriety of his making any suggestions to the honorable railroad commission relative to this matter. I have concluded, after much thought, that it is his duty to do so. At the outset I desire to disclaim any intentions upon the part of the governor to dictate to or in any way control the railroad commission in the discharge of their duties. The law, so far as I know, does not give him the right to interfere in this matter except as provided by the constitution to take care that the laws be faithfully executed. The power and authority of regulating railroad freight and passenger tariffs is given to the legislature by the constitution of Alabama. Section 243 provides that:

"The power and authority of regulating railroad freight and passenger tariffs, the locating and building of passenger and freight depots, correcting abuses, preventing unjust discrimination and extortion and requiring reasonable and just rates of freight and passenger tariffs, are hereby conferred upon the legislature, whose duty it shall be to pass laws from time to time regulating freight and passenger tariffs, to prohibit unjust discrimination on the various railroads, canals and rivers of the state and to prohibit the charging of other than just and reasonable rates and enforce the same by adequate penalties."

"There can be no question that under this section of the constitution the legislature has the direct power to regulate railroad freight and passenger tariffs in this state. Instead, however, of directly exercising this power the legislature has provided a railroad commission and has conferred upon that commission the power of supervision over railroads in the state, and the power to revise and regulate tariffs.

RATES ARE EXCESSIVE.

"The statistics submitted at your last meeting, if true, demonstrate that freight rates in this state are far in excess of the rates in the adjoining states of Georgia and Mississippi. After thinking the matter over carefully, with the facts at his disposal and by exercise of every logical method, the governor is of the opinion that there is no just and equitable reasons for this disparity in the freight rates existing between Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi. If these rates are just and fair and equitable in those states then they are unjust, unfair and inequitable in the state of Alabama. If they are too low in those states then it is unfair and unjust inequitable to tax the people of Alabama with the difference. It seems to the governor that this conclusion is unavoidable. The people of Alabama are entitled to action upon the part of the railroad commission upon these matters. They have the right to expect action, and in my judgment it is the duty of the governor to see that they get relief if they are entitled to it. After a conscientious and careful hearing, if for any reason the railroad commission fails to act upon these grave and important matters, it is the opinion of the governor that it will be the duty of that official to call the legislature in extraordinary session that that body may, under section 243 of the constitution, directly legislate in the regulation of railroad freight and passenger tariffs.

"The responsibility, gentlemen, under the laws of Alabama, is yours; the responsibility under the constitution of the State is that of the governor.

"Very truly yours,
"R. M. CUNNINGHAM,
"Lieut. and Acting Governor."

"After Many Years."

One morning some dozen or fifteen years ago, a professional man of Columbiana was coming down town, when he met a bright little fellow, and calling him by name, asked if he was going to school. The boy said no, that his mother, who was a widow, was not able to buy his books, pay his tuition and buy him clothes.

"Well," said the gentleman, "would you like to go to school?"

The little fellow's eyes fairly danced for joy as he quickly replied: "Oh, yes, sir!"

"All right, my boy, you shall. Come to my office in the morning."

A visit to the teacher and tuition was paid and a list of books secured which the boy must have. The next morning the boy was on hand bright and early, his little face red and rosy from the effects of the scrubbing it had received. A visit to a nearby store and he was neatly clothed, then with his books under his arm, he started to the school house, proud as a king. Good reports came to the gentleman as to the progress of his protege. He was prompt in attendance, studious and obedient.

One morning, several months after, having missed seeing his little friend for some days, the gentleman inquired after him and found that his mother had moved away, no one knew where.

Years rolled away, and time had already begun to trace its frosty imprint in the hair of this professional man; remembrance of the boy whom he had befriended had almost slipped away from him.

One day, not a long time ago, on going to the postoffice, he found the following letter which we are permitted to publish provided we leave his name out of it:

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 20, '04.

Dear Sir:—
Doubtless you remember a boy by the name of James Aldrich, whom you tried to help a number of years ago to get an education. Though you interceded and opened the way for him to enter school, and also bought his books, yet he went only a short time. Perhaps you have been tempted to believe it was all in vain, but thank God it was not. I am the boy.

My people were all very poor, so I thought there was no chance to be any other way; therefore, the great temptation overcame me and I started downward. I was thrown with the worst of associates; evil passions and appetites were fastened in my very soul, and which seemed to become a part of me. I went on in this way until I was nineteen years old, and went to a revival meeting where the Lord wonderfully converted my soul. Glory to his name! My chains fell off, and I have never been the same since. Nine months later God filled me with His Spirit, and showed me the need of others being told of His power to set the captive free, and asked me if I would go. I said yes, and I have been going for Him since then. I have been here in school for two years.

I hope you will pardon me for taking up your important time, but I have been very much impressed lately to let you know I do appreciate your interest in me. Your smiles, as you met me on the streets, have sent conviction to my heart many times. I have often thought of those days with pleasure. It was then I caught a glimpse of what I ought to be, but my hopes were dwarfed. It is not bad to be poor if the hopes and aspirations of the soul are aroused. Sin blights our hopes and puts man on the same road as the beast.

Dear friend, take courage, if I am worthy to say such a thing. God will reward you, not for what you see done, but for what your heart pants to do. Remember, I am now safe so long as I abide under the shadow of the Almighty. By His grace I will do my best.

Your friend, saved by grace,
J. R. ALDRICH.

As the gentleman read the letter memory carried him back through the years which had flown, and once again he saw his boy friend, bright-eyed and rosy-checked, and from the inmost recesses of his heart there went up the silent prayer "God bless little Jim."

"After many years" the bread which had been cast upon the waters returned more than an hundred fold. "Even as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto Me."

As I listened while the gentleman told the circumstances of this little life story, I thought how a cheerful word, a kindly act might shape the after life of so many; might arouse a dormant ambition; boost hopes which were well nigh blasted; brighten and cheer a life enveloped in gloom; ease over the rough and rugged places the footsteps of some stumbling mortal. The word of cheer costs nothing, a kindly act but little, yet, to many it means so much in this life.

J. W Johnston

Has one great hobby, and that is SHOES.

A good shoe is desired by everyone, and to get the very best has been Mr. Johnston's aim. The best is the cheapest in the end, and when you come to think of it, they cost but little more, if any, than a poor shoe. Money is none to plentiful and you want all you can get for your dollars.

Johnston Sells Groceries, too.

"Opportunity knocks at your door but once in a lifetime."

New Matting.

We have just received a new line of matting—some of the prettiest figures and designs we have seen. Come in and see it and you will throw away that worn and faded piece at home and buy new.

Closing Out Stock.

We are closing out our Furniture Stock, and if you need anything in this line now is time to get it. You will find every piece a bargain both in quality and price. All must go.

Are You Gardening ?

If so, you want the best seed you can buy. We have a varied supply and it is warranted to grow. We keep seed for anything that grows in garden or field—and the best.

High Grade Fertilizers.

Farmers, do not throw away your money in buying a poor grade fertilizer. You expect results from its use or you would not buy. We keep only the best grades—warranted to bring results—what you want.

—Go to see—

MILNER & CHRISTIAN.

—the Leaders—

Spring Dry Goods.

Our new stock of Spring Dry Goods is coming in now, and we cordially invite the ladies to call and examine it. New shades, new patterns and new designs are all shown in the Spring styles—all are beautiful.

Spring Clothing.

We are showing a pretty line of new Spring Clothing, and we invite the young men, the middle-aged men and the elderly men to inspect it. Bring in the young boys, too; we can fit them out nicely.

Fine Shoe Line.

Moderate price, durability and neat appearance is what one looks for when buying a shoe. We can satisfy your taste and within the capability of your purse. Try us.

Hardware, Groceries,

Of course, you are aware of the fact that we have the largest stock of hardware in the county, and a well selected stock of groceries and flour. We will be glad to see you.

"Proof of the pudding is in the eating" the world over.

Application to Sell Real Estate.

The State of Alabama, PROBATE COURT, Shelby County, March 23, 1905.
Estate of Mary A. Jos. L. and Ella Wilson Peters, minors.
This day came J. L. Peters, guardian of said estates and filed his application in due form and under oath, praying for an order of sale of certain lands described therein, belonging to said estate for the purpose of maintaining and education upon the ground that the income of said minors is insufficient for their education and maintenance.
It is ordered that the 17th day of April, 1905, be appointed for hearing of such application, at which time all parties in interest can appear and contest the same, if they think proper.
A. P. LONGSHORE,
Judge of Probate.

Handsome Millinery Display

Mrs. M. Woolley, the fashionable milliner, will have her opening and display of handsome millinery at her store in Montevallo, Monday and Tuesday, April 3d and 4th. She will have

An Easter Opening of millinery, especially adapted for Easter, on April 20th, 21st and 22nd. The ladies of Montevallo are cordially invited to attend these opening days. Select your Easter hat now.

"Way Back Yonder."

It will be of interest to the people of Shelby and Talladega counties and especially the Baptist people, to know that among the first Baptist churches organized in this section of the State, was the one at the home of John Lawler, in Talladega county, on April 20, 1832. This church was organized at that time by Elder J. M. Scott of Shelby county. John Lawler was County Judge of Shelby county when the county seat was removed from Polkham to Columbiana (then called Columbia) in 1826.

In 1834, Elder Jacob Lawler, who lived at that time in the Perry settlement, near Montevallo, and who was pastor of Shoals Creek church in that community, and was called to the church organized at the home of John Lawler, in Talladega county, in 1832, by Elder Scott.

In connection with this we wish to say that The Sentinel will be glad to publish any item of general interest in relation to the early history of Shelby county. No doubt there are a number of people over the county who have papers from which many an interesting story might be written.

John Sparks Shows.

There is no show in the South more favorably known than Sparks Old Reliable Virginia Shows, which will exhibit in Columbiana, Monday, April 3, afternoon and night. The many fine special features have made it famous everywhere, and its clean, honorable business methods have built up its great reputation. No one should miss seeing the cage of baby lions, something you have never seen before; also, Romeo, the largest and most majestic lion ever on exhibition. "Our Mary," the educated elephant, so gentle, docile and intelligent, is the especial pet and delight of the children. You can see her push big wagons around, carry center poles and big planks, pull my stakes, etc. and perform wonderful feats in the show. There are trained ponies, dogs, monkeys, and other animals, acrobats, tumblers, aerialists, jugglers, trapeze and hundreds of other features, all the best that money can secure. No one should fail to see the famous John H. Sparks' Old Reliable Virginia Shows, Monday, April 3rd.

A Commercial Club.

A meet was held in the office of Judge Longshore Monday night for the purpose of taking preliminary steps towards the organization of a Commercial Club.

Judge Longshore was chosen temporary chairman, and H. E. Whitaker temporary secretary.

After the appointment by the chair of a committee to solicit members, the meeting adjourned to meet again Tuesday night to affect a permanent organization.

As the Sentinel goes to press on Tuesday, a full report of the organization will appear next week.

Obituary.

Beulah Horton (nee Bennett) was born June 22, 1875, and died February 27, 1905. She joined the Baptist church in 1891, was married to M. A. Horton, March 9, 1895, after which time she connected herself with the Methodist church. Her married life was happy; her ministry in her home was affectionate and joyful. She loved her church, often going beyond the limit of her strength in attending upon its ordinances. She knew Christ and her Saviour, and for Him her love was deep and abiding. Her death was as she had lived—triumphant.

She leaves a husband with saddened heart, but not as one without hope for he knows where to find her.

G. T. HARRIS.

No better attraction has ever entertained the people of Columbiana than the Chicago Glee Club which was here on Wednesday night of last week. A large audience was present and the applause given to every number on the program was merited. The Club was generous in its responses to encores, and the program was almost doubled in length. It goes without saying that should the Chicago Glee Club ever again visit Columbiana that standing room in the Academy will be at a premium. This is the last attraction in the Lyceum Course, and all under obligations to the gentlemen who guaranteed the Lyceum management the price asked for the five entertainments. It is regretted that the course did not pay expenses, but cold weather and sickness had a great deal to do with keeping people away from some of the attractions.

Mrs. W. C. Williams, of Shelby, who has been staying with her brother, L. E. Christian, during the absence of their mother in Cincinnati, returned to her home Monday night.

Manager MacKnight is making some needed improvements at Shelby Springs, and that popular resort promises to be more popular than ever this season.

Mrs. M. T. Wood, who has been in an infirmary in Birmingham for the past several weeks, has returned home much improved in health.

E. W. Holland, of Wilsonville, was in town Monday. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call.

Mrs. W. G. Parker and Mrs. S. Dowell visited with friends over at Shelby Tuesday.

Montevallo.

Mrs. H. E. Whitaker, of Columbiana, visited friends here a day or two last week.

Mrs. H. E. Wheeler and children have gone to Birmingham for a visit with relatives and friends.

E. W. Chapman has sold his tonorial business to Raymond Allen, and the latter has put Cliff Chapman in charge.

Alex, alias Bud Fain was committed to jail last week by Justice Harris, on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Messrs. W. B. Reynolds and C. F. Robbins have recently perfected a deal of mineral land for $500,000, upon which they are receiving congratulations.

Capt. Reynolds and W. S. Cross are engaging extensively in market gardening. Their field of green peas and cabbages present a refreshing view from the iron bridge.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church will give an egg-hunt in the church yard Saturday before Easter, which will be a source of great delight to the young people.

Marshal Eddings rounded up a party of negro gamblers several days ago. They all took leg bail, but he has been picking them up one by one and introducing them to the Mayor.

The Southern Bell Telephone Co. has leased a room for the central office in the Crowe-Wilkinson building for five years, beginning May 1st, and the local exchange will be installed by that date.

The ladies will be interested in knowing that Mrs. M. Woolley will have her millinery opening on next Monday and Tuesday, April 3rd and 4th. She cordially invites you to come and see what she has.

Rev. H. E. Wheeler has been in Talladega several weeks, and every body will be glad to know that he has very much improved, and is able to throw away his crutches. May he never need them again.

A beautiful German Coach station was exhibited here last week by the importers, and your correspondent understands that he is to remain in the community, as the property of a joint stock company.

It is always a pleasure to Montevallo people to greet the editor of The Sentinel, as they had the opportunity of doing last Saturday, on his return from the Executive Committee meeting of the Press Association.

Charlie Vest, a son of the late E. F. Vest, had the ill-fortune to be run over by the cars on the Birmingham Southern road at Ensley last Friday night, necessitating the amputation of his leg. He has many friends here, where he was reared, who will hear of the accident with regret, and wish for him the best recovery possible.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said, "my trade of late is getting bad; I'll try another ten inch add." If such there be go mark him well, for no bank account shall swell; no angel to watch the golden stair, to welcome him a millionaire. The man who never asks for trade, by ad or local line displayed, cares more for rest than worthy gain, and patronage gives him but pain. Trade lightly, friends, let no rude sound, disturb his solitude profound. Here let him lie in calm repose, unsought except the men he owes. And when he dies go plank him deep, that naught may break his dreamless sleep; where no loud clamor can dispel the quiet that he loves so well. And that the world may know its loss, place on his grave a wreath of moss; and on a stone of minute size: "A clump that wouldn't advertise."

The Sentinel man had the pleasure of spending a few hours in Montevallo last Saturday on route from Birmingham. Montevallo, like other country towns, feels the effect of farmers holding their cotton for better prices, but the business men are in sympathy with the movement knowing that what benefits the farmer will in the end benefit them. For several years the writer made that pretty little town his home, and nowhere do we feel more at home than there. The people are big-hearted—among the best in the world, and as a business center the town is a good one. It has a steady flow of trade from the farmers, and this is augmented by a healthy patronage from the nearby mines. Her people are successful because they are progressive and deserving.

Calera has recently organized a commercial club, and The Sentinel man had the pleasure of attending one of its meetings last Thursday. The club had met for the purpose of interesting the farmers around Calera in putting in a telephone system. Quite a number of them were in attendance. The result of that meeting was the establishment of several telephone lines out of Calera. There should be a network of telephone wires all over this county, and we believe it is only a question of a very short time when such will be the case.

For Sale.

The Columbiana Land Co. has the following property for sale, but the prices quoted will only hold good for only a short time:

Good six-room house and one acre of ground in Montevallo; good location, convenient to the Girl's Industrial School, price $750.

Sixty acres (30 acres cleared) one mile north of Columbiana. Part of east half of southwest quarter, and part of west half of southwest quarter, section 14, township 21, range 1 west. Valued at $10.00 per acre; one-third cash, balance on time.

A 5-room dwelling house, near school house in Columbiana, with one acre and a half of land attached, including garden and orchard. Will sell or rent at a bargain.

Cakes, cakes at Roberts & Robertson's. The finest in the land.

En' rsed by Judge A. P. Longshore

I have been requested several times to make a statement as to what I thought of the Mutual Life Industrial Association of Georgia, but have declined to do so until now. I have been making an investigation for the last six months as to the merits of the Association and have reached the conclusion that it is the safest and cheapest insurance offered to the people. I have taken Three Thousand Dollars in it, and take pleasure in recommending it to the people.

HALF OUR ILLS ARE CATARRH.

Thousands of People Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It is Catarrh.

Mr. David L. Jaycox, Chaplain Clarinda, I. O. O. F., and Chaplain G. A. R., 863 Broadway, Oakland, Cal., writes: "I am an old war veteran. I contracted severe bladder and kidney trouble. I spent hundreds of dollars and consulted a host of doctors, but neither did me any good. I never used the best medicine I ever used. My pains are gone and I believe myself to be cured. I feel well and would not be without a bottle in time of need for ten times its cost."

They have dealt with every conceivable drug, have consulted all schools of medicine. It was not until Perina came into use, however, that these old soldiers found a remedy that would actually cure them. More cases of catarrh of kidneys and bladder have been cured by Perina than all other medicines combined.

Hundreds of war veterans have kidney and bladder trouble. Injure drinking water, sleeping on the ground, and all manner of exposures to wet and cold weather produced catarrh of the kidneys and bladder.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cured disease that science has been able to cure in all (female), and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CENEZEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

China's Coal Fields.
China's resources of coal and iron are among the largest and most favorably situated in the world. The extent of the great coal fields has been put at 400,000 square miles—more than seventy times the aggregate extent of all the coal fields of Britain.

FACE LIKE RAW BEEF

Burning Up With a Terrible Itching Eczema—Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

"Cuticura cured me of a terrible eczema from which I had suffered agony and pain for eight years, being unable to obtain any help from the best doctors. My scalp was covered with scabs and my face was like a piece of raw beef, my eyebrows and lashes were falling out, and I felt as if burning up from the terrible itching and pain. Cuticura gave me relief the very first day, and made a complete cure in a short time. My head and face are now clear and well. (Signed) Miss Mary M. Fay, 75 West Main St., Westboro, Mass."

Girls who are not married in Siam before they reach a certain age are put under the care of the king and he finds a husband for them. This is a simple thing to do, for he goes through the list of prisoners in the jail, picks out one man and tells him he can have his liberty if he will marry one of these girls.

One of the most important processes now used for waterproofing dress materials is on the lines of the old alumina process. In this case the factor is resin, dissolved in a large bulk of petroleum spirit. The fabrics to be proofed are passed through a bath of this solution and dried to drive off the solvent. Following this, the goods are treated by pressing with hot polished metal rollers. This last process melts the small quantity of resin which is deposited on the cloth and leaves each single fibre with an exceedingly thin film of resin on it.

STRENGTH OF HEREDITY.

What Happens in Siberia When Dogs and Reindeer Meet.

The strength of heredity, both in wild and in domesticated animals, is brought into clear light by an incident related in a recent book, "In Search of a Siberian Klondike." The authors of the book were traveling by dog-team through the wilds of Siberia.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the dogs suddenly broke into a swift run, and we knew they had scented something that interested them. We soon perceived that we had struck a deer trail, and that we were nearing an encampment. We turned a bend in the road, and there, a hundred yards ahead of us, we saw the cause of the dogs' excitement.

A team of reindeer were running for their lives. Their Tungus driver was lashing them with the whip, and was urging them with all his might, for he knew as well as we that if our dogs overtook them before the camp was reached, we seven men would be utterly powerless to prevent the dogs from tearing the deer to pieces. Our driver put on the brake with all his might, but it had not the least effect. The fourteen dogs had become wolves in the turn of a hand, and no brake could stop them. There were many stumps and other obstructions along our way, and my driver had great difficulty in preventing a smash-up.

For a short time the deer held their own, and in fact gained on us; but before the yurta (village) came in sight we were gaining rapidly. While we were still at some distance the people of the village, warned by the cries of the dogs, comprehended what was the matter, and arming themselves with sticks and spears, came running toward us. As they came on they spread out in a fan-like formation across the trail. When the terrified deer reached the line, the men spread out and let the team through, and instantly closed again to dispute the passage of our dogs.

Our driver was now minded to let the natives club his dogs, and perhaps injure the valuable animals, so he resorted to the last expedient. Giving a shout of warning to me, he suddenly, by a deft motion, turned our sledge completely over, landing me in a snow-drift on my head. In this position the sledge was all brake, and the dogs were forced to stop. They were leaping in their harness and yelling like fiends incarnate.

I sat up in the snowbank and laughed. The other drivers had followed our example, and the struggling tangle of sledges, harness, dogs and men formed a scene that to the novice at least was highly ludicrous. The drivers and the village people were belaboring the dogs, and the entire herd of reindeer belonging to the village was escaping in all directions up the hills.

The reader may well ask how the natives can use both dogs and reindeer, if the sight of a deer has such a maddening effect on the dogs. The explanation is simple. The two never go together. There is the dog country and the deer country, but they do not overlap. Confusion is often unavoidably caused by traveling with dogs through a deer country, but the natives do not take it in ill part, knowing that if they themselves have to travel with deer through a dog country they will cause quite as much inconvenience.

Something New in Anatomy.

A tiny fellow was receiving his first lesson in physiology. The subject was bones. Touching the little neck so satin-soft in texture that it required a great deal of faith to believe there were any bones in it, his aunt said: "This, Mini, is your collar bone."

"Is it?" he cried eagerly. "Well, where is my necktie bone?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

COMMISSIONER GARFIELD'S REPORT

It is Found to Be Favorable to the Great Packers.

The report of Commissioner of Corporations Garfield on the beef industry, after about eight months' investigation in Chicago and elsewhere, shows that there has been an enormous amount of exaggeration in the statements that have appeared for some time past in regard to the beef business. This investigation was set on foot by a resolution of the House of Representatives adopted March 7, 1904, and the ascertained facts after a most rigid examination of the methods and general conduct of the business are contained in a report covering 308 pages. Its figures and tables conclusively show that the popular belief in enormous profits made by the large packers, such as Armour & Co., Swift & Co. and Nelson Morris & Co., and in the exclusive control of the business which many think they enjoy, is really without foundation.

The report made to President Roosevelt by Commissioner Garfield is really the first official statement of the actual conditions of the beef business that has been made, and as all the conclusions arrived at are based, as shown by him, upon data officially obtained, there seems to be no reason why they should not be regarded as reliable and in all respects trustworthy.

This report shows why the price of both cattle and beef advanced to the highest level ever known after the short corn crop of 1901, and states that because of the decrease in number of cattle and also in decreased weight, "the high prices of beef which caused so much complaint among consumers at this time were attributable wholly to these abnormal cattle prices."

All the figures of the live weight and live cost of all dressed beef cattle were obtained from actual killing records, and all information of every kind obtained by the Commissioner was voluntarily and freely offered by the packers, all books of record and papers connected with the business having been placed at his disposal.

To make certain that the results of the investigation should be absolutely accurate, the Commissioner states that a double method of ascertaining profits was adopted, and, without going into detail here, it is found that the conclusion arrived at shows an average profit of 99 cents per head. The Commissioner says "the close parallelism in the results of the two methods of ascertaining the profits confirms completely the correctness of the general conclusions." It is clearly established that "Western packers do not control more than half of the beef supply of the United States," the conclusion of the Commissioner being that the business done by them amounts to "about 45 per cent." of the total slaughter of the country.

The whole report is extremely interesting and well worthy of careful perusal. As an official report it may be regarded as worthy of confidence, and it certainly leads the reader to the conclusion arrived at by the Commissioner when he states that "the capitalization of none of these concerns is excessive as compared with its actual investment," and that from thorough and rigid examination of original entries in books and papers to which he had access there was also "indirect evidence that the profits of the packers 'in their beef business are less than is frequently supposed,'" as shown by comparison between the total profits and the total amount of sales.

Fashions in Shoes.

In the ninth and tenth centuries the greatest princes of Europe wore wooden shoes. In the reign of William Rufus of England, in the eleventh century, a great dandy, "Robert the Horned," used shoes with sharp points, stuffed with tow and twisted like rams' horns. The Romans made use of two kinds of shoes, the solea, or sandal, which covered the sole of the foot and was worn at home and in company, and the calceus, which covered the whole foot and was always worn with the toga when one went abroad. Greek shoes were peculiar in reaching to the middle of the legs. Slippers were in use before Shakespeare's time and were originally made "rights" and "lefts." Shoes among the Jews were made of leather, linen, rush or wood; soldiers' shoes were sometimes made of brass or iron.

In the reign of Richard II shoes were of such absurd length as to require to be supported by being tied to the knees with chains, sometimes of gold or silver. In 1463 the English parliament took the matter in hand and passed an act forbidding shoes with spikes more than two inches in length being worn and manufactured. The present styles of shoes were introduced into England in 1633.

Migratory Whales.

Professor Goldob has been telling the Christian Academy of Science the results of his investigations into the migrations of whales. These creatures hang about the coast of Norway and Finland until the spring is well advanced, and then go away on their travels. Some go to the Azores, and they cover these enormous distances in an incredibly short time. Some of them bring back harpoons which bear the names of ships and other evidences of where these migrants have been for their summer holidays.

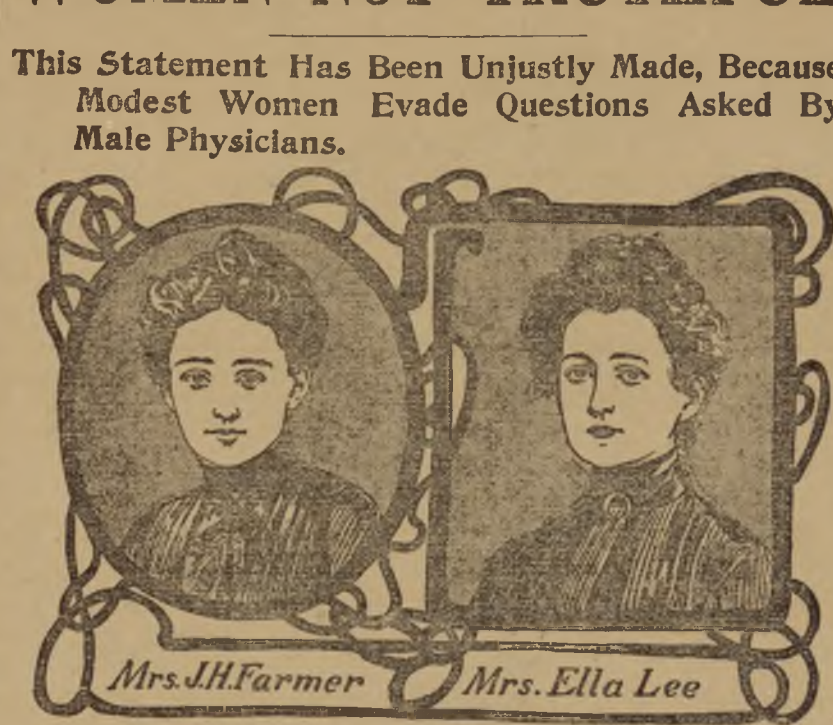

The great Chinese wall is 1,250 miles long.

Effects of Prosperity.

In the six years of the country's greatest prosperity, from 1897 to 1903, average prices of breadstuffs advanced 65 per cent.; meats, 23.1 per cent.; dairy and garden products, 50.1 per cent., and clothing 24.1. All these were products of the farmer and stockman, who profited more than any other class of the community by these advances. The miner benefited 42.1 per cent. by that advance in the average price of metals. The only decrease in the average prices of commodities in that period was in railway freight rates, which decreased from 798 per ton-mile in 1897 to 763 in 1903, a loss of 4.4 per cent. The report of the Interstate Commerce Commission shows that the average increase in the pay of railroad employees in that period was a trifle above 8.5 per cent.

WOMEN NOT TRUTHFUL

This Statement Has Been Unjustly Made, Because Modest Women Evade Questions Asked By Male Physicians.

An eminent physician says that "Women are not truthful; they will lie to their physician." This statement should be qualified; women do tell the truth, but not the whole truth, to a male physician, but this is only in regard to those painful and troublesome disorders peculiar to their sex.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions when those questions are asked, even by her family physician. This is especially the case with unmarried women.

Is it any wonder, then, that women continue to suffer and that doctors fail to cure female diseases when they cannot get the proper information to work on?

This is the reason why thousands and thousands of women are now corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham. To her they can and do give every symptom, so that she really knows more about the true condition of her patients, through her correspondence with them than the physician who personally questions them.

If you suffer from any form of trouble peculiar to women, write at once to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will advise you free of charge.

The fact that this great boon, which is extended freely to women by Mrs. Pinkham, is appreciated, the thousands of letters received by her prove. Many such grateful letters as the following are constantly pouring in.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands A Woman's Ills.

Mrs. Ella Lee, Frankford, Ind., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I want to thank you for what your medicine has done for me."

"Three years ago I had inflammation of the ovaries and uterus on my womb. I was under the doctor's care for about three months, and the only time I was not in pain was when under the influence of morphia. The doctor finally said I never would be better, and would be an invalid the rest of my life. I had given up in despair, but one evening I came across one of your advertisements and decided to write you for advice. I did so and commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began to improve at once, and to-day I am a well woman, and I know it is all due to your advice and medicine."

Mrs. J. H. Farmer of 2809 Elliott Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I cannot thank you enough for what your advice and medicines have done for me. They have done more good than all the doctors I ever had."

"For the last eight years I have suffered with female troubles; was very weak; had nervous prostration, and could not do my work; but I am happy to say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made a different woman of me. I am in perfect health, and have gained in weight from 98 pounds to 123 pounds."

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record for actual cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been widely welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.
Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee. Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use six tablespoonsful in a quart of water, and one extra for the pot. First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

3 (Don't boil it too long. Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving.

DON'T Use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.
1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water. Instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.) (Lion-head on every package.) (Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

ESTABLISHED 1875.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., APRIL 6, 1905.

VOL. 30. NO. 31.

ALABAMA NEWS.

Current Events Gathered as They Happen.

Arrested for Postoffice Robbery.

Huntsville, Ala.—Bloodhounds in charge of Deputy Sheriff Boggs, of Decatur, were placed on the track of the men who cracked the safe at the Kelly Station postoffice, and the dogs went direct to the home of two farmers named Martin.

Both men have been arrested charged with postoffice robbery, and will be brought here tomorrow for trial before a United States commissioner.

One of the brothers followed the dogs and after they went to his home they turned on him. The other man was followed into a group of men in the vicinity of his home. The authorities are confident they have the right men.

The trail of the robbers was about thirty-six hours old, and in following it the dogs disclosed the place where the stolen letters had been rifled.

Arrested for Forgery.

Montgomery, Ala.—C. G. Cone, white, 19 years of age, is under arrest charged with forgery. He is said to have forged several times the name of his father, who is a blind preacher of Bullock county.

The father could not pay the checks, two of which are in the hands of the police. Cone has been running as a news boy between this city and Birmingham.

Dead Baby Found.

Birmingham, Ala.—A dead body of a little white baby, probably two or three days of age, was found by a negro in a drift on Red Mountain, a short distance from the city. The body was found near the old pavilion. The remains of the child were wrapped in decent clothing, in fact, the indications point to a parentage of people above ordinary standings.

The body has been taken to an undertaking establishment, and Coroner Paris will make an investigation to ascertain if there has been foul play. There were no marks of violence on the body of the child.

New Coal Tipple.

Wylam, Ala.—Wylam citizens have patented a coal tipple which it is believed will prove of great value in the coal industry in this state, as well as elsewhere. The patent is owned by Messrs. Connor and Thomas and Dr. Caldwell, and it is claimed that it will not only handle the product of the mines with more ease, but will also save labor in this work. Arrangements are being made to have a new tipple on the patented plan erected in this section in order to demonstrate its worth.

Ensley Makes Big Casting.

Ensley, Ala.—The largest steel casting ever made in the South has been cast at the steel foundry in Ensley, it being a pinion for the mammoth steel plant blooming mill engine, and weighs 32,500 pounds. Hitherto these big castings have been made in the North, but the local plant has been so improved that it can take care of anything in that line required. The foundry is busy on double shift and will break all records of production during the current month. By making these castings in this district a large saving results, both in the work and in the freight.

No Compromise on Taxes.

Montgomery, Ala.—The attempt of the Republic Iron and Steel Company to have the compromise board of the state take up the question of compromising the record fees on a mortgage deed of $10,000,000 has failed. The board would not go into a discussion of it.

Huntsville Good Egg Market.

Huntsville, Ala.—The eggs and poultry business has grown to large proportions during the past year or two in this section. The local market has been bountifully supplied with eggs and two full cars have been shipped to other points from here within the week.

Postoffice Robbed at Kelly.

Huntsville, Ala.—The safe in the postoffice and store of J. W. Power, at Kelly Station, a village eighteen miles northwest of Huntsville, was blown open Thursday night. The robbers secured $50 in stamps and $150 in cash belonging to Power, and left no trace behind them. The safe is a wreck.

The cracksmen did a fine job, and the night watchman of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, stationed a hundred yards away, did not hear the explosion. The robbery was not discovered until this morning. Chattanooga has been asked to send bloodhounds.

Fire in Smithfield.

Birmingham, Ala.—Fire destroyed three buildings at the corner of Louisa avenue and Johns street in Smithfield Thursday morning about 3 o'clock. The houses had just been built. The damage was estimated at about $2,000. The fire department did not respond to the call sent in, as there was no water in the vicinity, the fire being beyond the city limits.

A Number of Illicit Still Are Raided.

Troy, Ala.—Deputy Collector W. F. Russell and Deputy Marshal J. F. Greene, with posse, returned from a successful raid in Houston county. On the 27th they raided an illicit distillery said to belong to Charlie Powell, composed of two complete outfits. A small quantity of beer and of rum was also destroyed. This was near Ardilla, Houston county. On the 28th they raided a distillery said to belong to Harvey Hughes, near Big Creek, in Houston county, and destroyed a complete distillery outfit, together with a quantity of beer and rum. On the same day they raided an illicit distillery said to belong to J. T. Morgan near Cotton wood, in Houston county. A quantity of beer was destroyed at this distillery. Charles Powell was arrested and brought to Troy before United States Commissioner C. S. Tutwiler, pleaded guilty and was bound over to await the action of the next federal grand jury. Warrants have been issued for Harvey Hughes and J. T. Morgan.

Will Take Care of Mobile.

Mobile, Ala.—Col. E. L. Russell, vice-president of the Mobile and Ohio road, says that Mobile is to be well taken care of by the Mobile and Ohio.

"The plans for the distribution of traffic," said Colonel Russell, "have been about completed, and we expect that when they are carried into execution both of our gulf ports will be satisfied. The plan which is decided upon for the export trade which the Mobile and Ohio brings to the gulf ports is that every pound of business which we bring to Mobile which has been handled in the past will be continued to be handled in the future, and more will be added to it. The Munson line will make weekly sailings to our outer ports of Cuba, both from New Orleans and Mobile."

Building Many Sidetracks.

Bessemer, Ala.—The Seaboard Air Line is building a number of long side tracks in this vicinity, which were made necessary by the fight inaugurated upon them some time ago by the Southern, and as a result the Seaboard will soon have as good facilities in this city as any other road here.

A long siding which the Seaboard is building near Woodward is now very nearly completed, and this will enable them to take care of their traffic out of the large Woodward industries. The track building forces will then at once come to this city and lay tracks into the plant of the United States Cast Iron Pipe Company and into the Bessemer rolling mill, and will enter the Robertstown furnace district over the tracks of the Frisco. The Frisco will also build additional sidings on their property, extending from their freight station on Sixth or Seventh avenue, this being principally for the accommodation of the Seaboard business.

Grand Inachonee Watts Dead.

Montgomery, Ala.—Hon. Thomas H. Watts, son of the late Governor Watts, died at his home in this city Thursday afternoon after a long illness with rheumatism. The immediate cause of death was rheumatism of the heart. Mr. Watts was great inachonee, the second highest office in the order of the Red Men in the United States. The deceased was assistant secretary of the constitutional convention of 1875 and a member of the recent convention. He was born in Montgomery on August 3, 1853, and was a lawyer all his life.

As Mayor of Montgomery he welcomed the distinguished guests who came to the dedication of the Confederate monument and also welcomed President Cleveland in 1885. His father was governor in 1865-66.

Opelika, Ala.—At Salem this county, two buildings and a stock of dry goods were destroyed by fire. The dry goods was valued at $3,000 and the buildings $2,000. Insurance on building $400; and on stock, $4,000, all the property of H. G. Adams, who recently opened a large dry goods store in this city.

Rural Routes Established.

Washington, D. C.—Atavama rural routes ordered established May 1: Buffalo, Chambers county, route No. 2, population 638, houses, 152; Georgiana, Butler county, route No. 1, population, 798, houses 190; Opp, Covington county, routes Nos. 1 and 2, population 856, houses, 204.

First Strawberries—Truck Farming.

Evergreen, Ala.—The first strawberries of the season have been plucked, and shipping will commence this week. There is a considerable acreage in strawberries this year. There is a greater diversity of truck crops planted this season than ever before in this section. In addition to those mentioned, considerable acreage is given to tomatoes, beans, peas, cantaloupes, watermelons, Irish potatoes, cabbage, sweet corn, lettuce, etc. The truckers expect to realize good profits from all these crops.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Alabama Live Stock Association adjourned to meet next year in Selma.

Quiet in San Domingo.

San Domingo.—The government has decided instead of calling a meeting of foreign creditors of the republic to publish in the official Gazette a statement of the disposition of the customs receipts, with a view to the settlement of the debts, and a suspension of payments on account of those debts until the Dawson-Sanchez convention shall have been disposed of. Quiet prevails throughout the republic.

EMPEROR AT TANGIERS

Has a Busy Day and Makes a Flying Visit to Gibraltar Also.

FEARED AN ANARCHIST PLOT.

Every Precaution Was Taken in Morocco—Emperor Remained Two Hours.

Gibraltar.—The steamer Hamburg, with Emperor William on board, arrived at her moorings here at 6 p. m. As she entered the harbor the British Mediterranean fleet hoisted the ensign, the blue jackets manned the ship and the war vessel fired a royal salute. This was followed by a salute from the batteries. The fleet and the land stations were dressed with bunting in honor of the imperial visitor. The governor, Field Marshal Sir George Stuart White and his staff, immediately went on board the Hamburg and welcomed his majesty.

Owing to the lateness of his arrival here Emperor William decided to omit the drive through the town which had been arranged for. At 8 o'clock attired in a British field marshal's uniform, the Emperor landed and was received by Major Agnew and the German consul. He inspected the guards of honor, the Yorkshire Infantry, and the Munster fusiliers, which were drawn up at the convent, the official residence of the commander-in-chief where Governor White gave a dinner party to present guests in honor of the Emperor with a garden party, and reception afterwards. Meanwhile the German consul gave a dinner to a large party from the Hamburg.

Collides With British Warship.

Gibraltar.—The German cruiser Prinz Friedrich Karl, escorting the Hamburg American liner Hamburg with Emperor William on board, collided with the British battleship Prince George in going alongside the new mole here. The damage was slight.

Flying Visit to Tangier.

Tangier.—Emperor William, of Germany, paid a flying visit to Tangier, remaining barely two hours on shore. The elaborate programme for his reception and his entertainment was much changed, the Emperor confining himself to a visit to the German legation, where he received deputations of Germans in Morocco. The changed plans caused much comment and disappointment. The Emperor had been expected to land about 8 o'clock, but this was detained about three hours.

Meanwhile Count Tattenbach-Ashold, former German minister to Morocco, returned to Hamburg before the Emperor landed. It was officially explained that the reason for this procedure was the roughness of the sea, but after the departure of the Hamburg it was stated on good authority that there was a possibility of an anti-French demonstration on the occasion of his visit, desired to avoid such an incident.

Every Precaution Was Taken.

Another report which, however, has not received official confirmation, but is generally accepted, states that the German legation was informed that an anarchist plot had been discovered, and advised that the Emperor be dissuaded from landing. Count Tattenbach-Ashold visited the German legation and interviewed the Moorish authorities, and afterwards notified his majesty that every precaution had been taken, but advised that the programme be confined to a visit to the legation.

Notwithstanding the shortness of his majesty's stay in Tangier, the occasion will certainly be marked as one of the most brilliant and picturesque in the history of this pretty seaport. The Moors exhibited unwonted enthusiasm, and no untoward incident occurred. His majesty appeared to thoroughly enjoy his visit.

William Had an Object.

London, England.—According to some special dispatches from Tangier, Emperor William, in the course of his speech at the German legation, said:

"There is no preponderant influence in Morocco. Germany must enjoy the same rights of other powers. We guarantee that the sovereignty of Morocco shall be maintained."

This rather defiant version is probably a too free translation of the Emperor's words, but it serves as a peg upon which London newspapers hang further querulous editorial observations and criticisms as to the meaning of the visit.

The Times' Tangier correspondent says:

"It is impossible to deny that the Emperor's visit, which the world wished to consider as that of an imperial Nineteen Hanged With Same Ropes.

Fort Worth, Tex.—B. H. Young, colored, was hanged at Waxahatchie Friday for the murder of Alburts Moore. One hundred and fifty persons were present in the stockade when the hanging occurred, and 250 outside. Young is the nineteenth man hanged with the rope which was especially made for Former Sheriff Stewart, of Johnson county, for the execution of John B. Shaw in 1898.

tourist, has been an immense political demonstration. Nobody who saw Tangier, today garlanded with flowers and beflagged until the very houses were scarcely distinguishable, could doubt that such expenditure and trouble meant more than merely a courteous welcome."

Remains Laid to Rest.

Lexington, Va.—The remains of Miss Mildred Lee, youngest daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee, were Friday placed in a crypt of the Lee mausoleum at Washington and Lee university. The other members of the family buried there are her father, mother and one sister, Miss Agnes Lee. Funeral services were held in R. E. Hill Episcopal church at 11 o'clock, conducted by the rector, Dr. Robert J. McBride. Eight students of Washington and Lee university acted as pallbearers. The remains were escorted from the church to the mausoleum on the university campus by the corps of Virginia Military institute cadets and a large concourse of sympathizing relatives and friends. The floral tributes from Confederate organizations of various sections of the south were numerous and elaborate.

Three Killed in a Fray.

Collinsville, Ill.—In a three-cornered shooting affray here Mrs. John Berta and Barney Vossall were killed and John Berta, husband of the woman, was slightly wounded. Berta was released from custody on the coroner's jury verdict of justifiable homicide. Berta owns a saloon, and Mrs. Berta was in the place when Vossall entered and began a quarrel with her. Vossall drew a revolver and began shooting at her. She also seized a revolver and returned the fire. Just as Mrs. Berta fell dead with a bullet through her brain Berta rushed in, attracted by the shooting, and was slightly wounded by a bullet from Vossall. Berta shot Vossall dead.

To Test Validity of Bonds.

Topeka, Kan.—The validity of the Standard Oil refinery bonds will be tested. This was decided at a conference in which Governor Hoch, Treasurer Kelly, Warden Jewett, Attorney General Colman and Assistant State Auditor Nation participated. This was the day set by Treasurer Kelly and Warden Jewett to open the bids for the $210,000 worth of bonds. There were eight bids from bankers and bond brokers in various parts of the country, including New York, Boston, Topeka and Wichita. Seven of the bidders wanted the entire issue.

Killed by Old Shotgun.

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs. Nellie Burris, wife of Robert Burris, a well-known farmer, has been instantly killed by the accidental explosion of a shotgun while crossing a field in the suburbs of Eureka Springs, Ark.

A small child that was accompanying her mother dragged the shotgun back to the house and reported that her parent had fallen asleep. Search was made, which resulted in the finding of Mrs. Burris' body.

Fire in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La.—A fierce fire in the building at 124 Chartres street, occupied by Kahn, Brunner & Co., hats and millinery, threatened the big Godchaux building on Canal street Thursday. Repeated alarms brought out the full department, however, and checked the spread of the blaze. The Kahn, Brunner & Co. building was badly damaged and the stock destroyed.

Five Thousand Steers Sold.

Kansas City, Mo.—Five thousand head of half-bred Herford and Mexican steers, two and three years old, were sold by John Pinneil, agent of the T. O. (Riverside) ranch, agent of Chihuahua, Mexico, to the Empire State Cattle Company, William H. Sheehan and J. D. Carr, of South Dakota, at $14 per head, one of the largest sales of the year. The cattle will be shipped to Evans, S. D.

Thousands Held as Prisoners.

Berlin.—Dr. Steuben, director of the colonial office, replying to a question in the Reichstag today, said that 4,903 men, women and children were so far prisoners in concentration camps in German southwest Africa. The government, he added, had no intention as reported of disarming the Ovambos, who had attacked and destroyed Portuguese columns.

Propose to Build New Road.

Tapma, Fla.—R. C. Caples and William F. McCombs, Jr., of New York, arrived here tonight to secure terminal facilities for the railroad which they and their associates, New York capitalists, propose building from Tampa to Tallahassee. They will apply for a charter for the proposed road next week.

Burglars Enter Store.

Anniston, Ala.—The store of E. B. Davis at Rock Springs was entered by burglars and the safe blown open, but little of value was secured beyond some merchandise.

May Cause Another Rate War.

Liverpool, Eng.—There are rumors of fresh friction between the Cunard and the other steamship lines tending to lead to another rate war.

Three Killed.

Huntington, W. Va.—On Sandstone creek, in Mingo county, a boiler in a small saw mill owned by Walter Farrell blew up, killing three men and injuring two others.

TROUBLE IN WARSAW

Four more killed by the Soldiers—Forty Wounded—Two of Them Women.

POLICE FIRED ON THE MOB.

Editors Invited to Castle by Gov. Gen. Maximovitch to Discuss the Censor—Other Matters.

Warsaw.—A serious conflict occurred at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening in Dzika street, where a Jewish socialist society, known as the Bund, had organized a demonstration. The troops, which came to disperse the gathering, fired into the crowd, killing four persons and wounding forty others. Other disturbances are reported to have occurred. The streets had been patrolled throughout the day, the authorities having anticipated trouble.

Conditions here.

Conditions here are causing much uneasiness and nervousness. Hand-printed proclamations have been found in the streets warning the public against walking near government buildings and other places, as bombs would be thrown in those quarters. Several parents whose children are attending school in defiance of the school strike have been warned by letter to withdraw their children, as the school buildings would be blown up.

Representatives of the party of violence, it is not quite clear whether they are revolutionaries or socialists, are visiting private persons and levying contributions for "ammunition." They produce lists of names with the amounts to be collected from each and require the contributor to sign his name opposite these assessments which range from $2.50 to $50.

When Governor General Maximovitch arrived here ten days ago to assume his official duties he ordered that the Cossack detachment awaiting him at the station be retired, saying he did not want an escort. Driving through the city Sunday, however, the governor general's carriage was surrounded by twenty Cossacks.

Editors at Castle.

The editors of the Polish newspapers here were summoned to the castle Saturday. Governor General Maximovitch received them separately in the most friendly manner and talked with them on various subjects freely, especially on the question of censorship. He invited them to come to him in case of any difficulty.

The trouble in Dzika street began when, under the pretext of holding a memorial meeting for a late Jewish socialist leader, a crowd of over one thousand, mostly Jews, carrying red flags, marched into Dzika street and was met by a mixed police and military patrol of twenty men. The police declare the socialists fired revolvers at them, the leaders inciting the mob to attack the patrol, which thereupon fired several volleys into the crowd. Four men were killed and forty wounded. The crowd removed all but nine of the wounded, two of whom were women. These were taken to the hospital and it is expected that two or more of them will die. The dead and wounded were all Jews. The police made many arrests.

Gorky Trial Postponed.

St. Petersburg.—The trial of Maxim Gorky on the charge of drawing up proclamations with the object of overthrowing the existing state of affairs in the empire, and disturbing public order, has been postponed until May 16th.

Railroad Incorporated.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Atlanta and Birmingham Railroad company has filed its charter in the probate court. The road will be built from the Georgia state line, at a point either in Chambers or Randolph county, to Birmingham.

Extension Granted.

Lima, Peru.—The newspapers here print Chile's reply to the Peruvian protest regarding Tacna and Arica. The reply declares that Chile is resolved without wounding the susceptibilities of Peru to acquire definitely dominion and sovereignty over Tacna and Arica.

Rifles Presented.

Tangier.—American Minister Gummere on behalf of President Roosevelt, has presented to Mulah Ali and Mulah Hamed, sheriffs of Waz, handsomely inscribed rifles, in recognition of their services in the Predicaris affair.

Lexington, Ky.—The Rev. James Cochrane, a student of Bible college of the Kentucky university in this city, dropped dead in the pulpit of the Stamping Ground Christian church, ten miles from Lexington, Sunday. He had just read the text for his morning sermon, when he suddenly ceased speaking, placed his hand to his head and sank to the platform lifeless. Heart disease was the cause. He was 32 years of age, and married. His home was at Broadwall, Ky.

Storm in Colorado.

Denver, Colo.—The storm which has raged in Colorado and a portion of New Mexico for thirty-six hours subsided Sunday afternoon. For the first time this winter the Santa road found it necessary to use snow plows between Pueblo and Colorado Springs. In Pueblo two inches of moisture fell during the storm, this being a record, according to the weather officials. East of Pueblo, about seven miles, a bridge and a strip of track on the Missouri Pacific was washed out, and north of that city the Rio Grande experienced some damage by washouts. Between Clyde and Fair View the snow is five feet deep, and snow plows are endeavoring to remove it.

Only two men were killed in the destruction of the buildings of the Bankers' National Mine, near Ouray, by a slide. Seven men were injured, none seriously.

Double Tragedy.

Pittsburg, Pa.—John C. Walton, after five minutes' conversation with his wife, killed her by cutting her throat with a razor, and then after cutting his own throat, walked to the office of a physician three hundred yards distant and expired, just as police officers were about to place him under arrest.

There were no witnesses to the crime.

Domestic infelicity was the cause of the tragedy. The couple were married about ten years ago, and had four children.

Defended His Wife.

Cleveland, O.—Because of an alleged insult to his wife while he was temporarily absent from her side, William Hill shot and instantly killed Ralph M. Lewis, a painter. He also shot, and it is believed fatally wounded, James Huff, a shoe shiner.

According to the police report, Huff and Lewis had made slighting remarks to Mrs. Hill while she was in a restaurant. When her husband returned the couple went to take a street car home. Huff and Lewis were also going to take the same car, when Hill, it is alleged, pulled a pistol from his pocket and immediately fired upon the two men.

Hill walked to the police station to tell what had happened and was placed under arrest.

Dared Girl to Stab and She Stabbed.

Lancaster, Pa.—Ralph W. Kline, aged 26 years, an artist, was fatally stabbed Sunday afternoon by Jennie Good, aged 18 years. Kline and Miss Good were members of a party who were fishing near Long Park. Kline and the girl had a quarrel, during which Miss Good threatened to cut out his heart. Thinking that she would not execute her threat, Kline threw out his chest and told her to stab. She did, plunging a knife into his breast near the heart. He is at a hospital unconscious. The girl fled and has not been arrested.

Precautions Taken.

Mexico City, Mexico.—Precautions have been taken by the government and the large banks to prevent a sharp rise in exchange as the result of the speculative movement believed to have been planned to take place just as the new monetary system goes into effect. That something of the sort would be attempted was foreseen some months ago.

It is said that there has been extensive buying of exchange at the present low rate in the hope of a sharp advance. One of the largest banks has refused to sell exchange to brokers and private bankers, and has merely met the needs of commercial houses. It is the purpose of the government to make the transition to the new system as early as possible.

Governor Wilson Very Ill.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Former Governor Wilson, of West Virginia, lies critically ill at St. Luke's hospital in this city. Mrs. Wilson has arrived.

Chinese on Strike.

Johannesburg.—There was a serious disturbance near Krugersdorp on Saturday arising out of a strike of Chinese miners. The police were called upon to restore order and in the conflict which ensued several of the police and many Chinamen were injured. Many arrests were made.

Can Not Hold Congress.

Calcutta.—The assistant minister of the interior has forbidden the assembling of a congress to deal with the cholera epidemic, because according to official information, the promoters of the congress intended to give it the form of a demonstration against the government.

Station Master Robbed.

Tiflis.—As a station master at Kuntis was driving to the local treasury, accompanied by an armed escort, he was attacked by four armed men, who overpowered the escort and robbed the station master of $3,000.

Huntsville, Ala.—Two confederate veterans of this city and county, as well as the business men, will invite the Alabama division, U. of C., to hold its next annual reunion in Huntsville. Egbert Jones camp of this city has appointed a committee composed of Judge William Richardson, Capt. Gilton Humes, and Ben Patterson to confer with Gen. George P. Harrison on the subject, and the chamber of commerce will also appoint a committee for the same purpose.

B'cton Man Badly Hurt.

Birmingham, Ala.—Steve Harrell, a young white man residing at Blocton, was thrown from his horse at Fourth avenue and Seventeenth street Friday morning and seriously injured. He was alone when the accident occurred, and no one knows just how it happened, but the supposition is that the horse he was riding became frightened and threw him to the pavement.

Young Harrell was riding one horse and leading two others when he was hurt. He bought the horses at an auction sale Wednesday and yesterday morning started to carry them home through the country.

The young man was carried to the Hillman hospital and his wounds were dressed. He was unconscious for some time, and it was feared that his injuries would prove fatal, but he was reported as resting very well and he is expected to recover.

He was severely cut about the head and sustained other injuries.

Busy Hauling Fertilizer.

Gadsden, Ala.—The boats on Coosa river are now busily engaged in hauling fertilizer to the cotton farmers. The steamer Alabama reached her broad street wharf from Lock Three with a car load of fertilizer which she had secured from the Seaboard Air Line railroad, which now reaches this territory by river from Lock Three. The steamer took on about one thousand sacks of fertilizer here and went up the river with it. Considerable guano is being bought just now, but nothing like as much as last year. The Cotton Growers' association of Etowah county will meet here on the 8th and hear a report of the work done by Organizer Adams.

Electric Car Smash Up.

Gadsden, Ala.—There was a head-end collision between two electric cars Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock near Little Wills creek in which two men were hurt. The Motorman, Chas. Watson, was going to Attalla with a trailer and Motorman Joe Johnston coming to Gadsden, and both cars met on the main line at full speed.

Both cars were smashed up badly. Motorman Watson got his heel cut almost off and was otherwise bruised. Motorman Johnson was bruised about his body and cut with broken glass. It is thought he is hurt internally. The motormen were said to be the blame for this wreck.

Fire in Hartselle.

Hartselle, Ala.—Fire was discovered tonight by Telegraph Operator Brown in the law office of Porter M. Bradley. At 10:30 the alarm was given and the bucket brigade promptly lined up and after a hard fight for forty minutes the fire was under control. The room being mofal the flames were confined in the two rooms, which made it the more easily controlled. Damage to building $200. The office fixtures and library of Mr. Bradley are almost a total loss.

This building stood alongside the Hartselle hotel and next is the Sheriff's building, in which is the post-office and telephone exchange, which would have burned had the fire company failed to check the flames in the Brindley building. The fire is supposed to have caught from a defective flue.

Radishes Shipped Last Week.

Evergreen, Ala.—The first shipment of radishes from this point was made last week. This is the first year this vegetable has been grown to any considerable extent here for shipment. There are probably not over forty-five acres in the vicinity of Evergreen. Next week shipments will go forward by refrigerator cars to the north.

Sheriff Shot by Negro.

Rome, Ga.—Sheriff A. H. Glenn, of Chattanooga county, was shot and mortally wounded by a negro whom he tried to arrest. Sheriff Byars went to Summerville tonight on a special with bloodhounds to capture the negro. There is reported to be much excitement here.

Suicide's Efforts Finally Succeed. Victoria, Tex.—Freud Schmidt has committed suicide here by shooting. About a year ago he was shot by his son, and since his recovery he has several times tried to commit suicide. He held out 5 cents which his wife had given him to make a purchase and bought cartridges.

Sawmill Plant Burned.

Jacksonville, Fla.—The large sawmill plant of H. M. Goeth & Co., at Summerfield, Marion county, was destroyed by fire Friday, including saw and planing mills, dry kiln and about 200,000 feet of cut lumber. The loss is estimated at $100,000, with no insurance. The cause of the fire has not been stated. The plant was one of the largest in Florida.

Educational Campaign.

Montgomery, Ala., March 28.—The signal for improved school houses throughout Alabama was yesterday sounded when the State department of education, responding to the sentiments of the committee on education of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs issued a letter to the people appealing for the organization of improvement associations in the school districts of the State.

In the letter is set forth a general description of the unsatisfactory condition of the rural schools of the State as discovered by particular investigation of the Alabama Education Committee and the Southern Education Board. The movement which contemplates district improvements was started by education committee of Federation of Women's Clubs which was appointed by solicitation of State Superintendent of Education I. W. Hill at the last meeting of that organization at Mobile.

This committee several days ago held a meeting with Superintendent Hill in Montevallo and projected a plan for the proposed organizations. It was there decided to issue a call to the people of Alabama, more particularly to the women and women organizations, calling for the organization of the district associations soon as possible. The committee has completed the constitution and by-laws which will apply to all the proposed associations and copies of them will be sent to representative women in the districts of the State together with the address which states the purposes of the movement as follows:

THE ADDRESS.

To the People of Alabama:

"The school houses throughout the State, especially in the rural districts, are generally conceded to be in need of improvement both in construction and in equipment for teaching.

"The Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs has appointed a committee whose special object will be to inaugurate a general movement for school improvements in which it hopes to interest every man and woman in the State.

"Investigations made by the Alabama Education Committee, under the auspices of the State department of education and with the assistance of the Southern Education Board, together with those made by the committee on education of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs in the last few years, have brought strongly before the public the deplorable fact that Alabama school houses are too frequently unsightly, uncomfortable and unsanitary in construction. Besides this, they are seldom adequately provided with the material and furnishings necessary for intelligent and effective teaching, such as blackboards, maps, globes, pictures, reference books, desks, etc. This is a condition that puts a premium on ignorance by making attendance and instruction unattractive and so difficult as to almost prohibit both.

"The State is doing all that can be expected in the matter of appropriations for education and cannot in reason be required to pursue a more generous policy towards the schools than that which it has recently, in response to popular demand, adopted. It therefore remains to appeal directly to the communities immediately concerned.

"The Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs, feel that the time is now ripe to address the various school districts on this subject, and actuated by an earnest desire to co-operate with the State department of education in its efforts to prepare the children of the State for an educated and useful citizenship, has appointed a committee to suggest to communities the formation of school improvement associations. The object of these associations shall be to provide better school house facilities and to advance educational interests in the districts in which each is organized. The membership of these associations is to be drawn from the surrounding country and all are to work together for school betterment in their neighborhood, their own children and their neighbor's children to be the gainers by such improvement as may result.

"The federation committee has heartily approval and support of the State department of education and will be furnished by this department with plans for improved school houses, which plans associations may obtain free of charge.

"The committee whose members are Mrs. Joseph D. Matlock, chairman, 2112 Seventh avenue, Birmingham; Mrs. Greenwood Ligon, 430 Springfield avenue, Mobile, and Mrs. James L. McConaughy, Secretary, Montevallo, is also prepared to assist in the work of organization and may be freely called upon for information or for organizers. "Communications should be addressed to the Secretary."

Secretary's Report of Shelby County Teachers' Institute.

The Shelby County Teachers' Institute met in Columbiana, Friday, March 31, 1935.

Prof. C. H. Florey opened the meeting by stating that he had been asked by Supt. Dorrough to open the Institute as he could not be present all the time. On motion, Prof. Florey was elected chairman, and Stella Posey, Sec.

There being no session in the morning, we proceeded in the afternoon with the regular program from beginning. Devotional exercises were conducted by Bro. Harris; after his reading a well selected chapter, we sang one verse of "Come Thy Fount," and then were led in prayer.

In the welcome address by Prof. Dowell, and the response by Prof. Ellenburg, we were made to feel more than welcome to the town of Columbiana. Next came the enrollment of teachers, when twenty were enrolled.

A paper on "Qualifications of a Primary Teacher" was then read by Stella Posey, and further discussed by G. B. Wheeler, C. H. Florey and W. S. McEwen.

The next subject,—"Physical Training and Laws of Health," was carried over until Saturday, J. J. Holladay not being present.

The subject "The Necessity of a Uniform Course of Study in the Schools of Our County" was well handled by Prof. Dowell—offering a uniform system of three sections, which were sub-divided into eight grades, as a plan or suggestion, for county uniformity in text books, which, seems to me, would prove a great benefit to both teachers and pupils. The subject was further discussed by G. B. Wheeler and J. W. Ellenburg.

One of our most important subjects, "Character Building," was discussed by C. H. Florey, who told of many ways by which to help build a character well worth having. Further discussed by J. W. Ellenburg.

This being the last of the afternoon program, Institute adjourned to meet at 7:30 at night.

"Better School Houses" was the first subject taken up at the night session. The appointed ones to discuss this subject not being present, it was talked upon by G. B. Wheeler, J. W. Ellenburg, Miss Allen, Judge Longshore and W. S. McEwen, all showing us the vast importance of having better and more convenient school houses.

Next came "Local Taxation," which has so often been discussed. Prof. Dowell very clearly showed us the importance of such, and the benefits that would be derived therefrom, by comparing our own State in its different departments with the others of the United States, and showing us wherein Alabama is at the foot in so many things—that other States have tried this "Local Taxation," and we see how beneficial it has proven to be, so why not Alabama take the same step, and push onward in educational affairs. Judge Longshore also gave us some additional thought on the subject.

Then "Our New School Laws" was taken up by Mr. Graves, showing us what benefits are derived from our "New Examination Law," "Redistricting Bill," "Teaching Agriculture" and several others. It was further discussed by J. W. Ellenburg.

Institute then adjourned to meet Saturday at 9 A. M.

So having met at the appointed hour Saturday, we then had prayer by Prof. Dowell. The subject "Importance of Educational Journals" was discussed by Miss Allen and Prof. Dowell, Miss Gorman being absent.

A most excellent paper on "Methods in Teaching Geography" was read by Miss Janie Wallace. Next came "Methods in Teaching Long Division," "Fractions," "Denominate Numbers" and "Percentage," which were pretty thoroughly discussed by various members of the Institute, giving some good ideas and hints in teaching same; also stating some objections to our new arithmetic.

Lastly came the subject "Teaching Agriculture in Our Public Schools." The discussion was opened by J. W. Ellenburg, followed

G. B. Wheeler, P. T. Graves, Mr. Harper, J. W. Moore, Mr. Walton, H. E. Whitaker, C. H. Florey and others, showing us the benefits and non benefits derived from the teaching thereof, making a very lively discussion of it.

This being the last subject on the program, the Committee on Resolutions, composed of J. W. Ellenburg, W. W. Wheeler and Miss Minnie McGibony, made its report, offering several splendid resolutions, which were adopted.

There being no further business to come before the Institute, it adjourned, not selecting a place for next meeting.

STELLA POSEY, Sec.

Qualifications of a Primary Teacher.

The following paper was read by Miss Stella Posey, of Harpersville, at Teachers' Institute in Columbiana.

In the short consideration of this all important question, I trust that a few things in regard to the qualifications of a primary teacher may be said in such a way and manner as to prove an inspiration, not only to the teachers here, but in fact to all who may be interested in educational work.

On every hand it is conceded that the primary purpose of the public school is to environ and direct the activities of the child that he may grow into the highest type of citizenship.

In consequence of this, it then behooves us to ask: "What shall be the qualifications of a primary teacher?"

Firstly, I would say she should have a pretty thorough knowledge of all our text books, or at least the greater portion of them; that is, she should have a well-rounded education in every respect—think it quite a mistaken idea when people make this remark, "O, well, just so she can read, write, spell and figure some, why she can teach the little ones all right." It seems to me it is as necessary for the primary teacher to have a thorough education as the teachers of the more advanced grades, if it be possible, for it is here the foundation is laid—it is here children have to be taught how to study. Though do not understand me to say that the best educated person always makes the best primary teacher, for she may be lacking in other essential qualities that make up a successful teacher. It takes more qualifications than intellect for the primary teacher especially.

Secondly, I know of no qualification more essential than sound physical health and good physical development. We all know that imitation is the strongest natural force in the education of a child; therefore, I think it perfectly wrong to place in the charge of children persons who are not able to endure the nervous strain, which is sure to be found in teaching, or whose natural sweetness of disposition may be permanently soured, or whose intellectual resources may be impaired; or in whole, whose physical is likely to develop qualities, which the child ought not to imitate. Even before the child starts to school, he has begun to mould his character, that which stands out pre-eminently in a person. During his primary years of work, what impresses him most is very likely to remain with him all his life. Knowing naught but to imitate his elders during his first year in school, it then becomes a very necessary qualification of the primary teacher to be in sound health; so that when her nerves get wrought up to the highest pitch, she may be able to control her temper, thereby avoiding all those unpleasant looks, angry words, and great disturbances in general. Anger, especially, is one attitude that should never be found in the room of a primary teacher. She, who cannot control herself, can never hope to develop self-control in her pupils. Then, too, the worst feature about giving away to anger is that it is most generally the "slow" pupil who suffers. We all need to know that scarcely any credit is attached to teaching bright pupils. As some has said: "The teacher's great opportunity lies in awakening into life the latent germ of some slow soul."

Thirdly, the capacity for enthusiasm in her work characterizes the successful primary teacher. Too often we hear of teachers who find no joy in their work—just merely follow the lines of prescribed duty and talk of their teaching being a sort of imprisonment and a kind of drudgery. This is entirely the wrong spirit to possess in guiding directing and shaping the lives of the children. She should be full of enthusiasm each day of the week—should feel delighted over her work—should be full of joy—and above all have her heart full of sympathy for the dear little ones—make the school a pleasant and happy place to them—show an interest in all their plans, and always treat what seem to be mere whims with respect. Just such a spirit should belong to every primary teacher.

Fourthly, a very necessary qualification of a successful primary teacher is originality. The moral and mental training a teacher receives is not intended to deprive her of her originality, but rather to become more original. No teacher successfully execute the plans of another. Success cannot be copied. The world is seeking the teacher who brings new ideas and methods into the school-room. The youngest children in the primary grades know not how to study. We all know it is natural for them not to be still long; therefore they must be kept busy at something that we may have good order, which is absolutely necessary in a successful school. Proper discipline of even the smaller pupils underlies all school work; so now is the time for the teacher to display her originality—in planning busy work for these little heads and hands. Children, as well as older pupils, grow weary of the same old way of reciting their lessons. By having something new and original every day for them, why the work will prove to be much more successful.

And lastly, kindness, consideration and sympathy play an important part in teaching the children. The little ones that are brought up in an atmosphere of kindness are much more easily governed than those in opposite surroundings. Children who absolutely refuse to yield to government by kindness are extremely rare. Permanent impressions of good or ill are left on the character of children by the treatment they receive at hands of those who instruct them. No one, even in the most advanced years, forgets the little kindnesses received in youth at school. They are remembered till the very last hours of life and form one of the brightest of memory's treasures.

Now these—intellect, sound physical health, the capacity for enthusiasm in work, originality, and kindness, consideration and sympathy—are some of the most essential qualifications of a primary teacher. Of course though it is an undeniable fact and is generally understood that a teacher with good morals should especially be placed in the primary room; for above all things we must certainly consider the moral training of children, for when the heart gets started right, most surely will the mental training take care of itself. Consequently, a primary teacher with all these qualifications can but hope to crown all her work with success, thereby answering to one of the highest callings of life—that of school teaching, which today demands more than any other calling.

Prof. S. J. Strock, principal of the Vincent schools, came down Friday to attend the institute. Shortly after his arrival in the city he received a telephone message informing him of the death of his sister at Verbena, and he departed for that place on the afternoon train. All his co-teachers sympathize with him in his sorrow.

Walter Lester was in town last Friday. Mr. Lester has been in poor health for the past three months, but is now improving.

Non-Resident Notice.

STATE OF ALABAMA, Shelby County. Washington Brewer and J. J. Haynes, Complainants, vs. C. J. Simmons, et al., Defendants.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of John C. Forney that the defendant C. J. Simmons is a non-resident of the state of Alabama and resides in Atlanta, Ga., and further, that, in the belief or said affiant, the defendant is over the age of 21 years.

It is therefore ordered, by the Register that publication be made in the Columbiana Sentinel, a newspaper published in the county of Shelby once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him said C. J. Simmons to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 7th day of April, A. D. 1935, or in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him. J. W. Johnston

Has one great hobby, and that is SHOES.

A good shoe is desired by everyone, and to get the very best has been Mr. Johnston's aim. The best is the cheapest in the end, and when you come to think of it, they cost but little more, if any, than a poor shoe. Money is none to plentiful and you want all you can get for your dollars.

Johnston Sells Groceries, too.

"Opportunity knocks at your door but once in a lifetime."

New Matting.

We have just received a new line of matting—some of the prettiest figures and designs we have seen. Come in and see it and you will throw away that worn and faded piece at home and buy new.

Closing Out Stock.

We are closing out our Furniture Stock, and if you need anything in this line now is time to get it. You will find every piece a bargain both in quality and price. All must go.

Are You Gardening?

If so, you want the best seed you can buy. We have a varied supply and it is warranted to grow. We keep seed for anything that grows in garden or field—and the best.

High Grade Fertilizers.

Farmers, do not throw away your money in buying a poor grade fertilizer. You expect results from its use or you would not buy. We keep only the best grades—warranted to bring results—what you want.

MILNER & CHRISTIAN.

—the Leaders—

Spring Dry Goods.

Our new stock of Spring Dry Goods is coming in now, and we cordially invite the ladies to call and examine it. New shades, new patterns and new designs are all shown in the Spring styles—all are beautiful.

Fine Shoe Line.

Moderate price, durability and neat appearance is what one looks for when buying a shoe. We can satisfy your taste and within the capability of your purse. Try us.

Spring Clothing.

We are showing a pretty line of new Spring Clothing, and we invite the young men, the middle-aged men and the elderly men to inspect it. Bring in the young boys, too; we can fit them out nicely.

Hardware, Groceries.

Of course, you are aware of the fact that we have the largest stock of hardware in the county, and a well selected stock of groceries and flour. We will be glad to see you.

"Proof of the pudding is in the eating" the world over.

Application to Sell Real Estate.

The State of Alabama, PROBATE COURT, Shelby County, March 25, 1935.

Estate of Mary A. Jos. L. and Ella Wilson, Petors, minors.

This day came J. L. Peters, guardian of said estates and filed his application in due form and under oath, praying for an order of sale of certain lands described therein, belonging to said estates for the purpose of maintaining and education upon the ground that the income of said minors is insufficient for their education and maintenance.

It is ordered that the 17th day of April, 1935, be appointed for hearing of such application, at which time all parties in interest can appear and contest the same, if they think proper.

A. I. LONGSIGRE, Judge of Probate.

Circuit court begins Monday.

March 29, 30, 31.

Miss Clara Watkins, of Atlanta, Ga., arrived in the city Monday, and now has charge of the Millinery Department of T. J. Weaver & Co.

Miss Watkins wishes to announce that the Millinery Opening will take place March 29th, 30th and 31st, when the prettiest line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's hats ever shown in Columbiana will be on exhibition.

Delicious! Those cakes at Roberts & Robertson.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

H. S. Latham, of Montevallo, is in the city.

The man behind the mule is doing business now.

J. J. Haynes and family were visitors to Shelby last Sunday.

G. P. Harmon, town marshal of Calera, was in town Monday.

Jas. N. Robertson made a business trip to Birmingham last Saturday.

If you haven't enough trouble on your hands just now, try making a garden.

A. H. Avery, of Shelby, was doing business in Columbiana last Thursday.

The friends of Mrs. J. L. Riddle, who live in beat 9, will regret to learn that she is very ill.

Some of the Easter hat creations will shock the head of the family when the bill is presented.

J. K. Milner, of Anniston, was interviewing our business men last Wednesday and Thursday.

Teachers and pupils of the Graded Schools are looking forward to vacation with longing hearts.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Duran, of Birmingham, were in the city a few days last week visiting relatives.

Mrs. J. B. Hendrick, of Montevallo, was in the city several days last week visiting relatives and friends.

Prof. J. W. Ellenburg and daughter, of Montevallo, were in the city last Friday and Saturday attending the institute.

Circuit court convened Monday with Judge John Pelham presiding. There is said to be a pretty full docket for this term.

Geo. E. Mason, who has been confined to the house for the past two weeks with an attack of mumps, is able to be out again.

Columbus Carden, of Shelby, was in town Monday, and while here came in and had his subscription pushed up another year.

From the plainest sewing to the handsomest dresses can be had by calling on Mrs. J. W. Peers, at residence on Depot-st.

J. H. Davies, a prominent merchant of Montevallo, was in the city last Thursday, and while here made The Sentinel a pleasant call.

W. J. Horsley made a trip to Wilsonville last Thursday, on his wheel, and with a wheelman's luck had two punctures before he got back.

Prof. Spright Dowell addressed the people of the Fourth district last Thursday afternoon on the subject of local taxation. Prof. Dowell is an enthusiast upon the subject and has the matter well in hand.

While riding home from town on his wheel last Thursday night, Prof. Dowell met with a most awkward fall. Badly bruised hands was the result.

During the past week The Sentinel's job department has turned out a nice lot of stationery for the Cotton Growers' Protective Association of Shelby county.

Columbiana was full of teachers last Friday and Saturday—county institute in session. Shelby county has every reason to be proud of her teachers, all of them are deeply interested in their work.

The girl in brown has had her day, and we are told she will be succeeded by the girl in green. Well, any color will look well, for after all, the girl is more important than the shade of her dress.

The Sans Souci Club entertained gentlemen friends at the home of Miss Carolyn Rowe last Friday night, and the young men who were present speak in flattering terms of the manner in which they were entertained. It was a most delightful evening for all present.

Those Easter hats which are said to be "dreams" to the feminine minds often develop into nightmares for married men.—Prattville Progress.

As Editor Doster, of the Progress, is a bachelor there is a fine opportunity for some girl to give him a nightmare.

Mrs. W. W. Camp, of Selma, was in the city several days last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Howard Latham, on West College street. Mrs. Camp expects to go to her new home in Chattanooga in a few days where her husband is a train dispatcher in the employ of the Southern Railway.

If the farmers only knew it, there is a market in Columbiana for everything they can raise, or have on hand now. Any kind of produce will find ready sale among our merchants, and at good prices. Peas, corn, potatoes, green and dry hydes, in fact anything the farmer has to sell there is a market in Columbiana for.

Mr. Joseph Nelson and Miss Lena Baldwin were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents last Sunday, Rev. O. A. Bentley, of Wilsonville, officiating. These young people are well known to the people of the community in which they reside, and have the best wishes of all that their future may be a bright and happy one.

The Sentinel has received notice that there is room at the Soldiers' Home at Mountain Creek for such veterans as are without homes. It is a good place for the old soldiers to spend the rest of their days, if they have no money or loved ones to look after them; they will be well cared for there. Those who wish to go can apply through the probate judge.

In this issue of The Sentinel will be found the statement of the Columbiana Savings Bank. The figures show it to be in a prosperous condition, and growing in public favor all the time. It has perceptibly increased its business since its incorporation under the laws of the State the first of January this year.

Miss Bertha Allen and Miss Alice Pettus, teachers of the Montevallo public schools, were in the city Friday and Saturday attending the Teachers' Institute.

The picnic season is here, and so are the picnickers.

Major John W. Bolin, of beat 9, was in town Saturday.

N. N. Mosteller, of Farmer, was in town last Saturday.

Hosea Pearson, of Farmer, was in town a few hours Monday.

J. W. Garriss, of near Shelby, was doing business in town Monday.

Dr. Smothers, of beat 9, was in town last Friday for a few hours.

There are times in the affairs of men when they can't take a joke.

Dr. J. H. Gunn, of Calera, was in town last Friday for a few hours.

The demand for carpenters in Columbiana just now exceeds the supply.

Judge J. L. Peters visited with his children in Montevallo over last Sunday.

The State papers are having a great deal to say just now about commencement exercises.

The union prayer meeting will hold in the Presbyterian church during the month of April.

J. W. Bandy, the druggist of Montevallo, was in the city Monday and Tuesday on business.

Prof. W. S. McEwen, of Wilsonville, was in town Friday and Saturday attending the institute.

J. A. MacKnight, manager of Shelby Springs, was in the city a day or two this week attending court.

Clarence and his sister, Miss Kathryn Smith, were down from Wilsonville last Sunday visiting friends.

N. W. Abbott, a prominent farmer of beat 3, was in town last Saturday to attend the meeting of the farmers.

Miss Florence Spencer, of Avondale, and Miss Nellie O'Connor, of New Orleans, are guests of Mrs. W. F. Davis.

They say a circus in town carries a man back to his boyhood days. There were a good many boys in town Monday.

The sweet girl graduate will soon be in evidence, and the flower market is expected to take a shoot skyward in a few days.

Mrs. Marvin Vincent and Miss Driskell Vincent, of Vincent, were guests of Mrs. John S. Pitts and the Misses Pitts last Thursday and Friday.

Wilsonville had two tickets in the field in the election Monday. The straight democratic ticket was elected with W. S. Gwin at its head for mayor.

Commissioner R. B. Posey, of Harpersville, came down Monday to attend the meeting of the Commissioners. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call.

Methodist services will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sunday because of the repairs being made to the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Harris will preach.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davis and Miss Nellie O'Connor drove down to Montevallo, Sunday, to attend the funeral of Geo. W. Shriner, who died last Saturday after an illness of several months.

Notice, Cotton Growers.

Ed. Sentinel, Columbiana: Please allow me space in your paper to say to the members of the Shelby County organization of the Southern Cotton Association, that I now have on hand a supply of Constitutions, By-laws and Enrollment sheets, for distribution among the various beat organizations. Upon application, I will forward same to the officers of each beat organization.

I cannot make a proper distribution of the above named supplies on account of not having a list of the beat officers.

Let me urge the cotton growers of any beat that is not yet organized to perfect an organization, giving notice to the officers of the county organization at an early date. It is hoped that every beat will send delegates to the County Convention to be held in Columbiana on April 15th. This Association offers some great inducements to the cotton growers of the South, if they will only adhere to its requirements. Its real benefits are not obtained in a day, nor a month, but ere long, if we put our shoulder to the wheel, the harvest time will surely come.

G. D. BALDWIN, Sec.,
Shelby County Organization.
Sylvania, Ala., R. F. D. No. 1.

At the home of her mother in Birmingham next Sunday, Miss Gertrude Roberts will be married to Mr. W. R. Lawley, of Attalla. Both of these young people have many friends in Columbiana who extend best wishes in advance of the happy event. Miss Roberts was the teacher of expression in Columbiana Graded Schools last session, and by her sweet, womanly ways endeared herself to all. Mr. Lawley is a trusted employee of a bank in Attalla, but for a long time was manager of the Birmingham Title and Guaranty Co's business in this city. He is a fine young man, and is to be congratulated on having won for a life partner such an excellent young woman. They will live in Attalla.

Geo. W. Shriner, a prominent business man of Montevallo, died early last Saturday morning of Bright's disease. In the death of Mr. Shriner not only does Montevallo lose an excellent citizen, but the county sustains a great loss in that he was a progressive man, a christian man—and a man among men. The Sentinel knows little as to the circumstances of his death only that he had been a great sufferer for several months, but we hope by next week to receive something from our Montevallo correspondent regarding his life and death. Mr. Shriner is survived by a widow, one son and one daughter.

This is the time of year when a general cleaning up is needed. Everybody should get their yards in the best possible condition to prevent the breeding and spreading of disease. Even serious epidemics have been prevented by attending to this matter in time, and it is a duty which every residence owner or occupant owes the public, as well as to himself. Now is a good time to begin.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Lefkovits gave a little dinner party Monday evening in honor of their guests, the Misses MacKnight, of Shelby Springs. Those present, aside from the host and hostess and their guests, were Miss Grace Walker, J. T. Leeper, W. W. Wallace and H. D. Latham.

Prof. C. H. Florey and Miss Stella Posey, teachers from Harpersville schools, were attending the Institute last Friday and Saturday. Prof. Florey was elected chairman of the institute and Miss Posey, secretary.

There was but one ticket in the city election in Columbiana Monday. W. B. Browne for mayor, and R. E. Cox, A. P. Longshore, John S. Pitts, J. W. Johnston and W. W. Wallace for councilmen.

Miss Alice Pettus, who was here from Montevallo last week to attend the teachers' institute, is a daughter of the late Frank L. Pettus and a grand daughter of Senator Pettus.

Prof. Glenn, principal of the schools of Calera, was in the city last Friday and Saturday to attend the meeting of the board of registrars of which he is a member.

LOST FOX HOUND.—Lost between—Gurnee and Dogwood, in Shelby county, white and black spotted hound bitch with brown ears and white face; also one black and tan dog with yellow head and ears and yellow legs with black back; had on collar with my name when he ran off. Any information or return of the dogs will be suitably rewarded. Joseph R. Smith, jr., Box 632, Birmingham, Ala.

Pretty Millinery.

The display of millinery by T. J. Weaver & Co. last Thursday, Friday and Saturday was beautiful, and the ladies of this section of the county fairly "swarmed" the store during the opening days.

In the display there were many beautiful creations, the handiwork of Miss Clara Watkins, the trimmer and designer. Flowers will be much worn, some hats being made entirely of leaves and blossoms. Ribbon, mousseline, straw and fruit are also effectively used in the trimmings of many. There are many exquisite and attractive patterns in white, fashioned of lace or straw or mousseline oftentimes laden with roses in delicate tints. Colors predominating are green in different shades, red and lilac, together with the burnt straw effect. The picture hat is a favorite. In green several patterns were shown that were indeed beautiful.

The display was indeed handsome and reflects credit upon the firm and their trimmer and designer. They would be glad to have all the ladies to come and see them.

Farmers' Union.

The farmers of Shelby county met in this city last Saturday and organized a Farmers' Union. The Sentinel has not the space this week to give the organization the notice it should have, and not having at hand some necessary data to be able to speak intelligently, the matter will go over until next week.

The officer elected last Saturday are Hosea Pearson, President; J. H. Hill, Vice-President; W. S. Finley, Secretary and Treas.; Chas. Miller, Chaplain; W. T. Taylor, Conductor; J. M. Allen, Door-keeper.

The Sentinel is requested to announce that the next meeting of the organization will be on Friday before the first Sunday in May, and will be with Spring Creek Local. All members are requested to be present, as important business will come before the meeting.

It won't be long now until some fellow will come down town carrying a little radish about the size of an angle worm, and show it to his friends as being a this year's growth, and then tell you about his early garden.

Dry Valley Items.

Rev. T. J. Black preached to a large congregation at Session's Chapel last Sunday.

Charles H. Perry, of Maylene, was visiting in our community last Sunday.

The district school at Sessions' Chapel closed last Tuesday, and the children did credit to themselves and their teacher, Miss Ida Horn. The patrons of the school all love Miss Horn for her fidelity to their children while a teacher, and her uniform kindness to all.

W. E. Lucas met with a very painful accident on Thursday of last week. He and his brother Clay were cutting brush with which to make a road when the ax in the hands of Clay slipped and striking the hand of W. E. and severed two fingers on his left hand.

Miss Grace Upshaw, a trusted employee of the Southern Bell Telephone Co. at Birmingham, was visiting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Sessions last Sunday.

Miss Mary Haley, of Jasper, a distinguished and highly educated lady, was visiting at the home of Mrs. N. C. Moore last week.

B. T. Randall and J. B. Wiggins attended the meeting of the Cotton Growers' Association in Columbiana last Saturday.

Geo. W. Randall, sen., attended quarterly meeting at Camp Branch last Sunday.

Mrs. B. T. Reynolds, of Montevallo, and Miss Bertha Knowles went down to Jenison last week to visit relatives and friends.

Readers of The Sentinel here are always glad to get that paper. It is the best paper in this section of the State for the home, and it should be in every home.

APRIL.

April is a nature study for the Master of all painters, and the bewildering, artistic blending of colors from his palette and brush are shown as one looks upon the wild flowers and the bloom of the dogwood, the honeysuckle, and a pretty scarlet blush tints the bloom of the pomegranate. Nature's casket of rich perfumed gems is opened up that all may see. The bloom of the pear is a bed of pearls; on the apple is seen a bank of pink opals; the quince is rich with rubies; while the amethyst glints from the peach tree; the yellow jessamine is a beautiful natural topaz, and over all is spread the turquoise blue of heaven's unclouded sky, and through which, at nightfall, the stars—the open Rich indeed are the woods just now with nature's jewels—fair, sweet and rare; jewels on which the humblest may look—the poor as well as the rich may have their share. April showers bring out the coloring of these beautiful gems of nature in more delicate tints than at any other time of the year. Indeed, it may be called the floral month of the twelve. With April has springtime indeed come. Violets carpet the earth with a loyal blue which oftentimes deepens to a royal purple, and happy are the childer as they hie themselves to the woods to pick the choicest, the most beautiful. The pretty blooms are everywhere—on the hilltops, in the valleys, along the hedges, in the fields—their perfumes float like some sweet childish prayer all about. Through the buds and the young leaves in the tree-tops the sunlight seeps and falls in golden fragments upon the green carpet which is just putting forth. Up there among the top-most branches the making of a castle is going on—a mother bird is building her nest—there amid the gold, the purple, the violet and the amber of the forest will she rear her brood. Through all the busy hours the happiness and the joy in her heart is shown by the song she is continually singing.

A hearty, a joyous welcome to April, for with it comes the beautiful Springtime scattering its fragrance, and painting the flowers upon the earth and the leaves upon the trees to gladden the hearts of all mankind the world over.

I have been requested several times to make a statement as to what I thought of the Mutual Life Industrial Association of Georgia, but have declined to do so until now. I have been making an investigation for the last six months as to the merits of the Association and have reached the conclusion that it is the safest and cheapest insurance offered to the people. I have taken Three Thousand Dollars in it, and take pleasure in recommending it to the people.

HOW TWO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN ESCAPED PELVIC CATARRH BY AID OF PE-RU-NA.

Female Weakness Is Usually Pelvic Catarrh. Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

MRS. MABLE BRADFORD

Mrs. Mable Bradford, 13 Church street, Burlington, Vt., Secretary Whittier Oratorio Society, writes:

"Peruna is certainly a wonderful medicine for the ills of women. I have heard it spoken of in the highest praise by many, and certainly my experience is well worthy of a good word.

"I began to have severe pains across my back about a year ago, brought on by a cold, and each subsequent month brought me pain and distress.

"Your remedy was prescribed, and the way it acted upon my system was almost too good to be true. I certainly have regained my health and strength, and I no longer suffer periodical pains and extreme lassitude."—Mable Bradford.

Thousands of Women Cured Every Year by Correspondence—This is What Dr. Hartman Proposes to Do For You Without Charge.

Women who suffer should read the evidence presented here. We have thousands of letters from grateful friends who tell the same story.

Half the ills that are peculiarly women's own are of a catarrhal character. Female weakness was not understood for many years.

Dr. Hartman deserves the credit of having determined its real character. He has

Mrs. Lizzie Redding, 3134 B Clifton Place, St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"I found after trying many different medicines to restore me to health, that Peruna was the only thing which could be depended upon. I began taking it when I was in a decline, induced by female weakness and overwrought nerves.

"I began to feel stronger during the first week I took Peruna and my health improved daily until now I am in perfect health and enjoy life as I never did before."—Lizzie Redding.

made catarrh and catarrhal diseases, including pelvic catarrh, a life long study.

Peruna cures catarrh, whether of the pelvic organs or any other organ of the human body.

Pe-ru-na, a Natural Beautifier.

Peruna produces clean, mucous membranes, the basis of facial symmetry and a perfect complexion.

The women have not been slow to discover that a course of Peruna will do more toward restoring youthful beauty than all the devices known to science.

Many a girl has regained her faded beauty, many a matron has lengthened the days of her comely appearance by using Peruna.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

David Rankin, of Tarkio, Mo., is worth $1,000,000, all made by farming.

Sir Walter Parratt, "master of the King's music," at the British Court, is sixty-four years old.

The founder of popular Paris restaurants, M. Petrus Duval, died recently at his splendid estate at Pontlevy.

John W. Hutchinson, last of the famous band of singing Abolitionists, is still living at his home in Lynn, Mass.

Clarence H. Mackay, head of the big telegraph and cable system established by his father, is an enthusiast about all sports.

Herman Flackmann, a poor rag-picker, of Hanover, inherited $10,000 from an American uncle. When the money was paid over to him he dropped dead.

Colonel John Sobieski, of Los Angeles, Cal., is said to be the only direct descendant in the male line of the last native king save one of Poland, King John Sobieski.

John Hollingshead, a famous London theatre manager, who died recently, is credited with the discovery of the collaborative genius of W. S. Gilbert and the late Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Colonel Lorenzo Alexis De Clairmont, chief of staff to President Cabrera, of Guatemala, and military dictator of that country, was ticket-taker in Denver about a year ago.

Henry M. Dellinger, of Washington, D. C., hale and hearty at the age of eighty-three, fitted up the telegraph experiment station at Washington for Morse, the inventor of the telegraph.

Sixteen thousand Russian immigrants reached this country in December, but not many Japs, notes the New York World.

Wrong Kind of Immigrants.

Immigration Commissioner Sargent is right in his view of the public evils arising from the maintenance in this country of colonies of aliens who retain their allegiance to their native countries and send there the greater part of their earnings. Many of the Italian and Hungarian immigrants do not come here to stay longer than sufficient time to acquire money which they intend to go back to Europe to spend. That was one great objection against the Chinese. It is just as objectionable in the case of other immigrants. There should be legislation to discourage, as far as possible, that condition of things. Immigrants who come here without any intention of remaining are not wanted.—Philadelphia Press.

Who Owns the Railroads?

H. T. Newcomb, of the District of Columbia Bar, has compiled statistics showing that 5,174,718 depositors in savings banks of six Eastern States are directly interested in the joint ownership of $42,251,087 of steam railroad securities, that insurance companies doing business in Massachusetts hold $845,889,038 of steam railroad stocks and bonds, and 74 educational institutions depend on $17,408,327 invested in similar securities for a portion of their income. Other fiduciary institutions own enough railroad securities to bring their holdings up to more than a billion and a half dollars, about one-sixth of the entire capital invested in railroad property. These investments represent the savings of the masses, there being twenty million holders of life insurance policies in the country, as many more of fire insurance policies, and an even greater number of depositors in banking and trust institutions, where investments are largely in railroad securities.

They Compromised.

RESTORED HIS HAIR

Scalp Humor Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment After All Else Failed.

"I was troubled with a severe scalp humor and loss of hair that gave me a great deal of annoyance. After unsuccessful efforts with many remedies and so-called hair tonics, a friend induced me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The humor was cured in a short time, my hair was restored as healthy as ever, and I can gladly say I have since been entirely free from any further annoyance. I shall always use Cuticura Soap, and I keep the Ointment on hand to use as a dressing for the hair and scalp. (Signed) Fred K. Busche, 213 East 57th St., N. Y. City."

THE STRAIN OF WORK.

Best of Backs Give Out Under the Burden of Daily Toil.

Lieutenant George G. Warren, of No. 3 Chemical, Washington, D. C., says: "It's an honest fact that Doan's Kidney Pills did me a great lot of good, and if it were not true I would not recommend them. It was the strain of lifting that brought on kidney trouble and weakened my back, but since using Doan's Kidney Pills I have lifted 600 pounds and felt no bad effects. I have not felt the trouble come back since, although I had suffered for five or six years, and other remedies had not helped me at all."

Sex in Bones.

The sex of bones has been much discussed by anatomists and anthropologists. Dr. Brinton some time ago stated his belief that, with the exception of the pelvis, sex could not be determined from an examination of the bones. That is to say, if a given arm or leg bone or rib or skull or any of the bones of a skeleton except the pelvis are found, the sex of the individual cannot be decided with any certainty. Dr. Thomas Dwight, of the Harvard Medical school, who has recently been investigating the subject, agrees with Dr. Brinton's conclusions in the main, but adds that when the fresh bones with the front cartilages in place are obtainable, sex can be determined with some certainty.

In the male the heads of the femur (thigh bone) and the humerus (upper arm) are regularly larger than in the female, and this is probably true of the other joints. By careful examination of these articulations the sex can be ascertained in a large number of cases. With old skeletons this test is of course not available.

Canadian Statistics.

The land area of Canada is 2,316,684,071 acres, and the water area 80,483,222 acres, making a total of 2,397,293 acres, which is exclusive of Hudson bay, Ungava bay, the Bay of Fundy, the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and all other tidal waters, excepting that portion of the river St. Lawrence between Point de Monts in Saguenay county, and the foot of Lake St. Peter in Quebec county.

Of this total acreage the land occupied amounts to only about one-fourteenth, or 63,422,338 acres, of which 63,334,815 acres is in farms and 87,523 acres in lots. Of the total occupied the large amount of 57,522,441 acres is owned and only 5,899,891 acres is leased. More than one-half of the land occupied is, however, unimproved, the totals being, land improved 33,256,205 acres, of the latter 16,791,835 acres is in forest. The land in field crops amounts to 19,763,740 acres; in pasture, 11,275,556 acres; in orchards, 354,545 acres; in vegetables and small fruits, 116,517 acres; in vineyards, 5,000 acres; in nurseries, 1,561 acres, and in forest plantations, 3,821 acres.

CHILDREN AFFECTED

By Mother's Food and Drink.

Many babies have been launched into life with constitutions weakened by disease taken in with their mother's milk. Mothers cannot be too careful as to the food they use while nursing their babies. The experience of a Kansas City mother is a case in point:

"I was a great coffee drinker from a child, and thought I could not eat a meal without it. But I found at last it was doing me harm. For years I had been troubled with dizziness, spots before my eyes and pain in my heart, to which was added, two years ago, a chronic sour stomach. The baby was born seven months ago, and almost from the beginning it too, suffered from sour stomach. She was taking it in each meal."

"In my distress I consulted a friend of more experience than mine, and she told me to quit coffee, that coffee did not make good milk; I have since ascertained that it really dries up the milk."

"So I quit coffee, and tried tea and at last I won. But they did not agree with me. Then I turned to Postum Coffee with the happiest results. It proved to be the very thing I needed. It not only agreed perfectly with baby and myself, but it increased the flow of my milk. My husband then quit coffee and used Postum, quickly got well of the dyspepsia with which he had been troubled. I no longer suffer from the dizziness, blind spots, pain in my heart or sour stomach. Postum has cured them."

"Now we all drink Postum from my husband to my seven months' old baby. It has proved to be the best food we have ever used. We would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever drank." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Oil and Acetylene Lamps.

Oil and acetylene lamps have been depended on chiefly for motor vehicles on account of the great weight of the accumulators hitherto necessary for feeding electric lamps. Dr. Auer, the inventor of the incandescent gas mantle, seems to have overcome the difficulty in a new electric lamp, which has been brought to a commercial stage through a long process of evolution. Tests are claimed to show a marvelous power as compared with other lamps. Two pocket accumulators, the smallest made serve to feed an 8-volt Auer lamp, and this is said to give a magnificent light for a motor car. The weight of the small cells is trifling. The new lamp is much like the ordinary incandescent lamp in appearance, its superior qualities being attributable to the use of certain materials—such as the rare oxides ceria and thorium—employed in the incandescent gas mantle.

Who Owns the Railroads?

H. T. Newcomb, of the District of Columbia Bar, has compiled statistics showing that 5,174,718 depositors in savings banks of six Eastern States are directly interested in the joint ownership of $42,251,087 of steam railroad securities, that insurance companies doing business in Massachusetts hold $845,889,038 of steam railroad stocks and bonds, and 74 educational institutions depend on $17,408,327 invested in similar securities for a portion of their income. Other fiduciary institutions own enough railroad securities to bring their holdings up to more than a billion and a half dollars, about one-sixth of the entire capital invested in railroad property. These investments represent the savings of the masses, there being twenty million holders of life insurance policies in the country, as many more of fire insurance policies, and an even greater number of depositors in banking and trust institutions, where investments are largely in railroad securities.

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

ESTABLISHED 1875.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., APRIL 13, 1905.

VOL. 30. NO. 32.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

Current News Garnered as It Falls From the Plant of Report.

Young Lady Kills Lover and Self.

Huntsville, Ala.—H. A. Ballard, a young employee of the Merrimack Manufacturing Company, was shot and fatally wounded by Miss Oma Harding, who then turned the weapon upon herself and fired a bullet through her heart. She died instantly.

The tragedy occurred on the front porch of the boarding house of Mrs. B. A. Wheeler, where Ballard had lodgings. Miss Harding went to the house and sent word for Ballard to come down. He came to the front door, and she opened fire on him with a 32-calibre pistol, the first shot passing into his left breast at the nipple. He turned and ran through the hall, another shot being fired at him, and fell in the kitchen. The woman then shot herself and fell dead on the porch.

Ballard has not been allowed to make a statement yet, and nobody has been found who knows anything about the cause of the tragedy. The principals have been going together for some time, and it is presumed that it was the outcome of a lovers' quarrel. Miss Harding was an operative in the mill of the Merrimack Company and was one of the belles of the village. She was about 21 years old, and came here a year ago from some town in Tennessee.

Miss Harding came to Huntsville that morning, and it is supposed that she bought the pistol. She boarded a car in town and went straight to the young man's boarding house in Merri-mack.

Ballard died from the wound inflicted by Miss Harding after being taken to the hospital. He was unconscious most of the time.

The chief of police received a message from Bristol, signed by Mrs. J. I. Cox, inquiring about the tragedy and saying Ballard is a nephew of Governor Cox, of Tennessee.

Improvements at Decatur.

Decatur, Ala.—Improvements to the extent of $15,000 or more will be made at once on the Louisville and Nashville railroad shops in New Decatur, the contract having been given to Charlie Jones, of New Decatur. The principal building will be a pattern shop, a two-story structure of brick 100 by 60 feet. There will also be made other improvements on these shops.

The New Decatur shops are now and have been for some time the greatest shops of the Louisville and Nashville system, and these additional extensions will make of them one of the greatest railroad shops in the United States. Work on these additions will commence at once and will be pushed to completion.

Making Transcripts in Case.

Anniston, Ala.—In the office of the federal clerk transcripts are being prepared in the cases of T. G. Bush et al., trustees of the Southern Car and Foundry Company. These cases were up in the federal court in November, and were dismissed on motion, Judge Toulmin holding that he was without jurisdiction. The cases are to be argued on appeal before the United States supreme court. In the case against J. M. Elliott, Jr., the amount involved is $150,000. In the case against the Elliott Car Company the amount claimed is $100,000.

Dies From Burns.

Mobile, Ala.—Mrs. M. H. Tucker, residing five miles west of the city at Cottage Hill, died from the effects of burns received from her clothing catching fire while she was burning trash.

Building More Sidetrack.

Ensley, Ala.—The Southern Railway has built one mile and a half of additional sidetrack at Ensley among the steel industries, in order to have better facilities for handling the immense tonnage at that point. The traffic furnished by Ensley is enormous and growing larger every month.

Wetumpka Progress.

Wetumpka, Ala.—The city of Wetumpka will soon commence the construction of the electric light plant and water works. The contract for the light plant has been awarded, and the iron piping for the water mains purchased. When completed Wetumpka will have a first-class lighting plant and efficient water works with a natural pressure of eighty-five or ninety pounds to the square inch.

Boy Hanged for Assault.

Charlotte, N. C.—Walter Partridge, a negro boy 20 years of age, was hanged at Fayetteville, N. C., for a criminal assault upon Mrs. Lillie I. Hales, a white woman.

Power Company Incorporated.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Tallapoosa Water Power and Electrical Company, of Montgomery, has filed with the secretary of state a notice of its incorporation, with a capital stock of $100,000. The incorporators are Frederick Ausfeld, R. A. Chapman and Mrs. Donnie Purker. The purpose of the company is to build dams on the Tallapoosa river, generate electricity, convey and supply electricity to any city, factory or street railway.

Thought to Be Murdered.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—What seems to be one of the most atrocious murders ever committed in this vicinity happened here Thursday night, in which A. J. Lindgren was the unfortunate victim.

Mr. Lindgren failed to return home Thursday night, and as a result of an early search for him in the morning his horse and buggy were found down near the river bridge. Here was also found his hat, coat and pocketbook, the latter being empty. It seems that he had carried a friend of his across the river about dark, and the supposition is that on his return he was attacked on the bridge and murdered. Mr. Lindgren's body has not been found as yet, and it is thought that it was thrown into the river. His coat, when discovered, had several bullet holes in it, and one or two slight blood stains were visible.

One theory is that a negro, who had just been convicted of a theft from Mr. Lindgren and who has the reputation of being a bad character, waylaid him in a spirit of revenge. This theory is supported in the report that this negro has disappeared. The general belief is, however, that robbery was the motive of the attack, as it is understood that Mr. Lindgren had a considerable sum of money about him.

Freight Wreck Occurs.

Selma, Ala.—Freight train No. 67 on the Southern was wrecked on the long approach of the bridge over the Tombigbee river just east of Demopolis. It is thought that an axle on one of the box cars broke and caused the break in the bridge, through which seven freight cars went. It was also reported that a negro was killed, but the report cannot be confirmed. The traffic of the road was interrupted for several hours and the mail train from Meridian had to be carried around by Akron, but it is thought that the bridge will be repaired so that west-bound trains can go over it this afternoon.

Officer is Arrested.

Huntsville, Ala.—Deputy Sheriff McClelland, of Houston, Tex., was arrested here late Thursday night on a charge of attempted kidnapping, after he had arrested Will Vining, a young painter of this city. The Texas officer came here yesterday with a warrant for Ed Vining, who is wanted in Houston for burglary.

Will Vining was taken up and the visiting officer claimed that he is the man. Requisition papers had been secured in advance and Deputy McClelland was making arrangements to leave with his prisoner when the relatives of Vining got together and applied for a writ of habeas corpus. McClelland made another attempt to catch a train out of Huntsville. Constable Ward balked his game by arresting him on a warrant charging kidnapping. McClelland stated that he was acting on legal advice and would willingly go to jail if necessary, but as a courtesy to his office he was allowed to spend the night under guard in the office of Sheriff Rodgers.

Hurt in Mines.

Birmingham, Ala.—Walter Page, employed at the Raymond ore mines, twelve miles south of the city, escaped death by a miracle. A car of ore got loose on the incline and dashed back into the mine. Page was in the way, but managed to step aside as the car passed. The car was smashed to pieces at the end of the journey and Page was covered with ore. One of his ribs was broken and he was otherwise painfully injured, though not fatally.

Serious Accident.

Troy, Ala.—A young man by the name of Jim Brooks, who works at the veneering factory here, met with a very serious accident. The machinery that he was managing got clogged, and in trying to unclog it with his foot he had his foot so badly mangled that it was necessary to amputate it.

Snow at Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Ala.—About 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon the thermometer at this place suddenly fell from 55 degrees to 45 degrees and the Jacksonville populace was surprised by the fall of large flakes of snow, accompanied by a heavy rain.

Immediately after the snow fell the temperature rose, the sun shone, and the weather is now normal.

Mining Company Incorporated.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—The Tuscaloosa Mining Company, of Oakman, has filed a notice of its incorporation, with a capital stock of $10,000. The incorporators are J. DeB. Hooper, G. B. Hooper and Belle H. Collier.

Military Inspected.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Birmingham infantry companies of the Third regiment, Alabama National Guard, have been inspected by Captain Goodfellow, of the United States army, and Adjutant-General W. W. Brandon. The companies made a good showing. The artillery company was also inspected. The cavalry company will be inspected tomorrow night, with the infantry company of the Second regiment located here.

Robbed and Thrown in the River. Lanett, Ala.—Will Gaines, the son of a prominent farmer living near here, was held up and robbed by an unknown negro.

The young man was out on his father's farm, and his first knowledge of the negro's presence was when he was halted an covered with a pistol. The negro was masked.

After relieving young Gaines of his knife and watch the negro blindfolded him and led him to the bank of the Chattahoochee river.

Before the young man was aware of his whereabouts he was pushed off the bank into the river. He was almost drowned before he could remove the bandage from his eyes and get out of the water.

Searching parties have been out all day, and two negroes are now under arrest. Both of them were relieved of guns by the posse, and they will be held pending further developments.

Mayor and Aldermen Appointed.

Courtland, Ala.—The governor has appointed a mayor and four aldermen for the town of Courtland, which does not have to be done with any other town in the state. The act by which this duty is placed upon the executive was passed by the legislature of 1900. The officers named were C. M. Sherrod, mayor; R. H. Tweedy, A. F. Rebman, E. V. Chardavoyne and R. N. Harris, Jr., aldermen.

Opera House for Decatur.

Decatur, Ala.—Work will soon start on the new $20,000 opera house in New Decatur, almost all the money subscribed having been paid in. The building will be of brick and stone of modern design, and the stage will be on the ground floor. At the present time the Decatur has no opera house at all, and a play house is badly needed for the amusement loving public.

Call on Admiral Schley.

Mobile, Ala.—The members of the Raphael Semmes camp, United Confederate Veterans, clad in their uniform of gray and carrying an old battle flag recently returned to them by the action of congress, called on Admiral and Mrs. Schley and paid their respects. In behalf of the camp Hon. O. J. Semmes, son of Admiral Semmes, presented the admiral with a magnificent thirty-second degree Masonic jewel.

Hunting for Indian Relics.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—A party of members of the Philadelphia Academy of Science are now engaged in a general exploration of the numerous Indian mounds down at Moundville, Ala. This party, which travels about in a private steamboat, "The Gopher," is making an extensive tour of the country, but have perhaps been more successful in their finds of Indian relics here at Moundville than most anywhere else, as this was once quite a celebrated Indian settlement. Mr. James A. Anderson, one of the officers of the Alabama geological survey, has been down once or twice to aid the party in determining on the best mounds to extensively explore. Mr. Anderson being quite familiar with this field of relics.

Survivors of Shiloh.

Birmingham, Ala.—Survivors of the battle of Shiloh, which was fought on April 6 and 7, 1862, met Thursday in the city hall and recited experiences of the great conflict. Both Federal and Confederate veterans gathered, and a number of interesting speeches were made. Capt. Thomas W. Huffman presided at the meeting. An organization will be perfected in Alabama of survivors of the battle.

Negro Captured Near Opelika.

Opelika, Ala.—Ned Thurman, a negro, supposed to be the one who blindfolded, bound and robbed Willie Gaines, a white citizen, and afterwards threw him into the river near West Point, was captured near Opelika and taken to Blanton.

Judge Appointed.

Enterprise, Ala.—H. H. Blackman, a lawyer of Enterprise, was yesterday named by Governor Jelks as judge of the Coffee county court to succeed Hon. J. F. Sanders, who sent his resignation to the executive department several days ago.

Still in Critical Condition.

Anniston, Ala.—Barclay Muncher, who was badly hurt by falling from a high tank at Jacksonville, is still in a critical condition, but there has been a slight improvement. At times he has been conscious. The chances of recovery are against him. Mr. Muncher lives in Chattanooga and is a painter by trade. He was painting when he fell a distance of ninety-six feet.

Fatally Crushed by Cars.

Birmingham, Ala.—Charles Grayson, colored, while coupling cars on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad in the yards here was crushed so badly that death followed an hour later.

Two Women Hurt.

Birmingham, Ala.—The rear portion of the walls of the two-story building occupied by S. Hall as a general merchandise establishment on Second avenue, east of Twenty-first street, fell in without warning. Women occupied the upper part of the building, and two of them, Viola Burdell and Lillie Arnold, were painfully injured. They were carried to a hospital. The building was one of the oldest on Second avenue.

ANGRY IN OLD MADRID

Popular Demonstration Was Prohibited by the Governor. Police Stoned.

MANY VICTIMS RECOVERED.

Soil on Which Reservoir Was Built Was Pronounced Bad—Rigid Investigation Will Be Made.

Madrid, Spain.—It appears that underneath the foundations of the reservoir which gave way with disastrous results on Saturday were water pipes used to supply the palace and old Madrid. It is said that this was the cause of the subsidence, and not the surface of the ground which when tests were made sank only eleven millimetres. The vault was built of cement with iron girders, as were also the supporting columns. The first fall caused all the pillars to bend, and the end of the iron work to stretch, resulting in a general and uniform collapse. These explanations, however, cannot be considered as final.

Madrid newspapers publish assertions that the disaster has been foreseen by engineers, as well as workmen.

It is now recalled that the bad condition of the soil on which the reservoir was constructed caused keen opposition, and numerous criticisms were made while the construction was being discussed in the cortes. Workmen who have been questioned say that they were compelled to build too rapidly with materials so defective that a disaster was bound to happen.

Many heart-rending incidents and painful scenes are reported. Ten of those who were rescued alive have gone mad.

A huge crowd stood around the scene throughout the night watching the attempts at rescue in the light of huge electric lamps.

Crowds of workmen and women carrying black flags forced all theaters to close Saturday night.

Alfonso Uses Telephone.

King Alfonso had a telephone wire laid from the scene of the disaster to the palace, and by that means was kept constantly informed. The king again visited the hospitals here.

Some of the injured have died. One body was recovered from the ruins during the night, but none later. Seven hundred workmen are engaged in clearing the debris.

During the day students and working men paraded the streets collecting money for the families of victims of the disaster. The public contributed freely.

The governor of Madrid has prohibited a great popular demonstration which the workmen proposed to organize, but he received the delegates of the workmen's association, who he informed that the street procession would be permitted under certain restrictions.

Police Stoned by Crowds.

Madrid, Spain.—Carrying black banners, five thousand workmen made a demonstration near the scene of Saturday's reservoir disaster. The police, on seizing the flags, were stoned by the crowd and several persons on both sides were seriously injured.

Son Carried "Message to Garcia."

Atchison, Kans.—A. B. Syms, aged 73, a wholesale grocer, was run over and killed by a locomotive at Hot Springs, Ark., according to a message received here. He was the father-in-law of Capt. A. Rowan, noted as the man who carried the "message to Garcia" during the Spanish-American war.

Hay Enjoys Quiet Life.

Nervi, Italy.—Secretary of State Hay is living a very quiet life here. He drives out daily, the weather being fine. Mr. Hay is annoyed by curious tourists coming from Genoa to see him, and has refused interviews to all such.

Woman Gets Thirty Days.

Huntsville, Ala.—Carrie Hereford, a white woman, was given a sentence of thirty days' hard labor for the county after trial in Justice Vaughn's court on a charge of public drunkenness. Judge Vaughn has announced his determination to repeat the punishment upon any woman who may be convicted of the same charge.

Aftermath of Tragedy.

Huntsville, Ala.—The body of Hill Ballard, who was killed by Miss Oma Harding, was shipped this evening to Bristol, Tenn., for interment as per instructions from Gov. John I. Cox, his uncle.

The body of Miss Harding was shipped to her parents at Sparta, Tenn., on the afternoon train.

Burned to Death in Fire.

Jacksonville, Fla.—It is reported here that in a fire at Plant City Sunday night two persons were burned to death. It is impossible to get the names or details, as the telegraph office at Plant City closes early.

St. Petersburg.—Baron Suematsu's article in the London Outlook of Saturday regarding indemnity concludes with Russia's information as to the amount demanded, being $500,000,000.

Charged With Arson.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Professor T. R. Dunlap, who has been vice president of Jarvis college at Thorpe Springs, Tex., has been arrested on a charge of arson. On the night of March 20th the main building of the college was burned.

No lives were lost, but neither was there any apparent reason for the fire. President Dunlap, who was formerly president of the college, was suspected, it is alleged, and his arrest followed. He is 52 years of age and has a family. President Jarvis, who lives in Fort Worth, declined to make a statement.

Dr. Sellers Robbed.

Birmingham, Ala.—Dr. H. C. Sellers, of West End, reported to the police Saturday night that he was held up and robbed of a watch and $5.20 about 8:30 o'clock near Hawkins' station, on the Powderly car line, by two young white men.

He stated that the men were about 20 to 24 years of age, one a little taller than the other.

The watch taken from him was an Elgin movement, gold filled and open face.

Killed by Indian Earthquake.

Clarksville, Tenn.—Mrs. Charles Frey, living near here, has received a cablegram from Dharmasala, India, stating that her two nephews, Charles and Cyril Homer, aged ten and six years, respectively, were killed in the recent earthquake there. Douglass Homer, the boys' father, is in the English civil service, stationed at Dharmasala. Both he and Mrs. Homer escaped injury.

Prairie Fire in Oklahoma.

Lawton, O. T.—A prairie fire in southwest Greer county, Oklahoma, has caused the destruction of several thousand dollars' worth of foodstuffs, many outbuildings, some live stock and several hundred acres of growing crops. Sparks from a locomotive started the fire.

Rioting in Jewish Quarters.

Warsaw.—The Jewish quarter of this city was guarded by a strong military force throughout Sunday. Every policeman on duty at isolated or out-of-town points was guarded by two soldiers. The result of this was the first quiet Sunday here since the January disturbances.

Sails Soon for San Domingo.

San Juan, P. R.—Dr. J. H. Holland, who has been selected by President Roosevelt to investigate the fiscal conditions of the republic of Santo Domingo, will sail shortly for San Domingo on board the cruiser Chattanooga.

Young Women Killed by Train.

Ardmore, I. T.—Moses Simmons and Miss Mary Pearce, young people, were killed at a railway crossing here, their buggy being struck by a freight train.

Regulates Mexican Coins.

Mexico City.—President Diaz has issued a decree regulating the designs for the new coins of the republic. Provision is made for new silver dollars differing but slightly from the present coins.

Battleship Ohio in Honolulu.

Washington, D. C.—The navy department is advised of the arrival of the battleship Ohio, Capt. Leavitt C. Logan, commanding, at Honolulu, Saturday. The Ohio left San Francisco on April 1 and is on her way to the China station.

New Ambassador Makes Call.

St. Petersburg.—G. V. L. Meyer, the new American ambassador to St. Petersburg, made his first call Saturday on Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, who extended an unusually cordial greeting.

Town Building Up.

Albertville, Ala.—Quite a number of new houses are being built here now. The new bank, a handsome two-story brick, on the corner of Main and Broad streets, is nearing completion, and is quite an ornament to the business part of town.

Aziroz's Successor Not Named.

Mexico City.—No decision has yet been arrived at on the question of a successor to Ambassador Aziroz at Washington. Don Jose Alcala, of the department of general relation, and now at Fort Subalza, is mentioned for the place. Senor Alcala is a member of an old family in this city.

King Edward at Minorca.

Port Mahon, Island of Minorca.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra, who sailed from Marseilles on Sunday on board the British royal yacht Victoria and Albert, arrived here. When they landed they were given a demonstrative welcome. The British sovereigns continued on their cruise this evening.

Sheriff Cook Resigns.

Montgomery, Ala.—Sheriff A. B. Cook, of Choctaw county, Saturday sent his resignation to Governor Jelks to take effect at once.

Strike in Shipyards.

Astrakhan, European Russia.—The workmen in the large shipyards here have struck. The shipwrights throughout the Volga region are extremely discontented and a general strike is almost certain when navigation opens.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES

Togo Must Stay in Jap Waters. Fleet to Be Sent South to Furnish Aid.

BATTLE WILL NOW BE AVERTED.

Positions of Fleets Thought to Offer an Opportunity for Russia to Propose Peace Terms.

St. Petersburg.—There is reason to believe that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's entrance into the China sea has been followed by orders for the cruisers Gromoboi, Rossia and Bogatyr, which have been ready for some time at Vladivostok, to put to sea. Whether it is the intention to send them south immediately, or to hold them in the vicinity of Vladivostok, is not known. Their appearance outside the roadstead of Vladivostok would constitute a potential threat against Admiral Togo's rear, which will compel the retention or dispatch of a number of heavy fighting ships to Japanese waters.

Thus Admiral Togo seems to be virtually placed between two fires.

The peace influence in the government urge that this favorable strategic position presents the psychological moment for offering officially the olive branch to Japan, reasoning that no matter how confident the Japanese government may be of Togo's victory, it cannot overlook the possibility of defeat, nor fail to appreciate the complete disaster which would follow a transfer of the mastery of the sea to Russia.

Interested in Avoiding Conflict.

With so much depending upon the issue, they argue both countries have mutual interests in avoiding an actual test, and it is not impossible therefore that a new move in the direction of peace may come just as the world expects to hear the call to quarters for the greatest naval battle of modern times. Certainly the spirits of the war party have been greatly raised by Rojestvensky's success in penetrating to the China sea; and the prospect of a naval battle, even with the odds against a Russian victory, which would change the entire complexion of the situation, has aroused something like a flash of enthusiasm in many Russian breasts.

Some naval officers express the opinion that Rojestvensky, having now safely navigated the straight, instead of sailing north to meet the Japanese, can afford to calmly await Vice Admiral Nebogatoff with his division of the squadron, who could arrive in about three weeks.

Long Dispatch from Singapore.

The Russian admiralty on Sunday received a long dispatch from Singapore, but no intimation as to its contents has been given to the newspapers. The papers of Sunday morning print Singapore dispatches without comment, the Soviet being the only exception.

This paper views the news from Rojestvenski as an auspicious prelude to a decisive battle, which may show that over Rojestvenski still shines the happy star which helped him when a lieutenant to save the fragile Vesta in an unequal conflict with a Turkish battleship. The Soviet expressed the hope that Rojestvenski is destined to turn the tables, and that even in case of defeat some of his vessels will be able to break through and reach the Japanese sea.

Fifty-one Ships in Squadron.

Singapore.—Fifty-one ships of Admiral Rojestvensky's Second Pacific squadron passed here. The most important fighting vessels of the squadron, including the battleships Kniaz-Souvaroff, Alexander II, Borodino and Orel, with their complement of cruisers, torpedo boat destroyers, did not arrive, and their whereabouts are unknown.

The vessels which passed Singapore were the following: Battleships Sissol, Veliky and Oleg; cruisers Admiral Nakhimoff, Dimitri, Donskoi, Aurora, Izumrud, Jemtchug, Almaz, Russ, Anadyr, Furst Bismarck, Kaiserin Maria Theresa, Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, Kaiser Friedrich, Rion and seven torpedo boat destroyers, all sailing under the naval flag. Under the commercial flag were the volunteer steamers Voronez, Kieff, Yaroslav, Tamboff, Vladimir and Orel, the Russian Navigation company's steamers Meteor, Jupiter and Mercury, and the East Asiatic company's steamers Korea and Kaitai, the North Baltic company's steamer Kniaz Gorchakoff, one salvage ship and sixteen colliers.

A French steamer arrived here Sunday with a sailor belonging to the Admiral Nakhimoff, who fell overboard and was picked up at Malacca after having been twelve hours in the water.

South Carolina Peonage Case.

Charleston, S. C.—After being out all night, a Federal Court jury reported inability to reach a verdict in the peonage case involving Italian labor contractors who were charged with holding employees in involuntary servitude. Judge Brawley ordered a mistrial recorded and dismissed the jury. This is the first case in the south in which it was charged that white men were held as peons.

Little Girl Killed.

Cloyd's Landing, Ky.—A most deplorable tragedy is reported to have occurred at Kettle, in the southern part of the county. Miss Lena Scott, a 13-year-old girl, and her mother, Mrs. Susan Scott, were sawing a large log into wood with which to warm their little cabin. When the log was nearly in two it broke loose and one end of it rolled down hill over the girl, horribly mangle her body, from the effects of which she died almost instantly.

This sad and pathetic death is said to be indirectly due to the dissipation of the dead girl's father, Tom Scott, who committed suicide a few years ago after having dethroned his reason and wasted his property by the use of strong drink, thus leaving his wife and children in destitute circumstances.

Saloons Close on Sunday.

Kansas City.—Saloons in both Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kans., and the suburbs of the latter city, as well as outlying saloons and wine gardens in Jackson county, Missouri, were closed Sunday. Last Sunday when the closing order went into effect in Kansas City, Mo., many made a pilgrimage across the line into Kansas, or to the many gardens in the country on the Missouri side. Sunday, however, the closing order took in all places, including hotels where liquor is sold.

American School in Mexico.

Mexico City.—A company for the purpose of establishing an American school in Mexico has been incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000. Consul General James Russell was not able to secure the consent of the state department to serve as president of the association, so the association unanimously elected Paul Hudson as its president.

Mr. Hudson is business manager of the Mexican Herald. Mr. Vernon Backus, formerly of Toledo, O., was named as vice president, and the Rev. W. H. Sloan was elected second vice president. The association expects to open the school the coming autumn, simultaneously with the school openings in the United States.

Big Order for Coal.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The Pittsburg Coal Company will close a contract within a few days with the United States Steel Corporation to furnish the latter all the coal it may require during a period of twenty-five years at market price. The contract calls for all the coal the corporation may need after the product of its own mines are exhausted. The amount of coal necessary for the company to furnish will probably be between 6,000,000 and 10,000,000 bushels a year.

Notorious Anse White Captured.

Lexington, Ky.—After being hunted a week Anse White was captured by one of the five special bailiffs sent to Breathitt county. He is an important witness for the commonwealth in the cases of the Hargis brothers and Ed Callahan, who are to be tried here on the charge of complicity in the murder of James Cockrill at Jackson. His absence has caused three postponements of the trial. He will be brought here Monday and the cases will be called Tuesday.

Died From Injuries.

Gadsden, Ala.—Henry O'Barr, a miner employed in Hammond Brothers' ore mines, was run over by the Southern passenger train Friday night at 11 o'clock, cutting off both legs and crushing his right hand.

O'Barr had left the city Friday night for home, two miles above Gadsden. He evidently got sleepy and laid down on the track, when the train ran over him. He was found later by

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL

By H. E. WHITAKER.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

Entered as second class matter, Apr. 13, 1904 at the postoffice at Columbiana, Ala., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Office over Columbiana Savings Bank.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., Apr. 13, 05

Telephone No. 17.

The Commercial Club.

The Sentinel believes that the organization of a Commercial Club in Columbiana means much for our town—more, probably, than even the most enthusiastic have had any idea of. If you live in Columbiana you should believe in it first, last and all the time. If you don't believe your town is a little better than any of its neighbors, you should move out. Every man, no matter in what town he may live, should think his town the best. He should talk for it—not extravagantly for that leaves the impression of exaggeration—but in a conservative, yet convincing manner that will make the outside world believe that you have an abiding faith in what you say.

Like other places your town has advantages that others have not, and your modesty should not prevent you making that fact known whenever the opportunity presents itself. At home or abroad, whether pursuing business or pleasure, do not neglect to give those with whom you come in contact to understand that you live in a live town, populated by enterprising, go-ahead, progressive people, and one that is advancing instead of retrograding.

The Commercial Club is organized for the purpose of placing before the outside world, in an effective manner, the advantages Columbiana offers to the home seeker and the manufacturer. The purposes of the organization are indeed laudable and praiseworthy, and it should have the hearty co-operation of every citizen in the town. If you can honestly speak in commendation of the dealing methods of your merchants, the ability of your professional men, the excellence of your mechanics, the superiority of your churches, and public schools, the industry, energy, sobriety and high character of your citizenship generally, do not permit anything to prevent you exercising that privilege. Without the co-operation of our people the efforts of the Commercial club will be nil. You should learn to believe, if you have not done so, that our town has all the desirable qualities mentioned in the foregoing, and in addition the best women in the world, the best located town, the finest country surrounding it, the most fertile farms, tilled by progressive farmers. If there are any drawbacks (we know of none) it will not be necessary to mention them; competing towns will relieve you of that task.

Strangers seeking a location are always influenced in favor of any place whose citizens are enthusiastic in its praise. No city or town can expect to attain prominence in this busy world unless its inhabitants appreciate the excellence and virtues of each other, and will collectively spread abroad their faith in their town, its prosperity and future growth. Talk is cheap in one sense of the word, but when properly utilized it can be made most effective and a power for good in many directions, and this is one of them.

Then let every man in Columbiana co-operate with the Commercial Club in its efforts to build up our town and community.

It is said that Captain Hobson will not be in the race for governor, but that he has ambitions to go to the upper house of congress. Captain Hobson is a worthy man, but there are other men in Alabama who are more entitled to the senatorship when there becomes a vacancy than Captain Hobson.

The Sentinel believes the recently organized Commercial Club will be of great benefit to Columbiana. Organized effort can work wonders when exerted in the right direction. Every man in the city who wants to see Columbiana grow and prosper should become a member of the Commercial Club.

As usual, Birmingham's ball team starts out well, and during the past few days has administered several drubbings to some of the big leaguers. But can the Barons keep up their present gait through the season? Here's hoping they may.

The railroad commission of this State has been playing a star engagement in Montgomery during the past week.

A stay of execution of sentence has been granted Mrs. Chadwick.

During the President's stay in Colorado, the bears make it convenient to hide out.

Vulcan, from his exalted position on Red Mountain, will be "on guard" over the Birmingham district.

It would be humane, if nothing else, to stop the fighting while peace negotiations are pending between Japan and Russia.

Russia is to increase her navy by twenty five big battleships, and twenty-four cruisers, so 'tis said. This, however, will not bluff the Japs a little bit.

The trip of the President through some of the Southern States has been dubbed by some of the metropolitan papers "the flight of a human meteor."

Senator Morgan, who has been very ill, is reported as improving. It is the wish of all Alabamians that the senator may soon be restored to good health.

Chicago and St. Louis both elected Democratic mayors last week. Dunne was elected in Chicago by the largest vote ever given a candidate for mayor in that city.

Kansas is nothing if not sensational. The story is given out that a crank, "probably a tool of the Standard Oil company," wanted to assassinate Governor Hoch a few days ago.

The people of Decatur are throwing bouquets at the Louisville and Nashville railroad. That company is expending $15,000 in improvements on the Decatur shops, hence the bouquets.

It is not safe to follow extremists. No doubt a readjustment of freight rates in Alabama would be giving the people only what is their just due, but it should not be forgotten that the railroads have some rights in the premises. They have done much to build up the South—much more, no doubt, than any other one factor, and they deserve consideration in this matter of readjustment of freight rates. Mr. Comer, no doubt, means well, but his views on the subject are those of an extremist, the adoption of which we do not believe would be to the best interests of the State. Fair dealing should be the motive which prompts an improvement of present conditions.

More Fertilizers Sold.

More fertilizer will be put in the soil of Alabama this year than was used to grow last year nearly a million and a half bales of cotton. This may not mean another crop of a million and a half bales, for the weather clerk may frown this year, but it does mean that the farmers of Alabama intend to raise this year a big crop.

It is but another illustration of all effort failing to control the acreage by organization and oratory. The farmer pitches his crop independently. Orators and theorists are not admitted to the farm council.

The chief question now is, is Alabama fairly representative of the entire cotton belt? Reports from other states have not been published, and some of them cannot perhaps put the situation in black and white as can the department of agriculture in this state. It is a matter, not of reports, with Commissioner Poole, but it is a matter of simple arithmetic in the sale of fertilizer tags. Such sales are conclusive.—Age-Herald.

Letter From Wilsonville.

Wilsonville, Ala., Apr. 8.

Dear Mr. Editor.

Please allow us through the columns of your paper to correct an error or mistake, which appeared in your paper last week.

Among the editorials was a paragraph that read, viz.: "The straight democratic ticket was elected in the municipal election at Wilsonville, Ala." etc. Three weeks previous to the said election the citizens of Wilsonville held a convention for the purpose of nominating a candidate or candidates for Mayor and five aldermen. This convention which was participated in by the citizens of our town, regardless of political feelings, only nominated one ticket. The majority of the citizens who made this nomination belonged to the democratic party. Mr. E. W. Holland was nominated for Mayor, and five names for alderman, all democrats; none of these having solicited the office. There was no objections raised, and no other ticket nominated.

On the day of election there was another ticket put before the voters which had never been nominated or put before the people (unless it was done on the sly) until the voting began. Who nominated said ticket we do not know. By whose authority was it named "the straight democratic ticket?" Where did it get its origin? Was this nomination made by a special few after the regular convention which was called by the Mayor, said convention being composed of at least five democrats to one populist and the nominations put in by the same prorata democratic committee? If so, is this democracy? As we said in the beginning, there was only one nominated, which ticket was defeated. There were no political issues in this election.

We write these few lines of correction as the other communication was calculated to be misleading and cause hard feelings.

[The item referred to in the communication above was published in our local matter purely as a news item, and just as it came to us by telephone. We do not believe it was the intention of our informant to cause any hard feelings.—Ed.]

From President Pearson.

Farmer, Ala., Apr. 10, '05.

Editor Sentinel, Columbiana.

Please allow me space in your paper to say to the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of Shelby County:

I have been officially notified of my election as President of said Union. While this comes to me as a surprise, I beg leave to express my profound gratitude and appreciation of the honor conferred in placing me to preside over your deliberations, and I assure you that my best efforts will be exerted in the discharge of my duties as such. I earnestly ask the co-operation of the entire membership to help put into successful operation the fundamental principles of the Order. I admonish the entire membership as farmers that our acts be upright, and our walks worthy of our avocations.

Respectfully,
HOSEA PEARSON.

Montevallo.

Rev. A. P. Montague, president of Howard College, preached at the Baptist church Sunday.

Thunder, lightning, wind, hail and rain, Friday night, kept the weather-wise folks guessing as to what would come next.

The big white frost of Thursday night seems to have been almost harmless in its effects. The tenderest of vegetables survived.

Rev. H. E. Wheeler, who has been away seeking relief from his rheumatism, has returned with his family, but not entirely recovered.

Dr. Parke, who purchased the dental business of Dr. R. L. Lacey, has moved to Montevallo, from Kentucky. Dr. Lacey is in business at Powderly.

Dr. J. M. Naff, of Birmingham, has purchased part of the Hawkins' place and will improve it and reside there, making a very valuable and essential acquisition to that community.

Nowhere is nature, clad in spring-time robes, more enticing than among the environs of Montevallo. Picnics and outing parties go almost every day to the falls or forests, to gather flowers, enjoyment and healthful, perfumed ozone.

On Sunday, the 2nd inst., an infant son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Watts was buried here, having died at Ensley. Mrs. Watts is the oldest daughter of the late J. D. Farrington, and in the loss of her little one has the sympathy of a large circle of relatives and friends.

The general interest in the dedication of the new Presbyterian church, attracted a large congregation to that church Sunday; Dr. D. N. McLaughlin, of Anniston, preached a most interesting sermon, and, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Joseph Duglinson, conducted the services. Doubtless little church was erected in 1901, and has been furnished and fitted by liberal subscriptions and donations, making it an ornament and credit to the town. The denomination for a long time, was in the ascendant here, but afterwards languished. For the past four years it has wonderfully revived, and it is pleasing to see it renew activity under most favorable auspices with the promise of development and greater usefulness than ever.

George W. Shriner, after a lingering and painful illness from Bright's disease, which attacked him last November, died on the 1st day of April at his home in Montevallo. He was born in Carroll county, Md., March 15, 1844. Early in life he went west and was engaged in the real estate and mercantile business. At the breaking out of the war he was in Illinois, enlisted in the Seventh Regiment (Cavalry) of that State, and served throughout the war, obtaining his honorable discharge at Nashville, Nov. 4, 1865. He was twice married, his widow being Mary A. the oldest daughter of the late Phillip D. and Martha Meroney, whom he married in 1882. From 1882 to 1887 Mr. Shriner was superintendent of the House of Refuge in St. Louis. In 1902 he moved to Montevallo, and up to his last illness engaged in the warehouse business. He was a Mason, member of George Washington Lodge, No. 9, St. Louis, and Odd Fellow, and a United Workman. He was buried with Masonic honors by Central Lodge, No. 70, at the Randall grave yard. He leaves surviving two sons of his first marriage, and a daughter and son of the second. He united by letter with the Baptist church soon after he removed to Montevallo. Since his residence here, by quiet demeanor, uniform friendliness and courtesy, genuine, steady manifestation of interest in all the relationship of citizenship, he attracted the respect and friendship of all who came in contact with him, and proved himself worthy of all confidence, a fit exemplar for those who strive to be true and upright citizens. It is said that during all the excruciating pain that attended his illness, he neither murmured nor repined, but constantly gave expression to the gratitude he felt for his Creator, and the kind and unremitting ministrations of those who were dear to him.

There are a few who do not feel inclined to give their children the advantage that even a good common school education carries with it preferring to have them stay at home and work as it will be worth more to them. Let's see about it. The average educated man gets a salary of $1,000 a year. He works forty years, making a total of $40,000 in a lifetime. The average day laborer gets $1.50 per day, 300 days in a year, $450. In forty years he earns $18,000. The difference, or $22,000, equals the value of an education. To acquire this earning capacity requires twelve years at school of 180 days each, or 2,160 days. Divide $22,000, the value of an education, by 2,160, number of days required in getting it, and we find that each day at school is worth a little more than $10 to each pupil. Can you afford to keep your children out of school? The public schools of our county need to be improved so much. The present school fund is inadequate to bring this about. Local taxation is the only remedy. It would be but a drop in the bucket to each taxpayer. The Sentinel believes the future of Shelby county children is worth many times more than the cost to the taxpayer if local taxation should be adopted. Study the interests of your children and you will think so, too.

Cleburne county is now engaged in a county seat fight. Edwardsville has the court house, but Heflin wants. Both factions are hard at work, and the campaign promises to be a hot one.

Eighty bushels of Irish potatoes to the acre can be raised in Shelby county, and the product is worth $1.20 per bushel all the time. Why not raise more potatoes?

It is said that Mrs. Jelks gave the cleaning of the Governor's office her personal attention. Isn't that a slam on Cunningham's housekeeping?

Montgomery had one of the hottest municipal campaigns that ever struck the State. Teague was elected mayor over Forbes by 900 majority.

Some of the farmers are unloading their cotton, but a majority of them will hold the staple until the middle of May.

Application to Sell Real Estate.

The State of Alabama,) PROBATE COURT, Shelby county,) March 23, 1905.
Estate of Mary A., Jos. L. and Ella Wilson Peters, minors.

This day came J. L. Peters guardian of said estates and filed his application in due form and under oath praying for an order of sale of certain lands described therein, belonging to said estate for the purpose of maintaining and education upon the ground that the income of said minors is insufficient for their education and maintenance.

It is ordered that the 17th day of April, 1905, be appointed for hearing of such application, at which time all parties in interest can appear and contest the same, if they think proper.

A. P. LONGSHORE,
Judge of Probate.

Endorsed by Judge A. P. Longshore

I have been requested several times to make a statement as to what I thought of the Mutual Life Industrial Association of Georgia, but have declined to do so until now. I have been making an investigation for the last six months as to the merits of the Association and have reached the conclusion that it is the safest and cheapest insurance offered to the people. I have taken Three Thousand Dollars in it, and take pleasure in recommending it to the people.

A. P. Longshore.

B. F. Montgomery, superintendent of agents, has located in Shelby county for the purpose of starting a crew of men working on said Division, which means that the Division will be completed in a very short time.

J. W. Johnston

Has one great hobby, and that is SHOES. A good shoe is desired by everyone, and to get the very best has been Mr. Johnston's aim. The best is the cheapest in the end, and when you come to think of it, they cost but little more, if any, than a poor shoe. Money is none to plentiful and you want all you can get for your dollars.

Johnston Sells Groceries, too.

Elegant Ready-to-Wear Suits.

We Have a Very Choice Line.

Our New Clothing Stock

Is the bloom of a new season just beginning. Evidence of its completeness is at hand for inspection. Style, quality and economy make up the attractive triumvirate of the stock we have. Men of taste and judgment—men whose efforts are bent toward saving instead of extravagance will be pleased with what we have. We offer you honest goods at a fair and honest price.

Beautiful Foot Wear.

No handsomer shoes nor of better value was ever offered the public than the stock we now have. They represent the very highest point that has been reached in artistic shoe making—in style, material and workmanship—they have been tested, and they meet the popular demand for durability—style. They are peerless, and shatter our competitors' nerves.

Spring Dress Goods.

The waning of winter and approach of spring, bringing with it the Easter time, and the dogwood bloom make it right and proper to say that our stock of spring dress goods and waists are in accord with the bright bloom of outdoor life, and we cordially invite the most critical inspection from the ladies of Columbiana and vicinity. It will be a pleasure to show you our new spring stock.

Groceries and Hardware.

You know our reputation for keeping in stock all that is good in the grocery and provision line; we cannot afford to keep any other kind. We have built our trade by selling good goods at a fair price, and we value the good will of the public hence adhere to straightforward dealing with everybody. We carry the largest stock of hardware in Shelby county.

Mrs. L. G. Pettyjohn, of Birmingham, is in the city for a visit with relatives.

Former solicitor C. C. Whitson, of Talladega, was in the city last week attending court.

A fine suit of clothes does not make the man, for the tailor may be interested in them.

Twenty-three new names have been added to our subscription list during the past week.

Dr. D. L. Wilkinson, of Montevallo, was in the city a day or two last week attending court.

Town marshal G. P. Harmon, of Calera, was in the city last week serving as a juror in court.

Commissioner Pleas Shaw, of beat 4, was attending a meeting of the Commissioners last week.

Probate Judge Pratt, of Bibb county, was in the city a day or two last week on legal business.

The sad-faced man may be sick, but ten chances to one he is thinking of that bill for an Easter hat.

W. H. Falkner, one of the best known citizens of Shelby county, was in the city a few days last week.

Every beat in the county should be represented at the Cotton Growers' meeting in this city on the 15.

A. J. Warlick, of Vincent, was among those who renewed their subscription to The Sentinel while in town last week.

Commissioner R. J. Griffin was a pleasant caller one day last week. He was here to attend a meeting of the Commissioners.

Cakes, cakes at Roberts & Robertson's. The finest in the land.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich, of Aldrich, was attending court several days last week.

S. A. Latham, of Montevallo, is among those who are doing jury duty this week.

Solicitor Borden H. Burr went up to Talladega Saturday, returning Monday afternoon.

Simon Friedberger and J. W. Peers were in Sylucauga Monday on a business mission.

W. H. Sturdivant, of Bamford, was in the city several days last week attending court.

The wife of Prof. Bird, who was stricken with paralysis some weeks ago, is improving slowly.

FOR SALE.—One milk cow, part Jersey, with young calf. Price, $40. Call on E. W. Burt.

P. J. Kroell and Cassie Fancher, of Montevallo, were in the city last Thursday attending court.

Judge John Pelham spent Sunday at his home in Anniston, returning Monday afternoon.

Miss Loulah Wilson visited Saturday and Sunday in Calera with her sister, Mrs. L. N. Bowdon.

Mrs. V. A. Davidson, of Birmingham, was in the city two or three days last week visiting friends.

A party of serenaders were out last Friday night dispensing sweet music to a number of lady friends.

Claude B. Duran, of Calais, was in town Monday on business. The Sentinel acknowledges a short call.

The new suits for the ball team have arrived, and we may expect to see some ball playing in the near future.

Miss Scottie McKenzie, one of Talladega's many charming girls, is in the city a guest of Miss Edna Nelson.

Lucius Roberts went up to Birmingham last Saturday to attend the wedding of his sister which occurred Sunday.

J. T. Leeper purchased a fine buggy horse from Jas. Milner, last Thursday, paying the handsome sum of $200 for it.

A. P. R. Dahl, of Calera, was in the city last Thursday, and called at this office to renew his subscription to The Sentinel.

The ground was covered with frost last Friday morning, but farmers say that little if any damage was done to the fruit.

F. W. Rogan, who is agent for the Southern Express Co. at Montevallo, was a witness in court here a day or two last week.

Mrs. LeLoy Wooddall, of Shelby, was in the city Friday for a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Cromwell.

Henry Milner, who was confined to his room several days last week suffering with rheumatism, is able to be at the store again.

Walter Lucas, who is attending school here, went down to Montevallo Friday to visit with his parents who live near there.

Mrs. Will Harrell, who has been ill for the past two weeks is able to be up again, all of which her friends are glad to know.

R. G. Weldon, of Wilsonville, was in town last Thursday and left an order for job work with our job department.

Mrs. Geo. Bird, who has been quite ill for the past week, is much better, and it is hoped she will soon be up again.

L. N. Bowdon, of Calera, was in the city last Thursday attending court. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call.

Instead of carrying goods from one season to another, the merchant should advertise a special sale and get rid of them.

From the plainest sewing to the handsomest dresses can be had by calling on Mrs. J. W. Peers, at residence on Depot-st. f23-2m

J. W. Johnston has recently added to his stock of goods a nice line of pantaloons, and he will take pleasure in showing you what he has.

A. M. Piper, of Montevallo, was in attendance on court several days last week. Mr. Piper has many friends here all of whom were glad to see him.

Carpenters are busy remodeling the Methodist church, and it is hoped to have it completed in time for the district conference which meets in May.

The Knights of Pythias lodge of this city is growing in membership all the time, there being work in some of the ranks nearly every meeting night.

Milner & Christian have a change in their advertisement this week, and you may be the winner if you read it. They are catering to the needs of the public.

Last Thursday was cool enough to make overcoats feel comfortable. There was some fear for the fruit, but nice weather has come again and the fruit is all right.

Cotton is coming to town pretty regular these days. The Columbiana Mercantile Company bought twenty-five bales last Friday for which seven and a quarter cents was paid.

Mrs. H. M. Roberts and Mrs. W. F. Davis were among those from Columbiana who attended the Roberts-Lawley wedding in Birmingham last Sunday, returning home Monday.

People of Columbiana should never tire talking of their town. It will not be a waste of breath if it is kept up. There is no reason why this should not be one of the best towns in the State.

R. H. Glaze, who recently lost his home near Harpersville by fire, we are told, has another house up ready for the roof. It is hoped that no more such hard luck by fire will come to Mr. Glaze.

In this issue will be found a change in the advertisement of Roberts & Robertson. These popular young men are enjoying a nice trade, and are deserving because they try to please.

In this issue will be found the law card of G. B. Walker, who has recently removed to this place from Camp Hill. The people of Columbiana extend a welcome to Mr. Walker and his family.

J. T. Leeper and W. W. Wallace were among the visitors to Shelby Springs last Sunday.

The heavens opened and the rain descended in torrents last Friday night, accompanied by an almost continuous flash of lightning and roar of thunder. It was the heaviest rain that has fallen here for some time.

The merchant who wishes to dispose of his goods will tell the people what he has through his local paper. He cannot expect returns on an advertisement of one week—the continual advertiser is the one who is getting the trade.

"The neatest weekly paper in this section of the State," is what W. P. Bowdon says of The Sentinel. An occasional appreciative word acts as a spur to the printer, and makes him strive all the more to be worthy of such expressions.

The Sans Souci Club was entertained last Saturday afternoon by Miss Rosser Christian. A very delightful time is reported. Miss Christian is a pleasing entertainer, and this meeting of the club was one of the most entertaining of the season.

The friends of Edgar Cary will be glad to know that he has recently been promoted in the service of the Keystone Lime Co., at Keystone, in whose employ he has been for a year. Supt. R. E. Bowdon is appreciative of faithful service in any of his employes.

The readers of a newspaper should cultivate the habit of reading advertisements. They generally contain information that is beneficial to all. If displayed in the proper manner—to make them showy and attractive, the reading of them is a pleasure.

T. J. Martin, who has been spending the winter with his daughter in Falkville, has returned to his old home in Harpersville. Uncle Tom Martin and his estimable wife are among the most highly respected people of Shelby county and all their friends will be glad to know that they have returned. Mr. Martin says he is in better health than he has been in a long time, and of this, too, his friends will be glad to learn.

W. P. Bowdon, of Keystone, was among the callers at The Sentinel office last Thursday. Mr. Bowdon has been with the Keystone Lime Co. for the past two years, but recently he and R. L. Hill have purchased the Newalla Lime Co., at Newalla, and it will hereafter be known as the Shelby Lime Works. These gentlemen are practical men in the lime business, are energetic and pushing, and The Sentinel feels sure they will make a success of the enterprise of which they have become owners.

C. L. Meroney, a prominent business man of Montevallo, was in the city two or three days last week attending court. Mr. Meroney informs The Sentinel that all the stock of the Merchants' and Planters' Bank of Montevallo, is now owned by the people of that town, all the stock held by foreign people having been bought by home people. Mr. Meroney is vice-president of the institution, and in October when new officers are to be elected there is little doubt but that he will be elected to its head.

John K. Milner, who has been in the employ of the Anniston Grocery Co. for a long time as traveling salesman, has resigned his position with that company, and will in a few days go to Gulfport, Miss., to live. Mr. Milner is associated with J. R. Hill (well known here) and others in a land company.

Commercial Club.

At a recent meeting of the citizens of Columbiana, held in the office of Judge Longshore, an organization was effected which will be known as the "Columbiana Commercial Club." The meeting was largely attended, and all seemed to catch some of the enthusiasm engendered by the coming together.

The following officers were elected for the succeeding year: J. J. Haynes, President; John S. Pitts, Vice-president; W. W. Wallace, Secretary; Simon Friedberger, Treasurer.

The President appointed Judge Longshore, J. T. Leeper and H. E. Whitaker a committee to formulate a Constitution and By-Laws by which the Club is to be governed, and present the same to next meeting of the club for adoption or rejection.

Every property owner, and every man who desires to see Columbiana improve and grow as it should ought to ally himself with the Commercial Club, and do all he can to bring this about.

Secretary Wallace informs The Sentinel that about seventy persons have signified their intention to become members.

A. H. MERRELL.

Easter.

Easter falls upon a later date this year than it has for nineteen years. Easter, this year, is April 23, and the Christian feast has not come so late in the season since 1886, when it fell on April 25th. This last date is the very latest on which Easter can come, and it will not fall again on that date until the year 1943.

Easter has a range of thirty-five days on which it can fall. The earliest date is March 22nd, and the latest is April 25th. In 1818 it fell on March 22nd, and it will not do so again until the year 2285, which is too far distant for the boys to figure on "hiding out" the eggs. When Easter fell on April 25th—the latest date—in 1886, it was the first time it has been so late since 1736. Easter will fall again on April 23, in 1916, and again in the year 2000. Easter is the most important church festival of the year, because by its dates are fixed all the movable feasts of the Christian year. At the council of Nicea it was agreed that as the moon had been full on the night after the Crucifixion, Easter must be governed by the phases of the moon and be a movable feast, falling on the first Sunday after the full moon of the spring equinox.

Report of Committee on Resolutions.

The following resolutions were adopted by the teachers during the Institute which was in session here a short time ago:

Whereas, Realizing that the State is doing all she can do for the betterment of her schools, and appreciating her liberality in the division of her public moneys, and appreciating the fact that there is much to be done before the schools are placed upon a system commensurate with her national development, and

For Sale.

The Columbiana Land Co. has the following property for sale, but the prices quoted will only hold good for only a short time:

Good six-room house and one acre of ground in Montevallo; good location, convenient to the Girl's Industrial School, price, $750.

Sixty acres (30 acres cleared) one mile north of Montevallo, part of east half of southwest quarter, and part of west half of southwest quarter, section 14, township 21, range 1 west. Valued at $10.00 per acre; one-third cash, balance on time.

A 5-room dwelling house, near school house in Columbiana, with one acre and a half of land attached, including garden and orchard. Will sell or rent at a bargain.

It creates an uneasy, apprehensive feeling in a fellow with a chronic antipathy toward the spade and rake to see his wife looking over a garden seed catalogue, and making copious notes on the margin.

Miss Margaret Baker, of Shelby Springs, who has been quite ill for the past two weeks, is able to be out again.

After you have read your copy of The Sentinel mail it to a friend. He might want to come and locate with us.

T. F. Atkinson is confined to his room at the home of J. T. Barnett suffering with an attack of mumps.

DuPree vs. Shelby Iron Works has occupied the attention of the Circuit Court for nearly week.

There will be two in the graduating class this year—Miss Annie Longshore and Towles Smith.

Fishing parties are the rage now. But little fish is seen in the market, however.

Mrs. E. Porter is visiting a daughter at Spring Creek for a few days.

Carpenters are pushing the work on the Mason building.

Garden track is beginning to show up in market.

Beware of Ointments For Catarrh This!

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely decimate the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such a disaster should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by E. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists; price, 75c. per bottle. Mrs. S. W. Marine, of Colorado Springs, began to fear the Worst—Doan's Kidney Pills Saved Her.

Mrs. Sarah Marine, of 428 St. Union street, Colorado Springs, Col., President of the Glen Eyrie Club, writes:

"I suffered for three years with severe backache. The doctors told me my kidneys were affected and prescribed medicines for me, but I found that it was only a waste of time and money to take them, and began to fear that I would never get well.

A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. Within a week after I began using them I was so much better that I decided to keep up the treatment, and when I had used a little over two boxes I was entirely well. I have now enjoyed the best of health for more than four months, and words can but poorly express my gratitude."

THE DOG AND THE BONE.

Hides it Because of a Mere Shadow of an Old Race Instinct.

I have sometimes seen a dog bury in the ground a bone for which he did not seem to have any present need. I have always understood that he did this on the principle which actuates a provident man to lay up something "for a rainy day." This may be, though I have never known a dog to dig up the bone afterward; yet some persons tell me they have known him to do this. I should think the dog must be hard pressed by famine that would attempt to gnaw a bone covered with clay and dirt, as this bone must be after being buried in the ground. If the dog hides it away through any such provident forethought as this, it must be the slightest remnant, a mere adumbration of a former instinct of his race. He does not pursue this practice in the steady, methodical way in which an ant or a bee or a squirrel lays up a stock of food against a time of need. With him, it is only a fitful and rare occurrence. His long domestication and the ages through which he has received his food from the hand of his master, have obliterated largely the sense of this necessity from his mind, if he may be supposed to have a mind.

The fox, when he has had the good fortune to capture several fowls at the same time, will, it is said, secrete such as he has no present need for under a bush or behind a log. I remember that in Rowland Robinson's pleasant book, "Sam Lovel's Boy," a young fox is represented as doing this: "He began burying the leg of a lamb in the loose earth, but he desisted when he saw the eyes of all his mates were upon him, then unearthed the half-buried treasure and sought a new hiding place." I do not understand that the wolf has this food-hiding instinct. Gilbert White of Selborne says in his quaint way that he had "some acquaintance with a tame brown owl" which, when full, hid, like a dog, what he could not eat.

"The origin of most of our domestic animals," says Darwin, "will probably forever remain vague. But I may here state, he continues, 'that looking to the domestic dogs of the whole world, I have after a laborious collection of all known facts, come to the conclusion that several wild species of Canidae have been tamed, and that their blood, in some cases mingled together, flows in the veins of our domestic breeds.' He mentions a dog whose great-grandfather was a wolf, and this dog still betrayed its wild ancestry in the fact that it never approached its master in a straight line when called. But which species of the Canidae from which the dog may have descended has the food-hiding instinct or habit I have nowhere seen stated.—T. J. Chapman, in Forest and Stream.

WISE WORDS.

One of the most common errors is to mistake our wish for His will.

Live and help live. Seek the truth and shine it out.—J. D. McFadden.

When money is the only egg in the nest, misery is the only bird in the brood.

The preacher cannot give his congregation more religion than he has for his children.

The better you know the world's problems the less certain you feel of their panaceas.

It is not strange that the religion that is soothed all day Sunday should sleep all the week.

The boast of being "just as good as" is frequently regarded by a suspicious world as a confession of inferiority.—Puck.

If I got places, sir, it was because I made myself fit for 'em. If you want to slip into a round hole you must make a ball of yourself—that's where it is.—George Eliot.

Beautiful is the activity which works for good, and beautiful the stillness which waits for good; blessed the self-sacrifice of the one, blessed the self-forgetfulness of the other.—Robert Collyer.

Meditate deeply on all your misery and in a while you will trace its root cause to selfish attachment to persons and things; the only way to break the chains of attachment is in the love of God. Change your attachment for things, places and persons to the great God, and let a miracle be performed—you become free.

Exit Dahn—Venit Tairen.

On February 11, 1905, in accordance with a decree of the Japanese War Office, Dahn disappeared from the map of Eastern Asia and Tairen took its place. The name of the late Russian mushroom city signifies "distant," but, adds the London Pall Mall Gazette, we are not sufficiently expert in the language of our ally to know what Tairen means in Japanese—even if it be Japanese at all, and not, haply, Chinese. However, it is at least not Russian, which is all that matters for the moment. Places change their names for many reasons. Sometimes euphony and dignity form the motive, as, for instance, would happen if Tairen became the Australian Federal capital. Sometimes it is a kindly desire to let bygones be bygones, as when Fashoda was renamed last year. But in this case it is evidently an intelligible and significant desire to erase the Russian label. "Dahn" would have been a link with the past; but Tairen, clearly, is not meant to be Russian.

There has been renewed emphasis on the evangelistic and revival type of religion.

STOP! WOMEN,

AND CONSIDER THE

ALL-IMPORTANT

FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with woman's diseases covers a great many years.

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides a man does not understand—simply because he is a man.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Following we publish two letters from a woman who accepted this invitation. Note the result.

First letter.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—For eight years I have suffered something terrible every month with my periods. The pains are excruciating and I can hardly stand them. My doctor says I have ovarian and womb trouble, and I must go through an operation if I want to get well. I do not want to submit to it if I can possibly help it. Please tell me what to do. I hope you can relieve me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 59th and E. Capitol Sts., Benning P.O., Washington, D.C.

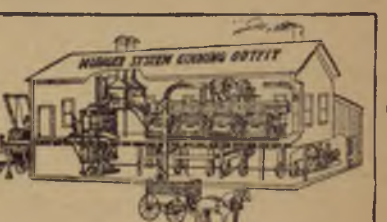

Second letter.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—After following carefully your advice, and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very anxious to send you my testimonial, that others may know their value and what you have done for me."

"I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

STATE HAPPENINGS

Of General and Local Interest as They Occur.

Both Found Dead.

Gadsden, Ala.—Two miners, Bob Heald, white, and Horace Williams, a negro, were found dead in the ore mines of the Alabama Consolidated Coal and Iron Company in Attalla about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, and their death is a mystery.

Two shifts are worked at the mines. Some time after midnight the air became foul and the fifteen miners came up from the lower entry, which is three-quarters of a mile from the opening. After the men came up Bob Heald, who operated the pump, said he was going down to see what was the trouble, and the negro volunteered to go with him.

The men were gone so long the waiting miners became alarmed, and one of the number volunteered to go down and see what was the trouble. When he reached the entry where was located the pump the negro Williams was found lying flat on his back, barely breathing, while Heald sat bolt upright against the pump, cold in death.

Will Have Now Park.

Gadsden, Ala.—The city council appointed a committee to meet with the Daughters of the Confederacy and ascertain just what their views were on the turning into a park of the land owned by the city overlooking Coosa river.

The Daughters have proposed to put out shrubbery and keep the park in order if the city will lay out walks, drives, etc., and place a fountain in the park. The Daughters also obligate themselves to erect a monument to the memory of Emma Sanson in the park. The work of converting the lot into a park will be commenced at once and pushed to an early completion, and Riverside Park will soon be a reality.

Branch of Brenau College Secured.

Faulkner, Ala.—The deal has been consummated whereby the Union Female College has been leased for a period of ten years to President Van Hoose, of the Brenau College, of Gainesville, Ga. The papers have been signed and Prof. Van Hoose has returned home to make preparations to move here and begin the work of some needed improvements. When these are completed the professor will at once enter upon the work of canvassing for the institution. Citizens are highly elated over the prospects of having one of the finest institutions in this section of the State, and it is believed that it will prove a fortune to the city to have the influence and co-operation of so able an educator.

Injured in Foundry Explosion.

Ensley, Ala.—An explosion of hot metal in the foundry at the steel plant resulted in three well-known steel workers being injured. None of the men were seriously hurt, and it is thought that they will be able to resume their duties in a few days.

The injured are: Alderman E. J. Owen, who received slight injuries; W. Palmer, the foreman of the foundry, who was badly burned on the face, arms and hands, and N. F. Riddle, the crane-man, who was painfully hurt by being knocked off of a crane. Mr. Palmer, who was the worse hurt of any of the men, was carried to the Cunningham Hospital for treatment.

Superintendent Shook Hurt.

Ensley, Ala.—J. W. Shook, superintendent of the furnaces for the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Company, was painfully, but not seriously, injured by being struck by a piece of flying steel. Mr. Shook was standing near where the blooms of steel from the steel plant were being broken up, preparatory to remelting, when a piece struck him on the shoulder, inflicting a very painful injury.

National Bank Established.

Evergreen, Ala.—The First National Bank of Evergreen, Ala., has been authorized to begin business with a capital of $25,000. A. R. Jones is president; Lawrence Wild, vice-president; C. E. Baker, cashier.

Wedding Causes Sensation.

Florence, Ala.—A marriage which caused a decided sensation occurred here at the court house. The principals were Mr. John C. Wilson, the son of a prominent wholesale groceryman of this city, and Miss Louise Ross, of Sheffield. The bride is the daughter of Frederick Ross, at one time a prominent official of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad.

Schley Leaves Mobile.

Mobile, Ala.—Rear Admiral W. S. Schley, who has been in attendance upon the Masonic convention and who has been the recipient of many social courtesies during his stay in Mobile, has left for Washington.

Slayer of Professor Hardy Captured.

Selma, Ala.—Information received here from Camden, Wilcox county, says that a deputy sheriff in Waco, Tex., has wired Sheriff Albritton that Will Promey, who shot Prof. Claude Hardy at Pineapple, had been arrested there.

The shooting of Professor Hardy caused a sensation in Wilcox county, and posses scoured the woods for many days in search of the negro.

Two New Corporations.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Leeds Improvement Company, with a capital stock of $80,000 and offices at Birmingham, has filed a notice of its incorporation with the secretary of state. The incorporators are W. J. Cameron, J. B. Elliott, G. R. Harsh, A. W. Smith, D. T. Smith, E. N. Tutwiler and E. F. Enslin.

The Brighton Water Works Company, of Brighton, also filed a notice of its incorporation with the secretary of state, having a capital stock of $10,000. The incorporators are J. A. Eastis, S. Stewart and J. H. Farr.

Postoffice Employee Arrested.

Birmingham, Ala.—Charles Ellis, a young man employed in the general delivery at the Birmingham postoffice, was arrested on a charge of embezzlement, it being alleged that he appropriated a letter containing three $1 bills, mailed at Halesville, Ala., to James L. Grosvenor, Birmingham.

A preliminary trial was given before United States Commissioner Birch and the defendant was held to bail in the sum of $300 to appear before the grand jury. The defendant has a large acquaintance.

$400 Reward Offered.

Montgomery, Ala.—Governor Jelks has offered a reward of $400 for the capture and delivery to the sheriff of Cullman county of John Williams, the white man who shot and almost instantly killed State Senator Robert L. Hipp near Joppa Tuesday afternoon.

The governor was in conference over the long distance telephone with a representative citizen of Cullman. He had the matter of a reward in this consideration, however, before he was interviewed by any one.

Steamboats Busy.

Gadsden, Ala.—The steamboats on the Coosa are now doing good business, and all of them are kept busy. The steamer Vagion arrived from Rome with a large cargo of miscellaneous freight and 125 bales of cotton. She loaded 400 sacks of guano and returned at once to Rome. The steamer Alabama brought in eighty-five bales of cotton the same day and a raft of logs and several barges filled with lumber, and returned below with several hundred sacks of guano.

Two Men Are Shot Near Tallassee.

Dadeville, Ala.—Reports have reached here of a shooting affray which occurred twenty miles from here, near Tallassee.

James Weldon and his son, Reed, were shot by Dolphus Golden and both fatally wounded. The elder Weldon was shot in the back and his son in the side with a shotgun. The Weldon were unarmed. Deputies have been sent to arrest Golden. The shooting was the result of past differences.

To Have Telephone Exchange.

Jacksonville, Ala.—J. L. Brown, manager of the Anniston office of the Southern Bell Telephone exchange, was in this city and plans were perfected by which Jacksonville will have a local telephone office at an early date.

Thus far Manager Brown has succeeded in placing thirty phones, and as soon as he secures a few more orders, he says, he will return to this city to put in the fixtures at the Jacksonville office.

Anniston Troops Inspected.

Anniston, Ala.—The Calhoun Rifles were inspected in their armory at Oxford Thursday night by Capt. J. C. Goodfellow, U. S. A., and Gen. W. W. Brandon, adjutant-general of the state. The inspection was most creditable, and the inspection officers paid the company, officers and men, high compliments on their good showing.

Sheriff of Choctaw.

Montgomery, Ala.—W. D. Wilcox, of Butler, has been appointed sheriff of Choctaw county by Governor Jelks to succeed A. B. Cook, whose resignation was sent in a few days ago.

To Regulate Sale of Morphine.

Union Springs, Ala.—The city council has passed an ordinance to regulate the sale of cocaine, morphine and other kindred drugs. This became necessary since so many negroes are becoming addicted to the habit.

Furnace Relighted.

Pratt City, Ala.—No. 3 furnace of the Republic Iron and Steel Company at Irons was relighted and the first run of iron made. This plant has been closed down for the past several weeks, during which time the furnace has been relined from bottom to top and repaired in many ways.

All three of the furnaces and the three batteries of coke ovens are in blast at Thomas, and the indications are that all former records will be broken during the coming months.

The only handicap that the company is now confronted with at Thomas is the scarcity of labor. It is stated that the company is in need of about 200 men to work around the furnaces, coke Prosperity in Athens.

Athens, Ala.—Athens is soon to have a large and profitable industry. The Hollon-Blow Stave Company has secured a splendid location here and will at once erect a $20,000 stave finishing mill, which will give a large number of laborers employment at good wages. A cracker and candy factory will soon be added to the other industries of Athens, and will be managed by Mr. Henry Christensen.

Moonshiners Captured.

Scottsboro, Ala.—A big wildcat raid was made Friday, and three mountain moonshiners captured red-handed and landed in the county jail. Messrs. Roote, deputy collector, and Henry Arnold, a deputy United States marshal, received information several days ago that a large moonshine still was in operation. They found a large fifty-gallon copper wildcat still in full blast and caught Bill Lyman, John Lyman and Bill Peak red-handed.

The latter were nery and in the place of trying to make their escape showed fight. One of the Lymans made for his shot gun, a Colt's 45-calibre, but it hung somehow in the scabbard and Deputy Marshal Henry Arnold got the drop on him, and after disarming him took charge of his pistol.

Besides capturing the fifty-gallon still in operation, they also got a brand new still of sixty-gallon capacity, just set up preparatory to making a run, together with fifty gallons of beer, mash and singlings and sixteen gallons of the pure "mountain dew."

The copper worm and the two stills were taken in charge by the revenue officers, together with the prisoners. The prisoners are all young men and do not look the desperate men that the mountain "wildcatter" usually are.

Cement Bluffs Sold.

Montgomery, Ala.—The governor has sold to C. S. Batchelder of Salt Lake City and J. W. McIntyre of St. Louis rights to mine cement at Owen's Bluff forty miles above Mobile, on the Alabama river on lands owned by the state for $15,000.

Several capitalists of the west have gone into the company which is to mine cement by a new process with a capital of one million dollars. The mines will be located on deep water to Mobile all the year round and it will be possible to float the product into Mobile for very little freight. It has always been hard to get a uniform cement, but with the new process and the Alabama product, it will be easy. Several Alabama men are in the scheme. The idea will be to get to work in time to catch the Panama trade. Part of the money to the state has been paid over.

Mr. Batchelder is a cement expert with a wide knowledge of the business.

Another Act Smashed.

Montgomery, Ala.—The supreme court of Alabama has declared unconstitutional the act of the last legislature attempting to repeal an act of the legislature of 1899 which established the county court of Morgan county. The case in which the decision was rendered was that of the state of Alabama ex rel. Massey Wilson, attorney-general, vs. D. W. Speake, judge of the Eighth judicial circuit.

A mandamus was issued directed to Judge Speake compelling him to restore to the docket of the county court a certain case in question.

Bank for New Market.

Huntsville, Ala.—The New Market Banking and Trust Company has been incorporated under the laws of Alabama to engage in the banking business at New Market, Ala. The officers are: W. E. Rodgers, J. W. Cochran, T. C. Yarbrough, vice-president, and T. C. Wesson, cashier. The capital stock is $10,000, and is held by a majority of the leading business men of the village. W. F. Yarbrough, J. M. Payne, W. E. Rodgers, J. W. Cochran, T. C. Wesson, L. P. Esslinger, J. O. Orman, A. J. Wilson and Thomas Wilson have been elected directors.

Wounded by Brother.

Mobile, Ala.—Dr. W. F. Cobb, a prominent physician of Barlow Bend, was brought to this city Friday night on the 10:55 Southern train seriously wounded by a gunshot wound in the face which was accidentally done by his brother. He was taken to an infirmary. His condition is considered precarious.

Another Greta Green Wedding.

Dadeville, Ala.—Wesley Partridge and Miss Annie Partridge, well-known young people of Dadeville, were married at the county court house in Columbus, Ga. It was a Greta Green affair.

An Old Lady Injured.

Centerville, Ala.—Friday Mrs. Rachael Owens, one of the oldest citizens of this section, sustained severe injuries from a fall. On account of her advanced age it was at first thought that her wounds were fatal, but the physician now says that she will recover.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—The contract has been let with J. T. Hefflin to bore a well at the intersection of Cotton and Greensboro streets, between the court house and the McLester Hotel, and the work will be commenced within a few days. The contract calls for a well eight inches in diameter and 1,000 feet deep, if necessary to go that far.

Governor Refuses Bond Bids.

Montgomery, Ala.—Governor Jelks has refused to accept any of the bids opened April 4th for the issue of $8,000,000 of refunding bonds to take the place of bonds coming due within the next fifteen months. He says that the number of bids at prices large enough to justify the state in selling were too small to be counted as covering the situation and he has, therefore, decided to sell none at all.

For the Scout Cruisers of the Fast Type That are to be Built—New and Unique.

TO COST MILLION AND A HALF.

Turbine Machinery May Be Installed, the Department Stipulating That It Is to Be Allowed.

Washington, D. C.—The lowest bids for three scout cruisers opened at the navy department Saturday were as follows:

Fore River Shipbuilding company, Quincy, Mass., one at $1,629,000, or two at $1,557,000 each.

Union Iron Works, one at $1,689,000, or two at $1,666,000 each.

The bids are for the construction of the cruisers under the department's plans with reciprocating engines. The lowest bids submitted for cruisers Fore River Shipbuilding company, two at $1,468,000 each.

Bath Iron Works, two at $1,573,000 each.

Bidding Was Spirited.

The liveliest interest was manifested in the reading of the bids. The large reception room of the Secretary of the Navy held one of the largest crowds that has recently attended the opening of proposals for ship construction. Seven concerns entered into the competition. Under the law two ships can be awarded to any one concern. The Newport News Shipbuilding company having contracts for the building of two vessels under the act authorizing the construction of the scout cruisers and other ships, consequently was not a bidder.

The bids were under two classes, one for construction under department plans and one proposing the installation of turbine engines. The Maryland Steel company, of Sparrows Point, Md., proposed to build one under either class for $1,875,000. The New York Shipbuilding company, Camden, N. J., proposed to build one cruiser, department's plans, for $1,824,000; with twin-screw turbine engines, $1,830,000, or with three screw turbine for $1,866,000.

William Cramp & Sons, ship and engine builders, proposed to build two cruisers, department plans, at $1,729,000 each. For turbine installation they submitted prices ranging from two ships at $1,573,000 each to one ship at $1,680,000.

The Union Iron Works proposed to build one cruiser, department plans, for $1,689,000, or two at $1,666,000 each.

The Fore River Shipbuilding company, Quincy, Mass., submitted a number of bids, offering to build one cruiser, department plans, for $1,629,000, or two at $1,557,000 each. For ships with turbine installation, their prices ranged from $1,468,000 on basis that they be awarded two ships, to $1,572,000 for one.

New and Unique Type.

With the completion of these ships there will be added to the navy a new and unique type of vessel. In the opinion of naval officers the war in the far east has demonstrated the great value of scout ships, and since these are planned to have a speed of 24 knots and great steaming radius, they are expected to prove important additions to the naval service.

Their building also opens up the possibility for the introduction of turbine machinery, as the department in the advertisement for bids announced that alternative proposals for the installation of turbine engines would receive the department's consideration.

The scout ships are to be 420 feet long with a breadth of 46 feet 8 inches, and a draft of 16 feet 9 1/2 inches. The displacement on speed trial is to be not more than 3,750 tons. Provision is made for a total coal-carrying capacity of about 1,250 tons.

Each will be provided with a battery of twelve 3-inch rapid-fire guns, and two submerged torpedo tubes.

Girl's Body Found.

Little Falls, Minn.—The dead body of Annie Rintop was found in the woods about four miles from here. It was entirely stripped of clothing, a handkerchief was tightly twisted about her neck, the head was a mass of bruises, and there were evidences of outrage.

Two negroes were seen in the vicinity of where the body was found, and search is being made for them. If caught it is feared a lynching will follow. A posse has been organized and the country is being scoured in search of them.

Tried to Kill Wife.

Girard, Ala.—George Washington, a negro, of the Oswichee neighborhood in this county, formerly a mail carrier, is in jail charged with the attempted assassination of his wife by shooting at her at night with a shot gun. A few of the shots struck her, but did not do serious injury. In a previous difficulty between the two in a field she got the best of her husband, striking him with a hoe, and he left, vowing vengeance.

Tragedy in Georgia.

Covington, Ga.—News was received here of a tragedy near Broughton, a station on the Central railroad, 15 miles east of Covington, at a late hour Saturday night.

Kelsey Cranford, white, 22 years of age, accompanied by his younger brother, Walter, while walking along the public road near the home of John Clack, was fired upon by four unknown negroes. Twelve shots were fired. The elder Cranford was killed outright, falling in the middle of the road within a few feet of his assailants. Walter Cranford received the contents of one load of buckshot in his left arm. He outran the assassins and gave the alarm.

Young Cranford was not able to identify the murderers, but suspicion points to a family of negroes with whom the Cranfords had been at outs over a plantation road. Much excitement prevails in the community.

At 10 o'clock Sunday no arrest had been made, the arrival of officers from Madison being awaited.

Loan Floated.

Athens, Ala.—A loan of ten thousand dollars has been floated for the improvement of the Athens Female college. W. L. and I. C. Vaughan, two of the county's wealthy citizens, taking the bonds. Work will begin in a few days to improve the historic building, where so many of the women of the south have been educated.

This is the second chartered institution for the higher education of women in the world, its charter dating back nearly seventy-five years, and thousands of women have been educated here. It is now enjoying a very fine patronage and is managed for the second time in its history by a woman president, Miss Mary N. Moore, one of the brightest women in the south, a native Alabamian.

Race to Coal Fields.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Louisville and Nashville railroad and the Southern railway will engage in a merry chase to enter Walker county and get to the heart of the coal bearing lands which have recently been purchased by the Pratt Consolidated Coal company and which are to be developed on a large scale shortly.

It is stated that the L. and N. will extend its Mineral Springs branch, building two bridges across the Warrior river. The Southern will extend the Ensley Southern from Short Creek in Jefferson county to Parrish in Walker county, connecting with the North Alabama railroad, which would give a new line to Memphis from Birmingham. The Pratt Consolidated Coal Company will mine a couple of million tons of coal annually when the Walker county property is developed.

Bad Burglar Caught.

Birmingham, Ala.—Detectives have arrested a young negro giving his name as Elijah Jones, alias Williams, on suspicion of being the perpetrator of a dozen or more burglaries which have taken place in Birmingham during the past four months. The negro was "sweated" thoroughly and made a full confession. He has told the officers the different places that he robbed. He claims Florida as his home and states that he stopped en route to Birmingham in Atlanta and other places, where he committed a few burglaries. He claims that he never carried a weapon and at no time was overcome with fear.

At the residence of J. B. Cobbs a number of diamond rings, watches and other jewelry, valued at $1,200, were stolen. The negro states that he sold the jewelry, being paid $1.50 each for rings and $3 and $4 for watches. He claims that at one place he found a lot of beer and honey and that he drank so much beer that he almost became intoxicated. He afterwards went to sleep on some church steps and in the morning made good his escape. The detectives have already recovered some of the stolen goods and are now on the track of more. It is believed that the better portion of the booty will be returned to the victims.

Does Not Violate Law.

Danville, Ark.—In a speech here to a large gathering of farmers and business men advocating a reduction of cotton acreage, Governor Jefferson Davis combated the idea that the organization of farmers with a view to securing better prices for cotton was in violation of the anti-trust law of Arkansas. If it were held otherwise by the courts, the governor declared, he would pardon all farmers prosecuted and convicted under the new act.

Young Beveridge Stabs Him.

Mataon, Ill.—Thomas Beveridge, 23 years of age, nephew of United States Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, seriously stabbed James Datewood. The fight followed a quarrel in a saloon. While attempting to escape arrest Beveridge was shot twice by an officer. Both injured men are in the hospital, but will recover. Warrants have been issued for their arrest.

Brakeman Killed.

Birmingham, Ala.—W. S. Morris, a brakeman on the Southern railway, received injuries this morning by falling between the cars which caused his death while being operated on in an infirmary in the city. He was riding on a box car when the preceding car jumped the track and threw him on the track. He lived formerly in Tuscaloosa, to which point his body was taken tonight for burial.

Rural Routes Established.

Washington, D. C.—Rural routes ordered established May 15: Center-ville, Bibb county, route 3, population 550, houses 135; Inverness, Bullock county, route one, population 500, houses 125; Moulton, Lawrence county, route one, population 600, houses 148; Vincent, Shelby county, route two, population 453, houses 108; Leighton, Colbert county, route one, population 550, houses 126; Prattville, Autauga county, route one, population 580, houses 138; Seale, Russell county route one, population 751, houses 167.

Rural carriers appointed: Hillsboro route, Robert H. Pitt carrier, Joseph Terry substitute; Somerville, route 1, Fred M. Swift carrier, Clifton B. Lewis substitute.

Mangled By Coreans.

Versailles, Ky.—Dr. Wiley H. Forsythe, formerly of Versailles, who is in Korea as a medical missionary, was recently attacked by a band of Co-rean rebels, according to advices received here and horribly wounded. Dr. Forsythe was called into the interior to attend a Co-rean gentleman who had been shot by robbers. He stopped for the night at the village of Mankao. During the night the house was broken into by the rebels and Forsythe, being unarmed, was at their mercy. His skull was fractured, one other dangerous wounds. Dr. Forsythe went to Corea last year.

Carrie Nation Sentenced.

Wichita, Kans.—In the district court here Carrie Nation, Myra McHenry and Mrs. Lucy Wilhoit were found guilty of destroying property and sentenced by Judge Wilson. Mrs. Nation was fined $500 and given four months in jail; Mrs. McHenry two months and a fine of $150, and Mrs. Wilhoit twenty-five days in jail and a fine of $150.

Sentence was suspended pending good behavior. The offense was committed September 30th last when the three women broke the windows of a wholesale liquor house. The women voluntarily surrendered some time ago.

Only Two Persons Hurt.

Vicksburg, Miss.—Only two persons were injured in the derailment of north-bound passenger train No. 12 on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad near Hardee station. The injured are James DeCourney, the express messenger, and Adelaide Smith, a negress.

The ditching of the train was caused by the opening of a switch leading to a spur track. The train was running forty-eight miles an hour at the time. Both engineer and fireman escaped.

Terrific Explosion Near Knoxville.

Knoxville, Tenn.—At a late hour Thursday night a heavy detonation was heard here, accompanied by a shaking of houses, that suggested an earthquake. Investigation showed that 5,000 pounds of dynamite and 600 kegs of powder had exploded at Baker's Station, seventeen miles northeast of here, on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, where a tunnel is being constructed. Half an acre of ground was torn up where the explosive was stored. It is not known if any lives were lost.

Lady Curzon's Generosity.

Simla, India.—Lady Curzon, wife of the Viceroy, has invited all the Europeans and Indians injured during the recent earthquakes who are able to be moved, to come to the Walker and Hilton hospitals at Simla as her guests. The invitation was sent through the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, with an intimation that the American Viceroyne will gladly defray the expenses.

Pennsylvania Will Have Display.

Harrisburg, Pa.—The house has passed the senate bill appropriating $100,000 for a Pennsylvania exhibit at the Jamestown, Va., exposition. The bill now goes to the governor.

Snow Storm in Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb.—A snowstorm was general over Nebraska Friday. In some places as much as two inches is reported. The minimum temperature reached the 24 mark. Fruit trees are in bloom in many places.

Personal Difficulty in Tenn. House.

Nashville, Tenn.—Representative W. B. Cleage, chairman of the penitentiary investigating committee, and Representative T. C. Gordon had a personal difficulty on the floor of the house. Mr. Gordon struck Mr. Cleage two blows, when the men were separated. The trouble grew out of the penitentiary matter.

Trenton, N. J.—The Central Leather of $80,000,000, was incorporated here. Of $80,000,000, was incorporated here. The company is to manufacture and deal in leather. The stock is divided into $40,000,000 preferred, paying 7 per cent cumulative dividends, and $40,000,000 common.

Alabama Postmasters Appointed.

Washington, D. C.—Postmasters appointed: Bush, Barbour county, Florio R. Bush; Clear Creek, Chilton county, John W. Hawkins; River View, Chambers county, Manly M. Hunt. Mrs. Ollie P. Crews has been appointed postmaster at Heiberger, Perry county, vice William E. Moore, resigned.

CZAR'S FLEET REUNITED

Missing Battleships Turn Up in the China Sea.

FIFTY-ONE VESSELS IN ALL

Various Rumors Regarding Rojestvensky's Whereabouts Have Been in Circulation—Japanese Cruisers on the Watch to Prevent Enemy From Getting Coal.

Singapore, Straits Settlements.—Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet has concentrated again and was reported as steaming north through the China Sea.

A wireless dispatch received here reported that the powerful Russian battleships heretofore unaccounted for were with the fleet.

It is possible that they passed through Malacca Strait when fifty-one other ships did, but were so far from land that they could not be seen from this point.

Confirmation of the wireless report that the battleships were with the fleet was brought by the British armored cruiser Sutlej, which arrived from Hongkong, and reported that at daylight she sighted the Russian fleet in the South China Sea, steaming north, and counted seven battleships. Fifty-one vessels of the fleet were at anchor the other day about 150 miles northeast of Singapore. They were the ships which were seen in command of Rear-Admiral Enquist.

It was supposed that they were waiting for Rojestvensky's battleship division, and that when it arrived the whole fleet set out to encounter Admiral Togo's fleet.

The German collier Hindoo, at this port, loaded with 4200 tons of Cardiff coal for the Island of Tanjong Pandan, east of Banka Island and between Borneo and Sumatra, was refused clearance papers for Saigon unless her commander gave bonds to deliver her cargo through the British Consul there. A guard was placed on board the steamer.

The Straits Times published a dispatch from Batavia, Java, confirming, on good authority, the statement that no Russian warship was at Muntok, Island of Banka.

Grand Jury Report, April, 1905

To THE HONORABLE JUDGE PELHAM, JUDGE OF THE CIRCUIT COURT:

The Grand Jury regularly empanelled for the Spring Term of the Circuit Court of Shelby County, respectfully report as follows:

We have investigated 38 cases, examined 138 witnesses, and returned 22 indictments.

In this connection the Grand Jury would call the attention of your Honor and the Justices of the Peace to the fact that the Justices are slow in sending in copies of their criminal dockets. This Grand Jury could easily have completed their labors and adjourned last week if the reports of the Justices of the Peace had been filed by the second day of the term.

We have examined the bonds of the county officers and found them of sufficient amount, with good sureties and in proper form with the exception of the bond of J. D. Striplin which does not name the office covered by or the conditions of the bond, and in other ways is not in proper form. We would recommend that J. D. Striplin be required to file a new bond in proper form.

We have examined the books of the County Treasurer which show cash on hand as follows:

General fund..... $700 50
Fine and forfeiture fund. 29 14
Special fund..... 397 89
Amount of claims against fine and forfeiture fund 10677 36

We have examined the feed bill of the Sheriff and find that from Oct. 1, 1904, to March 21, 1905, the Sheriff has fed prisoners 1,843 days and received therefore $552.90, being the legal per diem of 30 cents.

With the Solicitor we examined the books of the County Superintendent of Education and found them correct.

The fee books of the Judge of Probate have been examined and found correct.

The county poor house was visited and the whole place found in good condition, no special repairs needed. The house was clean and well kept; the inmates say they have plenty to eat, and no complaints were made of their treatment in any way. All were as clean and neat as their mental condition permits. There are in the institution 14 white inmates—6 male and 8 female; 4 colored—1 male and 3 females.

We inspected the county jail. This new building seems to be well fitted for the safe keeping of prisoners, with good arrangements generally for their comfort. The prisoners seem to be well fed and cared for. We would recommend that a water closet be placed in the woman's department. We would also recommend the building of a fence around the jail of the requisite height and material to prevent communication with the prisoners from the outside.

We find that the Tax Assessor has administered the oath as prescribed by law when assessing taxes.

Your Honor instructed this Grand Jury to inquire into the matter of a new court house for Shelby county, and on that subject we beg leave to report:

1st. That the present court house is entirely inadequate for the transaction of the county business, in that there is no proper or safe place for the keeping of records; the office of the Probate Judge is cramped, and is not properly arranged for efficient work, there being no place provided for his clerks where they can work without interruption from the general public, a condition which makes correct work very difficult. The County Superintendent of Education, the Tax Assessor, the Tax Collector and the County Treasurer have no office in the court house building; the sanitary condition of the building is bad; the water closets are not only entirely inadequate, but, in our opinion, are unhealthy, the odors therefrom being at all times strong and unwholesome. The Grand Jury have no room properly arranged for their deliberations and for the convenience of the witnesses brought before it; the entire arrangement and plan of the present building is inadequate and inconvenient; its appearance as a public building owned by the people of the county is not in keeping with the condition of the county in the value of its taxable property and the class of citizenship.

2nd. On account of the foregoing reasons we respectfully recommend that the Court of County Commissioners at the earliest practicable time take steps for the construction, erection and equipment for a suitable court house, provided the same can be built without increasing the present rate of taxation. We further recommend that the construction of said court house be commenced before or by the first day of January, 1907.

3d. We further respectfully suggest that if it is decided to build said court house, the County Commissioners appoint a committee of three, of which one of the County Commissioners or the Probate Judge shall be chairman, one member shall be a practical business man of experience residing in said county, and the third a member of the bar of Shelby county. Such committee to have charge of the raising of the money for, and the building of said court house, and to serve without compensation.

We would respectfully recommend that the Court of County Commissioners take steps to improve the roads and bridges in the county.

We would thank your Honor for the clear and able charge which you gave us, the Solicitor for his legal counsel and the bailiff for his attentions during the term.

Having finished our labors we now ask to be discharged.

The Misses Millstead and Nelson of your city, visited relatives here last week.

Misses Waters, of Coosa station, visited the family of their uncle, J. F. Pope, Saturday.

Mrs. W. S. Gwin, who has been on the sick list for two weeks, is, we are glad to hear, improving.

Rev. Mr. Bradley, of Nashville, Tenn., preached Sunday morning and night at the Christian church.

We welcome back to our community Ed. Lindsey and family, who recently moved from our midst to Georgia.

We are glad to see J. H. Weldon able to be up and at his place of business again, after several weeks sickness.

Mrs. McGee returned Saturday from Birmingham where she had been visiting her daughter for the past ten days.

For several days past cotton has been coming in pretty lively, and a glance at the station platform reminds us of the fall instead of spring time.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. J. L. Riddle, who has been very sick again for several weeks, is no better. If sympathy could only relieve, she would soon recover.

Our school will close Friday. We are sorry to have to give up, for a time, Prof. Tumlin and family and also Miss Cornelius, but hope to have them with us again when the fall term opens.

We were very glad to see the pleasant, smiling face of our Mr. Editor of The Sentinel on our streets one day last week. Hope he liked the looks of our town and will come again soon. By the way, we heard he could sing and we would be pleased if he would come up sometime and let us hear him. [Someone has been joking our correspondent.]

Having awakened from my twenty years of peaceful slumber, I was utterly surprised, at the same time very agreeably so, to see the great improvements that our little town has made during the time of my sleepy state. Then we had two churches that had been built but a short time, but now we have four, with preaching every Sunday and night, and instead of the old dilapidated store houses, almost ready to fall down from decay, now we have three large, handsome, commodious brick buildings and several neat new frame, nicely painted, well filled structures, all operated by fine business men who are pleasant and accommodating to all; keeping in store almost everything that the public might wish, and a more genial, pleasant set of clerks, both ladies and gentlemen, cannot be found to wait upon you even in the larger cities. The resident portion of the town having thrived itself, together with the last but not least the great improvement of the farmers in bringing up their lands with all the late improvements for the cultivation of the soil, shows that our people have advanced considerably on the road to prosperity. Instead of the old razor-back hogs and scrub stock, we have the thoroughbred cattle and hogs finer blooded stock which adds greatly to the comfort and happiness of life. A good school with splendid teachers for the education of our children at home. A first-class Drummers' Home or hotel where the hungry can be fed and the weary a good place to rest and as good, law-abiding and church going people as you will find anywhere.

If these few lines do not find the waste basket, I will try again occasionally, as I arouse from my sleepy condition. Your friend,

RIP VANWINKLE.

Methods in Teaching Geography.

(The following paper was read by Miss Marie Walters, at the recent Shelby County Teachers' Institute.)

When a class begins the study of Geography, I first try to give its members a clear idea of the shape of the earth, and its natural divisions. Next, the parallels of Latitude and the meridians of Longitude are explained, noting the fact that though parallels of Latitude are of uniform length, meridians of Longitude are greater at the Equator and meet at the poles. Naturally the circles, Arctic, Antarctic, Tropics and Equator are next discussed, and the boundaries of the different zones defined. The fact that the rays of the sun are vertical in the Torrid regions and move obliquely as you approach the poles will explain to them the difference of temperature. The daily revolution of the Earth on its axis causing day and night, and its annual revolution around the sun with its influences on the sun is noted.

We observe the influence of the Gulf Stream and the Japan current on the shores near which they flow.

After giving the class a bird's-eye view of the world as a whole, I generally take up our own country, beginning with the Thirteen Original States, and call attention to each addition made to our territory. The geography of the United States is constantly changing, and it is interesting to the student to find Alaska in the far northwest belonging to our country, together with the tropical islands—Hawaii, Philippines, Guam and Porto Rico.

We note the Atlantic Slope How its industries are shaped by climate and fertility of soil. The New England States have grown rich through manufactures and commerce. The eastern part of this slope, beside its staple crops of grain and tobacco, furnishes the North with fruit and vegetables during their season; while Florida in the far Southeast supplies the country with fruits and crisp, fresh vegetables through dreary winter.

Next, we observe the Pacific Slope with its smiling vineyards, orange groves, and its wealth of silver and gold. The great backbone of America called Rocky Mountains in North America, and Andes in South America, with the smaller ranges in the West and the Apalachian range in the Eastern part of the United States is traced on the map. The office of these mountains is robbing the clouds of their moisture and returning it in rills, brooks and rivers to the parent ocean is explained.

Then we come to the Great Mississippi Valley whose vast fields of cotton, cane, grain, and live stock seem inexhaustible. We note her great water ways, extending on the west from Fort Benton in Montana to the Gulf; and on the east from Pennsylvania to New Orleans. Rivers on either side flow into the Mississippi, and these will in time come into use for moving heavy freight.

And coming to our own State, we note her hills teeming with coal and iron, and her fertile valleys capable of producing almost everything necessary to the comfort of man. What State has finer rivers! The Coosa, cleared of her shoals, and a canal less than fifty miles long from Huntsville to Gadsden connecting the Coosa with the Tennessee, would connect with Pennsylvania in the East and Montana in the West, the extreme North, and the Gulf of Mexico in the South. All that will come in time, when the world has need of her vast stores of iron and coal. Already she is being dotted here and there with factories, and in the coming years her valleys will become a smiling garden whose bounty will be required to sustain the millions who will gather within her sunny borders.

Nature has been lavish to Alabama, and man has begun to second her efforts so that we may in the near future see her take a foremost place among her sister states.

The shooting down in cold blood of State Senator Robert L. Hipp, near Cullman on Tuesday of last week, by a farmer named John Williams was one of the most dastardly crimes ever perpetrated in Alabama. The murderer made his escape to the hills, and at last accounts was being pursued by a posse of men and two bloodhounds. Senator Hipp, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, went to a house occupied by Williams to serve ejectment papers, when the latter turned loose with a gun, killing Mr. Hipp and dangerously injuring the deputy sheriff. LATER.—Williams has surrendered.

Someone has discovered that eighteen of the twenty-five presidents of the United States had no middle name.

J. W. Johnston

Has one great hobby, and that is SHOES. A good shoe is desired by everyone, and to get the very best has been Mr. Johnston's aim. The best is the cheapest in the end, and when you come to think of it, they cost but little more, if any, than a poor shoe. Money is none to plentiful and you want all you can get for your dollars.

Johnston Sells Groceries, too.

Elegant Ready-to-Wear Suits.

We Have a Very Choice Line.

Our New Clothing Stock

Is the bloom of a new season just beginning. Evidence of its completeness is at hand for inspection. Style, quality and economy make up the attractive triumvirate of the stock we have. Men of taste and judgment—men whose efforts are bent toward saving instead of extravagance will be pleased with what we have. We offer you honest goods at a fair and honest price.

Beautiful Foot Wear.

No handsomer shoes nor of better value was ever offered the public than the stock we now have. They represent the very highest point that has been reached in artistic shoe making—in style, material and workmanship—they have been tested, and they meet the popular demand for durability—style. They are peerless, and shatter our competitors' nerves.

Spring Dress Goods.

The waning of winter and approach of spring, bringing with it the Easter time, and the dogwood bloom make it right and proper to say that our stock of spring dress goods and waists are in accord with the bright bloom of outdoor life, and we cordially invite the most critical inspection from the ladies of Columbiana and vicinity. It will be a pleasure to show you our new spring stock.

Groceries and Hardware.

You know our reputation for keeping in stock all that is good in the grocery and provision line; we cannot afford to keep any other kind. We have builded our trade by selling good goods at a fair price, and we value the good will of the public hence adhere to straightforward dealing with everybody. We carry the largest stock of hardware in Shelby county.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

Will Strong, of Montevallo, is in the city attending court as a witness.

Rev. J. G. Thornton, of Montevallo, is in the city this week doing jury duty.

Lon Nelson, of Sycamore, was in town over Sunday visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. John S. Pitts has been visiting with her parents in Vincent for the past week.

The past few days has been growing weather for all kinds of seeds that are in the ground.

A. L. Henderson, a prominent man of Selma, was in the city last Friday attending court.

G. F. Harper, of Montevallo, was in the city the fore part of the week, a witness in court.

Rev. Mr. Partridge filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church last Sunday morning and night.

The many friends of Hon. J. R. White are glad to know that he is improving from a recent serious illness.

The work of remodeling the Methodist church is progressing as rapidly as a large force of hands can do it.

Mrs. Edgar Cary and Miss Tabor Cary, of Keystone, are in the city visiting at the home of Rev. H. M. Millstead.

Only about another month of school, and the pupils and teachers will have a rest from books for a few months.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. MacKnight and daughter, Miss Vera, of Shelby Springs, were in the city a few days last week.

From the plainest sewing to the handsomest dresses can be had by calling on Mrs. J. W. Peers, at residence on Depot-st. f23-2m

Geo. F. Peter, the coal magnate of Maylene, was in the city last week on legal business. The Sentinel acknowledges a short call.

Miss Dora Harris, of Mumford, who has been attending the Girls' School at Montevallo, is in the city visiting her brother, Rev. G. T. Harris.

Hon. E. S. Lyman, of Montevallo, is in the city attending court. Mr. Lyman has many friends in Columbiana who are always glad to see him.

The regular services of the Methodist congregation will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sunday. Rev. G. T. Harris preaches morning and night.

W. H. Reneau, of near Maylene, was in the city on Monday of this week, a witness in court, and came in and renewed his subscription to The Sentinel for another year.

Judge J. L. Peters visited with his children in Montevallo over last Sunday.

One or two communications have been received this week which have to go over to our next issue for want of space.

The Sentinel is in receipt of a "batch" of neighborhood news in which "John Smith was entertained by Susie Jones" plays a most conspicuous part. The Sentinel cannot use such matter, as it is of no particular interest to any one except, possibly, the party who writes them.

C. L. Meroney, vice-president of the Merchants' and Planters' Bank of Montevallo, was in the city last Thursday and left an order for some commercial stationery for that bank.

Henry Chapman has purchased a hydraulic barber chair for his shop, and as soon as he gets moved will make other additions. Henry expects to have one of the finest shops in this section of the State.

The first ball game of the season in Columbiana was played last Friday between the Columbiana regulars and the college boys, which resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 4 to 2. All the players were rusty, but they put up a pretty game.

The frost last Sunday night played whaley with the new garden truck which was coming up; most of it will have to be planted over again—that is, if any one wants a garden. It is thought the fruit is not hurt very much aside from the grapes—the latter, it is thought, have been killed.

R. E. Bowdon, Supt. of the Keystone Lime Works at Keystone, was in town the fore part of the week attending court. Mr. Bowdon informs the Sentinel he will soon begin the erection of a two-story brick store house in Culera which will be occupied, when finished, by Holcombe & Bowdon.

The Sentinel learns that the Baptist church will probably be remodeled this summer, and that about a thousand dollars will be put onto the building. The church people of Columbiana are imbued with the commendable idea of improving their church buildings and making them as beautiful as possible.

The recent cold spell reminds Uncle Jeff Elliott that fifty six years ago last Sunday it rained, then snowed, and when night came it was freezing and all vegetation changed its color from green to black. Everything in the way of vegetation in this section, froze except a field of wheat on Ballock's Island in the Coosa river east of Wilsonville. Uncle Jeff was in a reminiscent mood as he talked, and said: "The 15th of April, 1849, fell on Sunday. I remember it well, for I went home with my best girl, and it was so cold I had to stay all night. Thinking of the time then, and coming down to now, it seems as if something has been working on me. At that time I could jump over a fence and spring like a bull, but not so now; my hair and beard was black then, but now—and his voice trailed off quietly as he appeared to live over the scenes in that long ago. Mr. Elliott is 76 years old now, his hair and whiskers are white as snow, still notwithstanding his years he is quite vigorous, and works in his garden more or less every day.

In Memoriam.

Resolved, By Shelby Lodge, No. 50, K. of P., Columbiana, Ala., April 10, 1905.

1. That in the death of Knight Clarence C. DuBose our fraternity sustains the loss of a faithful brother.

2. That we ever cherish his memory green in our hearts and in token thereof wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

3. That we extend our affectionate sympathy to the bereaved and commend them to the tender mercy of the Supreme Ruler of the Universe.

4. That a copy of these proceedings be spread upon the minutes of our Lodge, and given to each of our county papers for publication.

Spright Dowell,
John S. Pitts, } Com.
E. A. Saxon, }

Miss Carrie Towles.

The people of Montevallo will be interested in the following item which we clip from the Talladega Mountain Home of last week. Miss Towles at one time lived in Montevallo:

Miss Carrie Towles, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Towles of this city, died in Dallas, Texas, April 4th, at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Oldham. Her death was unexpected. She had been unwell for several days, but was able to be up and was considered much better the day she died. Miss Towles was to have been married on the 28th of this month. She was a sister of J. G. Towles of this city, and is survived by two other brothers and three sisters.

State Sunday School Convention

Birmingham, Apr. 25-27.

The basis of representation is: Five delegates from the county at large, all ministers of the gospel, the superintendent and two other delegates from each school in the county. Each school elects its own delegates.

I hereby appoint as delegates at large for Shelby county:

J. F. Pope, Wilsonville,
H. C. Reynolds, Montevallo,
W. E. Lester, Calvary,
Miss Kittie Averyt, Shelby,
Miss Zemma Pitts, Columbiana.

The names of all delegates desiring free entertainment should be sent to R. F. Lewis, Chairman Entertainment Committee, Birmingham.

The railroads have granted a reduced rate of one and one-third fare plus 25 cents for the round trip.

SPRIGHT DOWELL,
President for Shelby County.

The Sans Souci's were entertained by some of their gentlemen friends with an outing at Shelby Springs last Friday night, and from the report which comes to The Sentinel it was a delightful affair. Delicious refreshments were served. The evening was spent in strolling through the grounds, music and conversation, and all who were present want to go again. The pleasure of the evening was enhanced by the presence of the Misses MacKnight, who assisted in entertaining the party.

Mrs. Will Harrell and Miss Linnie Seale received a fine crate of Florida vegetables from their father at Miami last Friday. There were tomatoes, squashes, cucumbers, beans and beets galore and they certainly looked fine—tasted good, too.

C. P. Lane, of Saginaw, was in the city the fore part of the week attending court, and while here renewed his subscription for another year.

Montevallo.

The town is putting down a brand new floor on the iron bridge.

Richmond Pearson Hobson is to be at the School Chapel tonight (Monday.)

The Alumni Society of the A. G. I. S. are planning an entertainment for an early date, the chief feature of which will be a Tom Thumb wedding.

The A. G. I. S. orchestra, under the training of Miss Kate Samney, has made wonderful progress. They are arranging an entertainment that will prove one of the most enjoyable of the season, and attract all lovers of good music.

The ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church will give an egg hunt on the church lawn, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, April 22nd, to which all are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served and admission fee of 10 cent charged.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Cowles, of Kensington, Conn., who have been sojourners in Montevallo for several weeks, will return to their home this week. Mr. Cowles, for whose benefit the southern trip was made, is very much improved in health.

Hon. S. W. Johns delivered a lecture on the early history of Alabama at the Industrial school, Monday morning, disclosing many interesting facts, particularly in reference to the different sources of title from which the territory of the State was acquired.

Dr. A. P. Montagne, president of Howard College, was very much encouraged in his work of adding to the College, as a result of his visit to Montevallo. Capt. H. C. Reynolds, who doesn't do things by halves, and who, when his interest is aroused, does things magnificently, headed the list of subscribers with $1,000; this amount was supplemented by others until it reached about $1,400 in Montevallo. With the same responses elsewhere, the genial president must enlarge his plans to correspond.

New Rural Route.

A letter to The Sentinel from Congressman Bowie says that a new rural route has been ordered for this county, out of Harpersville to commence May 15, and to have one carrier.

Mr. Bowie requests us to say that any person in this county who is interested in the establishment of any other routes, they can get the necessary blanks and circulars by writing him at Anniston.

Shelby County and Howard College.

Dr. A. P. Montagne, president of Howard College, has returned from a trip to Shelby county, where, in company with the canvassing committee, he raised over $1,800 in two days for the science and library building, which will be erected at Howard College this summer.

The committee who assisted Dr. Montagne in making a canvass of the towns of Shelby county consisted of Capt. H. C. Reynolds, Dr. E. G. Givhan, and the Rev. J. W. Willis, of Montevallo, and Judge A. P. Longshore, of Columbiana.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds, who founded the Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo, contributed for himself and sons, among whom is Col. W. B. Reynolds, a prominent business man of Birmingham, $1,000 to the fund.

Captain Reynolds has agreed to devote considerable time to canvassing for the new building and the college is to be congratulated on having him for its friend.

Among the other liberal contributors to the fund were Dr. E. G. Givhan, Charlton Smith, Judge A. P. Longshore, Judge J. L. Peters, John T. Averyt, all of Shelby county.

President Montagne and his assistants are meeting with gratifying results in the canvass for the $15,000. The new structure will be one of the handsomest of its kind in the State and will be a great addition to Howard College.—Age Herald.

Cotton Growers Meet.

The Shelby County Organization of the Southern Cotton Growers' association convened in Columbiana April 15th. The meeting being deterred by the inclemency of the weather from the hour stated, was called to order at 3 p. m. by the chairman, Hosea Pearson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and adopted.

Reports of the beat organizations were called for.

Some wise suggestions were offered by A. P. Longshore and Hosea Pearson.

A motion was adopted to have a basket dinner at our next regular meeting which will be July 15th, at 10 a. m. and to invite the State Organization, H. Y. Brooke, to be with us and to lend his assistance to this organization.

The business of the day being dispensed with, the association adjourned at 4 p. m.

Trip to Wilsonville.

Last Friday The Sentinel man visited with the good people of Wilsonville for several hours and thoroughly enjoyed the trip. It was our first visit there, and in becoming acquainted with the people of that bustling little place we consider the time well spent.

Wilsonville, in the mercantile establishment of J. F. Pope, has one of the finest equipped stores in this section of the State. The building is of a very substantial nature and in size is 210x90 feet—three rooms filled with goods from top to bottom—there being very little waste space on either the first or second floors. To look after the large stock and to attend the wants of customers requires quite a working force of clerks. We are under obligations to Clarence Smith for kindly attention during our short stay in the store, and also to Mr. Pope, but it was a busy day with him looking after a lot of cotton he was shipping. One can buy at this establishment anything from a fine cambric needle to the best farm machinery. Close application to business has given Mr. Pope a large trade, and his establishment is a credit to Shelby county.

Another good establishment at which everything in the line of general merchandise is handled is that of Pennington, Riddle & Co. The writer spent a pleasant hour with these gentlemen, and in that time we could readily see to what they owe their excellent patronage—uniform courtesy and kindness to all. Their store is neat, their goods up to date in every particular and the prices consistent with a safe conduct of business. Pennington, Riddle & Co. are doing a nice business, and they deserving of all that comes their way.

We dropped into the store of R. G. Weldon Co. and found it "chock up" with a choice line of general merchandise. The exceptional neatness of the interior of this store strikes one on entering the establishment, and the general good cheer which prevails makes one "want to come again." Mr. Weldon reported trade a little quiet now on account of the farmers being very busy with their planting but on the whole business is good with him for this season of the year. Mr. Weldon, who is in charge, is one of the young business men of the town, is energetic, progressive and doing a good business.

Next door Black & Weldon dispense drugs to those of the public who are addicted to aches and pains, and while the room is not large, yet it is "full up" of everything that is needed in a drug store. We were sorry to miss Dr. Black, but he was out looking after the welfare of some patient, but we hope to get a hook and line on him the next time we are in Wilsonville.

A little farther down the street is the store of J. H. Weldon, and same neatness that marks all the stores of Wilsonville is found there. Mr. Weldon carries a good stock of general merchandise, and is enjoying a nice trade.

Next to the postoffice is another little establishment over the door of which reads a sign "Pope's Drug Store." It is a busy little place, and is up to date in all its appointments—a first class stock of drugs.

At the noon hour we stepped into "The Drummer's Home," and we are not surprised that the traveling men always like to stop there. It is one of the best hotels in this part of the State—not a great large building—all show on the outside—but a neat, cozy place, and the bill of fare all that one could desire. It is presided over by Mrs. Iris E. Taylor, whose kindly manner makes the stranger feel at once at home.

During our rambles we met Dr. Boyer and enjoyed a very pleasant chat with him. The doctor is loyal to Wilsonville in every particular, and does not tire in talking of it.

The school house in Wilsonville is not in keeping with the progressive spirit that pervades the town, and the people there feel keenly the lack of a good building, and we are glad to say that they will make an effort to build a new one some time this year. They have an excellent school now, but it will be even much better when they get a building commensurate with the needs of the town. They say that they are going to have a new building and we do not doubt it in the least.

Taylor & Weldon take care of the delivery business of the place, and fit you out with a good team and carriage on short notice. They appear to be doing a good business.

The Sentinel man enjoyed his trip to Wilsonville; the people there are big-hearted, open-handed and the hospitality extended the stranger makes one warm to them. We are going again.

John M. Fancher, of Montevallo, is attending court this week.

If a bicycle is worth anything at all, it is worth taking care of. If it gets out of repair take it to an experienced man—and Nolan Barnett is that very one.

T. F. Atkinson.

R. E. Collins, of Sterrett, was in town last week attending court. He is among the new subscribers to The Sentinel during the past week.

Attorney G. B. Walker and family are stopping with Mr. and Mrs. John T. Cromwell.

Dry Valley Items.

With much success to The Sentinel in all of its undertakings.

Rev. W. T. Patillo filled his regular appointment at Session's Chapel last Sunday.

M. P. Randall, of Birmingham, was down Sunday, shaking hands with his friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Deshazo, of Montevallo, were visiting at the home of P. O. West last week.

Gene Denson, of Montevallo, was visiting friends in our community last week. Gene is a jovial, good boy and his friends always glad to have him with them.

Prof. Davidson, of Birmingham, was visiting at the home of Wm. Session Sunday. Prof. Davidson was once employed in this district, and has many friends who welcome him back.

The Southern Cotton Growers' Association is in good working order, and each member expresses himself as feeling sure that material good will be derived by the general organization.

If the stock law is not repealed and the laws of God, church and nature is not adhered to more fully in beat 4, when the general "roll is called up yonder" there will be lots of us that won't be there.

The children of our community are practicing under the leadership of Mrs. J. B. Sessions for Easter services, and that lady is losing no time nor sparing no pains in training the little ones and we feel sure she will succeed.

Miss Nannie Sessions, one of Shelby's cultured and refined young ladies left Monday for Jacksonville to attend the Normal summer school. Miss Sessions has an educated heart as well as brain, and while our church and society will sustain a temporary loss, the M. E. church and the social society of Jacksonville will no doubt feel her good influence.

Endorsed by Judge A. P. Longshore

I have been requested several times to make a statement as to what I thought of the Mutual Life Industrial Association of Georgia, but have declined to do so until now. I have been making an investigation for the last six months as to the merits of the Association and have reached the conclusion that it is the safest and cheapest insurance offered to the people. I have taken Three Thousand Dollars in it, and take pleasure in recommending it to the people.

A. P. Longshore.

B. F. Montgomery, superintendent of agents, has located in Shelby county for the purpose of starting a crew of men working on said Division, which means that the Division will be completed in a very short time.

Application to Sell Real Estate.

NO TONGUE CAN TELL

How I Suffered With Itching and Bleeding Eczema Until Cured by Cuticura.

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with a terribly painful, itching and bleeding eczema, my body and face being covered with sores. Never in my life did I experience such awful suffering, and I longed for death, which I felt was near. I had tried doctors and medicines without success, but my mother insisted that I try Cuticura. I felt better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap, and one application of Cuticura Ointment, and was soon entirely well. (Signed) Mrs. A. Benson, Bellevue, Mich."

A Strange Bird.

A strange bird caught by Mr. Hawking at Monroe, Conn., proves to be of the class of swimming birds, one name for which is the diver. They go in flocks, and contrary to the usual custom of migrating birds, come North in September and go South in the spring.

An Old Love Letter.

The oldest love letters were found recently. They were written by a Babylonian gentleman about 2,200 years before Christ, and were sent to a woman in Sappara. It is surprising to find that, barring a slight quaintness of diction, they might have been written yesterday. One of these letters is addressed to the writer's "little sheep" and it is declared that "you alone are my life. I could spend eternity in the light of your eyes."

A Heavy Fine.

Under the Elkins law any railroad company which pays rebates in any form, or any shipper who accepts them, is liable to a fine of from $100 to $20,000 upon conviction. It also prohibits the carrying of freight at less than the published tariffs. The Interstate Commerce Commission is empowered to detect and prosecute violators of this statute. President Knapp, of the commission, states that since this law was passed rebate paying has been as rare as forgery.

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

ESTABLISHED 1875.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., APRIL 27, 1905.

VOL. 30. NO. 34.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

Current News Garnered as It Falls From the Plant of Report.

Raid on "Moonshiners."

Jasper, Ala.—J. O. Thompson, collector of internal revenue, accompanied by Deputies A. J. Montgomery, V. S. Root, Marshals R. A. Smith, W. S. Standifer, Drakeford and City Marshal C. C. Smith, made a raid on an illicit distillery near Peak's Mill, in Winston county, and captured a forty-gallon copper still in operation. Cantrell was brought to Jasper by Deputy Montgomery and a part of the raiding party. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields and pleaded guilty to the charge of operating an illicit still. He was placed under bond to appear before the United States court at Huntsville in May, bond being fixed at $300. Collector Thompson and the remainder of the party are still in Winston county making diligent search for illicit stills. It is reported that there is more illicit distilling going on in the section of country north of the Walker county line than there has been for twenty years.

Boy Had Narrow Escape.

Selma, Ala.—A small boy living near Church street, where the Willipus Wallupus, as the big steam street roller is designated, is rolling the newly graveled street, came near meeting with a horrible death. Engineer Wood was running the machine straight ahead and not paying attention to the rear, when he had occasion to reverse the big engine.

The sudden stopping of the machine threw the little boy, who was stealing a ride, from his perch and his cries as the big roller approached him lead to the stopping of the engine just in time to prevent it crushing the little form into a lifeless mass. Warning has been given by the authorities for mothers to keep their children off the big roller, and it is hoped that hereafter no trouble will be had.

Repairing the Bridge.

Gadsden, Ala.—The Louisville and Nashville road has a large force of men at work refooring the bridge across Coosa river at this point. The travel over this bridge is enormous, and a new floor has to be put in every three or four months, and it is becoming to be quite an item to the railroad people. The travel is so heavy that slow time is made in putting down the new floor.

The approaches to the bridge on both sides are being greatly strengthened and made more substantial. The report that the Louisville and Nashville will build a new and much stronger bridge across the river here just as soon as the Altoona extension is completed is believed by many, as the present bridge will not hold up the heavy trains that will necessarily have to pass through Gadsden and over the bridge.

Child Killed at Open Grate.

Annlston, Ala.—The 3-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. James McDowell, who live a few miles from the city, died Tuesday night from the effects of burns received Monday. It seems that the child was playing near the open fire place, when its clothing caught fire, and after suffering untold agonies for nearly two days, the little sufferer succumbed at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Preacher Retains Liquor.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Rev. Tillman Adams, of Clanton, Ala., a regularly ordained minister of the Methodist church, was bound over to the federal court by United States Commissioner Elmore under a bond of $200 on the charge of retailing liquor without a license.

Building a Boat.

Demopolis, Ala.—Mr. Alex Sledge is having a power boat built, the frame of which is already completed. The work is going on at the waterworks plant and when completed it will be used in towing service. It will be propelled by steam.

Starts More Coke Ovens.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Woodward Iron Company has blown in another battery of coke ovens of more than fifty at its coke oven plant at Dolomite, between Birmingham and Bessemer. The company is now in a position to furnish all its own needs for coke, three furnaces to be supplied after May 1st. The new furnaces, the third one, of the Woodward Company, will be blown in the first part of next month.

$15,000 Fire in Montgomery.

Montgomery, Ala.—Fire gutted the stores of Gerson & Co., and Steagall & Bros., causing a loss of $15,000, which is well covered by insurance.

Eufaula Wants St. Andrews Road.

Eufaula, Ala.—President Gordon and Manager Miller, of the St. Andrews, Columbus and Birmingham railroad, with Joseph L. Beach, of New York, representing a trust company, have been in this city looking into the building of the road. From here they went to Dothan and Chipley, Fla., thence to St. Andrews to inspect port facilities. Work of construction on this end of the line is expected to begin in thirty days.

Court House to Remain.

Edwardsville, Ala.—Captain Sedberry, state examiner, who was sent up from Montgomery to examine the petition for the removal of the court house from Edwardsville to Heflin, has been here examining the papers. Thursday was the day for the trial, and after examining the petition it was found that 196 had withdrawn and about 400 were unqualified. There being only 875 on the petition asking for the removal, this left only 275 of the 1,445 asking for the removal.

They then adjourned until Friday morning at 8 o'clock. The leaders came up from Heflin and had a meeting with their lawyers, and Friday they withdrew the petition, thus closing a strong fight, which in all probability settles the question for the future, as the new jail is to be commenced at once, the contract already being let, which calls for the completion by October, 1905.

White Man Kills an Old Negro.

Gadsden, Ala.—Pink Jones, white, aged about 30, shot and killed Fayette Jelks, colored, aged 65, near Attalla about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Jones had threatened to kill W. S. Hathaway on sight, and had lain in wait for him as he came along the trail coming from his work at the furnace. Jones and the negro were together when Hathaway came upon them. Jones commenced cursing Hathaway and threatening to kill him. Hathaway told him he was unarmed. Jones then cursed the negro and without a word of warning emptied the contents of his gun into the negro's left breast, causing instant death. Jones escaped. The negro Jelks was an herb doctor, old and inoffensive. Jones has a bad reputation.

Tragedy Near Mobile.

Mobile, Ala.—Friday night Frank Joulain, proprietor of a road house on Bay Shell road, was called to his door and asked if he had wine. He replied, "No, but we have beer," and then turned to re-enter the house, when he was shot, supposedly by John Ellis, a contractor, formerly of Indian Territory, but who has been a resident of Mobile for some months.

Ellis was accompanied by Earle Roselle in a single buggy. Another couple was also accompanying them—John Morris, alias Robert Mohr, and Della Harris.

The shooting is the sequel of a personal encounter some weeks ago between Ellis and Joulain in a saloon in this city, in which Ellis was worsted. All parties were arrested. Ellis was slated for shooting with intent to murder and the other three as witnesses.

Joulain was taken to the City Infirmary, and the chief of police at 1 a. m. was called upon to take his dying statement.

Coffee County Raid.

Troy, Ala.—Deputy Collector E. N. Winters and Deputy Marshals A. B. Colquitt and A. J. Collier came to Troy Friday morning from a raid in Coffee county. Willie Houston and Willie Arrington were brought before United States Commissioner Tutwiler by Deputy Marshal Collier, charged with illicit distilling, and were committed to jail in default of bail. Deputy Marshal Colquitt brought W. H. Stone before United States Commissioner Tutwiler, and he pleaded guilty and was bound over to await the action of the next federal grand jury under $200 bond. Two illicit distilleries were destroyed by the officers near Roton on the 19th inst., one of them belonging to Hurston and Arrington and the other to W. H. Stone.

Decatur, Ala.—Sheriff J. H. Wiggin, silently slipped away to Birmingham Thursday afternoon and during the night took from the Jefferson county jail John Collier and Harvey Smith, the two negroes who have been under arrest there for some time, charged with the murder of Miss Bella Bloodworth.

Three Burned to Death.

Greensburg, Pa.—By the explosion of a bottle of gasoline in the home of John E. Kunkle three children of the family were burned to death and a fourth so fearfully injured that her recovery is a matter of doubt.

Demopolis, Ala.—Demopolis is trying to secure the Alabama, Pensacola and Western railway. The Commercial club is considering a proposition from R. D. Patterson in this connection. A double track road from Memphis to Pensacola is proposed. This city is asked to give $20,000 in cash, depot facilities, etc.

Windham Taken to His Home. Montgomery, Ala.—The Rev. Sam H. Windham, the insane man who went into a room with the Rev. Sam Jones, the evangelist, Friday and threatened to kill him, was taken to his home in Ozark, Ala., late in the afternoon. He had little to say except to thank the jailers for their kindness to him.

Arrested for Fishing.

Florence, Ala.—Jack Davis, of Sheffield, was arrested here for fishing in Cypress creek, which has been posted by the Florence Gun and Fishing Club. Davis was seen fishing while the grand jury was in session, but escaped in his boat from the officers, who were unable to follow. Friday morning the officers were provided with a boat and the man was captured. He was put under $100 bond to appear next Thursday.

AN ALABAMA WOMAN'S

Resolution Creates a Sensation in Its Attack on the Mormon Church.

THE CHURCH IS TREASONABLE.

Convention Endorses Her Stand—Interesting Proceedings of Patriotic Organization.

Washington, D. C.—After a recess of one day, the congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution reconvened to conclude its business. There was a notable diminution in the attendance, many of the Daughters having left the city.

President General Fairbanks extended an invitation to the president general-elect, Mrs. Donald McLean, and to C. A. Kauffman, of South Carolina, a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, to take seats on the stage. Mr. Kauffman delivered a brief address in which he felicitated the D. A. R. on its achievements and complimented its outgoing and incoming officers.

An echo of the election of Mrs. McLean came at the close of the reading of the minutes when President General Fairbanks expressed regret that Mrs. Sternberg's motion to make Mrs. McLean's election unanimous had not been carried unanimously. Mrs. Balingier, District of Columbia, urged that some of the "noes" had been withdrawn, but the president general held that all had not been withdrawn and that the election of Mrs. McLean was not unanimous.

Mrs. Donald McLean, the president general-elect, on motion of Mrs. Murphy, of Ohio, was elected chairman of the Continental Memorial Hall Committee, the action being in accordance with precedent.

Mrs. McLean on Platform. During the announcement of the new state regents, Mrs. McLean was escorted to the platform. She presented to President General Fairbanks a beautiful floral star, the emblem of the New York City Chapter, and said that the star was the pledge of loyalty of the chapter to the national organization.

Mrs. McLean then said that in accordance with the sentiments expressed by the floral piece she desired to present from New York Chapter a practical testimonial in the form of checks for $1,000 from Mrs. Jas. H. Aldrich; $10 from Mrs. James W. Randall and $100 from Mrs. A. J. Robinson as contributions to the Continental Hall fund.

At 1 o'clock a recess was taken for luncheon. When the congress reconvened at 3:30 p. m. a discussion which occupied considerable time was continued. It related to a construction of the constitution as to the admission of members of Children of the American Revolution to the D. A. R. A motion by Mrs. Day, of Tennessee, which had precipitated the discussion, finally was passed. By its provisions the national board is directed to interpret literally the constitution as it now stands. This will enable members of the D. A. R. of eligible age to become members of the D. A. R. without payment of initiation fees.

A proposition was made by Mrs. Elizabeth C. Williams, of Maryland, that the society take steps looking to the deposit of the remains of John Paul Jones at the naval academy at Annapolis. Amendments were offered requesting that the remains be deposited in Philadelphia and Fredericksburg, Va. The whole question finally was laid on the table. A resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a committee to wait upon the Fifty-ninth congress to obtain permission for the interment in the National cemetery at Arlington of the remains of Pierre Charles, l'Enfant.

Mrs. Murphy, of Ohio, offered a resolution which was adopted providing that the president general appoint a special committee to promote the introduction into the public schools of the United States of the system of a "school city." The idea is to promote the teaching of good citizenship in the public schools and induce the school children to govern themselves in their schools.

Mrs. Goode's Statement.

Mrs. Goode, of Alabama, brought to the attention of the congress the Mormon question in a sensational statement. She declared that the Mormon church was violating, through its leaders, the laws of the land; that it was a treasonable institution owing its highest allegiance to its own organization, and that it was a stain on the good name of the United States. She offered therefore this resolution: "That as daughters of the patriots we most earnestly call upon the national congress to pass such remedial Cullman Ships First Strawberries.

Cullman, Ala.—The first shipment of strawberries from this place this season was made Friday. They were handled by J. D. Searcy, shipping clerk of the German Farmers' Strawberry Association, and consigned to Douglas Bros., Birmingham. The berries were of a very fine variety, large and of a very delicious flavor, which is generally characteristic of the Cullman berry.

legislation as will put a stop to polygamy and polygamous living and political control of the Mormon hierarchy.

"And that this congress also urge the United States senate to refuse Mr. Reed Smoot, of Utah, an apostle of this church, and one of its highest officers, the right to continue as senator of the United States.

"And that we further urge an amendment to the federal constitution making polygamy, under whatever guise or pretense, a crime against the United States."

Mrs. Allen, state regent of Utah, claimed the right to second the resolution, her position being taken, she said, upon purely patriotic grounds. She wanted the word "church" eliminated from the resolution and the word "hierarchy" substituted.

"This is a hierarchy we are dealing with," she declared, "and the overthrow of the government is what it is at." The change was made. The resolution was adopted by a rising vote.

Mrs. Richardson, state regent of South Carolina, presented to President General Fairbanks a beautiful drawing of the Fairbanks coat-of-arms, and an illuminated card bearing the insignia of the Palmetto state and the name of the D. A. R. chapters of that state.

A recess then at 5:15 was taken until 8 o'clock.

At the night session the convention voted to go ahead with the work of collecting funds for its completion. The treasurer general, Mrs. M. E. S. Davis, of the District of Columbia, stated that $53,000 is on hand with which to continue the work of construction.

After expressing the usual resolutions of thanks the congress adjourned sine die, the delegates late reassembling at the Elbitt house to greet the new president general, Mrs. Donald McLean, of New York.

Survived the Shock.

Florence, Ala.—Charles Venson, foreman of a telephone construction gang, is alive and at work again after having 22,000 volts of electricity pass through his body. The accident occurred in Sheffield Saturday. Venson was working with some telephone wires, when by mistake he caught hold of a wire of the Sheffield Street Car Company, which was heavily charged. He was standing in the mud and this caused the current to pass through him. His hand was horribly burned, and it was four hours before he was restored to consciousness. It was thought at first that the man was dead, and his recovery is considered almost miraculous.

A Skyscraper for Montgomery.

Montgomery, Ala.—A trade was consummated Friday whereby James H. Cook and George Laurie, of Montgomery, purchased for $26,000 the old Baptist church property on the triangular block bounded by North Court, Coosa and Bibb streets and Madison avenue, on which the new owners expect to erect a ten or twelve-story steel structural office building.

Oil Fight in Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo.—A motion was filed in the supreme court by Attorney-General Hadley to strike out the pleadings filed by the Standard Oil Company and the Republic Oil Company to his information alleging combination to control the supply and price of oils in this state. These pleading deny the allegations set forth in the information filed by the attorney-general and at the same time attack the constitutionality of the anti-trust law.

Attorney-General Hadley in his motion contends that such pleadings cannot be filed in the supreme court and bases this contention on decisions in the case of former Attorney-General Crow vs. fire insurance companies several years ago.

Boys Charged With Housebreaking.

Jasper, Ala.—Dan Willingham and Charles Williams, two boys between the age of ten and twelve years, have been lodged in the county jail on a charge of breaking into houses at Horse Creek. The boys are alleged to have maliciously entered four stores, a blacksmith shop and one dwelling at Horse Creek within the past few weeks. Every effort of the parents of the boys failed to have any effect on them, and it was necessary to have them locked in the county jail.

Shipping Strawberries.

Brewton, Ala.—At Castleberry, 12 miles north of here, it is estimated that there are over 1,500 berry pickers present on account of the opening of the strawberry season. The population of the town is ordinarily about 250, but estimates place those now located there at several thousand.

Seven car loads were shipped during the first three days of last week, and indications point to a heavy crop, probably 125 car loads. There are 600 acres in this vicinity devoted to the succulent fruit.

"Beef Trust" Inquiry.

Chicago, Ill.—The federal grand jury which is investigating the business affairs of the meat packers, resumed their probe into the details of the sausage casing business, as carried on by the packers.

CANAL GOVERNMENT LEGAL

Attorney General Renders Opinion Upholding Administration.

BARRETT COWES PANAMA ARMY

Omission or Inaction of Congress No Bar to Continuance of Our Rule—President's Power Ample—Fifty Panama Soldiers; Threatened Matiny Last November, But Mr. Barrett Warned Them

Washington, D. C.—Attorney-General Moody has rendered an opinion about the effect of Congress' failure to legislate for the government of the Panama Canal zone, under which the Government will now go ahead just as if there had been legislation. The failure of Congress to take action was not accidental, but deliberate. The House was determined to clean out the old Walker Canal Commission. It passed a bill for that purpose, presented by Representative Mann, of the Commercial Committee, and bearing the stamp of that committee's approval.

The influence of some members of the commission blocked the bill in the Senate, where a counter bill was introduced. Whatever may have been the reasons of Congress for failing to re-enact or complete its legislation, the proper presumption is that it was of the opinion that the power conferred upon the President was ample and continued until it should otherwise direct the existing temporary government survived and went out to perform its functions and duties as already marked out.

"The Secretary of War on March 6, 1905, cabled to the Governor of the canal zone that the administration of government there would continue as before. The principle is that where a territorial government under the authority of the United States, temporary and provisional in character, has its origin in lawful authority, it continues to enforce the law and serve the usual purposes of civilized institutions until it is legally displaced. This principle arises ex-necessitate and means that anarchy shall not follow because there has been a legislative omission or failure to provide a new and permanent status.

"This principle must be equally applicable whether the original rightful authority was an exercise of the war power or whether it rested, as here, upon temporary and provisional laws of Congress."

Barrett Saves the Day.

Diplomatic correspondence made public at the State Department contains a dispatch from Minister Barrett at Panama giving an account of the assistance rendered by him in averting trouble there at the time of the attempted revolution led by General Huertas last November.

After it had been arranged that General Huertas should resign and the Panama Army disband a hitch occurred. About fifty soldiers marched, unarmed, to the Government House, followed by a great crowd, and informed the President of the republic that they would not accept the Government's plan to pay them off in two installments, but demanded the whole amount at that time.

Minister Barrett, who was present at the time, advised the President to be absolutely firm, but the soldiers persisted and muttered threats against the President. The Minister, in informing the State Department of the incident, said:

"When this word came up from the street I saw that there must be no further delay in bringing matters to an end, and, taking General Guardia, the Minister of Foreign Affairs and War, with me, I went down stairs and out upon the sidewalk in front of the soldiers who were there assembled. In brief words I told General Guardia to say to them that the United States power on which they stood back of the Government in this crisis, and that they must accept the terms of the Government or accept the consequences.

"They were warned that if they did not accept these terms and engaged in any acts of insurrection, riot or mutiny, they would be dealt with in a most summary way, and that if necessary the naval forces in the bay and the Marines at Ancon and Empress would be used to maintain order, with the severest punishment for those who were responsible for disorder.

"This warning had the desired effect, and the soldiers immediately declared that they would accept the terms of the Government."

GEN. GROSVENOR TO RETIRE.

Will Have Been Twenty Years in Congress at End of Present Term.

Washington, D. C.—General Charles H. Grosvenor, Representative from the Eleventh Ohio District, and one of the foremost Republicans in Congress, has indicated his intention to retire at the end of his present term.

Opponents have gained control of the County Committee in Athens County, where he lives, but he does not admit that this would prevent his return. He has told friends he will be satisfied when he has served twenty years in Congress, and he is now in his tenth term.

MINOR EVENTS OF THE WEEK

WASHINGTON.

After a conference between Secretary Morton and Acting Secretary Loomis it was announced that a decision had been reached to have the remains of John Paul Jones, unburied by Ambassador Porter in Paris, brought to America in a naval vessel with a proper convoy.

Daughters of the American Revolution dedicated Memorial Continental Hall, the society's new home, in Washington.

The President has appointed a special commission to deal with three important questions which have arisen relative to the diversion and interference with the course of international rivers. The commission consists of Judge Penfield, solicitor of the State Department; Special Assistant Attorney General M. C. Burch, and Prof. F. H. Newell, of the Geological Survey.

OUR ADOPTED ISLANDS.

A general strike for more wages has begun on the largest sugar plantations in the Ponce District, of Porto Rico. Meetings of laborers are being organized. The American Federation of Labor has been taking an active part in the movement.

The court-martial in the case of Commander John B. Briggs, in Manila, formerly in command of the cruiser Baltimore, who was tried for running that vessel around in the Straits of Malacca while en route to the Philippines, has returned a verdict of acquittal.

Pedro Roxas, who was placed under arrest in Manila on the charge of furnishing supplies to the ladrones, and Administrator Oliva, who was accused of complicity in the offense, have been released on $50,000 and $25,000 bail, respectively. The most influential Filipinos signed their bonds. The native press censured the Government for the arrests.

The trial by court-martial of Major Frank Carrington on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman was opened in Manila. Major Carrington, who is under sentence for forty years' imprisonment for the embezzlement of Government funds, pleaded not guilty.

Governor-General Northcote of the Commonwealth of Australia, will, it is said, invite Secretary of War Taft and a party to visit Australia during the party's approaching visit to the Philippines. The Commonwealth of Australia will offer to defray the entire expenses, it is said. The American Chamber of Commerce of Manila is preparing to entertain Secretary Taft and party on an extensive scale during their stay in Manila.

Competition among the managers of Honolulu hotels for the entertainment of patrons is spirited. One of them has hit on the expedient of giving his patrons—or at least those who desire to risk such sport—the excitement of shark hunting. A large party from one of the hotels was taken out in a gasoline launch recently and spent several hours in the pursuit of sharks that had been attracted by the carcass of a horse. A big shark was captured.

DOMESTIC.

Brooding over Russia's troubles, Harry Izenberg, who three months ago came to this country to escape service in the Czar's army, became insane and hanged himself at Rock Island, Ill.

The Democratic Club held a Jefferson Day dinner at the Waldorf, in New York City, at which ex-Judge Alton B. Parker was the chief speaker.

President Roosevelt's hunting trip in Oklahoma ended, and with his party he went to Colorado to hunt "big" game.

The bodies of thirty-five unidentified victims of the Grover shoe factory fire were buried in a single grave at Brockton, Mass.

In ill-health, Arthur Luteford, treasurer of the Mechanics' Savings Bank, at Rochester, N. Y., killed himself.

Rolla Wells, Democrat, was inaugurated for his second term as mayor of St. Louis, Mo.

Andrew Gurnea, the steel magnate, contributed to the fund in aid of Dr. Grenfell's Labrador mission.

The charge of conspiracy against Nnn Patterson was dropped by the District Attorney of New York County.

James H. Hyde, of New York City, Vice-President of the Equitable Life, restored to the society $122,000, representing his share of profits in the syndicate operations whereby securities were sold to the Equitable.

The New York Citizens' Union city convention voted to instruct its campaign committee for the renomination of District Attorney Jerome.

FOREIGN.

A dispatch to the Matin, of Paris, France, from Port de France, Martinique, says that the volcano of Mont Pele was again active and discharging molten metal. Flashes of light were seen at the crater and rumbling sounds were heard underground in the vicinity of the mountain.

Minister Barrett to Panama gave a banquet in honor of the Captain and officers of the German cruiser Falke.

The leaders of the Italian railroad employes have decided not to urge a general strike, unless the Government should have recourse to repressive measures or should apply the clauses of the Railroad bill providing for the dismissal of strikers.

The Finnish Estates have agreed to pay to the Russian Treasury $2,000,000 toward the military requirements for the year 1905 only. The proposal of the Russian Government was that this amount should be payable annually from 1905 to 1908.

Several torpedo boats which Lewis Nixon has been setting up at Sebastopol have been completed and shipped to Vladivostok.

A band of Bulgarians attacked the Monastery of Athanas, near Klissura, which was occupied by a Greek band. Fifteen Bulgarians were killed and the remainder fled to Zagorichani, to which place the Greeks pursued them, killing many and burning a number of houses. An engagement between Turks and Albanians has been fought near Prizren. The Albanians were defeated with the loss of thirty men killed.

Miss Rosser Christian went to Birmingham Tuesday returning home Wednesday.

Miss Mary Kroell, of Montevallo, visited with friends in the city several days last week.

Mrs. E. B. Nelson is visiting relatives and friends in North Carolina for a short time.

There will be services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning and at night.

We saw a lonely straw hat on the street Monday. The wearer looked liked he wanted an overcoat.

Prof. John M. Dye, who has been teaching at Dogwood, was a caller at The Sentinel last Saturday.

Teachers and pupils of the Columbiana Graded Schools are busy preparing for commencement.

Contractors will find a notice in this issue calling for bids to build a brick school house in Calera.

A large congregation was at the Presbyterian church last Sunday, and the Easter hat was there, too.

Miss Linnie Seale visited with relatives in the Spring Creek neighborhood several days last week.

A thirteen pound boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed.
Strickland last Friday morning.

Wilsonville, are among the patrons of our job department during the past week.

Judge D. R. McMillan and little son Dugald will leave next Monday for a visit with friends and relatives in Florida.

The perfume of the early onion would seem to indicate that spring is here, the recent frosts to the contrary notwithstanding.

Beginning with next Wednesday night the union prayer meeting will be held in the Baptist church during the month of May.

The county commissioners were in session Monday. They were here to consider the petitions asking for a special school tax election.

Mrs. Oscar Jones, after a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Abercrombie, returned to her home in Birmingham last week.

Miss Willie Rhodes, of Montevallo, a former employe of The Sentinel, was in the city several days last week visiting with Mrs.
H. E. Whitaker.

A girl's idea of a chump is a young fellow who insists on discus-ing the weather after she has taken care to see that other members of the family have retired early.

The Commercial club meets every Tuesday night until further notice.
Every member should try to be present at the meetings. You should take that much interest in the efforts being made to build up the town.

R. B. Posey, of Harpersville, was here Monday to attend the meeting of the commissioners. He paid
The Sentinel a pleasant call. He informs us that there will be Memorial Day exercises at Harpers-ville on May 13th.

By a notice elsewhere in this issue it will be seen that Calera is going to build a new school house, and is asking for bids from contractors. We are glad to see this evidence of prosperity upon the part of our sister town.

The building is to be of brick, and we are told it is to cost about five thousand dollars.

Young women, from eighteen to twenty-five years of age, who desire a three years' course in general hospital duty, may apply to Box
839, Birmingham A. A. Candidates must be well recommended, and of good standing in their community.

Remember that the Commercial Club meets every Tuesday night in its rooms in the Liles building. If you are a member you should not miss a meeting. Several things are in sight for Columbiana, and all should get a hold on the cord and pull.

J. W. Bandy, the druggist of Montevallo, was in the city several days last week on jury duty. Mr.
Bandy contemplates a trip through California and Oregon some time this summer. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call from him while here.

There came near being a disastrous fire in the store of the Columbiana Mercantile Co. last Monday. Some waste paper lying near one of the counters caught fire, it is supposed from a cigar stump or pipe, and when discovered it was burning sure enough. But for the timely discovery Columbiana might have had a disastrous fire.

In a letter to the Sentinel ordering subscription renewed for another year, Joseph Squire, of Helena writes: "I have been very sick with grip ever since February, but am some better now, although I still have the grip cough at night."
Mr. Squire has numerous friends all over the county, and all wish he may soon be restored to good health.

When a selfish, non-progressive citizen kicks against his own town and says that the efforts of those who are trying to do something for the town will come to no good, it is doubtful if his neighbors will take pains to tell him their real opinion of him. He may rest assured, however, that in the mind of the community he gets the rating that is coming to him.

Among the pleasant callers at
The Sentinel office during the latter part of last week was Dr. E. G.
Givhan, of Montevallo, one of the most prominent and popular physicians of this county. The doctor was here as a witness in court, and was very much put out as he had made arrangements to attend the annual meeting of the State Medical Association in Montgomery which was in session last week.

Mrs. A. J. Abercrombie died at her home in Leeds on Monday of last week, and was buried on Tuesday. Those who attended the funeral from here were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Abercrombie, Miss Emmie Abercrombie, Miss Beatrice Abercrombie, J. I. Abercrombie and Mrs. Oscar Jones. The deceased was 29 years old, and leaves a husband and two children—a son of 10 and a daughter of 8 years—to mourn her death. She was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, a good christian woman, a loving wife, an indulgent mother and kind neighbor. Her death is deeply mourned by all who knew her. Death was due to heart trouble.

In building a fire in a stove last Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Geo. Bird used some kerosene oil, and when she applied a match the flames burst out into her face, burning off her eye-lashes and eye brows and burning her face. In an endeavor to put out the fire her hands were badly burned. Mrs. Bird displayed great presence of mind, for although in a mass of flames for a short time she did not scream, did not run out of doors, and this, together with the fact that she had a shawl around her head, is all that saved her from serious if not fatal burning. She was taken to the home of her father, H. W. Nelson, that evening, and The Sentinel is glad to state that she has about recovered from the effects of her burns.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds, Dr. F. M.
Peterson and C. L. Meroney composed a trio of Montevallo business men who called on The Sentinel last Thursday. We are sorry to have missed seeing these Montevallo friends, but we were out of town. Capt Reynolds may well be termed the father of the Girls' Industrial School for it is doubtful if the school would ever have been located in Montevallo but for his efforts. Dr. Peterson is president of the Institution, and the fact that about 450 girls have been enrolled this session speaks well for his administration. Mr. Meroney is vice president of the Merchants' and Planters' bank. It is a pleasure to see any of our Montevallo friends.

Installation Service.

Next Sunday morning, Rev.
Joseph Duglison will be installed pastor of the Columbiana Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Walton, president of Isbell College,
Talladega, will preach the sermon.
All are invited.

Another Rural Route.

The Sentinel is in receipt of a letter from our congressman, Hon.
Sydney J. Bowie, in which he says:
"I am in receipt of notice of the establishment of another rural delivery route from Vincent with one carrier to commence Monday, May 15th, 1905. This, with routes previously established, puts your county in good condition, and shows that your people are beginning to appreciate the service."

The people of Farmer are anxious to hear about one which is petitioned for out of Shelby.

HARPERSVILLE.

Our school will close next week.

Did you just see those Easter hats
Sunday?

It is feared that the fruit crop is going to be a failure.

The second quarterly meeting of this circuit was held here Saturday and Sunday.

Dentist Johnson, of Cropwell, was in our community last week operating on teeth.

Earl Martin, of Birmingham, spent Saturday night and Sunday here with his father and mother.

Mrs. Robert Davis returned home
Friday from Quito where she spent a week with her parents and one "Bob" is all covered with smiles.

Early potatoes, peas, cabbage and all hardy vegetables have about recovered from the effects of the cold spell and are looking nicely

The woods are full of sweet smelling flowers. The mocking bird is singing his sweet summer song from the old yard trees, and all of this denotes that the old summer time will soon be here.

A Day at Montevallo.

The editor of The Sentinel spent a day in Montevallo last week, and it was like a visit home. For several years we made our home among the good people of that pretty town, and no years to us were ever more pleasant. The picturesque surroundings of Monte-vallo and the kindly hospitality of her people always makes one who has ever lived there, or who has ever visited there, wish to go back again, for "way down in the heart there's a feeling" for those good people. No little town in Alabama is better known than Montevallo, and since the coming of the Girls'
Industrial School to the place it has been prominent in the eyes of the people of the State. The school is a great institution, and from what we can learn is growing in the graces of the people of Alabama all the time, and this session more than 450 students have been enrolled. Capt. H. C.
Reynolds is, in a measure, responsible for its location in Montevallo —and it is a monument to the energy, the magnanimous spirit and the loyalty of this good man to the little town in which he has lived close to half a century. At the head of the institution is one of Alabama's noblemen—Dr. F. M.
Peterson; a conscientious, christian man, and who is doing a work among the young women of the State the value of which is beyond computation.

Montevallo, in a business way, is one of the best trading points in this section of the State. Few towns in Alabama, of like population, has more substantial business men, and nowhere is found better equipped stores. The merchants are wide-awake, progressive, and believe in keeping the best of everything in their respective lines.
They are accommodating so far as good business principles will admit, and the trade which comes to them is not at all spasmodic—every day bringing about the same amount of business to the town.

For a small town Montevallo is noted for its many pretty homes, and the people pride themselves in making their homes attractive.
The yards are kept neat, and many of them have floral adornment that would be a credit to towns of greater pretensions, while the people are among the best in the world. They make the stranger within their gates feel that he is not wholly a stranger, and the worthy person always finds the glad hand of welcome. To be with them once is to make one long to be with them again.

Among the business firms who have helped to make Montevallo, are C. L. Meroney & Co., Morgan Bros. Mercantile Co., Davies & Jeter, Mrs. M. Woolley, J. T. Ellis &
Co., J. W. Bandy, Geo. Kroell, Denson & Dawson, F. W. Rogan, the Merchants' and Planters' bank and Allen Bros. Among the professional men who are identified with the town are Hon. E. S. Lyman, who is mayor, Dr. E. G. Giv-han, Dr. D. L. Wilkinson, Dr. J. W.
Acker, Dr. Park and others. The Sentinel man has a most kindly feeling for all these good people—they are of the salt of the earth, and are deserving of everything good that may come to them.

Calera Items.

Too late for last week.

This is the pay week for the railroads, and from this source $2,600 will be distributed to their many employees at this place.

City marshal Harmon has a handsome baby boy, two weeks old, that weighs seventeen pounds. He thinks of naming him Dr. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin left Monday for an extended trip to the northwest. Their first stop will be St. Louis, and from there to Pike's Peak and other places.

Mayor Oliver is pushing the school house enterprise, and no doubt the new building will be ready for occupancy by the time for the opening of next term.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Gunn and little daughter, Julia, will leave Friday, 21st, for a few days at Pensacola, Fla., where they will see the town and the great war vessels of the U. S. navy.

The Shelby County Medical Society, composed as it is of the best doctors of the county, spent a profitable and pleasant day here last Tuesday, though they missed the genial Dr. DuBose of your city.

Frank Stocking, Mrs. Stocking and son Ralph are visiting Mrs.
Joseph Teague on North Montgomery avenue. Frank formerly resided in Calera and will, no doubt be kindly remembered by the base ball players of a dozen years ago.

Joseph O. Aronson, of this place has returned to his father's com-missionary from the great city of Chicago. Joe's friends were so glad to see him that they gave him a ride last Sunday behind a spanking

The County Commissioners of Bibb and Shelby counties will meet at Montevallo on the 10th day of May in joint session, in regard to the dividing line between the two counties. There is considerable dissatisfaction the way the present line runs, but there is liable to be more if it is changed. It will do the two courts good to meet in joint session. Suppose we meet with them, Brother Whitaker.—

State Sunday School Convention
Birmingham, Apr. 25-27.

The basis of representation is:
Five delegates from the county at large, all ministers of the gospel, the superintendent and two other delegates from each school in the county. Each school elects its own delegates.

I hereby appoint as delegates at large for Shelby county:
J. F. Pope, Wilsonville,
H. C. Reynolds, Montevallo,
W. E. Lester, Calvary,
Miss Kittie Avery, Shelby,
Miss Zemma Pitts, Columbiana.
The names of all delegates desiring free entertainment should be sent to R. F. Lewis, Chairman Entainment Committee, Birmingham.
The railroads have granted a reduced rate of one and one-third fare plus 25 cents for the round trip.
SPRIGG DOWELL,
President for Shelby County.

Joseph Jefferson, the great actor, died at West Palm Beach, Fla., last Sunday night, aged 76 years.
He was the dean of the dramatic profession in this country, and his great reputation was made in Rip Van Winkle, and which he had played in almost every city in this country. He had charmed thousands in the quaint character of Rip, and thousands will sincerely mourn his death.

The Sentinel believes that Hon.
John B. Knox, of Anniston, will be chosen to fill the next vacancy from Alabama in the United States Senate. Mr. Knox is one of the brainiest men in the South, and if he is sent to the senate the people will not only honor him, but the State will be honored as well.

Bids Wanted.

Calera, Ala., April 18, 1905.
Sealed proposals will be received until May the 23rd for the construction of a brick school house for the city of Calera.
Plans and specifications can be seen in the office of the chairman in Calera after May 5.
The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.
J. H. Givhan, Chairman.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, as trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of J. A. Nichols & Company, J. A. Nichols and
P. T. Pitts in accordance with an order of the Hon. Jennings J. Pierce, Referee in Bankruptcy, made on to-wit, the 11 day of April, 1905, will sell the herein described property at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the storehouse located on said property between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. on Tuesday, the 24 day of May, 1905, the following property, to-wit:
"A certain house and lot in the town of Vi-cent, Shelby county, Alabama, being the house and lot formerly owned by E. L. Chandler and now occupied by W. H. Sudd & Son, Druggists, at Vincent, Alabama, being all the property formerly owned or in possession of J.
A. Nichols & Co., of Vincent, Alabama."

Application to Sell Real Estate.

The State of Alabama, ss. Probate Court,
Shelby county.
Estate of Mary A. Jos. L. and Ella Wilson
Peters, minors.
This day came J. L. Peters, guardian of said estates and filed his application in due form and under oath, praying for an order of sale of certain lands described therein, belonging to said estate, for the purpose of maintenance and education upon the ground that the income of said minors is insufficient for their education and maintenance.
It is ordered that the 17th day of April, 1905, be appointed for hearing of said application, at which time all parties in interest can appear and contest the same, if they think proper.

It cannot be denied that the death rate in the second city in the world is much higher in proportion to the population than in the first, says the New York Tribune. The loss of young lives seems to be excessively large in Manhattan and Brooklyn.

One of the largest, oldest and most interesting cities in the United States was recently overtaken by grave misfortune. Nearly two centuries have elapsed since Blenville laid the foundations of New Orleans, the population of which is today more numerous than that of any other place south of St. Louis and east of the Rocky Mountains. Before the Civil War it was famous, as it is now, for the exportation of what has long been the leading product of the Gulf States.

Recently a quaint old epigram has been revived and given wide circulation: "There is so much bad in the best of us and so much good in the worst of us that it behooves each one of us to have charity for the rest of us." In confirmation of this homely truth, says the Atlanta Journal, comes the assertion of Judge Cowing, of the New York court of general sessions, that in his twenty-seven years' experience on the bench, sitting at the edge of the never-ceasing stream of crime and vice and evil, he has "found in every man more to praise than to condemn."

Labor News Notes.

Wilkesbarre (Pa.) Court House stonecutters struck against the "open shop."

A general strike of ice and coal wagon drivers was instituted in St. Louis, Mo.

Brewery coopers, about 350 in all, went on strike in Milwaukee, Wis., for a wage increase.

The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America has made wonderful strides in the two years of its existence.

Four hundred ironworkers in Cincinnati, Ohio, went on strike because their demand for more pay and an eight-hour day was refused.

Emile Zola's widow has offered the villa at Medan as a home for retired women employees of the French Charity Bureau.

In memory of King Humbert, Queen Margherita of Italy has built a library on the top of Pic d'Orden, in the Alps.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cass Goddard, one of the most prominent women of Colorado, has been appointed a deputy sheriff of Paso County.

Every time anything worth printing occurs in Russia the officials suspend the newspapers, declares the Baltimore Sun.

CUBAN MINISTER TO THE U. S. Recommends Pe-ru-na

Senator Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States.

Senator Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States, is an orator born. In an article in The Outlook for July, 1899, by George Kennan, who heard Quesada speak at the Esteban Theatre, Matanzas, Cuba, he said: "I have seen many audiences under the spell of eloquent speech and in the grip of strong emotional excitement; but I have rarely witnessed such a scene as at the close of Quesada's eulogy upon the dead patriot, Martí." In a letter to The Peru-na Medicine Company, written from Washington, D. C., Senator Quesada says:

"Peruna I can recommend as a very good medicine. It is an excellent strengthening tonic, and it is also an efficacious cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."—Gonzalo De Quesada.

Congressman J. H. Bankhead, of Alabama, one of the most influential members of the House of Representatives, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., gives his endorsement to the great catarrh remedy, Peruna, in the following words:

"Your Peruna is one of the best medicines I ever tried, and no family should be without your remarkable remedy. As a tonic and catarrh cure, I know of nothing better."—J. H. Bankhead.

SIAMESE TWINS OUTDONE.

Two Bohemian Sisters Have But One Body Between Them.

Cases of twin children joined together at some part of the body are very rare, of course, but a dozen or so of them have been recorded by medical science. One of the most curious if not the most curious ever known is that of the two Bohemian sisters Rosa and Josefa Blazek, who are now being exhibited in London, and who are merged together at the back, having thus a body in common, but each with her own head and limbs independent.

In the case several years ago of the Hindu sisters who were joined together by a small ligament, one of them was suffering from consumption. The French surgeons cut the coupling, and though the afflicted one died, the other is still living in good health. In several other cases, however, the cutting of the bond has resulted in the death of both twins.

In the present instance it is out of the question to separate Rosa and Josefa, for they can boast of only one set of internal machinery. Strange to say, the two girls who are 26 years old, differ materially in looks, likes and general character. In taste, temperament and intellect they differ far more widely than is often the case with twins who do not share their corporeal existence. Rosa is fond of sweet things, while Josefa does not care for them; Rosa is restless and animated, and endowed with abundance of nerves, while Josefa is of a more sedate disposition and disposed to take life easy.

Josefa is the taller and stouter of the two, and is fuller in the face. In their childhood days their existence was one of eternal variance, and quarrels between them were frequent. They generally ended in Rosa, the stronger-willed of the pair, getting her way. Now they are reconciled to each other, but Rosa is still regarded by her sister as the head of the firm.

The two girls have never looked each other in the face, being back to back. It is said that the French court held them to be two persons in law, and required them to pay two fares on the railroad. They can both play on the violin and in their public appearance they play duets together.

Barnum and Bailey several years ago exhibited a pair of Korean twins who were joined by a ligament near the waist. These boys also showed a considerable disparity in person and character. The most famous combination of the sort, however, was the Siamese twins, Eng and Chang, born of Chinese parents in Siam in 1811. They also were joined by an elastic ligament in the region of the chest.

They were brought to this country in 1829, and they made a world-wide sensation. They finally married two ladies and settled in the south, and as the doctors were afraid to cut them apart they made a treaty under which they lived alternately with the two wives, a week at a time. They lived till 1874, when they died at the age of 63, within a few minutes of each other. If the ligament which joined them was touched at the middle point, both could feel it, but if at one side or the other, only the one nearest felt the sensation.

Overdid His Kindness.

A young and kind-hearted broker, of whom the New York Sun tells, recently proved to his own dissatisfaction that the way of the benefactor may have as many unexpected turns as that of the transgressor.

The young broker had a Danish "treasure" named Helma in his kitchen. Her cooking was so perfect that he was the envy of all his acquaintances, even those who had high-priced chefs in their kitchens. The broker often told his wife that they must "do something for the girl; she deserved it." At last he saw an opportunity.

"Helma," he said to her one morning after breakfast, "if you have any money laid by, and will trust me with it, I'll double it for you today."

Helma gladly entrusted her savings—two hundred and fifty dollars—to her master, and that night he handed her back five hundred dollars, with a pleased, "There you are, Helma!"

A few weeks later he repeated the act, and when he gave her the substantial roll of bills he told her that she would be comfortable for life if she put her money in a savings bank and added to it now and then. When Helma thanked him, with tears in her blue eyes, he felt truly glad that he had been able to do it for her, and he was perfectly sincere.

Not long afterward Helma came to the broker and his wife and said she was sorry, because they had been so good to her, but it was impossible to stay with them longer; she had come to give notice.

When the broker questioned her, Helma explained that she was going back to Denmark to live on the money he had made for her. "A thousand dollars is much more money in my country," said Helma, simply.

A 'Longshore Chef.

For a quarter of a century the same purveyor has appeased the hunger of the brawny freight handlers on the Manhattan shore of the North River. "Roly-Poly," as this rotund caterer is locally known, has his avocation firmly established. The longshoremen are with him to a man. His wagon does duty along the water front night as well as day. Rarely is he asked to trust, but when he is so requested a "regular" is never refused. Rugged honesty impels a square deal in exchange for a square meal. His bill of fare is naturally humble, and his prices in keeping.

In foul weather or fair he's the same sunny chef. Taking position at central points, he instructs his assistants where to deliver his wares. When a gang is at work, the relay system is followed, as there is no such luxury as meal hour known to freight handlers in action.—New York Press.

Leading Him On.

She—Have you ever heard, Mr. Slowman, that it is better to return a kiss for a blow?

He (failing to catch her meaning)—Why, yes, but I don't understand.

She (coily)—Don't you remember that I boxed your ears last night!

STATE HAPPENINGS

Of General and Local Interest as They Occur.

A Shooting Affray.
Birmingham, Ala.—In a pistol duel at 9 o'clock Thursday morning on Twentieth street, near Railroad avenue, in which each participant emptied his revolver, W. A. Denson, an attorney-at-law, was twice wounded, once in the neck and once in the left leg, by R. L. Leatherwood, another attorney.

Mr. Denson, who is a son of Col. W. Denson, a noted lawyer, politician and soldier, was promptly taken to Hillman hospital, where his wounds, though painful, are not necessarily fatal, were dressed.

Mr. Leatherwood was promptly arrested by Policeman Richardson and taken to the city prison. Later in the day W. F. Carter, a deputy constable, at the request of Mr. Denson's brother, swore out a warrant before Justice of the Peace R. L. Williams, charging Leatherwood with assault with intent to murder. Leatherwood was then transferred to the county jail, his bond being fixed at $2,500, which he made.

Raid on Lottery.

Mobile, Ala.—On information from federal authorities at San Francisco warrants were issued by the United States court for the seizure of a package of lottery tickets of the Mexican state lottery, shipped by Southern Express to L. Jackson, this city, and also for the seizure of lottery papers in the office of Jackson.

United States Marshal Deans secured the tickets on the warrant and raided Jackson's place, where lists of past drawings, blank applications for tickets and names of hundreds of patrons and other printed matter was secured and removed to the marshal's office.

New Plan Launched.

Gadsden, Ala.—A declaration of incorporation was filed in the probate office here for the Benevolent Order Sons of the South, which marks the birth of a most important institution. The incorporation is purely mutual and is in the nature of an endowment and sick and accident benefit association. The charter members are among the best people of the city and state.

The object of the association is to afford a safe and feasible method whereby young men and others may save small sums monthly and after a stated time withdraw the amount which they have saved with interest. A sick and accident benefit is also connected with the order. The social side provides for a secret order. The promoters expect to see it expand and grow rapidly.

Track Being Torn Up.

LaFayette, Ala.—The LaFayette railway is a thing of the past. Thursday night all the rolling stock except a few flat cars and a locomotive were spirited away to Opelika, to return no more. At an early hour Thursday morning the section gangs united at this place and began drawing spikes, taking up rails and cross-ties and loading some on flat cars, and this work has been pushed rapidly down the line Thursday.

It is generally understood here that a deal will be consummated as soon as the road is dismantled, but nothing official is given out concerning the matter. This line connecting LaFayette and Opelika was constructed and put into operation by LaFayette business men and LaFayette capital about ten years ago, and the enterprise has been a great favorite with the people of LaFayette and surrounding country, and deep regret is expressed on every side on account of the services on this line being discontinued.

District of Columbia Census.

Washington, D. C.—A police census of the District of Columbia just completed shows a population of 322,445, being an increase of 43,727 over the federal census of 1900. Of this population 227,607 is white.

Investigating Indian Mounds.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—The "Gopher," the private steamer of a party of scientists from the North, arrived here from Moundsville, where the party has been engaged in exploring the Indian mounds in that territory. The party consisted of Clarence H. Moore and Drs. Miller and McDonald, all from Philadelphia. They came up as far as Tuscaloosa to take the train here, having finished their explorations, and have left for their homes. The boat which they have been using will be sent back to Pensacola to await their further use next winter, when they will resume their relic searches.

Hail Two Inches in Diameter.

Bessemer, Ala.—Bessemer and vicinity was visited by a severe hail storm, the hail being very heavy in many places, injuring gardens and knocking off fruit. The hail stones were large, several measured being two inches in diameter, and from the height of the cloud the stones falling with such force as to break windows and cause horses to run away.

Soil Survey Completed.

Blount Springs, Ala.—W. G. Smith and Fred N. Meeker of the United States department of agriculture, who have been in Blount county the past ten months conducting a soil survey of that area, have concluded their work and forwarded same to the authorities at Washington.

The bulletin containing their work will be issued by the department in the near future.

Officials Are Reinstated.

Mobile, Ala.—F. E. Dewey and A. N. Bullitt, whose resignation as general manager and chief engineer of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City railroad were demanded on Monday, have been reinstated in their positions. Heads of departments who were released when Dewey and Bullitt went out were also taken back. President Bird M. Robinson has gone to New York, where, it is said, he will take the matter of the resignation of Dewey and Bullitt before the board of directors.

Purchase Coal Lands.

Jasper, Ala.—W. E. Leake and Peyton Norvell, known coal mine operators, have made a big purchase of valuable coal lands located on the Northern Alabama railway near Nauvoo. It is said that the purchase embraces about five thousand acres, and it is the purpose of the purchasers to develop their property at once. They will open mines on these lands, which contain one of the most valuable seams of coal in the entire district. There is much activity in mineral land trading in the section around Nauvoo, and it is destined to become one of the most prosperous sections of the country.

A Serious Cutting.

Gadsden, Ala.—There was a serious cutting affray in Gadsden Thursday night about 10 o'clock in which Charles Rakestraw, a hotel-keeper of Cadartown, Ga., was badly carved up by Luke Parks, a local bartender.

Mr. Parks is said to have been drinking heavily for the past week or two, and Wednesday night he went up to his room over Spoon Motlow's saloon, and found Rakestraw, who was also drinking, in his bed. Parks attempted to rouse Rakestraw out of bed and in this manner, it is said, a fight was precipitated, in which Rakestraw's throat was cut and he was stabbed in the left side.

Policemen arrested Parks and physicians were called to sew up the cut on Rakestraw. While the wounds are dangerous it is not thought they will prove fatal.

Candy Concern Burns Out.

Selma, Ala.—The estimated losses of the fire at the American Candy Manufacturing Company foots up $21,500, with the insurance about $16,000, divided as follows: L. M. Hooper building, total loss $5,000, insurance $3,000; Mrs. J. A. McKinnon, adjoining building, $2,000, fully covered; Spencer building, $1,000, fully covered; E. B. Martin building, $500, fully covered; candy factory, machinery, and stock, $10,000, insurance $7,000; Atkins Grocery Company, water damage $3,000.

New Corporations Reported.

Montgomery, Ala.—The following new corporations have been reported to the secretary of state:

Sheffield Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company, Sheffield, capital $500,000. Incorporators: J. W. Worthington, S. B. McTyler and S. McGaughey.

Huntsville Bagging and Tie Company, Huntsville; capital $5,000. Incorporators: Isaac Shieffman and others.

New Market Banking Company, New Market, capital $10,000. Incorporators: H. L. Davis and associates.

Hainan Cable Cut.

London, Eng.—The correspondent at Hong Kong of the Daily Mail states that the cable to Hainan has been cut, presumably by the Russian squadron, to conceal the movements of the vessels there.

Engineers Go to Riverton, Ala.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—A party of United States engineers passed through this city en route for Riverton and Decatur, Ala. They came to this city by rail and left on the United States steamer Colbert for down river points. Riverton, Ala., will be the first stop.

Small Fire in the White House.

Washington, D. C.—One of the chimneys in the executive offices of the White House caught fire Saturday but practically no damage resulted. One engine responded, but the blaze was extinguished by a few buckets of water. A fire, started in all the open grates of the offices, caused the blaze in the chimney.

Thrown From Vehicle.

Guin, Ala.—J. H. Riley, an old and respected citizen of this town, was very painfully injured by an accident here while attempting to get into a vehicle with B. L. Cantrell.

The horse became frightened at Mr. Riley and ran away, running the vehicle against a shade tree, throwing both to the ground.

Mr. Riley was pretty badly bruised about the face, one cut above the right eye, and tongue cut.

KILLED IN A MINE SHAFT

Half a Score of Men Dropped Four Hundred Feet.

Corrygham Mine at Wilkesbarre, Pa., the Scene of the Disaster—Bodies Recovered.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Ten miners were killed by the fall of the cage in the Corrygham Mine of the Delaware and Hudson Company's workings, in the northern district of the city.

The men were being lowered to a medium vein, when, 350 feet below the surface, the wire rope snapped and the cage dropped 400 feet.

As the news of the disaster flew through the sections occupied by miners crowds of women and children, screaming and weeping, ran to the shaft opening, where the most distressing scenes were witnessed. Rescue parties finally recovered the terribly mangled bodies.

The accident took place shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning. Several hundred men had been lowered to the various veins, and there were 200 men still waiting when the fatal trip began. There had been no trouble with the machinery, and when the engineer started the cage down it went smoothly. He received the signal to stop at Hillman vein, 350 feet from the mouth of the shaft.

As he was slowing up for the landing the rope parted.

The safety guide supposed in such cases to hold the carriage did not work and was ripped out with the guides. Once clear of these the carriage bounded from side to side of the rock-ribbed shaft, and when it reached the bottom so terribly had it been battered that it was a mass of splintered wood and twisted iron. The victims were doubtless all killed during the fall.

The foot tenders heard the frightful crashing, but could do nothing but wait to see the whole mass fall into the sump. The shaft was so badly torn that rock and timber continued falling for some time.

The men on the surface were immediately apprised of the accident by the rebound of the wire rope. They at once formed rescue parties and hurried into the mine by the emergency openings.

As no one remembered the men who had entered the cage, and as several hundred had gone into the mine, the identity of some of the victims was unknown. Whether the rope had been already entered the workings, being aware of the disaster, made their way to the surface by other exits. They appeared by twos and threes, and were immediately surrounded by the frantic women, a few of whom uttered cries of joy, while the others returned to their watch.

Crowds of the merely curious also hurried to the scene, until the surrounding hills were black with people.

The iron bodies were finally dug out of a mass of mud, wreckage and debris and brought to the surface. The mutilation, in every case, was extreme.

An investigation to fix the responsibility was at once started by Mine Inspector Martin. Whether the rope had been worn partly through, or whether the engineer stopped so suddenly that the strain caused the break, is not known. General Manager Ross, of the company, who took charge of the work of recovering the bodies, said that William Cunningham, the engineer, was one of the most reliable of the employees. Cunningham's foot was unable to account for the accident.

Eight of the victims were Poles. Charles Rochel and Frank Barney were the English speaking miners who were killed.

This is the third accident of a similar nature that has occurred in the Wyoming region within six months. In each case the rope attached to the carriage broke and the men on the vehicle were dashed to the bottom of the shaft and instantly killed. The first disaster occurred at the Auchincloss mine, where ten miners lost their lives. Six weeks ago a cage at the Clear Springs colliery fell and seven men were killed.

PRISONER SHOT BY MOB.

Louisiana Lynchers Tunnel Into Jail and Fire Through the Bars.

Shreveport, La.—After working three hours with sledge hammers and picks, twenty-five men broke to the Parish Jail at Homer, La., and shot Dick Craighead, inflicting many wounds. Craighead was charged with the murder of Mrs. Isaac McKee, wife of Craighead's half brother, and her little son.

Every telephone and telegraph wire out of Homer was cut, and the rifles of the Claiborne Guards were seized before the attack was made on the jail. Having dug a hole through the brick wall the mob crawled through the opening, but on reaching the steel cell in which the prisoner was confined, found it impossible to break the lock. The lynchers then began shooting at the prisoner through the bars of the cell. More than twenty shots were fired, and nearly every one took effect. Believing that Craighead was dead the lynchers left the prison and dispersed.

CAIR'S NEW ENVOY TO CHINA

M. Pokotloff, Manager of Russo-Chinese Bank, Appointed.

St. Petersburg, Russia.—M. Pokotloff, formerly manager of the Russo-Chinese Bank at Peking, and now managing director of that institution, has been appointed Minister to China, in succession to the late Paul Lessar.

CENTRAL MOTOR'S SPEED.

Attains Eighty-three Miles an Hour—New Haven Road Men at Test.

Schenectady, N. Y.—In the presence of a party of visiting officials from the New York, New Haven and Hartford and Northern Pacific Railroad companies, the electric locomotive recently built for the New York Central terminal service, between Croton and New York, broke all its previous records. It attained a speed of eighty-three miles an hour, pulling a heavy train.

TWENTY-ONE KILLED

Texas Tornado Almost Razes Laredo—Call for Help for Homeless and Injured.

FINE SEMINARY BLOWN DOWN.

Damage Extends Over the Whole City and Telegraphic Communication Is Entirely Cut Off.

Laredo, Tex.—Later details from the tornado which struck this city Saturday evening indicate that first reports were by no means exaggerated, either as to the number of lives sacrificed or the financial damage resulting. Scores of people were injured and are being attended by the various physicians.

It will be impossible to state the number of the injured, but it is not believed that many deaths will result from injuries.

The number killed is sixteen in this city. Among the dead are:

Juan Guerrero, aged 46.
Julia Guerrero, aged 22.
Savania Guerrero, aged 22.
Guerrero, missing.

Unknown man, servant Laredo seminary.

Palitio Uricio, aged 56.
Juanita Jaramilla, aged 13.
Unknown man, employed in the Bruno hotel.

S. Munoz, aged 50.
Three members of a family named Trejo.

One woman and two boys, aged 8 and 9 years respectively, named Barrera.

Miss Gayetan, aged 17 years.

Four of the first mentioned were employed on the ranch of George Woodman. They were all crushed to death by the falling in of the heavy walls of the adobe house which they occupied. The others mentioned in the list met their fate in a like manner. The damage wrought at the Laredo seminary is severe. Not one of the group of magnificent buildings which go to make up that institution escaped damage. The barracks, the primary building, Emery hall and the chapel were damaged 50 to 75 per cent. The escape from death of the teachers at present quartered in the institution is considered miraculous, as the walls of some of the buildings which they occupied were completely demolished. Mrs. Easley, one of the teachers, was heroically rescued by several young cadets, students of the institution. They lowered her by a rope from a second story. She was badly bruised.

The Mexican National hospital building had the roof lifted from the edifice and it will require much time to replace the building for patients.

Whole Town Has Suffered.

A trip through the town fails to show a locality that has not suffered more or less from the storm. Trees, fences, telegraph and telephone poles, corrugated roofs, chimneys and walls and debris of all imaginable kinds strew the streets.

The city authorities have set diligently at work cleaning away the wreckage of the storm, and at a late hour the city is beginning to assume its customary tranquil appearance. Linemen are at work endeavoring to straighten out the tangle of wires, and it is believed that within two days the electric light service can be resumed. It is hoped to re-establish telegraphic communication, at least partially within two days.

Conditions in New Laredo, across the Rio Grande river, are similar to those existing on this side. It is not officially known how many dead or injured there are, but in an interview tonight, a city official of that place stated there were five dead that he knew of, although rumor has it that ten lives were lost. The five known dead added to the list of dead on this side of the river would bring the number of dead in both cities up to twenty-one persons.

The storm made its appearance from the southwest in the neighborhood of Lampasas, Mexico, 72 miles from this city, and it is reported that great havoc was wrought in that locality, although it is not thought that any loss of life resulted.

Dr. H. J. Hamilton, of the United States marine hospital service, has placed 150 tents with bedding, etc., at the disposal of the homeless.

Mayor Appeals for Aid.

Austin, Tex.—The following communication from Mayor Sanchez, of Laredo, addressed to Governor Lanham, was received:

"Laredo appeals to you and through you to the good people of Texas for immediate aid in our great misfortune of last evening. The cyclone wrought untold damage to this city. Several lives were lost and distressing conditions prevail. It is impossible just now to state the extent of the loss of life and the damage to property, but we have seen enough to satisfy us that we need immediate assistance to relieve the suffering and the homeless."

In response to this request Governor Lanham issued a general appeal for help, expressing the wish that Texas in general would be liberal and prompt in their help.

Gen. Fitz Lee Dead.

Washington, D. C.—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, United States army, retired, and one of Virginia's foremost sons, died at the Providence hospital here Friday night from an attack of apoplexy, which he suffered early Friday morning on a train while en route from Boston to Washington.

After General Lee had been removed to the hospital it was evident to the attending physicians that his case was a serious one, but they believed that his strong vitality and will power would assist materially in at least a partial recovery from the attack. His condition remained fair, considering the severity of the attack during the day, but shortly after 9 o'clock he began to grow weaker, his breathing became more rapid and his pulse lower, terminating in less than two hours in death.

The end was peaceful and without pain, the general remaining conscious until five minutes of the end. Half an hour before death General Lee recognized his brother, Daniel, who came into the room for a moment.

In the room where he died were Dr. Montgomery, one of the physicians at the hospital, Miss Dorsey, a relative and a nurse, two of the attending physicians, Drs. Edie and Kean, having retired temporarily. A pathetic feature of the case is that although General Lee was blessed with a family consisting of a wife and five children, not one of them was with him at the time of his death. The general was 68 years of age.

Postoffice Appointments.

Washington, D. C.—Postmasters appointed: Eliza, Jackson county, Sarah E. Smith; Pruittton, Lauderdale county, Albert S. Good; Durrow, Pickens county, James D. Duckworth; John M. Thompson, Mountsboro, Etowah county, vice L. M. White, removed.

Humphrey, substitute.

Bank Is Robbed.

Fort Worth, Tex.—A special from Shawnee, Okla., says that at Kendrick, thirty-five miles north of Shawnee, on the Santa Fe railroad, the Kendrick state bank was entered by robbers. Two men stood guard outside. The robbers were discovered at their work at the state bank, and a fight between the guards and citizens began. The noise of firing attracted other citizens. A lively fusillade occurred in which one citizen was hurt, but not fatally. The robbers escaped toward the south, carrying between $450 and $500 about $60 in nickels and the rest in silver.

They rode south and then returned into Indian Territory. Bloodhounds are to be brought to Kendrick from Wichita to be used in the chase.

Fort Worth, Tex.—A special from Shawnee, Okla., says that at Kendrick, thirty-five miles north of Shawnee, on the Santa Fe railroad, the Kendrick state bank was entered by robbers. Two men stood guard outside. The robbers were discovered at their work at the state bank, and a fight between the guards and citizens began. The noise of firing attracted other citizens. A lively fusillade occurred in which one citizen was hurt, but not fatally. The robbers escaped toward the south, carrying between $450 and $500 about $60 in nickels and the rest in silver.

New Field of Counterfeiting.

San Francisco, Cal.—John E. Wilkie, chief of the secret service, is here on his way to the Philippines to investigate the counterfeiting of American silver coins. The work is supposed to be done by Filipinos and Chinese. It has grown to such an extent that the business of the islands is being seriously menaced. Chief Wilkie will organize a large secret force to break up the gangs of counterfeiters and on his way to the Philippines will stop over in Honolulu where a branch of the secret service is about to be established.

Earth Shocks Felt in France.

Lyons, France.—Earth shocks were felt here and at Pontarlier and Gex between 2 and 3 o'clock Saturday morning.

Senator Bacon Sails.

New York.—United States Senator Bacon, of Georgia, sailed for Europe Saturday on the steamer Princess Irene.

Policeman Shot.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—In a pistol duel on a crowded street here Saturday night, after ten shots were fired between Policemen James Harris and Nelson Brokton and Harry Tracy, a noted negro outlaw, all three were wounded, and it is feared that Harris' wounds may prove fatal.

Vessel Loaded With Phosphate.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Further news was received from the wrecked steamship Gaidiano, which sunk Thursday night at the entrance of Willacoochee river. The cargo on board consisted of 3,000 tons of hard rock phosphate and was bound for Manchester, England. Mr. Sudlow, Lloyd's agent, will proceed to the wreck to see what the chance is for saving the cargo and raising the vessel, both being heavily insured through Lloyd's.

MILWAUKEE BANKER SHORT

Frank G. Bigelow, President of First National, Confessed Defaulter.

LOSES $1,500,000 SPECULATING

Arrested at His Home on Charge of Embezzlement and Later Released on Twenty-five Thousand Dollars Bail—Henry G. Goll, Assistant Cashier, His Tool.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Frank G. Bigelow, President of the First National Bank, and last year President of the American Bankers' Association, is a confessed defaulter to the extent of about $1,300,000.

He was arrested charged with the embezzlement of over $100,000 of the bank's funds and released in $25,000 bail to appear before the next Federal Grand Jury. A warrant was also to have been issued for Henry G. Goll, one of the assistant cashiers.

The First National Bank will weather the storm. Leading business men signed and issued a statement saying that they would subscribe a total of $1,035,000 to make good the shortage.

In anticipation of a run, Chicago came to the aid of local institutions with $2,000,000 in currency, one of which was in the First National Bank before the news of the defalcation became known.

Speculated in Wheat.

It appears that Mr. Bigelow has been speculating in wheat for weeks. He had made some investments that had swept away his private fortune, and had turned to the bank's funds in the hope of recuperating his losses by deals in wheat. His son, Gordon Bigelow, was a member of Tracy & Co., brokers on the Chicago Board, and it is said that his father's investments were largely made through him.

When the bank's funds were to be used Mr. Bigelow, according to the directors, effected a combination with some bookkeepers and the assistant cashier, Henry G. Goll. He took the bank's surplus and charged up the money taken to Chicago correspondent banks, but the other night, while working on the books, a bookkeeper not in the deal, discovered an incorrect entry. He notified Charles F. Pfister, of the Pfister & Vogel Company, one of the directors of the bank, and a meeting of the directors was called, when steps were taken to prevent a collapse.

Bigelow was asked to explain, and made a full confession. Chicago banks were notified, and the bank officials provided means for meeting the run which was certain. Before the public knew of the shortage $1,000,000 reached here; then, when the run was in full swing, heavily guarded automobiles brought from the railway stations another million sent by Chicago to prevent a panic.

It looked as though the alarm would spread to other banks, but so carefully had the First National prepared for the event that the fears were largely allayed. There was something of a jam at the doors, but the police kept the crowd orderly.

Glass cutters chipped a hole in a big plate glass front window of the bank, and deposits were received in full view of the crowd on the streets.

The full amount appropriated by Mr. Bigelow was $1,500,000, but he has made restitution in the shape of real estate and securities sufficient to reduce the amount to $1,300,000. The Board of Directors decided to meet the issue in a straightforward manner, and formulated a pledge, which was immediately signed by members of the board, whose aggregate wealth will probably approximate $25,000,000, to more than make good the shortage.

The capital stock of the bank is $1,500,000, and the undivided surplus amounts to $1,200,000. The personal guarantee of the directors more than covers the defalcation, and with the surplus and undivided profits which the bank carries over and the new capital, it is announced that the institution is more solid than it was before the defalcation became known. Charles F. Pfister heads the guarantee list with $600,000.

TRAIN BURIED IN TUNNEL.

Four Killed in Wreck on the Union Pacific West of Cheyenne, Wyo.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—The engineer and fireman, a brakeman and an unknown tramp were killed in a wreck at Edison Tunnel, on the Union Pacific, about 100 miles west of Cheyenne, when the west approach of the tunnel caved in and buried a portion of the train under thousands of tons of earth and rock. The rest of the train hit the wreck, completely choking the long tunnel.

Relief trains, with wrecking outfits, steam shovels and hundreds of laborers, were hurried to the scene from Rawlins and Laramie.

EARTHQUAKE IN ENGLAND.

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

The News is "Techerous."

The Birmingham News takes in a very serious manner the following little bit of pleasantry from The Sentinel of two weeks ago:

"Birmingham is getting uppity. She entertained a real live baron (and not a coal baron either) this week."

In commenting upon that little item, and which was written as a pleasantry, the News says: "Of course our esteemed contemporary did not intend to depreciate Birmingham. Everybody in Alabama is proud of this city. It has made a record of which Alabamians have reason to be proud * * * Birmingham did entertain a real live baron and was glad to extend a genuine Southern hospitality to the distinguished visitor. But Birmingham didn't get 'uppity' over it." And there is no reason why the News should take umbrage at what was said. In its comment, the News says: "Of course the people of Alabama appreciate that the real causes are natural advantages and an enterprising citizenry. But even right here in Alabama occasionally a man is found who does not seem to realize how rapidly Birmingham has developed into a great city. For instance the editor of the Columbiana Sentinel says," and follows the item from this paper.

True, the editor of The Sentinel may "not seem to realize how rapidly Birmingham has developed into a great city," but he has frequently referred to its "rapid development and growth" and believes it to be one of the great cities in the South, and of which "all Alabamians are proud," but that does not justify the News in getting rough around the edges over a little pleasantry.

The News apparently is "techerous" upon the subject of Birmingham, and inclines us to the belief that that excellent journal is a little uppity as well. Birmingham is a great city, the News is one of the South's greatest papers and for that reason should not sit down so hard upon the utterances of its Reuben friend of this neck o' the woods. Like the cat to the king: we may look but keep still.

We Like Alabama Best.

The editor of The Sentinel recently received an eighteen hundred dollar a year proposition from California, but he likes Alabama best.—Columbiana Sentinel.

Here is an editor who turns down a good proposition in California because he likes Alabama best. We are of the opinion that Editor Whitaker will never regret his decision to remain in Alabama. He is giving the people of his county a good paper, and they are going to further evidence their appreciation of his efforts. "But he likes Alabama best." That sounds good, and is a compliment to our great State, and shows that the writer believes in the future possibilities of the State, and is willing to risk his future here. Whitaker has done just what The Press would have advised.—Centerville Press.

Tribute to the South.

At the Jefferson Day banquet held in New York last Thursday night, Judge Alton B. Parker, late democratic nominee for president in his speech paid the following tribute to the South:

"Surprise is sometimes expressed that the South has remained solid, and yet no student, whatever his prejudices, can overlook the fact, that in politics there is a sense of gratitude, not for favors unexpected, but for unselfish and commanding services to humanity, nothing in all the recorded history of mankind has been more pathetic, more heroic, more deserving of admiration and sympathy than the attitude of the South since 1865. As fate would have it, their defeat in war was the smallest of their woes because neither threaten nor bring dishonor. But the new contest—with partisan rancor, with military power, with theft and robbery with poverty and the enforced domination of a race lately in slavery—forced as it was without time for recovery and that too, in their own homes, required a courage little less than superhuman.

"Maintaining the struggle with the one great and almost insoluble problem of our time, laboring under the most serious difficulties, courageous in the face of many discouragements, these people have manfully represented the hopes, the ideals and traditions of their country and the logic as well as the heroism of our national history. If only man is so foolish to ask why the democratic party has been true to the South, in its time of trial, and why this attachment has been requited, it must be because he knows little of history, and less of human nature.

An Interesting Publication.

We have received Vol. III, No. 1 of the quarterly Bulletin of the Marion Military Institute. This issue contains three articles. The first is the Convocation Address delivered at the Institute on the opening of the session by Dr. A. J. Dickinson, of Birmingham. Although brief, the address is a singularly able exposition of the college viewed as a social organism.

The second article is a reprint of the first chapter of the recent book "The Present South" by Edgar Gardner Murphy. A reading of the chapter, of the noteworthy book itself, justifies the comment of the editor of the Bulletin that this chapter will display the dignity of style and judiciousness of temper with which the book is written, and will lead every reader, we trust, to make a close study of the entire volume. Free from partisan prejudice and sectional bias, the work is an enduring monument of scientific investigation, of philosophic discussion, of an inspired and inspiring endeavor to elevate our life and our civilization.

The third article includes two lectures on Journalism delivered at Yale University by Dr. St. Clair McKelway, Editor of Brooklyn Eagle. The lectures are characterized by singular felicity of style, by sparkling humor, and by sound wisdom. They present worthily the high calling of the press in public life, and the relation of journalism to society and government.

Judge Alston Makes the Boys Toe the Mark,

Judge Alston is making "the boys toe the mark" in his court. Has a regular scale of prices. For smoking, talking, eating peanuts, etc., it is a dollar, except in aggravated cases which come higher. To be absent as a witness or juror the prices range from five to one hundred dollars, which also, includes court officers, lawyers and all. He is no respecter of persons in the matter. The highest citizen as well as the most humblest are required to be on hand promptly and remain on hand until discharged or excused. He is fast making it understood that his court must be respected and parties, jurors, witnesses, lawyers and court officers are learning to obey the orders of the court to the letter, and it is well they may, for if they don't it means a good, stiff fine and probably a sentence to jail.—Jasper Eagle.

The death of General Fitzhugh Lee in Washington last Saturday is deeply mourned throughout the South. He was one of nature's noblemen.

A Positive Necessity.

Having to lay upon my bed for 14 days from a severely bruised leg, I only found relief when I used a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. I can cheerfully recommend it as the best medicine for bruises ever sent to the afflicted. It has now become a positive necessity upon myself.—D. R. Byrnes, Merchant, Droversville, Texas. 25c, 50c and $1.00 at Williams Bros.

WILSONVILLE.

This has been somewhat of a rainy week with us.

Mrs. C. D. Brooks is visiting in Talladega for a few days.

Mrs. E. Williamson returned to Talladega, her home, last Thursday.

Mrs. Tyler Wilby, of Atlanta, returned home Saturday after visiting her father, J. W. Bolin, and family for several days.

We are glad to see the smiling face of Will Wingard behind the desk working on the book of R. G. Weldon & Co. Much success to you Will.

Rev. J. C. Bentley and family, of Sylacauga, spent a short time in our city Saturday eve, on their way to attend fifth Sunday services at Kingdom church.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. J. L. Riddle is improving. We hope she may soon be restored to her usual health, although her improvement is slow.

Miss Kate Gwin, matron in a school at Tuskegee, arrived in Wilsonville last Friday to visit her mother, Mrs. W. S. Gwin, who has been quite sick for several weeks. We are glad to hear that Mrs. Gwin is improving.

Brindley Nivens spent Sunday with his mother. We are always glad to see your merry face, Brindley, and feel the friendly, cordial grasp of your fore-paw. Some of the young ladies whispered to me to ask you to come again soon.

J. L. Riddle, of Four Mile, has been in our midst so much during his wife's illness that he seems like home folks; in fact, we would be glad to have him move in and be one of us.

Born to Rev. and Mrs. O. P. Bentley, on April 21th, a son.

John Ballard, of Talladega, is visiting his aunts, Mrs. Pennington and Mrs. McGowan.

Mrs. Crawford, mother of Mrs. R. F. Wilson, has been very sick. We are glad to report her better, and getting along nicely.

Well, the merry-go-round has left us, and is now located in Columbiana, and we imagine in our minds eye, we can see our genial, jolly editor of The Sentinel trying all the horses in the ring to see which one has the best gait, and having a jolly, good time. (Not any in ours, Rip, for were to take a trip or two around the whirl our friends would think we had been keeping company with "corn drip.")

RIP VAN WINKLE.

Too late for last week.

Mrs. Sallie Robertson's residence is complete, and she has moved to town. We are glad to have you with us, Aunt Sallie.

Davis Riddle was called home last week to the bedside of his mother. Mr. Riddle is working for the Southern Railway.

We were glad to shake hands with Green Abbott and his two charming daughters, of Shelby, on our streets Saturday evening.

John W. Millstead left Sunday to work for the Southern Railway as a carpenter. Much luck to you, John, but be careful and don't hurt yourself.

Mrs. J. L. Riddle is some better, although still in a critical condition; we hope for the change to be permanent, and that she may yet be restored to health.

Mrs. E. Williamson, of Talladega, is visiting her sister, Mrs. O. E. Black. Miss Lula being one of Wilsonville's young ladies, we are always glad to see her visiting her old home friends.

Misses Privett and Hall, two of Childersburg's fair ladies, visited Mrs. G. W. McGowan Sunday. Come again young ladies. Some of our boys sighed very heavily when the train left Sunday eve.

Rev. Mr. Brewer, of Marbury, filled the pulpit at the Baptist church here Sunday morning and night in the absence of the pastor, Rev. O. P. Bentley. He preached us two interesting sermons; hope he will visit us again.

The Misses Riddle, daughters of friend, W. E. Riddle, were at the "Drummers' Home" Sunday, visiting their grand mother. It is astonishing to us to know that a man as ugly as Walter has two as pretty daughters as he has.

Will W. Wingard is at home from Atlanta now. Will had to catch up with the measles in Atlanta, and not seeing anything else he could take, took them (the measles). Will says he is going not to take anything else as they made him mighty sick.

Our enterprising and energetic druggist, John Robertson, will attending to your wants in the drug line in the day, and build your houses for you by lamp light. His residence is nearing completion. He is a good carpenter, but will mash his fingers once in a while.

The pleasant face of our friend, Walter Riddle, was seen on our streets last week, he having been called here on account of his mother's illness. We understand he has sold his farm on Four Mile, and we would suggest to him that when he decides to purchase another that it might be well for him to consider Wilsonville, as this is a healthy, thriving place and, then, we have some pretty young ladies here also.

The merry-go round is here, and meeting with a good patronage. It tickles us to see the young people enjoy it so much, and not only the young people, but also the Mayor and our old bachelor brother J. H. Pennington, who seems to enjoy it hugely. L. B. Riddle says also "there is nothing like it."

RIP VAN WINKLE.

(Another news letter came to The Sentinel from Wilsonville, but as Rip Van Winkle had covered the news which was in it, we do not use it.)

J. W. Johnston

Has one great hobby, and that is SHOES. A good shoe is desired by everyone, and to get the very best has been Mr. Johnston's aim. The best is the cheapest in the end, and when you come to think of it, they cost but little more, if any, than a poor shoe. Money is none to plentiful and you want all you can get for your dollars.

Johnston Sells Groceries, too.

Elegant Ready-to-Wear Suits.

We Have a Very Choice Line.

Our New Clothing Stock

Is the bloom of a new season just beginning. Evidence of its completeness is at hand for inspection. Style, quality and economy make up the attractive triumvirate of the stock we have. Men of taste and judgment—men whose efforts are bent toward saving instead of extravagance will be pleased with what we have. We offer you honest goods at a fair and honest price.

Beautiful Foot Wear.

No handsomer shoes nor of better value was ever offered the public than the stock we now have. They represent the very highest point that has been reached in artistic shoe making—in style, material and workmanship—they have been tested, and they meet the popular demand for durability—style. They are peerless, and shatter our competitors' nerves.

Spring Dress Goods.

The waning of winter and approach of spring, bringing with it the Easter time, and the dogwood bloom make it right and proper to say that our stock of spring dress goods and waistings are in accord with the bright bloom of outdoor life, and we cordially invite the most critical inspection from the ladies of Columbiana and vicinity. It will be a pleasure to show you our new spring stock.

Groceries and Hardware.

You know our reputation for keeping in stock all that is good in the grocery and provision line; we cannot afford to keep any other kind. We have builded our trade by selling good goods at a fair price, and we value the good will of the public hence adhere to straightforward dealing with everybody. We carry the largest stock of hardware in Shelby county.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

Carpenters are at on a new cottage for J. F. Norris.

Several new subscribers have been added to our list during the past week.

Dr. Oliver, of Calera, was in the city last week, a witness in circuit court.

Dr. D. L. Wilkinson, of Monte-vallo, was in the city a day or two last week.

Hon. E. S. Lyman, of Montevallo, was in the city last Friday on legal business.

J. A. DuPree, of Shelby, renews his subscription to The Sentinel for another year.

The northbound passenger train on the Southern Railway last Sunday was over five hours late.

E. B. Nelson came down from Empire last Friday for an over Sunday visit with his family.

The merry-go-around is in town, and the little folks are happy. Yes, and some of the big ones, too.

Mrs. E. B. Nelson, who has been visiting in North Carolina for the past two weeks, has returned home.

From present indications there is likely to be a big blackberry crop this summer—the bushes are full of blossoms.

Rev. Joseph Duglinson will fill the pulpit at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning and at night.

The Misses Gusdorf, of Selma, were in the city last week as witnesses in the case of the State vs.
George Porter.

Tom Norris went down to Wilton last Monday, where he has accepted a position with the Southern Railway company.

W. F. Davis and Henry Chapman were visitors in Birmingham last Friday. Henry was up to buy the furniture for his barber shop.

Hon. W. F. Thetford, of Montgomery, was in the city several days last week looking after some legal matters in circuit court.

Again we want to prompt our correspondents that they should mail their letters so as to reach us not later than Monday noon.

W. W. Carter, of Wilsonville, was a pleasant caller at The Sentinel office last Thursday. He ordered The Sentinel sent to his address.

Mrs. Howard Latham, who has been visiting relatives and friends in Talladega and Calera for the past ten days, returned home last Friday.

Sam'l Wallace, who is in the employ of the Southern Express Co., was in the city a day or two last week. He and his brother Wales spent Sunday with their mother at Klein.

Garden truck is beginning to show up in the markets.

Spring chickens are bringing a good price in Columbiana markets.

If you are in need of any kind of job printing just call up phone 17;
we'll do the rest.

Strawberries are in the market, but the average newspaper man is not yet a Rockefeller, and will have to wait until the price tum-bles.

The friends of Mrs. George Bird will be glad to know that she has almost fully recovered from the effects of the burns she received two weeks ago.

The Methodist Conference of the Talladega District will meet in Columbiana next week, Thursday, continuing four days. There will be about 125 visitors in town.

"You are giving us the best paper we have ever had here," was the complimentary remark of A.
C. Galloway when he came in and renewed his subscription last Saturday.

Mrs. H. E. Whitaker went down to Montevallo on Monday to attend a recital at the Girls' Industrial School, given by Miss Annie Laura Jones who finishes in music at that institution this year.

Wm. Brasher, of Vandiver, the incoming tax collector of Shelby county, accompanied by his little son, was in the city last Thursday and Friday on business. The Sentinel acknowledges a short call.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Burt left Columbiana last Friday for their new home in Collinsville. They carry with them the best wishes of all Columbiana people that their new home may be all they have anticipated.

J. A. MacKnight, manager of Shelby Springs, was in town last Friday and while here made this office a pleasant call. Mr. Mac-Knight says this year at the Springs promises to a record breaker in point of attendance.

WANTED.—An energetic salesman to represent us in this State.
Our product can be conveniently handled as a side line. Same is an excellent seller. Liberal commission or salary to right party. Consolidated Supply Company, 237 St.
Clair Street, Cleveland, O. m4-3t

Young women, from eighteen to twenty-five years of age, who desire a three years' course in general hospital duty, may apply to Box
809 Birmingham, Ala. Candidates must be well recommended, and of good standing in their community.

James Broadhead, who has been attending the Columbiana Graded School this session, returned to his home in beat 4 Monday, his father needing him on the farm. James is a fine boy, and his teachers say he has made a good record this session.

Rev. G. J. Mason, of Talladega Springs, is in the city visiting relatives. In a little talk with the editor of The Sentinel he paid us a high compliment by saying "you are publishing as clean a paper as I have ever read." The frosts of more than four score winters have tinged the hair of this father in Israel to an almost silvery whiteness, and while somewhat feeble in body his mind is strong and vigorous. Rev. Mr. Mason will remain in Columbiana until after the Methodist conference.

What about a game of ball, boys?
Can't you hump a little.

J. W. Johnston will go to Birmingham tomorrow on a business mission.

In the thermometer of life "please remit" is zero, and "find enclosed" is pleasant summer heat.

A. P. Longshore, jr., was home from Howard College for a week, recuperating from an attack of measles.

Every member of the Commercial club should attend its meetings in the club rooms in the Liles building every Tuesday night.

A lengthy communication from
G. D. Baldwin, secretary of Shelby County's Cotton Growers, goes over to the next issue for lack of space this week.

The Methodist District Conference will begin with a Missionary Institute next Wednesday, May 10th, at 2:30, p. m. A nice programme has been prepared for the occasion, and all are cordially invited to attend.

Minor and Ernest Hendriok, who have been attending the Colum-biana Graded Schools, have returned to their home in Montevallo.
These boys have many friends among our young people all of whom regret their departure. They will return next session.

The news has reached this city that Miss Lizzie Sinnott, of Tuscaloosa, formerly of Columbiana, will be married on the 18th of this month to a Mr. Barnes, of Talladega. Miss Edna Nelson, of this city will be one of the guests, and will play the wedding march. The people of Columbiana extend congratulations in advance of the happy event.

To Our Patrons.

As there is an agreement among the merchants to close every night at 6:30, except Saturday night, we wish to notify our patrons who may want ice that we will have a car load next week, and that they should have their orders filed not later than 5:30, as our wagon will make its last delivery at 6:15, except on Saturday night when the store will be open later. We trust all our patrons will remember this and get their orders for ice filed in time at least for delivery at 6:15, the last delivery except on Saturday night.

Respectfully,
ROBERTS & ROBERTSON.

Calera Items.

Health of community unusually good; only one death in the place since last July among the white residents.

Deacon Boyd sold 98 excursion tickets to Pensacola last Saturday evening. Many of them to Birmingham people who had to come to Calera to get our cheap rates.

Billy Ferrell has added a gasoline engine to his job printing office, and it is said as proud of it as a sixteen year old girl over her first love letter.

Jim Seale and Jack Steele, the Standard Oil company men of Cal-era, have declined to make a contribution to any missionary fund until they see how Rockefeller comes out.

Policeman Charles Fields received a severe blow from some one in the dark, last Thursday night. Two arrests were made, one of which was discharged, and the other committed to jail in default of a two hundred dollar bond.

FIFTEEN YEARS FOR PORTER SAYS JURY.

For the Killing of Jeronie Mc-Mahan, Jury Returns
Above Verdict.

The jury, in the case of the State of Alabama vs. George Porter, who was charged with the killing of Jerome McMahan last September at Shelby Springs, and against whom the grand jury returned an indictment for murder in the first degree, returned a verdict of murder in the second degree and fixed the punishment at fifteen years in the penitentiary.

The defendant, in his testimony, admitted the killing, but claimed it was done in defense of his own life, and to establish that plea to the satisfaction of the jury was the course pursued by the defense, but the verdict of the jury says
Porter's plea was not substantiated by the evidence presented.

Porter and McMahan became involved in a difficulty in the hotel office at Shelby Springs over the settlement of an account. During the quarrel Porter shot McMahan, but says he did it in self-defense.
McMahan died within a few minutes after the shooting. There were no witnesses of the shooting.
Notice was given that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court, pending which the defendant is in the hands of Sheriff Cox.

The State was represented by Solicitor Borden H. Burr, and J.
A. W. Smith, of Birmingham, appeared for the defense.

Pastor Installed.

Rev. Joseph Duglinson was, last Sunday, installed pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city.
The installation services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Walton, president of Isbell College, Talladega;
Rev. Mr. Flynn, pastor of Vine-st Presbyterian church, Birmingham, and Elder George Duglinson, Talladega, father of the young pastor who was installed.

The sermon by Rev. Walton was a most impressive one, and the charge to the young man who was to assume the responsibility of pastor of the church here, was full of kindly advice to both pastor and congregation. In the prayer of Elder Duglinson it was seen that the heart of this good man was full as he implored the blessing of the Deity upon the union just consummated, and to this father it must have been indeed gratifying to see his boy accepted by the congregation here as its pastor.

The new pastor is an exceptionally good young man, and in the short time he has been among us has won the love and regard of all. Both pastor and congregation are to be congratulated upon the new relations between them.

Exposure.

To cold draughts of air, to keen and cutting winds, sudden changes of the temperature, scanty clothing, undue exposure of the throat and neck after public speaking and singing, bring on coughs and colds.

Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the best cure. Mrs. A. Barr, Houston, Tex., writes, Jan. 31, 1902: "One bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup cured me of a very bad cough.
It is very pleasant to take. Sold by Williams Bros.

Notice.

All interested in the grave yard at Mt. Calvary church, will meet Thursday morning, 11th of May, for the purpose of cleaning off same, and on Sunday the 14th there will be memorial services, and the following program will be rendered, beginning at 9:30 a. m.:

Devotional exercises.—G. W.
Stone.
Object of memorial service.—Rev.
C. D. Brooks and J. Shaw.
Sermon on resurrection.—Rev.
O. P. Bently and C. W. O'Hara.
Life.—Rev. B. C. Hughes.
Joy.—Rev. C. W. Walton.
Experience in Christian life.—J.
A. Shirley.

When we meet to part no more—
J. B. Farrell and Rev. Albert
Messer.

Judgment.—N. M. Davis.

All are cordially invited to come and bring well filled baskets.

Growing Aches and Pains.

Mrs. Josie Summer, Bremond,
Tex., writes, April 13, 1902: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. It cured her right away. I have also used it for frost bitten feet, with good success. It is the best Liniment
I ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00 at William Bros.' drug store.

The ball team will try to have two or three games of ball in this city during commencement week.

There was the usual bargain day rush among the farmers in town last Saturday.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO BOOST COLUMBIANA

Will Issue Prospectus Setting Forth Inducements to Manufacturers.

At the regular meeting of the Commercial Club, last week, it was decided to issue a prospectus of at least five thousand copies, setting forth the future prospects of Columbiana, and the advantages and inducements offered manufacturers who may be looking for a location. This effort of the Commercial Club to build up our town and community will meet with the approval of every person in the town who desires to see Colum-biana grow and prosper. This prospectus is to be handsomely illustrated, the reading matter will be an honest exposition of facts relative to Columbiana and its surroundings and is to be printed on plate paper.

A committee, composed of W. B.
Browne and Jno. S. Pitts, was appointed to select and have made such illustrations as was deemed best for this prospectus. Another committee, composed of J. L. Peters, D. R. McMillan and W. B.
Browne, was appointed to write the descriptive matter. These gentlemen are among the most prominent in our town and posted on the subject to be handled. Such an edition as this will do a world of missionary work for Columbiana and the surrounding community.

The Commercial Club has now a membership of seventy—it should have every man in the town on its roster. Don't be a knocker on the efforts of those who are trying to build up the town, but get into line, grab the rope and help to pull. Don't be narrow and skeptical, shut out selfishness and inoculate your system with tincture of public good; you will feel better, and as the bad taste in your month subsides you may rest assured that your stomach and liver is in pretty good condition.

The Club meets Tuesday night of each week (until further notice) in its rooms in the Liles building, and every member should attend the meetings.

COSTLY FIRE VISITS KEYSTONE LIME CO.

Commissary is Consumed With Contents—Loss Several Thousand Dollars.

The Keystone Lime Co., located at Keystone, this county, met with a most disastrous fire on Wednesday of last week.

The fire originated in the office of the company, and at the time when there was no one in, the clerks and book-keepers having gone to supper. Within half an hour after the fire was discovered the commissary and the offices were nothing but a pile of smoking ruins. The company had just completed an addition to the store, and a new stock of goods had been placed on the shelves but a few days before. The loss in merchandise is $4,000, and the buildings were valued at $1,000; insurance, $4,200.

Supt. R. E. Bowdon says that arrangements are being made to rebuild, and that the new buildings will be better and larger than the ones destroyed.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES ARE NOT SUPREME.

Important Decision Affecting Public School Interests of Alabama.

In the chancery court at Gun-tersville, last week, there was handed down a decision by the Chancellor which affects the entire State, and one that has been wanted since the present school law was passed by the last legislature.

There had been a conflict between the school boards and the district trustees, in several sections of the State, in the matter of employing teachers and in locating schools. At Guntersville, Hon. J.
A. Lusk filed a chancery petition asking that the district trustees of that county be allowed full sway.
Judge J. A. Bilbro, of Gadsden, filed an answer to that petition at the instance of parties interested, in which he claimed that the county board of education was supreme as he interpreted the law. The chancellor promptly dismissed Mr.
Lusk's petition for want of equity.
The decision of the Chancellor is important since it will rule until the supreme court can act, and it is understood that Mr. Lusk is preparing to carry the case up.

LOCAL TAX FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Shelby County People Will Vote
On This Great Question
29th of May.

By a notice printed in another column in The Sentinel it will be seen that the County Commissioners have called an election for May 29th for the people of Shelby county to decide whether or not a special tax levy of "ten cents on each one hundred dollars of taxable property for the support of the public schools of said county," is to be made.

As a rule The Sentinel has been and is opposed to an increase of the present tax rate, but The Sentinel believes in education—the compulsory kind, too, if necessary—and for that reason we favor the above proposition; not because the railroads and corporations will bear the greater part of the burden, but because we believe it to be one of the best investments the taxpayers of our county can make, for its direct fruit is an intelligent citizenship which insures an honest, safe government and a prosperous land.
It insures to the children of our county a better opportunity to receive at least a good common school education, and aren't they worth it, aye, entitled to it? It improves the public schools of our county, and oh, don't they need it!

It will cost you, we, all the taxpayers of the county ten cents on every hundred dollars' worth of taxable property we own. But for what? That the boys and girls of our county may better equip themselves for responsibilities which fall upon them later. This special tax means nearly $4,500 added to the public school fund of our county—the boys and girls need it; it means much to them, yet the expense touches the individual tax payer so lightly he will hardly know it. The special tax means at least two months added to the present public school year—isn't it worth the price?

The Sentinel believes that at least four-fifths of the voters will say yes on May 29th.

Mutual Life Industrial Association of Georgia.

A mass meeting of the citizens of Shelby county was held in the court house last Friday to consider the insurance question. Hon. J.
L. Peters was elected Chairman, and J. E. Dyke, secretary.

Mr. Peters, in a short talk, stated the object of the meeting and showed clearly that the Mutual Life Industrial Association of Georgia was doing a great work in this State and deserved the support and encouragement of those who desire insurance at reasonable cost.
The next speaker was Judge A.
P. Longshore, who stated that he had given the Mutual Life Industrial Association a careful and painstaking consideration, and that he had dropped two thousand he had in the Equitable and had taken three thousand in this company, and he showed by facts and figures that the Old Line companies were collecting more than three times as much money as premiums as was necessary, and that the policy holders are furnishing money to build up huge insurance companies at the expense of the people.

Mr. Geo. M. Webb, of Birmingham, State Agent of the Mutual Life, was called on, and in a short but interesting talk, showed the workings of the company and its progress in Alabama. He said 21 divisions had already been organized and were rapidly being filled.
Dr. A. T. Rowe made an interesting talk on the objects and purposes of the company.

D. R. McMillan made a brief address on the benefits of cheap insurance, showing that it was impossible for an average man to keep insurance in the old line companies which cost from $25 to $50 per thousand a year.

Upon the adjournment of the meeting quite a number of those present took out policies in this company, and it was evident to all present that the Mutual Life Industrial Association would sweep the county in a very short while.
The company is sweeping the State by counties and it will only be a short time until every county in the State will have a full division in the Mutual Life which is the only company in the South that gives insurance at cost.

HE WILL BUILD A FINE FLOURING MILL

The First of a Number of Enterprises to be Built Here
This Season.

Just before going to press The Sentinel learns that J. S. Jackson is to build and operate a flouring mill in Columbiana. We are to the city council offered induc-ments to Mr. Jackson which he has accepted, and he will at once make preparations to build. The Sentinel hopes to give full information as to this enterprise in the next issue. Just have faith in our town; it's all right.

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

ESTABLISHED 1875.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., MAY 11, 1905.

VOL. 30. NO. 36.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

Current News Garnered as It Falls From the Plant of Report.

Federal Prisoners Escape.

Huntsville, Ala.—Three federal prisoners, John Rodgers, John Long and W. L. Lowman, all charged with illicit distilling, escaped from the Madison county jail some time Saturday. The men sawed their way through the bars of their cell, made ropes of their bedding and lowered themselves to the street, three stories below.

Negro, Will Pugh, to Hang.

Wetumpka, Ala.—Will Pugh, the negro charged with the killing of his wife under circumstances which were unusually brutal, and convicted by the trial jury of murder in the first degree, has been sentenced to the gallows, the execution being set for June 16.

Postmaster Adjudged Insane.

Montgomery, Ala.—A special from Troy says that J. T. Logne, the postmaster at Shady Grove, who was a few days ago checked up several hundred dollars short by postoffice inspectors, was today adjudged insane. Logne will be sent to the state asylum for the insane.

New Railroad Opened.

Montgomery, Ala.—Saturday the Bay Minette and Fort Morgan line, to be operated by the Louisville and Nashville, was turned over by the contractors, and is now a feeder to the Mobile and Montgomery branch. It is thirty-five miles long and runs from the coast where much new territory is being taken up by northern and eastern people, to the thriving little Baldwin county settlement on the main line. It has several stations and has a prospect for large trade.

Three to Hang in June.

Decatur, Ala.—Three negroes, guilty of sudden and savage murders, stood up before Judge D. W. Speake of the circuit court of Morgan county Saturday and were sentenced to hang on the same day, June 16.

John Collier and Harvey Smith will satisfy the law for the butchery of a refined and gentle young woman, who never did them or any human being a wrong in her life. Will Jackson will expire with his life the murder of Policeman Everett Steele.

Boggs Bound Over.

Opelika, Ala.—Deputy Marshal Gibson brought J. M. Boggs of Randolph county before Commissioner Samford on a charge of illicit distilling. Boggs operated one of the large stills recently captured and destroyed in Randolph county, but he escaped arrest at the time. He was bound over to the United States court in Montgomery in the sum of $300.

Three Convicts Freed.

Montgomery, Ala.—Three convicts were released from custody on Friday by order of Governor Hicks because of their physical disability.

The convicts who were subjects of executive clemency are: Ed Hall, of Lee county; Jonas Harden, of Lee county, and Dave Murray, of Walker county. Hall and Murray were paroled on their future good conduct and Harden was granted an unconditional pardon.

Alabama at Departments.

Washington, D. C.—Benjamin F. Garrett was appointed postmaster at Styx, Baldwin county, vice George F. Ray, resigned.

Rural routes ordered established June 1: Moulton, Lawrence county, route 2; population 450, houses, 114; Mountairboro, Etowah county, route 2, population 423, houses 103.

Killed in Mines.

Birmingham, Ala.—James Underwood, a young white miner, was killed Friday in the Short Creek coal mines in the western part of the county by falling rock. The miner had a young wife. He recently moved to the Birmingham district from Walker county.

Sheets Bound Over to Grand Jury.

Montgomery, Ala.—Wm. T. Sheets, charged with the murder of his son, Claude Sheets, on Easter Sunday morning, was Thursday held to await the action of the Montgomery county grand jury by Justice of the Peace John N. Browder under a bond of $1,000.

Sheets has not made bail and is still incarcerated in the Montgomery county jail.

Lee Monument Projected.

Richmond, Va.—The Fitzhugh Lee Monument Association has been formally organized. Its object is to erect a monument of General Lee in Richmond.

Bank Buys Gold Bars.

Mexico City, Mexico.—The National bank has been buying gold bars. A fund of $10,000,000 has been transferred to the exchange and currency commission, established under the new monetary law. There has been no hitch in establishing a gold standard, and in a few days the mint will begin coining new money. There has been no derangement of commercial affairs.

Another Strike On.

Birmingham, Ala.—Because of a refusal on the part of the master electrical workers to accede to demands for higher wages and shorter hours the members of Birmingham Union, United Electrical Workers, went out on strike Friday morning.

The workers asked for $4 per day and eight hours to constitute a day. This demand was refused, whereupon a compromise was offered with eight hours to constitute a day and the wage to be $3.20. The master electrical workers declined to give the wage offered instead of $3.25 for eight and one-half hours a day. The strike affected every shop in town and not less than fifty men are interested.

Town Full of Buyers.

Cullman, Ala.—The town has been flooded with strawberry buyers from Northern and Southern markets the past week, some coming from as far north as Detroit, Mich., while others are here from Montgomery, Mobile and Birmingham. It is said by several of the buyers that the Cullman berry is a universal favorite on the market and that there is a growing demand for the Cullman production. Should the sun shine nice and warm for three or four days more car shipments will begin and dealers will then flock from every direction.

Accident Causes Death.

Centerville, Ala.—A distressing accident occurred about four miles from Centerville Thursday. John E. Jones, a prominent farmer of this county, was going to his field riding a mule. The mule became frightened and in some way Mr. Jones became entangled in the plow gear and was dragged across a new ground and terribly hurt. He lingered until about 7 o'clock in the evening, when death relieved him of his sufferings. He was considered one of the best citizens of this section, and leaves a wife and several children. He was a gallant soldier in the late war.

Returned for Babe.

Wetumpka, Ala.—Near Nixberg, in Coosa county, on May 2 a white child, apparently two or three days old, was found in the woods near a graveyard. A strange negro with an empty sack was seen coming from the direction of the place where the child lay. The negro was from Mt. Olive, twelve or fifteen miles above Nixberg, and claimed to be looking for seed corn. A white person, finding the child and suspecting the negro had placed it there, hid behind some shrubbery and watched proceedings. The negro with the sack and another negro returned to the spot, took the infant and carried it to a negro house. Warrants are out for the negroes.

New Cotton Oil Company.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Dixie Cotton Oil Company has been reorganized, and it was launched Thursday by the filing of the papers of incorporation of the new company in the office of the judge of probate in Montgomery county. The capital stock of the new company is $50,000, and I. L. DeJarnette is named as agent. The incorporators are: W. P. DeJarnette, L. C. DeJarnette, Isaac Winter, Jacques Loeb C. G. Zirkle, W. H. Moore and Zirkle & Moore.

Railway Accident.

Mobile, Ala.—Thursday as north-bound Louisville and Nashville passenger train No. 6 was coming up Water street the engine struck an open switch. The engine headed on a spur track towards the river and hit a flat car, knocking it from its trucks. Passengers in the train were shaken up, but no one injured.

Killed by Train.

Cordova, Ala.—J. W. G. Bell, a well-known citizen of Birmingham, also known throughout the county, was killed Thursday afternoon at this place by being struck by a fast train of the Frisco system.

Trains to Autaugaville.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Alabama Central Railroad Company, a new corporation, began operating trains Friday over its eight miles of tracks between Booth station and Autaugaville, an important interior town of Autauga county. The line strikes the main system of the Mobile and Ohio railroad at Booth, twenty miles west of Montgomery.

Autaugaville has been heretofore remote from a railroad. The building of the line has covered two years. It runs through a rich cotton section and also virgin hardwood forests. J. W. Dimmick, of Montgomery, is president of the company.

Winthrop's Memory Honored.

New London, Conn.—The memory of John Winthrop, the younger, first governor of the colony of Connecticut under royal charter, was honored in the unveiling of a bronze statue of heroic size. The occasion was the 259th anniversary of the founding of New London by the younger Winthrop. Governor Roberts and many other distinguished men of the state were present.

Boy Killed by Accident.

Gadsden, Ala.—The news has reached here of the accidental death of a 12-year-old son of Charlie Wakefield, a farmer who is living on the farm of E. A. Gilliland, in Little Hills valley, some fifteen miles north of Gadsden, last Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. Wakefield and his son were on the banks of Wills creek fishing, and had with them a vicious dog. About 2 o'clock an Alabama Great Southern train came along and stopped at Reesdale to do some switching. As the train came along the Wakefield dog ran alongside of it barking, and when the train stopped Earl Shields, of Collinsville, a young man about 21 years old, stepped from the caboose and remarked to a train man that he believed he would kill the dog, at the same time drawing his gun and firing one shot from his 33. The bullet missed the dog and sped on for 150 yards, striking young Wakefield, who was standing on the bank of the creek, in the head, just to the rear of his left ear, causing death in a few hours.

Mr. Shields was ignorant of the boy being near.

Cities Want to Merge.

Anniston, Ala.—The initial step toward the union of Anniston and Oxford as one city was made Thursday at a meeting of the Commercial Club when a committee was appointed to discuss the matter with Oxford citizens. Should the two become one the population would be 25,000, a city fourth in size in the state. It is well known that no union can be made without an act of the legislature ordering an election on the question, but the initial step has been taken so that when the legislature meets all that will be necessary is to have a bill passed ordering this election and the holding of the election.

Designs Accepted.

Huntsville, Ala.—The design of Hummel & Sons, of this city, has been accepted by the Huntsville chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, for the proposed Confederate monument. The monument will be placed in the county court yard, and will consist of a tall shaft, upon which the figure of a Confederate soldier on sentry duty will stand, the whole to be of granite. The cost will be between $2,500 and $3,000. The unveiling is expected to occur about October, and that ceremony will be a feature of the Confederate reunion if it is held in Huntsville.

Pelham Monument Shipped.

Jacksonville, Ala.—Mrs. George H. Rowan, president of John Forney Chapter U. D. C., of this place, has received a letter informing her that the figure for the John Pelham monument to be erected in Jacksonville has been shipped from Italy, and that the contractors expect to have the monument ready for unloading at some date in June next.

Car Burglarized.

Birmingham, Ala.—A freight car of the Central of Georgia railroad was burglarized Thursday night and several articles of merchandise carried away. The seal of the car was broken by burglars and goods valued at about $50. The burglaries have been few for the past two weeks, and the officers of the railroad companies were congratulating themselves on the fact that they had about put a stop to this work. Although a strict watch is kept in the railroad yards, still the task of apprehending these burglars seems to be a difficult one.

Kills Two and Himself.

Clayton, N. M.—Philip Allore, a wealthy ranchman, shot and killed Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Montorio at Bingham, thirty-five miles south of Clayton, and killed himself. Montorio was a member of one of the oldest families in the country, and Mrs. Montorio was noted for her beauty. Allore is said to have been deeply infatuated with her, and jealousy is supposed to have prompted the murder.

Lincoln's Relative Dead.

Richmond, Va.—Abram B. Lincoln died at the old Lincoln homestead at Lacey Springs, in the Valley of Virginia, Friday, aged 82. His father, a cousin of President Lincoln, moved to this state from Kentucky a hundred years ago.

Fell 115 Feet.

Opelika, Ala.—A remarkable escape from death Thursday was that of a negro workman who fell from the top of the electric light smokestack, 115 feet. He struck the ground on his side and was uninjured other than badly jolted. He was painting the stack and lost his hold.

Girard, Ala.—William Vaughan, colored, will be hanged at Seale, the county seat of Russell county, Monday, May 18, for the murder of his wife's grandmother. After killing her he set fire to the house and left her body in the flames. This will be the first legal execution in Russell county in about six years.

Minister Bowen Ill.

Caracas, Venezuela.—Minister Bowen has sailed for the United States. Secretary Hutchinson is in charge of the legation.

First Hanging in Thirty Years.

Newman, Ga.—Greeley Phillips, a negro murderer, was hanged here and the execution was the first that has taken place in the county in thirty years.

ASKS TROOPS ON WAGONS

Strike Situation in Chicago, Ill., Reaches Critical Stage.

FEDERAL HELP CALLED UPON

One Man Killed in the Heart of the Business Section—One Thousand Extra Policemen Called Out—Government Refuses Request For Soldiers at Present.

Chicago, Ill.—Senator Thomas C. Platt's boasted political pull was not sufficient to induce the Treasury Department to order Federal military protection for the express wagons of the United States Express Company, during the teamsters' strike here. Senator Platt, President of the express company, it was said, added his personal request to that of the express company's counsel for military protection in carrying on its private business in the Windy City. This request was made by telephone from New York City to Acting Secretary Taylor. The contention was that the Federal Government, under a contract with the United States Express Company, had promised to furnish adequate guards in times of riot or strike for the delivery of money from the Sub-Treasury in Chicago. The substitution of army wagons, strongly guarded, for the transfer of this money, which had been arranged for in Chicago during the teamsters' strike, it was contended, was a violation of the alleged contract. The express company, it was said, would be compelled to relinquish the actual possession of the Government money, while still held responsible for its safe transfer and delivery. Acting Secretary Taylor replied that the Treasury Department had received no complaint from the Chicago Sub-Treasury, or from any Federal offices in Chicago, and that, in fact, it had not been found necessary to call on the commanding officer of the Department of the Lakes to take charge of the transfer of Government money as had been contemplated, as the strikers had assured the safe passage of all Government business despite the strike. He declined to grant the request.

Refused to Deliver Coal.

The strike situation has assumed a peculiar aspect. The interests which have been opposing the striking teamsters are not as united as heretofore. The team owners would not give a definite reply as to what could be expected of them. At the Union League Club a meeting was held between representatives of the Employers' Association and the large team owners. The team owners declined to deliver coal to any firm where a strike was in progress, giving as reasons that their own men would be called out and they would be involved in the trouble, with which they considered they had no direct concern.

They were informed that if they would not make deliveries their contracts with the business houses, amounting to millions of dollars annually, would be canceled. This did not change their attitude, however, and they persisted in their refusal to take part in the strike. The railroad men present took practically the same stand, declaring that the fight was something into which the railroads did not properly enter; that they had contracts with the team owners; that these contracts were at present being fulfilled to their entire satisfaction, and they could see no reason why the railroads should be dragged into the struggle.

Officers of the Central Supply Association, which employs 350 teams, said that they would make deliveries wherever their contracts called for them, irrespective of strike conditions. The Commission Team Owners and the Lake Transportation Team Owners' Associations have taken a similar stand to the Chicago Team Owners' Association.

About 1000 new men were added to the police force and put on strike duty as rapidly as they were needed. Judge C. C. Kollsaa of the United States Circuit Court, at the request of the attorneys representing the seven express companies, issued a temporary injunction restraining all persons from interfering with the wagons of the petitioners or the men employed upon them.

Pierce Street Fighting.

The fighting in the streets was even more fierce and savage than that previously. The fighting occurred in the heart of the business section of the city, men being shot down within 200 feet of the retail store of Marshall Field & Co., clubbed nearly to death at the Auditorium Hotel in plain view of hundreds of women, who were compelled to run from the mob.

As far as known but one man was killed during the day. He was Charles Beard, struck on the forehead in the fight near the Auditorium Hotel. He died of a fractured skull at a hospital where he had been taken.

Frank A. Fulton Discharged.

Frank A. Fulton, the slayer of Guy Roche, in New York City several weeks ago, was discharged on his own recognitions with the consent of the District Attorney.

Arming Their Teamsters.

Disorder, growing out of the teamsters' strike increased in Chicago, Ill., and the employers began to arm their drivers with rifles, which are carried openly.

The National Game.

It is said that Manager Griffith will have first pick of the Indianapolis players next fall.

Umpire Sheridan says increased base running will be in evidence this season. Let's hope so.

Manager Mack declares that Rader, of Philadelphia, will be one of the best pitchers in the American League this season.

Harley, the pitcher being tried out by the Boston Nationals, is not a relative of Manager "Dick" Harley, of Toronto.

ROBBERS BLOW OUT SAFE, NAN PATTERSON MISTRIAL

Make Sensational Raid Upon Bank at Oneonta, N. Y.

STEAL HORSES AND WAGONS

Between Five and Ten Thousand Dollars Said to Have Been Taken—Thieves Believed to Have Left Main Road and Escaped Through Woods—Other Recent Burglaries.

Oneonta, N. Y.—A band of masked robbers drove into the village of Gilbertsville, about eighteen miles from here, at 3 o'clock in the morning, blew open with dynamite a safe in the private bank of E. C. Brewer, and made good their escape with booty estimated at between $5000 and $10,000.

When the startled villagers were awakened by the muffled roar of the explosion and had been halted by the pistol fire of the retreating bandits they found that the robbers had completely isolated Gilbertsville from the outside world by cutting all the telegraph and telephone wires. Efforts to communicate with neighboring towns were futile, and when the village folk finally started in pursuit, the robbers had gained a lead which could not be made up.

Teams which had been stolen from barns and used by the robbers in their approach to the village and their subsequent flight were found abandoned by the roadside. Daylight found the bandits not far from Gilbertsville, and it is believed they then left the highway and went into the woods about.

It was believed there were five men in the band. That all were heavily armed was shown by the frequency of their fire when the first of the villagers arrived in the vicinity of the bank. The men first fired upon the front door of the bank. Two holes were then drilled into the heavy steel doors of the newly installed "burglar-proof" safe, and into these the explosive was inserted. The explosion wrecked the safe and shattered every window in the building. Portions of the safe were found many yards from the building.

The robbers gathered up all the money they could find and started on a run just as the first of the awakened villagers reached the scene. Plans for pursuit were quickly made. Postmaster W. S. Root and C. P. Root, his brother, started for Mt. Upton, the nearest railroad station, six miles away. They had gone but half a mile when they came upon a team hitched to a telegraph pole. One of the horses had become entangled in the harness and thrown himself. The robbers apparently had made an attempt to fight the harness in the darkness, but finally abandoned the effort and made off. The team proved to have been stolen from a neighboring barn.

Continuing on their way Postmaster Root and his brother came upon a one-horse surrey near Mount Upton. An axle of the vehicle was broken, and a short distance away was the horse, belonging to a farmer in the vicinity, and taken from his barn during the night. It was believed that after this vehicle failed them the robbers made their way into the woods, as no further trace of them could be found.

Binghamton, N. Y.—It is certain that three of the men who committed the Gilbertsville robbery are the same who stole a safe from a bank burglar who blew open the safe of the postoffice at Port Dickinson, adjoining this city, some days ago. The three men were seen at Mount Upton in the morning, where a description of them was obtained. The men have committed many daring burglaries in this vicinity during the past few weeks.

WOMAN DOCTOR HONORED.

Statue Erected in Memory of Mary H. Thompson.

New York City.—For the first time in the history of the medical profession in the United States a statue stands today a memorial to a woman doctor. It is that dedicated a few days ago at the Art Institute of Chicago, Ill., when the friends and admirers of the late Dr. Mary Harris Thompson presented a portrait bust of her to the institute. Dr. Thompson, who was the founder in 1895 of the Mary Thompson Hospital for Women and Children, West Adams and Paulina streets, and who was the pioneer woman physician of the Northwest, was paid high tribute by the speakers, both for her qualities as a woman and her capabilities as a surgeon.

TUNNEL TO CZAR'S TREASURY.

Supposed Plan to Steal the Imperial Funds at Moscow.

Moscow, Russia.—An investigation is being made into the mysterious sinking of a considerable section of the pavement near the Imperial Treasury, which is believed to be connected with an attempt to rob the Treasury by means of a tunnel.

The sinking was caused by a trench eight feet deep.

PANIC AT VIENNA OPERA.

Catastrophe Averted by Director Mahler's Presence of Mind.

Vienna, Austria.—Near the end of the first act of "The Magic Flute" at the Imperial Opera the electric wires behind the stage became short circuited. A panic resulted, but serious results were averted by Opera Director Mahler.

Big Ocean Liner Held Up by Ice.

St. Johns, N. B.—The Allen line turbine steamer Victorian, from Liverpool for Montreal, with 1,600 passengers, struck an ice floe one mile off Cape Ray at the entrance of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. She is unable to proceed farther, the ice being packed across Cabot Strait. The pursuer, who came ashore, reported that all on board were well.

After Thirteen Hours of Deliberation Jury is Discharged.

TRIAL OF ACCUSED ACTRESS

End of a Long and Expensive Legal Battle—"Nan" Patters on Hearing the News and is Carried Back to the Tombs—Review of the Case—Recorder Goff Presided at Last Hearing.

New York City.—The jury which has been trying Nan Patterson, the "Flordora" girl accused of the murder of Caesar Young, a bookmaker, on June 4 last, reported a final disagreement at 2:30 o'clock in the morning. The jury was then discharged.

Nan Patterson was brought into court at 1:40 o'clock.

The jury then reported that they were unable to agree, but after a long talk between the Recorder and the foreman, in which the Recorder laid stress upon the great expense to which the county had been in the three trials, the jury was sent back again, and Nan Patterson, who had been hastily summoned and was now almost in a fainting condition, was led back to her cell.

When the jury came in at 1:30 after deliberating thirteen hours the court officers called, "Hats off."

Everybody was on tiptoe. Assistant District Attorney Rand came in with his associate, Mr. Garvan, and Attorney O'Reilly took his seat beside the vacant chair which was awaiting Nan Patterson.

The Recorder asked the foreman if the jury had been able to agree. "We have not," he replied. "I am convinced that there is no hope of an agreement."

When the Recorder ascended the bench the defendant had not yet arrived and he called upon the court officer to explain her absence. "She is ill," the man said.

"Is the Sheriff in court?" asked the Recorder. "He is not. I went myself for Nan Patterson and was then informed that she was ill," spoke up another court officer.

The Recorder then ordered a court officer to go to the Tombs and bring the defendant into court, if she was able to come. In a little while the Deputy Warden returned and said that the Tombs matron was dressing the prisoner.

At last Nan Patterson came in, after fully ten minutes. She was on the verge of collapse, and could hardly stand one foot after the other. An attendant on each side fairly lifted her into her place.

Recorder Goff then whispered something in the ear of Clerk Brophy, who then announced that if there was any demonstration at any announcement that might be made the disturber would be immediately arraigned on a charge of contempt of court.

Recorder Goff then read a communication from the jury. The missive said: "After careful consideration of all the evidence in the case we have reached the point where we believe there is no likelihood that we shall agree."

The Recorder then asked the foreman if he thought there was any possibility that they could be able to reach a verdict after further deliberation. "I hardly think so," answered the foreman.

The jury retired, and in about fifteen minutes sent word to Recorder Goff that it desired to report again. Again Nan Patterson was sent for and brought in the courtroom. She was still in a weakened condition and had to be supported to a chair.

The Recorder seemed displeased at the result and asked that the question be put to each juror separately. Each juror gave the same reply, "There is no hope of an agreement."

He ran anything to say?" the Recorder asked Mr. Rand. "Nothing."

The same question was put to counsel for the defendant, and then the jury was discharged.

As the jury started out Nan Patterson fell from her chair in a faint. Her counsel and the guards picked her up and bore her back to the Tombs, to which the Recorder had remanded her.

Review of the Case.

"Nan" Randolph Patterson was accused of shooting her lover, "Caesar" Young, a race track bookmaker, while riding in a cab in New York City on the way to an ocean steamer on which Young was to sail for Europe with his wife on the morning of June 4, 1904. No actual witnesses of the shooting appeared and the indictment and prosecution was based upon purely circumstantial evidence.

After indictment by the Grand Jury the defendant was brought to trial before Justice Vernon M. Davis. Assistant District Attorney Rand prosecuted, and the law firm of Levy & Unger defended her.

A mistrial resulted, one of the jurors falling ill. After a second trial before Justice Davis a disagreement resulted. The entire prosecution is said to have cost the county and State over $100,000.

Expect to Raise Sunken Ships.

Advices from Tokio say that the Japanese will probably succeed in raising several of the Russian warships sunk at Port Arthur.

Canadian Minister Dies.

James Sutherland, Minister of Public Works in the Canadian Cabinet, died at Woodstock.

MASKED MEN ROB BANK.

Cover Officials With Revolvers—Are Surrounded in Swamp.

Woodburn, Oregon.—The Bank of Woodburn was robbed of $2000 by two masked robbers, who covered the cashier, Tracy Doonan, and the bookkeeper, Miss Gertrude Eddy, with revolvers. One robber stood guard while the other rifled the cash drawer.

Soon after the robbery most of the male population of Woodburn was armed, and within an hour the two robbers were located in a swamp.

Moving Pavements Contemplated. Moving pavements, underground, to connect the east and west ends of New York, are contemplated. The scheme provides for two platforms, one moving at the rate of nine miles an hour, and the other at four, capable of carrying 47,000 passengers an hour.

English Bronze Medals.

Originally 100,000 bronze medals were struck by the British for distribution to soldiers who took part in the South African war. Some one in authority, however, objected that it would be unwise to issue the medals to natives. Consequently 59,000 medals have been returned to the mint to be remelted.

Struggle Between Fishes.

Mullet, the food fish which the larger portion of the game fish live upon and which they follow about, are found in enormous schools in the ocean. A small section—say 25,000 or 50,000—will find their way in the lake looking for food, and a corresponding section of the attendant school of blue fish will follow them. When these fish once get in the gill nets trollers can make no appreciable impression upon them, no matter how hard they fish, and this small detachment is not 1 per cent of the school from which it strayed.

The Red Cross Founder.

Henri Dunant, founder of the Red Cross movement, now seventy-six years of age, lives in Ill-health near Lake Constance, in Switzerland. He was first inspired by reading the story of Florence Nightingale, and it occurred to him that some systematic arrangement might be made to provide similar help to the wounded in battle—an arrangement which should be recognized by both opposing forces. Accordingly he went to the battle at Solferino in order that he might see for himself what the results of warfare were, and he was convinced that if the horrors were to be mitigated it would be by a properly recognized body. Then he spent some years lecturing in various portions of Europe, attracting little attention at first and being generally regarded as a crank and no more. The first sympathetic help was from Napoleon III, who at once determined that the ideas of the "mere civilian" should be put into effect as regards his armies. Dunant lived to see his triumph, when the nations of the world accepted his proposals in the Geneva conference of 1864.

Investigation of the Packers.

Very general interest has been manifested in the Government investigation now in progress into the mode of conducting business by the large packers located in Chicago and elsewhere. Much has been written upon the alleged illegal and improper modes of business procedure connected with the packing industry; but it seems that so far no definite charge of any kind has been sustained and no proof of illegal or inequitable methods has been disclosed to the public. While a wave of severe criticism of this great industrial interest is now passing over the country it might be well to remember that the packers have had as yet no opportunity to make specific denial, the many indefinite charges of wrongdoing having never been formulated Excitement!

The Excitement Sale

Clarence Smith came down from Wilsonville Sunday.

Henry Chapman expects to move into his new barbershop next Monday.

Howard Latham made a short business trip to Montevallo last Friday.

Dr. C. T. Acker visited his parents in Montevallo last Thursday and Friday.

E. W. Chapman, of Montevallo, was visiting in the city several days last week.

Remember the Excitement Sale now on at the store of the Colum-biana Mercantile Co.

Read the big advertisement of the Columbiana Mercantile Co., and govern yourself accordingly.

Nolan Barnett, who has been having a seige with the mumps and fever, is able to be out again.

With two or three tickets in the field Calera's municipal election promise to be a warm proposition.

Horace Hammond, of Birmingham, visited with his mother and sister last Saturday and Sunday.

Last Friday and Saturday was about as warm as the most ardent lover of summer weather could desire.

Be careful, boys, about throwing a ball on Main street—the council has passed an ordinance prohibiting this practice.

City marshal Eddings, of Monte-vallo, was in the city last Saturday attending a trial in Justice W. W.
Wallace's court.

There has been a superabundance of rain within the past few days, and it is feared that crops will be injured by rust and rot.

Miss Etta Robertson went up to Pratt City last Friday where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Alphonse Verchot, for two or three weeks.

Mrs. Annie Lane and Miss Shivers, of Montevallo, were in the city a short time last Wednesday.
They are visitors at Shelby Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Pope, of Wilsonville, accompanied by their two pretty little girls, passed through Columbiana last Thursday on their way to Birmingham.

Commencement exercises of the Girls' Industrial School at Monte-vallo will begin next Sunday with the Commencement sermon and continue through the following Tuesday.

Communications from Supt. J. O.
Dorough and "Old Skew Ball" have been received, but will have to go over to next week for lack of space in this issue.

Miss Edna Nelson visited relatives and friends in Selma the fore part of this week.

All are cordially invited to attend the meetings of the District Conference at the Methodist church.

In this issue appears an advertisement of that prosperous institution, the Merchants' and Planters' bank of Montevallo.

A little bird tells us that two or three marriages are scheduled to take place this summer in which Columbiana parties are interested.

Rev. and Mrs. T. K. Roberts, of Oxford, arrived in the city Monday for a visit with relatives and to attend the Methodist Conference.

C. M. Nolan, one of Shelby's good farmers, was a pleasant caller Tuesday, and renewed his subscription for another year to The Sentinel.

McMillan & Haynes expect to move into their new offices in the Mason building next week. Dr.
Acker will move into the front room of the same building.

The city council has passed an ordinance prohibiting the burning of trash on Main street in the business portion of the town, and of riding bicycles on the sidewalks of the same street.

A lengthy communication regarding the recital of Miss Laurie
Jones, at Montevallo, is crowded out of this issue. We can only use so much matter each issue, and local matter dies very quickly hence it gets prestige.

Mrs. S. V. McCauley, who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. T. F. Vest, in Woodlawn, arrived in Columbiana last Friday and will visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Whitaker, during the summer.

The Methodist church presents a neat and tasty appearance since it has been remodeled. The tower is not yet finished, but the building is in good shape for the District Conference which begins today, and continue over Sunday.

In this issue will be found an advertisement of the Excitement Sale of the Columbiana Mercantile Company. They have cut prices all to finders, and say the goods must go regardless of cost. All goods are marked in plain figures.

T. A. Leathers reports the Shelby County Division of the Mutual Industrial Association of Georgia as growing in membership all the until this kind of life insurance will kill the old line companies.

Miss Ida O'Hara went up to Birmingham Monday, and was joined there by her brother, Rev. William O'Hara, of Montgomery, Alabama, for a vacation trip to St. Louis, Kansas City and the Mammoth Cave in Kentucky. They will be gone several weeks.

Our people will regret to learn that E. B. Nelson and family are soon to remove to Birmingham.

THE CLOSE OF A BEAUTIFUL LIFE.

Mrs. W. H. Bird Called to the Reward of an Earnest; Faithful Christian.

After a lingering illness brought on by a stroke of paralysis last January, Mrs. Bird, wife of Prof.
W. H. Bird, died at her home in this city on Tuesday night of last week at about eight o'clock, aged nearly 64 years.

Susan Cason Bird was born in
Russell county, Ala., September 3, 1841, and had she lived until next September would have been sixty-four years old. On November 17, 1868, she was married to Prof. W.
H. Bird at Equality, Ala. The fruit of that union is six children, five of whom survive her—Rev. J. E.
Bird, Graceville, Fla.; W. J. Bird,
Columbus, Ga.; and O. O., J. S. and Geo. T., of this city. Early in life the deceased united with the Methodist church, but in 1869 went to the Missionary Baptist church with her husband, and of which she was a faithful, consistent member until death.

Since stricken with paralysis in January, Mrs. Bird seemed to realize in her conscious moments that she would not recover, yet she battled nobly, but the shuttles in her loom of life became more weak and their movements more slow until on the night of May 2nd, surrounded with loved ones whose hearts were aching, the life of this good woman, devoted wife and christian mother gradually dimmed and then went out in peaceful slumber, and the soul took its flight to that world which we have read so much yet really know so little.

All who knew Mrs. Bird esteemed her greatly and loved her fondly, and deemed it an honor to add a leaflet to the rich garlands which good will, appreciation and fond love placed upon the new-made mound "neath which rest all that is mortal of a once devoted wife, mother and friend. In the close of her stainless life, though full of years it was, one can but exclaim:
"Twas all too soon!" The radiance from the influence of her well-spent life will always be a green spot in the memory of those who knew her best. Poetry nor eloquence in its most sublime sketching, have never overdrawn the blessings flowing from the self-sacrificing love of a christian mother, and the life of this christian mother, like the setting sun, leaves its influence upon the world from which it has gone.

Words of man are but little comfort to aching hearts in hours like this, but we feel sure that there is comfort to the aged husband who is broken with grief, to the sons whose heart strings are torn; in knowing that "on the other shore" the wife, the mother is waiting for those who are left behind for a little while, and we feel that this knowledge will soften the great sorrow that has spread its pall over the bereaved, and in which the entire community has a deep and tender sympathy.

The funeral occurred from the Baptist church, and in the absence of the pastor of that church the services were conducted by Rev.
G. T. Harris, the Methodist pastor, after which the remains, attended by a large number of friends, were taken to "the silent city of the dead."

Growing Aches and Pains.

Mrs. Josie Summer, Bremen,
Tex., writes, April 15, 1902: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. It cured her right away. I have also used it for frost bitten feet, with good success, it is the best liniment
I ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00 at William Bros.' drug store.

A ROLLER PROCESS FLOURING MILL.

That is the Enterprise Which Mr. Jackson Proposes to Operate.

As exclusively mentioned in The Sentinel last week, J. S. Jackson has accepted a proposition made him by the city council to build and operate a flouring mill in Columbiana, and the papers have been drawn and signed by all parties to the agreement.

The city gives Mr. Jackson a site provided he builds and successfully operates for five years a full roller process flouring mill, and this he agrees to do. The site is on East College street, and the mill is to be built this fall.

Young women, from eighteen to twenty-five years of age, who desire a three years' course in general hospital duty, may apply to Box
809 Birmingham, Ala. Candidates must be well recommended, and of good standing in their community.

A RAILROAD THAT WE MUST HAVE.

The St. Andrews, Columbus and Birmingham Railroad and Eufaula.

Eufaula people are going after the St. Andrews, Columbus and Birmingham railroad in earnest and from present indications that town has won out. A short time ago an invitation was extended the officials of that road to visit Eufaula, and the following press dispatch shows the result of that visit:

Eufaula, May 1.—Another interesting meeting of officials of the St. Andrews, Columbus and Birmingham railroad has been held here which, it is thought, will result in the beginning of the work of construction in this section at an early date. While in conference with a committee of representative business men, a counter proposition was agreed upon which, if accepted, and it is thought it will be, will require that the work of construction begin within thirty days.
The company requires the city to furnish the right of way through the city and county and terminal facilities instead of the $50,000 that was at first asked for. A committee of citizens will at once go to work in this direction, and it is thought will have no trouble in complying with their part of the contract.

Eufaula wants that railroad and has gone to work in earnest to get it, and there is no doubt of success:
Columbiana is on a direct line between Eufaula and Birmingham, and our efforts should be centered upon doing everything possible to secure this road. It is going to be built and Columbiana should be on the road. The Sentinel would suggest that the Commercial Club at once take up the matter and invite the officials of the road to visit our town in the near future.

Next week is commencement in the Columbiana Graded schools.

Exposure.

To bold draughts of air, to keen
and cutting winds, sudden changes of the temperature, scanty clothing, undue exposure of the throat and neck under public speaking and singing, bring on coughs and colds.
Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the best cure. Mrs. A. Barr, Houston,
Tex., writes, Jan. 31, 1902: "One bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup cured me of a very bad cough.
It is very pleasant to take. Sold by Williams Bros."

YOURS TO SERVE,

COLUMBIANA MERCANTILE CO.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL STORES.

STATE HAPPENINGS

Of General and Local Interest as They Occur.

Enjoined From Tearing Up Track.
Opelika, Ala.—The tearing up of the LaFayette railway track was stopped by injunction issued in the name of the state of Alabama restraining G. E. McGehee, president and general manager, and all other employees from dismantling the road. The work of wrecking the track began about a week ago, and nearly four miles of track had been torn up near the LaFayette end and the rails and ties hauled to Opelika. When the injunction was served this afternoon the gang of workmen was brought to this city.

It is alleged here that the dismantling of the road known as the Merchants' line, is due to a deal with the Central railway, which parallels it. It was because of the high freight rates on the Central that the farmers and merchants built the Merchants' line nine years ago to secure better rates. Patrons of the road declare that the track must be relaid and the road operated under the terms of the charter. It is evident that a big legal fight is on.

Severe Storm.

Gadsden, Ala.—There was a severe storm just below Gadsden Thursday afternoon at the Elliott fruit farm, which assumed the proportions of a small cyclone and did considerable damage in the way of blowing down fine shade trees. The wind blew down twenty-six large oak trees around the lake and spring, eight falling in the lake. The rainfall assumed the proportions of a waterspout and did considerable damage. No damage was done to the fruit trees. Just below the Elliott farm three clouds met and seemed to fight a battle in the sky, the result being a waterspout, which tore up the earth considerably. No houses were wrecked nor any one injured.

Four-Legged Chicken.

Troy, Ala.—Mr. Mobley, who lives nine miles from Troy, brought quite a curiosity in the way of a chicken to town several days ago. The biddie, which is only about two weeks old now, has four legs, the two hind legs being almost as perfectly developed as the two natural ones. Mr. Mobley presented the biddie to Jim Hyman, who tried to induce some of his hens to adopt it, but they were all afraid of it. Mr. Hyman's mother keeps it in a large basket and turns it out in the yard several times a day. It is as healthy and lively as any chicken Mr. Hyman has, and he thinks he will succeed in raising it.

Improving Coal Mines.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company has equipped Mine No. 4, near Ensley, with an electrical haulage, one of the best in the South. Quite a large sum of money was expended in equipping the mine and it is expected that the output will be increased more than double with the new system. Mine No. 3 at Ensley was installed with an electrical haulage system last year, and the output is much greater than under the old system. Mine No. 5 will be similarly equipped next.

Postoffice Appointments.

Washington, D. C.—Rural free delivery route No. 1 ordered established June 15 at Murry Cross, Etowah county, serving 588 people and 140 houses. Rural carriers appointed: Brewton, D. L. Walter A. Tiffin carrier, Hilary H. Tiffin substitute; Scale, route 1, John C. Vann carrier, Cary Vann substitute. Hessie M. Lee appointed postmaster at Drane, Lowndes county, vice Flora Neely, resigned.

Talladega, Ala.—R. S. West, a local contractor, was awarded the contract for improving and enlarging the Talladega county court house. The contract price is $13,500, and is to be completed by October 1st. The Michael Supply Company, another local concern, secured the plumbing and heating contract for $1,498.

Time Table Arranged.

Montgomery, Ala.—T. H. Mizell, trainmaster of the Mobile and Montgomery division of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, went down to Bay Minette and arranged the time table for the Bay Minette and Fort Morgan branch of the Louisville and Nashville.

There will be one first-class mixed train each way daily between Bay Minette and Foley, the terminal of the line.

Seven Killed in Mine.

Butte, Mont.—Seven men were killed and one injured, probably fatally, in an explosion in the Cora mine, one of the Heinze properties, Friday.

Roanoke, Va.—A special says the two daughters of Henry Whitaker, aged respectively 10 and 12 years, were drowned in a mill pond at East Pulaski. The girls were wading in the shallow part of the pond and ventured out beyond their depth. Their bodies were recovered.

Oldham, Eng.—Five thousand bales of cotton were burned in the Lancashire and Yorkshire Company's warehouse here Thursday morning.

Good Prospects for Electric Line.
Selma, Ala.—The prospects for the building of the electric line between Selma and Marion appear very bright today. The committee on subscriptions for Selma have about concluded their labors, and at the meeting which has been called for Monday night next will report having secured about $20,000 from Selma and Dallas county. Marion has already raised about $16,000 for Marion and Perry county, and it is thought that this sum will be sufficient to secure the issuance of bonds with which to build the road.

There is said to be just one possible hitch in the matter and that will likely be straightened out. This is that the subscriptions have been made to stock, while it is possible that the builders of the road will want it as a bonus. In either event it is thought that the building of the line is practically a certainty; and that before many months work on laying the track will commence.

Rains Cause Damage.

Roanoke, Va.—Passengers arriving here at midnight on a belated train from southwest Virginia bring news of great damage done by wind storms and cloudbursts along the Norfolk and Western railroads, between Roanoke and Bluefields. At the latter place six dwelling houses are reported blown down and completely demolished, all their occupants escaping injury. Between Vicksburg and Christiansburg, Va., more than three miles of the Norfolk and Western triple tracks have been washed away by a wall of water.

Laying Gas Mains.

Florence, Ala.—The Northern Alabama Gas Company has established a wonderful reputation for push and enterprise this spring. Eighteen miles of gas mains having been laid in the past few months. Since their mains reached Tusculum, they have made connections with half the business houses in the town and have orders for many more. There are yet three miles of mains to be laid. The plant of the company which is in Florence is supplying gas in abundance for the use of the three towns.

Telephone Lineman Drowns.

Decatur, Ala.—Paul Beckner, of Indiana, a lineman for the Morgan County Telephone Company, was drowned in Flint river near Hartselle, fourteen miles south of here, while bathing. His body has not yet been recovered.

Mr. Sherwood, local manager of the company, formerly of Ohio, is with the party searching for the body. Beckner was working on a long distance line which the company was constructing to Birmingham.

Lumber Company Assigns.

Bessemer, Ala.—The Krebs Manufacturing Company of this place, which is principally owned and controlled by M. J. Boots, posted a general deed of assignment to creditors Friday. The assets are given at $19,000 and the liabilities about the same amount. The principal creditors are W. H. Lewis, Bessemer Trust and Banking Company and Martin Bros., representing an indebtedness of about $12,000. Mr. Boots stands high in Bessemer. He was for some time paymaster for the United States Cast Iron and Pipe Company, of this place.

A Small Wreck.

Selma, Ala.—A small wreck occurred on the Meridian branch of the Southern Friday at Marshall Plafirm, near Gallion. Five coal cars were ditched which blocked the road for several hours and necessitated the transfer of passengers.

The five cars that were ditched were part of an extra freight train going to Meridian and the cause of the wreck is assigned to spreading of the rails. No one was hurt in the wreck except the conductor, who had one of his fingers slightly mashed.

Ensley, Ala.—Frank McDonald, aged 25 years, and employed as a wire puller at the rod mill, was fatally injured Wednesday night at 10 o'clock, dying Thursday morning at 3 o'clock. Mr. McDonald was struck by a piece of flying billet. His shoulder was knocked out of place and he was injured internally.

After Six Days Boys Is Found.

Marion, Ala.—The body of Cadet Harris, of the Marion Military Institute, who was drowned Monday, was recovered at daylight Friday morning within a hundred yards from where it went down. The river had been dredged and guarded for over six miles day and night since the accident by the students and a large number of citizens, who volunteered their services.

Paul Jones' Remains.

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt has approved the recommendation of Secretary Morton that the body of John Paul Jones be buried at Annapolis, Md.

Pensacola, Fla.—A. S. Lewis, a gentleman of high standing from Jackson County, Fla., was placed on trial in the United States court here on the charge of perjury, and a disposition of the matter is one of great importance.

Mr. Lewis is alleged to have committed the offense against the federal statutes three years ago, and the case was on the local docket for that term. It has been postponed from time to time.

A HUNDRED KILLED

And Much Damage Done by an Awful Tornado at Snyder, Oklahoma.

A LARGE NUMBER INJURED.

Communication Established With Snyder Relief and Provisions

Sent to the Town.

Snyder, Okla.—At midnight Thursday night all estimates of the number of persons killed by last night's tornado exceed 100, and 150 persons were injured. Ninety-five persons are known to be dead, several are missing, and a number of the injured are in a critical condition. The wounded found shelter in an improvised hospital until tonight, when they were taken to hospitals in Guthrie and Oklahoma City. The financial loss is estimated at $350,000.

Vernon, Tex.—The first train from Snyder since the tornado struck that town Wednesday night arrived here at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Passengers of this train gave a story of fearful loss of life and property destruction.

Snyder is about a mile square. The tornado struck the town just a little west of the southwest corner of the township. Its pathway was about a half mile wide, and in this trip there is not a vestige of anything left, and in places the ground is literally ploughed up. To the west of the pathway everything is devastated with the exception of one or two stone stores. The course of the tornado was due northeast.

Snyder is crossed by two tracks of the Frisco system, one traverses the town just a little north of its center, and runs east and west. The other runs north and south, about half way between the center of the town and the eastern edge. Not a thing remains north and west of the junction of these tracks, except the depot building and a water tank, both twisted.

The tornado struck the town at 7:40 p. m. Just preceding it there was a heavy rainstorm, accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning and deafening thunder. Nearly all of the homes in Snyder had storm cellars, and during this heavy downpour many sought shelter in these cellars.

Left Their Refuge.

Then there was a let-up of perhaps ten minutes, during which time many thinking that the storm had broken, left their places of refuge and returned to their houses. Then, with a deafening rumbling noise, the funnel-shaped cloud dipped to the earth, apparently two miles from the town, and with appalling velocity crashed through the town. Many were caught between their houses and the storm cellars and killed outright. Others remained in their houses and perished when the houses were demolished.

The first intimation the outside world had of the cyclone was at 7:40 o'clock when the long distance operator at Hobart heard the long distance operator in the Snyder exchange scream. The cause of this scream was the destruction of the Snyder telephone building, which was a long narrow wood building, and which was split half in two by the wind, the break occurring where the switchboard was fastened to the wall. As the wind whipped off the front end of this building, a heavy piece of wood was driven into the side of the head of the manager, who was sitting at his desk. The operator taking in the situation, gave a scream which was heard over the telephone at Hobart. A young man who was in the exchange at the time grabbed the operator and fairly slung her in a glass booth near by and slammed the door. The glass in this booth was not even cracked.

Round House Demolished.

The immense solid stone Frisco round house here was completely demolished, and not a stone that was in the structure has yet been located. Not an engine was in the round house at the time. A box car loaded with sacks of cement was scattered over two miles. Another box car loaded with broom straw that was standing by the car of cement, was overturned, but the broom straw was not disturbed by the wind.

The two cotton gins of the town were completely demolished. One of the boilers standing had all the steam fittings blown off and the iron door to this boiler was found two miles to the northeast. As an instance of the suction force of the wind, a substantial stone building in the southwest portion of the place, just east of where the cyclone first struck the town, had its entire front literally pulled out. This building is fully twenty yards from the path of the tornado. It was Threw Cat in Negro's Face.

St. Louis, Mo.—John Kriesler, aged 16, was stabbed to death Monday after having playfully thrown a cat into the face of Sam Hellum, a negro aged 32 years. Hellum was arrested.

Fire in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O.—Fire, originating in the Cleveland News Company at St. Clair and Wood streets Monday night, caused a loss of $110,000.

Profitable Buffalo.

A buffalo bull recently slaughtered in Iowa brought its owner nearly $1,000. The head sold for $600, the hide for $300 and the meat for 50 cents a pound.

A Spanish Custom.

All well educated Spanish women are taught from the earliest years to handle the sword, and as a result they are noted for their admirable figures and easy walk.

a gambling hall and all the paraphernalia, is in plain view.

Guthrie, Okla.—The latest official reports from the tornado-stricken town of Snyder, Okla., place the list of dead at ninety-five. Other rumors advance this figure to one hundred. It is highly probable that the death list when accurately tabulated will reach 130.

Of those injured, there are various reports, reaching from 100 to 150.

Fire Broke Out.

To add to the general confusion and distress after the tornado had passed, fire broke out and burned up all that remained of the buildings in the business blocks. So far it has not been possible to find out whether or not any bodies were cremated, but it is highly probable that such was the case.

Horses Killed.

About seventy-five head of horses and cattle were killed on the town site. A committee was set to work to remove carcasses.

Blown Sixty Miles.

Fort Cobb, Okla.—Many law books, letters, photographs, bank books and papers were picked up here, having been blown here from Snyder, a distance of sixty miles. The storm did little damage here.

A Fearful Explosion.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Twenty persons are known to be dead and more than 100 others were injured in the railroad wreck and dynamite explosion which occurred early Thursday morning on the Pennsylvania railroad in the southern part of the city. That no more persons were killed is considered remarkable by the Pennsylvania officials, as a full box car of dynamite exploded, directly at the middle of the heavy express train.

A scene of horror followed the explosion of the dynamite. The passenger cars and some of the freight cars instantly took fire. As the reverberation of the terrific explosion died away, the agonizing cries of the injured could be heard. Men and women came tumbling and climbing from under the wreckage. No one for the moment seemed to know what to do, and many of the passengers, momentarily seized with terror, ran wildly about the fields on the north side of the railroad or waded into the shallow waters of the river, which parallels the railroad on the south. Realizing their safety and the danger still threatening others, the frightened passengers soon began the rescue of the living. As they approached the wreck another explosion occurred which sent them scurrying away. Fearing that the entire train might be loaded with dynamite, no one dared go near the wreck. Finally the railroad men who knew the contents of the burning freight train led the way and the uninjured passengers followed.

Storm in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Two fatalities, several minor injuries and serious damage throughout the state, resulting from an extraordinary rain and electric storm, accompanied by high winds and hail, are reported from cities throughout Indiana. Ernest Johnson was killed by lightning at Nora, while Edward Martin, a laborer is dead from the same cause at Union City. A number of slight injuries by lightning are reported from various parts of the state. Hail inflicted serious damage upon crops, fruit, greenhouses and residences. One man was knocked unconscious by a hail stone at Logansport.

At Elkhart, Mrs. Elbert R. Burns died of fright during the storm. Telephone and telegraph service is seriously crippled.

Tornado Reaches Missouri.

Platte City, Mo.—A tornado struck the town of Hampton, eight miles southwest of here, Wednesday night, and several persons were injured, though none were killed. A drug store, a general store and a blacksmith shop were demolished and half a dozen residences were badly damaged.

The public school building at Benton was struck by lightning during a severe rain storm. A number of school children were shocked, but no one was badly hurt. Montevallo, 20 miles southeast of here, sustained much damage from a wind storm. Several residences were destroyed, but no lives were lost.

Lieutenant Ross Is Drowned.

Newport News, Va.—First Lieut. Moses H. Moss, of the artillery corps, stationed at Fort Monroe, was drowned in the moat at that post early Sunday. He was riding a bicycle along the cement walk which skirts the moat, when the chain broke, precipitating him into the water. Lieutenant Ross was 25 years of age, a native of Pennsylvania, and a graduate of Washington and Jefferson college. He was with the volunteer army in the war with Spain.

Violate Sunday Laws.

St. Louis, Mo.—Six saloon keepers were arrested in St. Louis county Sunday on charge of violating the Sunday closing law by selling liquor. It is stated that one of them is also a justice of the peace.

Portsmouth, Va.—After a vigorous chase that led throughout the Atlantic coast cities, Secret Service Officer T. E. Land, of Boston, Monday arrested Thomas Brewster, Charles Fairbanks and Robert Slack, all of San Francisco, charged with extensive counterfeiting operations. The trio were located in Key West, Fla., but they succeeded in eluding arrest until they reached here. The secret service officer also secured $9,000 in counterfeit money.

A TERRIBLE TORNADO

Sweeps Over Kansas, Destroying Many Lives—Injured Many—Town Ruined.

TWENTY-SIX MORE DEAD.

May Go Higher—Country Districts to Hear From—One House Standing In Stricken Section.

Marquette, Kans.—Twenty-six persons are known to have been killed and over forty-four were injured in a tornado, the most disastrous in the history of Central Kansas, which swept over this portion of the state at midnight. One large section of Marquette, where the principal loss of life occurred, was entirely wiped out. Reports from the surrounding country shows that the destruction to life and property was widespread and the list of dead and injured is growing constantly.

A store room belonging to Olaf Olson, a furniture dealer, has been converted into a temporary morgue and at 9:30 o'clock twenty-four bodies had been brought in. Following the storm the utmost confusion prevailed and it will be some time before the actual extent of the storm is known.

Stats of Panic.

When daylight broke over the town it found the entire population in a state of panic. Business was entirely suspended and everyone who escaped injury turned his attention toward aiding the wounded.

The tornado formed three miles south of Marquette and did not spend its force until it had passed many miles north of the town. In Marquette the residence portion west of the main street suffered the principal damage. The houses in the course of the tornado were all, with two or three exceptions, completely wrecked. In this section there was a number of modern residences of which only one, the home of R. A. Thompson, was left standing.

The Swedish Lutheran and Methodist churches were among the first buildings struck, and they together with the parsonage adjoining the Methodist church, were demolished.

Yesterday afternoon had been hot and oppressive, the atmosphere loaded with electricity. Late in the evening a terrific rain storm broke over the town. The rain continued to fall in torrent until 11:50 o'clock Monday night, when the tornado struck. Within less than five minutes it had wrought its terrible work and passed on. Telegraph and telephone wires were carried down and it was several hours before the outside world could be apprised of the plight of the city.

Clearing the Debris.

It was not until 8 o'clock that physicians and surgeons began arriving from surrounding towns. In the meantime dozens of willing hands set to work to clear away the debris and extricate the dead and injured. The Swedish Lutheran parsonage and several private residences were turned into temporary hospitals, while aid was asked from other towns and physicians were sent from Salina and many nearby places.

Marquette is a town of 1,500 people in McPherson county. It is in the exact center of Kansas and in the richest farming country in the state.

Distinguished Educator Dead.

Auburn, Ala.—Dr. O. D. Smith, professor of mathematics in the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for over twenty years, and one of the best known instructors in Alabama, died here suddenly Sunday.

Farmer Killed by Son-in-Law.

Fort Worth, Tex.—A special from Terrell, I. T., says that in a street duel Sunday between Joe Matthews, a farmer, and Bruce Roberts, Matthews was instantly killed. Matthews had objected to the attention of Roberts to his daughter. Saturday he learned they were married, and meeting them on the public road fired on Roberts, frightening the latter's team, the bride being injured in a runaway.

The father took the daughter to his home Saturday and when the father and his son-in-law met at the livery stable, Matthews fired at once, and Roberts returned the fire, killing Matthews.

TRAPS FOR THE MOSQUITO.

Lured by the Glare of Lights or the Hum of Music.

The old adage to first catch the hare has been embodied in a number of mechanical devices which have appeared in the Patent Office records for the extermination of mosquitoes and similar obnoxious insects. If the insects can be successfully lured into the death chambers provided for them their destruction in great numbers is a comparatively easy matter. The efficiency of the electric light in accomplishing this has been demonstrated innumerable times, and in some of the devices this is one of the prime features of merit. There are many places near human habitations such as on lawns, in gardens, etc., where the relief for the household from the attacks of the insects justifies the expense of maintaining light on commercial circuits. In the daytime the innocent victims are lured to the death traps by the use of harps, electrically actuated, or by the dissemination of artificially produced odors agreeable to mosquitoes or other insects upon which the war has been declared. In one form the insect is killed by poisonous fumes generated within a dome, and in others they are electrocuted the instant they alight on the electrically charged surfaces. It is claimed that devices of this character set up in swamps, or other infested spots, will destroy millions of insects. The inventor of the device, who hails from Massachusetts, asserts that enough experimental work has been done to demonstrate the practical utility of the apparatus.—Philadelphia Record.

The Coffee we Drink.

More than one billion pounds of coffee, valued at $88,000,000, came into the United States last year, practically all for the use of the people of the United States. The total quantity of coffee imported from foreign countries during the year, as shown by figures recently issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics, was 1,112,703,546 pounds, valued at $87,427,099, and from Porto Rico, 2,391,524 pounds, and from the Hawaiian Islands, 1,827,491 pounds—the total value of the coffee from these two island divisions of the United States being $515,852, bringing the total quantity of coffee brought into the country up to 1,117,000,000 pounds, and the value to $88,000,000. During the same period (the calendar year 1904) there was exported from the United States 64,256,947 pounds of coffee of foreign production, valued at $6,468,592, so that the consumption of coffee during the year was approximately 1,053,000,000 pounds, valued at about $81,000,000.

The figures of the world's production of coffee in the coffee year of 1903-4, which have just reached the Bureau of Statistics, show that the coffee exported from the various producing countries of the world, and therefore the quantity entering the world's markets during that year, was, in round terms, 2,200,000,000 pounds, or barely double the quantity brought into the United States alone during the calendar year 1904.—Harper's Weekly.

The Headache Habit.

"Half the people in New York," said the post-graduate medical student, "have the Sunday morning headache habit. A good many of them belong to the perfectly respectable element of the community, too. They don't stay out late on Saturday night, neither do they indulge in a quiet little spree in the privacy of their own rooms. They simply have the headache habit. Most people who have it attribute their Sabbath-day disposition to late rising and the consequent postponement of their morning cup of coffee beyond the usual hour. In some cases that may be the cause, but as a rule the headache is a habit.

"It is a habit that is very easily contracted. One Sunday the victim really does get up with an accidental headache. The following Saturday night when he goes to bed he wonders if he will have it next day. The result of thinking so much about it is another headache. If he has it on the third and fourth morning the habit is well established, and unless the sufferer makes pretty strong drafts on his will power he is likely to be in for Sunday headaches for the rest of his life."—New York Press.

Japanese Beauty Standard.

It's rather a nice standard of beauty that the Japanese have for their dear little, queer little, most fascinating little women.

On the whole, the Japanese consider that a woman should not exceed five feet in height; should have a comparatively fair skin and be well developed; should have long, thin and jet black hair; an oval face, with a narrow, straight nose; rather large eyes, nearly black; thick eyelashes; a small mouth; hiding behind red full lips even rows of small white teeth; ears not altogether small; thick eyebrows and a medium forehead, from which the hair should grow in circular or Fujiyama shape—that shape recalling the truncated cone of the famous volcano.

Add to these the modesty, sweet humility and gentle submission which the Japs deem essential to their womanhood, and which long centuries of practice have instilled into them pretty thoroughly—and the result might well be a very interesting and adorable little creatures.

THE CHICAGO STRIKE

Among the Teamsters May End. It has Received Three Heavy Blows.

TO HOLD MEETING TO DECIDE.

Meeting of Teamsters' Joint Council To Be Held to Decide About the Strike.

Chicago, Ill.—Three severe blows were dealt to the cause of the striking teamsters Friday night, and as a result the governing body of the organization, the Teamsters' Joint Council, will meet to decide whether or not the strike shall be called off.

The decision to call this meeting of the council followed a two hours' session between the officials of the teamsters' union and the Teamowners' Association. The members of the latter body have all through the present strike been favorable to teamsters rather than to the employers' association. However, the teamowners bluntly informed the teamsters that their cause was lost, and that the best thing they could do was to call off the strike, and do it at once.

Second Blow.

The second blow came also from the Teamowners' association, when the resignation of John C. Driscoll, its secretary, was tendered, and adopted. Secretary Driscoll has been an official of the Teamowners' Association since its inception several years ago, and during the present strike has been a potent factor on the side of the teamsters.

The third blow was adopted at the meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' association which is made up of business men from all parts of the state.

At a secret meeting held at the Auditorium hotel, the members of the association unanimously decided that they would uphold the cause of the Employers' association, which has been conducting the fight against the striking teamsters.

Negro Attacked.

Walter St. Clair, colored, employed by Armour & Co., at the stock yards, was attacked by a crowd of strike sympathizers at Twenty-seventh and Canal streets. St. Clair was apparently suspected of being a strike breaker, employed by the Peabody Coal Co. He was beaten with clubs, black jacks and other weapons. Two deputy sheriffs rescued him and escorted him to the stables of the Peabody company at Twenty-sixth and Canal streets, where his wounds were dressed. He was sent home in an ambulance.

A total of 1900 wagons were scheduled to be moved Friday by non-union teamsters under police protection. This is the largest number of wagons moved since the teamsters' strike began, the excess over the records of the previous days being 150 wagons. To accomplish the task 2,100 policemen were detailed to guard the wagons and were assisted by an almost equal number of deputy sheriffs.

Children Strike.

Spread of sympathetic strikes among public school children received a new impetus today. Pupils of the Carter H. Harrison school at Twenty-third street and Wentworth avenue went on strike when wagons of the Peabody Coal Co. arrived at the building to deliver coal. The Peabody company is a member of the Employers' association and has been active in delivering with non-union teamsters to firms antagonized by the strikers. Police were still on guard Friday at the Hendricks public school, where a strike similar to that at the Carter Harrison school had not entirely subsided.

Much Trouble.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Within the past forty-eight hours there have been more fatalities in serious accidents and in fights here than ever before in the history of Chattanooga. The city has a bloodier record than any similar time since the close of the civil war. There are now no less than eight persons at Erlanger hospital, one of whom is already dead, while four others are probably fatally injured. Following is the list:

Fred Gummis, killed in fight at glass works.

William Meacham, seriously wounded in same fight.

Fred Meacham, wounded in head; same fight; may die.

John Sherman, fatally cut while acting as peacemaker between Doc Shelton and James Noodles, who are both seriously cut.

Percy Russell, grazed by train running fifty miles an hour, and one side badly injured; may recover.

Green Riley, half of head crushed in pile-driver; will die.

New Texas Gusher.

Beaumont, Tex.—A new thousand barrel gusher was brought in at Dayton, Tex., by the Paraffine Company. This opens a new field. Dayton is fifty-one miles west of Beaumont on the Humble-Sour Lake pipe line of the J. M. Guffy Company.

Only passenger trains are leaving Warsaw and these are crowded with the engineering departments, all the engine drivers, firemen and porters having quit work.

Got His Quick Scheme.

The Sentinel is in receipt of a letter from a New York novelty concern in which it is said "we expect to do a great deal of advertising in the South this year," and then goes on to say that a very low rate must be made by the newspapers to get the business offered, and proposes "to pay one-fourth of a cent a line per month for readers, matter to be leaded," and asked that we publish two enclosed readers of thirty lines each at the above named rate. Gee! what a scheme for the other fellow. "One-fourth of a cent a line a month." Six lines of leaded matter to the inch for which the immense sum of one and a half cents per month is offered; eighteen cents a year per year, and agents' discount to come out of that. When we accept any such a proposition we hope every business firm in our town will boycott us to a stand still.

This particular New York concern must think the newspaper men of the South are a bunch of darnphools and ignoramuses if it "expects to do a great deal of advertising in the South" at prices quoted in the above. It is high time the Alabama newspaper men give these foreign advertisers a jolt in the neck which will not be misunderstood. They should be given to understand that when they are ready to pay a fair price for advertising they will get it and not before. Because they "advertise in four hundred and forty 'leven papers'" (an old story) is no argument in favor of the low price demanded.

The Sentinel hopes that at the coming meeting of the Alabama Press Association some plan may be adopted or formulated (call it a trust if you want to) whereby the foreign advertiser should be made to pay a fair price for space or stay out. Establish a price and stick to it, and then these dealers in nostrums, cure-alls, liver rejuvenators, and all such "stuff" will recognize that they are dealing with business men on a business basis. If there is to be any discrimination in prices for advertisers give it to the home advertiser.

Delightful Time.

Some two or three weeks ago, Hon. Jno. J. Haynes was invited by R. B. Posey to deliver a memorial address at Happersville, and as it was thought Mr. Haynes should have a chaperon in making his debut among the good people of Happersville and community, the editor of The Sentinel was included in the invitation to see that Mr. Haynes made the trip without being abducted.

Bright and early last Saturday, we started for Happersville with our debutante who was wearing a smile like a Fourth of July celebration, while his heart was beating time with the regularity of a drum major's baton on a quick march. The air was cool and the drive a delightful one. All along the way farmers were busy in the fields plowing corn and cotton, and with the exception of an occasional field where grass had gotten the upper hand, the crops are looking fine, and, by the way, we noticed considerable cotton, but not as much corn as we had hoped for.

About ten o'clock we arrived at the Methodist church, about one mile south of Happersville, where the exercises were to be held. In a little while there had gathered at this grove about three hundred of the good people of that community; there were little tots dressed, most of them, in spotless white garments, their faces bright and rosy, and their eyes—the wide open windows of the soul—sparkling in happy anticipation; there was seen the boys and the girls just into their teens, happy and care-free; and numerous in that throng were pretty young women and noble young men; the staid and matured matron and hardy men with honest faces—men who looked you in the eye when they addressed you; there, too, was an occasional face upon which time had left seams and furrows made by its plowshare—men and women feeble and infirm whose looks had become silvered by the frosts of many winters—men and women who are now in the twilight of a well-spent and upright life; here under the majestic water oak, walnut and hickory, whose outstretched arms were spread like a benediction, the people of Happersville and community had gathered under a canopy of living green to pay tribute to the memory of their sacred dead who rested in the little graveyard just across the roadway.

Too much cannot be said of the little folks who contributed to the services—they were letter perfect in all they did. The choir, under the management of Miss Stella Posey, was a good one and the music furnished by this group of excellent voices contributed largely to the pleasure and success of the gathering.

The memorial address of Mr. Haynes was a beautiful word picture of why we should remember the loved ones who have gone from us into the unseen beyond. In honoring them we honor ourselves. In speaking of those who had offered up their lives upon the altar builded by the war between the States the speaker was patently eloquent. Gray with age is the true story that great suffering between loved ones of different kindred tongue, but the eloquence of Mr. Haynes in active fancy wove the threads of retrospect into pictures of those dark and troublous times, and as he talked almost involuntarily would arms reach out into the air to clasp a memory which was being fired anew in the hearts of those old men who had passed through those trying times. It was a masterful effort and The Sentinel hopes in the near future to publish the speech in its entirety. We would not forget the kindly words of welcome on the part of Prof. Strock, and the feeling response of R. P. Tucker; the sentiment expressed by these gentlemen touched a responsive chord in the heart of each listener.

At this time dinner was announced, and such a dinner it was! Little wonder that Happersville is said to be in the garden spot of Shelby county! Imagine a table at least seventy-five feet long and loaded "from end to end" with everything that is good to eat. When friend Haynes saw that appetizing display it took his breath away, but he loosened up his belt and remarked "here is where I will make a full hand," and he did it, too. In a little while he paid no more attention to the admonishing advice of his chaperone than he did to the breeze that kissed the rosy cheeks of the fair maidens who kept his plate generously supplied. The writer of this tried to keep pace with him, but he was beaten a block in the first five minutes. We tried to pull him away but all to no purpose, and when we left him to his fate his ivorys were making half-moons in a luscious strawberry pie, while he was hanging onto half a carcass of fried chicken like a carcass of a resident of the swamps down in Mississippi. But the announcement that the program of the day was to be resumed called the people away from a table upon which there was still enough left to satisfy the hunger of a thousand.

Ex-Governor Joseph F. Johnston was then introduced and for more than an hour he entertained the audience. It was at Happersville that the Governor, when but a boy, shouldered his musket in defense of the Southland, and his speech was of a reminiscent nature in which he rehearsed many things incidental to the war. His speech was enjoyed, and especially by the old veterans present. The assemblage then marched to the cemetery where each grave was remembered with flowers, and many a rose was bedewed with a tear as it was placed upon a mound under which the remains of some loved one rested.

It was a red letter day in the history of Happersville, and to us it marked a time when new friendships were created that we trust will be lasting. The hospitality shown to the stranger within their gates by the people of Happersville and community will not soon be forgotten.

R. B. Posey was master of ceremonies, and did much to make the gathering successful one.

WILSONVILLE.

Mrs. W. H. Pope is visiting relatives at Oxford.

Mrs. McGee is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Branscomb, in Talladoga.

Miss Olive Evans, of Helena, is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. B. Riddle.

Drummers have been quite numerous in our city for the past few days.

Mrs. Donahett, of Birmingham, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. D. Brooks.

J. F. Pope is attending the Southern Baptist Convention at Kansas City, Mo.

Rev. C. D. Brooks was in attendance at the M. E. church conference in your city last week.

Messrs. Jim Robertson and W. W. Wallace, of your city, was among us last Tuesday.

W. F. Davis and wife, of your city, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Wilkins Sunday evening.

R. B. Posey and daughters, Misses Stella and Lockie, of Happersville, were in town last Thursday.

We were glad to see Mrs. W. S. Gwin out riding one evening last week after her protracted illness.

Miss Libby Porter, after quite a stay with her aunt, Mrs. G. W. McGowan, has returned to her home in Jacksonville.

L. M. Burgess and family, of Aniston, are visiting Mrs. Iris E. Taylor for a few days. Mr. Burgess and family will reside in Mobile in the future.

We were glad to have the pleasure of shaking hands with our esteemed editor and the Hon. John J. Haynes on our streets Saturday eve as they returned from the memorial service at Happersville. Come again gentlemen, we are always glad to see you.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. J. L. Riddle, who has been so low at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Iris E. Taylor (the Drummers' Home) is still improving by degrees. It would be somewhat surprising if she did not improve under the tender and constant nursing of Mrs. Taylor, for she is as good a nurse as she is mistress of a hotel.

We are having rain, rain and a lot of it, still our farmers have not been idle and the crops are looking fine. We hope for them a very prosperous year for if there is any on class of people that we sympathize with and wish to see prosper it is the farmer. Young men, do not look down upon the farmer; his is a noble work, and the successful farmer does more real good and is on d be looked upon as more honorable than many others, that seek other fields of labor and fame. We can live without some others, but we cannot live without the farmer.

So God bless the farmers and let them prosper be the prayer of RIP VAN WINKLE.

Happersville Memorial Service.

The memorial service which had been advertised in the county papers, came off last Saturday at Happersville, and was pronounced a success by all present. The program differed somewhat from that which had been advertised.

The school children who were on the program acquitted themselves in a most admirable manner—just as children always do.

The welcome address was delivered by Prof. Strock, and the response was made by R. P. Tucker; each of these gentlemen seemed to be in the proper place, and their talks were just simply fine.

The address of Hon. John J. Haynes was eloquent indeed, and let me say right here that Mr. Haynes won the admiration and esteem of all our people.

Then came Editor Whitaker's song, entitled "The Sweetest Song the World has Ever Heard." It was indeed grand, and there was but one thing lacking—it was not half long enough. (This was the first visit to Happersville of Messrs. Haynes and Whitaker, and our people all vote unanimously and ask you to not let it be your last. Come often, and a hearty welcome you will find.)

Dinner was then announced, and such a dinner! Oh, well; Happersville is always in the lead when it comes to hospitality. Enough dinner for everybody, and as free as the water that runs down the Coosa river.

After the people had eaten, talked, smoked, and chatted generally, the crowd was again called together, and after the rendering of several selections by the choir, Editor Whitaker gave another song, "He Fought for a Cause He Thought Was Right," and a grand one it was, and before I leave the songs let me say that our choir did some fine singing before as well as after dinner. The selections were all good, but the one that struck me as being the best, was "Tenting On the Old Church Ground."

The next was a memorial address by ex-Governor Joe Johnston. I hardly know what to say of this address, except that it was one of the best ever delivered in Happersville that I have any knowledge of. It was at this place that Governor Johnston, while in his teens, enlisted in the Confederate army as a private soldier at the time of the civil war, and his speech was mostly of recollections of the civil war. Occasionally he would tell a short story which was enjoyed by all. Governor Johnston, as well as Messrs. Haynes, Whitaker, Strock and Tucker have all promised to come back to see our people, and speak and sing for them. After another song by the choir, the people marched to the cemetery and decorated the graves with flowers. After they had spent some time around the graves of loved ones, everybody joined in singing that song "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." The benediction was pronounced by Prof. Strock, and the people adjourned to meet again on Saturday before the first Sunday in May, 1905.

This was the first service of the kind ever held here. Our people responded nobly to the call to clean off the cemetery, and those who could not come, or most of them, sent hands, and there was fully one hundred men and boys at work on the day appointed. We expect to have another working in the late summer or fall, and then we are going to keep this up annually. Our people are united in this grand cause, and where there is unity there is strength, and where there is strength something is going to be done.

For fear that I am trespassing too much on your valuable space, I will close by wishing you much success, and adding that you are giving us one of the best county papers that we have ever had. Very respectfully,
R. B. P.

Probate Notices. State of Alabama,) Probate Court, Shelby County,) April 12th, 1905. John C. Cross, having this day filed in said court his application in writing, alleging that he and John Harris, Paul Harris, G. O. Harris, Mary Harris, Annie Harris, Julia Harris and Chris Harris, all being heirs of Virginia Harris deceased, are the joint owners of certain real property described in said petition; and that said property cannot be equitably divided without a sale thereof, the 22nd day of May, 1905, was appointed a day set for the hearing of the same at my office in Columbiana, Ala., and inasmuch as it appears that a portion of the parties who are represented as being interested in the said property, reside without the State, it is therefore ordered that notice of said petition, and of the time and place for hearing the same be given publicly, to be continued weekly for three consecutive weeks, in the Columbiana Sentinel, a newspaper published in said county. A. P. LONGSHORE, Judge of Probate. May 4-11.

Will Filed for Probate.

The State of Alabama,) In Probate Court, Shelby County,) Present—the Hon. A. P. Longshore Probate Judge. This day came Mary A. Shiner and filed in this court her petition in writing, as executor, purporting to be the last Will and Testament of George W. Shiner, late of said county, deceased, for probate, and praying that from said petition that the following named persons, next of kin of deceased testator, are non-residents, to-wit: John G. Shiner, who resides in Gardfield, N. M.; Geo. B. Shiner and Alma Murray, wife of Eugene Murray, both of whom reside in St. Louis, Mo. It is ordered by the Court, that the 22 day of May, A. D. 1905, be set apart for the hearing of said petition, and that notice thereof be given for three consecutive weeks in the Columbiana Sentinel, a newspaper published in said county, notifying all persons to be in appearance before me on that day, and contest said application, if they think proper. A. P. LONGSHORE, Judge of Probate. May 4-11.

Notice of Administrators' Sale.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

Howard Latham visited in Montevallo last Sunday.

Miss Lizzie Carter, of Shelby, visited friends here last Friday.

Dr. McGraw, of Vincent, is in the city visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. S. Pitts.

Hon. E. S. Lyman, of Montevallo, was in the city last Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Annie Vincent, of Vincent, is a guest of her niece, Mrs. John S. Pitts this week.

The grass and the weeds have nearly taken the cotton in some parts of the county.

Miss Bertie Pearson, of Bridge-ton, is in the city a guest of her sister, Mrs. Geo. Weaver.

Will Albright, who has been in South Alabama for several months, has returned to Columbiana.

Nolan Barnett was among those who attended the memorial services at Harpersville last Saturday.

The Presbyterian churchyard is surrounded by a wire fence—an improvement over the old wooden picket.

John S. Pitts and O. O. Bird are in attendance at the Knights of Pythias grand lodge in Montgomery.

Robert and Lucile Abercrombie, of Leeds, are in the city visiting their uncles, J. H. and J. L. Abercrombie.

The Sentinel is under obligations to A. C. Galloway for a fine lot of turnips—some of them larger than a saucer.

The rooters have been attending the ball game in force, and the players all come in for a share of the roasting.

Mrs. Howard Latham is visiting her parents in Montevallo, and attending the commencement of the Girls' School.

J. E. Ruffin, a prominent merchant of Helena, was in the city last Saturday and made this office a pleasant call.

Attorney W. W. Wallace and Jas. N. Robertson were doing business in the upper end of the county a day or two last week.

Mrs. Will Weaver and sister, Miss Ruth Leonard, of Birmingham, are in the city visiting at the home of Mrs. Weaver.

The Sentinel received a pleasant call last Friday from Joshua B. Collins, of Washington, who is gathering statistics for the census department.

The doors and windows of heaven opened last Monday, and the rain came down in a flood for several hours. It was the heaviest rain that has visited this section in many months.

The Sentinel is requested to say that the San Souci club has gone into summer quarters—in other words, it has disbanded for the summer.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. J. W. Peers on Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

W. E. Millender, one of the good old men of this county and who lives near Harpersville, was in the city the fore part of the week attending county court.

The Sentinel is glad to state that Mrs. M. E. Mason, who was seriously ill several days last week, is much improved, and is it hoped she will soon regain her usual good health.

Owing to the commencement exercises this week the Commercial Club did not meet last Tuesday night, but every member is requested to be present next Tuesday night.

The Sentinel is requested to say that Judge Longshore and Prof. Dowell will address a meeting at Wright's school house next Saturday night upon the subject of local taxation.

The Sentinel will have a full report of the recent Methodist district conference in the next issue. Lack of space has compelled us to omit several interesting local matters this week.

Mrs. H. W. Nelson returned from Sylacauga, Tuesday, where she had been called by the illness of her brother. He is in a serious condition and Mrs. Nelson expects to return to Sylacauga soon.

Miss Linnie Seale and Miss Mildred White sang a pretty duet at the Methodist church Saturday, and on Sunday morning Miss Seale rendered that beautiful song a "Dream of Paradise."

Miss Ethel McMath, of Montevallo, was in the city a day or two last week, visiting at the home of Mrs. W. F. Davis. Miss McMath is teacher of stenography in the Girls' school at Montevallo.

The Sentinel received a pleasant call the latter part of the week from W. E. Riddle. He has recently sold his farm on Fourmile, and will probably locate at Wilsonville. There is lots of room in Shelby county for such men as Mr. Riddle.

T. H. Borum, who removed from this county to Sylacauga several months ago, has returned to his old county and will live near Vincent. Mr. Borum has been appointed carrier on route No. 2, out of Vincent, and has entered upon his duties.

John B. Farrell, who is attending a business college in Birmingham, was in the city last Friday and Saturday to attend the Methodist Conference. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Augusta Farrell, of Calvary. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call from Mr. Farrell.

Rev. S. P. West, business manager of the Alabama Christian Advocate, of Birmingham, was in the city last week attending the conference. He was a member of this district conference for fifteen years, and says it is like getting among homefolks when he comes down here. We acknowledge a pleasant call from Rev. S. P. West and Rev. Mr. Mabrey, of Birmingham.

A pleasant contribution to the church service last Thursday night was a duet by Dr. Williams, of Shelby, and Miss O'Neal, of Canada, who is visiting Mrs. Walker at Shelby. Miss O'Neal has a wonderfully sweet soprano voice, while that of Dr. Williams blended with it most harmoniously.

The public schools of Shelby closed on Tuesday of last week, and on Tuesday night an interesting program was rendered by the pupils. Quite a number attended from Columbiana, and a most delightful time is reported. The Sentinel learns that the school has been a very successful one this year.

A dainty missive lies upon our table which announces the approaching marriage of Miss Edna Nelson to Mr. William Alexander Abercrombie, which takes place at the Presbyterian church, this city, on the night of June 7th, at eight thirty o'clock. These young people are among the most prominent in our town, and their numerous friends are extending congratulations in advance of the happy event.

We are in receipt of an invitation to attend a house party and dance June 3rd, to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. MacKnight, at the new Shelby Springs hotel, to celebrate the opening of the season of 1905. This pretty little summer resort has undergone a metamorphosis since Mr. and Mrs. MacKnight have taken charge, and on the night of the opening they will make it very pleasant for their friends.

J. W. Mason, of this city, received information last Saturday of the death of his brother Noel, who died in Cisco, Texas, on May 4th, of pneumonia, aged 45. The deceased was born and reared in Shelby county, and had many friends here all of whom will regret to hear of his death. He was a member of the Methodist church, also a member of the order of Odd Fellows, and was buried by that organization.

For Sale.

A high grade, cabinet sewing machine, good as new. Call on Dr. or Mrs. C. T. Acker, Columbiana.

For Sale.

The Columbiana Land Co. has the following property for sale, but the prices quoted will only hold good for only a short time:

Good six-room house and one acre of ground in Montevallo; good location, convenient to the Girl's Industrial School, price $750.

Sixty acres (20 acres cleared) one mile north of Columbiana. Part of east half of southwest quarter, and part of west half of southwest quarter, section 14, township 21, range 1 west. Valued at $10.00 per acre; one-third cash, balance on time.

A 5-room dwelling house, near school house in Columbiana, with one acre and a half of land attached, including garden and orchard. Will sell or rent at a bargain.

Herbinc.

Will overcome indigestion and dyspepsia; regulate the bowels and cure liver and kidney complaint.

It is the best blood enricher and invigorator in the world. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and should you be a sufferer from disease, you will use it if you are wise.

R. N. Andrews, Editor and Mgr. Cocoa and Rockledge News, Cocoa, Fla., writes: "I have used Herbinc in my family, and find it a most excellent medicine. Its effect upon myself have been a marked benefit. Sold by Williams Bros."

Fine Ball Game.

The first of a series of three ball games between the Columbiana and Coal City teams was played on the local ground Tuesday afternoon, and resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 6 to 2. The visitors are ball players all right enough, but after the second inning they were out-classed at every point. Harry Roberts, for the Columbiana team, struck out nineteen men, while Hudson, for Coal City team has seven to his credit. The initial game was witnessed by a large crowd.

The second game was played yesterday, and the final game will be played this afternoon.

Commencement.

To do the commencement exercises of the Columbiana schools justice, and lack of space in this issue, we have decided to let it go over to our next issue. Suffice to say for the present that the year has been a most successful one for the school, and the entertainments of the week have been very interesting to all.

The Methodist congregation in Columbiana have every reason to be proud of their church since it has been remodeled. The improvements were superintended by Rev. G. T. Harris, the pastor, and great credit is due him for what he has done. He put his hand to the wheel and helped to push the work—putting in a full day around the building ever since the work was commenced. The front of the building is certainly a piece of architectural beauty.

Quite a number of our subscribers are due us their subscription, and we would be glad to have them pay up. Strange as it may appear to some people, it takes money to run a newspaper.

In the supplement of this issue we present our readers with the pictures of the two graduates who have finished the course in the schools here, and they are to be congratulated on acquitting themselves so nicely before a large and hence last night.

Mrs. H. C. Fulton Dead.

For many months this good woman suffered with a lingering illness which preyed upon her physical being and baffled all available medical skill. Finally Dr. Brown was called to her bedside in Gar-nice to consult with the attending physician, and it was decided to remove her to an infirmary in Birmingham where a surgical operation could be performed. Three times did she undergo such an operation, but it seemed to only add to the fire which was consuming her. But her life was done, her stewardship was finished, and on the 10th, inst., God said "It is enough; come ye, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

The writer has had the pleasure of being in her home from time to time, and with astonishment and pleasure he witnessed a devotion to three little children who called her "mamma," so perfect in its nature that it called forth the most favorable comment on the part of every one. Her affection for her husband seemed to be of the most perfect type; her bearing toward her associates was gentle and kind. She was truly a christian woman, and was a member of the M. E. church South.

Her remains were carried to El-lottsville for interment, Dr. Thos. Slaughter conducting the funeral services. Dr. Slaughter said: "Thank God she rests from her labors."

She leaves a bereaved husband and four children, the youngest a babe, to mourn her death. May the Father above throw the mantle of his comforting love about them, and soothe them in the great sorrow that has come to them.

Growing Aches and Pains.

Mrs. Josie Summer, Bremond, Tex., writes, April 15, 1902: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. It cured her right away. I have also used it for frost bitten feet, with good success. It is the best liniment I ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00 at William Bros.' drug store.

Calera Items.

Charles L. O'Neal has returned from a delightful fishing trip down into Florida.

"Ten nights in a Bar Room" was played under a tent by a traveling troupe last Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shaffer and Mr. and Mrs. Lane, of Birmingham, are also here with a view of making this their future home.

A fishing party composed of Joe Aronson, Horace Holcomb, Robert Cargile, Wm. Benson and Tom Cooper spent last week most pleasantly on the Cobsa river.

A party of Thorsby, people composed of Misses Anna Howard, Sue Olson, Laura Shaffer, and Messers. Geo. Phalin and Edward O'Grady spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Thorson.

Mr. and Mrs. Stenman, Mr. and Mrs. Svienon, of New York, A. Widener, the general agent of a steamship company of New York, are in Calera guests of Sam'l Thorson, and looking to the bringing of a lot of immigrants to Calera.

The Calera friends of Dr. W. S. DuBose were delighted to see that he had been appointed pension commissioner for Shelby county by Governor Jelks, at the same time they will watch to see how the dizzy height will effect his cool head.

On Saturday, June 3rd, Mrs. J. Asa Rountree, of the Daughters of Confederacy, will visit Calera and confer the Cross on the members of the Calera camp of veterans. A basket dinner will be given and one of the largest gatherings of the people ever seen in this place will be here. Come down, Mr. Editor, and bring everybody with you. NUG.

Exposure.

To cold draughts of air, to keen and cutting winds, sudden changes of the temperature, scanty clothing, undue exposure of the throat and neck after public speaking and singing, bring on coughs and colds.

Billard's Horehound Syrup is the best cure. Mrs. A. Barr, Houston, Tex., writes, Jun. 31, 1902: "One bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup cured me of a very bad cough. It is very pleasant to take. Sold by Williams Bros."

Summer School Knoxville, Tennessee, June 20-July 26.

An account of the above occasion, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Knoxville, Tenn., at the very low rate of one fare plus 25 cents for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 18th, 19th, 20th, 24th and 25th; also July 1st, 8th, 9th and 10th, with final limit returning fifteen days from date of sale. An extension until Sept. 30th may be obtained by depositing ticket with Joint Agent and paying a fee of 50 cents. For further information and tickets apply to any Southern Railway Agent or write to J. M. Harrison, District Passenger Agent, Birmingham, Ala.

School is out and the young people are now discussing picnics and fish fries. They are deserving of their vacation.

FEMININE FANCIES.

The daughters of Captain John Mul-lan, U. S. A., are awaiting a lady in Washington, D. C.

Miss Caroline Hazard has completed her fifth year as President of Wellesley College, Massachusetts.

Mrs. McKinley has aged since that terrible blow; her hair is a little whiter, her gray eyes not quite so bright.

Mrs. Ogden Goetz has had made up an enormous expense an edition de luxe of the manuscript of "Hyperion."

The Socialists of Saxony have sub-scribed $20,000 for ex-Princess Louise, who, it is said, will refuse to accept it.

Miss Marie Dolan, a clever young English actress, has made $500,000 in the last three months by speculating in stocks.

The famous Austrian novelist, Mme. Mary von Blum-Eschenbach, pos-sesses one of the finest collection of watches.

Mrs. May Kee, wife of a wealthy Chinese merchant, of Indianapolis, is popular in the most exclusive circles of the Hoosier capital.

Mrs. Carrie F. Adams, of Fort Gib-son, Ind. Ter., is the only Daughter of the American Revolution who is de-scended from Indian blood.

Mrs. Joseph R. Hawley, widow of General Hawley, has given the Con-necticut Historical Society many relics of her distinguished husband.

Mrs. McDonald, wife of the new Governor of Colorado, is not at all glad because of being pushed into eminence as "the first lady of the State."

Mrs. Rachel J. Wilson Albright, ninety-three years old, a granddaughter of Betsy Ross, who made the first Ameri-can flag, has just died at Fort Mad-ison, Iowa.

A feature of the celebration of the birthday of Miss Fanny J. Crosby, the blind hymn writer, at the First Meth-odist Church, Bridgeport, Conn., was the singing of her last hymn.

Kuropatkin Leaves the Field.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg, Rus-sia, to the Ministry of War, France, says General Kuropatkin has been finally relieved of the command of the First Manchurian Army and re-called to St. Petersburg.

General Davis Leaves Panama.

Governor Davis sailed for New York City from Panama. Colonel Gorgas, chief sanitary officer, will be acting Governor pending the arrival of Chas. E. Magoon, General Davis' successor.

"John Oliver Hobbes," the novelist, says that women are not fair. Then was Tennyson's "Dream of Fair Women" only that and nothing more? asks the Cleveland Leader.

"Is genius hereditary?" asks a sci-entific journal. An editor replies: "We have not time to investigate the sub-ject, but we are inclined to think that it is. At all events, our youngsters are wonderfully smart," quotes the Chi-cago Journal.

LIEUTENANT BOWMAN

IN FORTY- EIGHT HOURS PE-RU-NA CURED HIM.

Cold Affected Head and Throat ---Attack Was Severe.

Chas. W. Bowman, 1st Lieut. and Adj. 4th M. S. M. Cav. Vols., writes from

"I have been particularly benefited by its use for colds in the head and throat. I have been able to fully cure myself of a most severe attack in forty-eight hours by its use according to directions. I use it as a preventive whenever threatened with an attack."

Members of my family also use it for like ailments. We are recommending it to our friends."—C. W. Bowman.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peru-na has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit.

LARGEST FINE SHOE EXCLUSIVISTS

ST. LOUIS, U. S. A.

Habit Clung to Shoup.

Ex-Senator Shoup, of Idaho, who died recently, clung closely through all his residence in Washington to one old frontier precaution that seemed ingrained. He would never sit with his back to a door or open window but always took a seat or stood in a room where he could command the entrance and where no one could come up behind him. In his early days in the west he had got mixed up in one or two feuds, but, being a man of the world, and quick on his feet, he had contrived to come through unhurt

During these busy and trouble-filled years he had learned the necessity of caution. He had seen too many men snuffed out from behind not to recognize the potential danger that lay in an unwatched door or window. The habits of a lifetime are not easily shaken off, so that even in the safe seclusion of the senate restaurant Mr. Shoup always sat where he could keep a wary eye on all who entered the room.

Spain's Boy King.

The young boy king is tall, rather thin, with a prominent under lip, nose and jaw bone. His eyes are bluish gray—by no means Spanish—and his hair is not brown. He has very winning manners when speaking or smiling, and it is asserted that he is able to speak six different languages fluently, viz.: Spanish, German, French, English, Italian and Portuguese. Don Alfonso is also a military tactician of no mean order. He grasps readily the laws of regimental maneuvering, and when leading a battalion in a sham attack against a foe it is affirmed that he has a natural intuition short of genius for the right move in the right place and at the right time.

Eskimo Courtships.

A Washington woman was chattering to Commander Peary, the Arctic explorer, relative to the Eskimos, and asked if they had a distinct language. Mr. Peary replied in the affirmative, whereupon the butterfly said: "Do give me an idea of how the language sounds. For instance, how would an Eskimo say 'good morning'?" "He wouldn't say it," gravely responded the explorer. "Dear me!" said the woman. "Are there, then, no social amenities among the Eskimos?" "On the contrary," said Peary, "they are a comparatively polite people; but as in the country where they abide they would have occasion to use the expression only once a year they have no words equivalent to it."

Humming of Telegraph Wires.

It is said that the humming of telegraph wires running east and west presages a fall of temperature often ten or more hours before it is marked by the thermometer, and, on the other hand, the humming of north and south wires foretells a rise of temperature.

CAPT. GRAHAM'S CURE

Sores on Face and Back—Tried Many Doctors Without Success—Gives Thanks to Cuticura.

Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Eoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., writing under date of June 14, '04, says: "I am so grateful I want to thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had bad skin. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends told me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment did it."

Paris Is Acquired.

Birmingham, Ala.—Coroner W. D. Paris has been acquitted on a charge of embezzlement brought by Joseph Foggiana, one of the administrators of an Italian who met his death in the Virginia mine in the awful explosion of February 20.

A warrant was sworn out against the coroner charging him with embezzling $74 which amount was taken from the pockets of one of the victims of the mine explosion. The coroner denied the allegation, claiming that no claim had been made officially for the money.

President Diaz Signs Treaty.

Mexico City.—President Diaz has signed and promulgated a treaty of convention providing for the arbitration of pecuniary claims of citizens of any of the signatory powers. The convention was one of the results of the Pan-American conference. This convention has now been signed by the United States, Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras and Peru.

PROTESTING AGAINST RATE REDUCTION.

Atlanta, Ga.—The recent proposition of J. Pope Brown, chairman of the Georgia railroad commission, to reduce the passenger rate in Georgia from three to two cents per mile was protested against by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railway Conductors, and unions of the blacksmiths, machinists and telegraphers, boiler-makers, railway trainmen, carpenters and joiners, clerks and car men. These organizations employed an attorney especially to represent them, who urged that such a reduction would work against the prosperity of the state and lead to a reduction in the number of railroad employes as well as of their wages.

The Travelers' Protective Association also protested that a reduction as proposed would result in fewer trains and poorer service.—Special Dispatch to the New York News Bureau.

Negro Is Lynched by Northern Mob.

Cairo, Ill.—Tom Witherspoon, a negro, was taken from officers at Belmont, Mo., fifteen miles below Cairo, Friday evening by a mob of several hundred persons and hanged in the public square to a large swing.

Friday morning a negro, said to be Witherspoon, who only recently returned from the penitentiary, went to the home of Fred Hess, three miles below Belmont, and at the point of a rifle demanded $600. Hess, who is a member of the Missouri legislature, told the negro that he did not have that much money in the house. The negro ordered him to go to Belmont and get the money. He compelled Hess to hitch up a horse and buggy, and ordered him to get in with his wife and child.

The negro then saddled another horse, and mounting told Hess to drive toward Belmont, and when near the place the negro forced Mrs. Hess and child to get out of the buggy and enter a deserted shanty. The negro then told Hess to drive to Belmont and to send the money back by a negro preacher inside of an hour or he would kill his wife and child.

Hess hurried to Belmont and got the money and sent it back with a negro preacher. The desperado immediately mounted a horse and rode up the Iron Mountain railroad tracks.

A posse was organized at once by Belmont and Columbus citizens, and a small party followed the negro on a switch engine and discovered that he took refuge in the swamps around First Lake. He was captured and taken to Belmont by the officers. A mob of several hundred persons had formed in Belmont, and they immediately took charge of the negro, and despite his begging and pleadings, they rushed him into the public square and secured a rope from a large swing and strung the negro up as the guilty man.

A New Court House.

Prattville, Ala.—The board of revenue has signed contracts with M. T. Leuman & Co., of Louisville, Ky., for the building of the new court house, and with Dobson & Bynum, of Montgomery, Ala., for the jail. It is understood work on each of these buildings will be begun at once. On account of the work necessary on the court house, it is likely the contractors will be one year in building it.

The Planters' Warehouse Company was organized here a few days ago and will erect a warehouse with a capacity of six or eight thousand bales of cotton. It is understood this company will buy and sell cotton and fertilizers and farmers' supplies generally. It will be ready for the fall business.

The Alabama Central railway, between Booth and Autaugaville, in this county, will put on a regular schedule for passengers in about six days. At present only freight trains are being run. When the regular schedule is put on, it is understood the trains will run through to Montgomery.

Schiller's Father's Wish.

Appropos of the Friedrich Schiller centenary it is interesting to recall that when the news of the birth of the poet reached his father, the latter besought God to bestow upon the boy "those gifts of mind and soul to which he himself, through lack of education, had never attained."

Body Guards of Rulers.

A German periodical has printed pictures and descriptions of the picturesque body guards of the rulers of the modern world, including the Indian body guard of the King of England, and Swiss guard of the pope and many others. It remarks of the United States secret service that no king can be more carefully protected than is President Roosevelt, even though his body guard is not clad in bright and easily recognized uniforms.

QUICK RESULTS.

W. J. Hill, of Concord, N. C., Justice of the Peace, says: "Don's Kidney Pills proved a very efficient remedy in my case. I used them for disordered kidneys and backache, from which I had experienced a great deal of trouble and pain. The kidney secretions were very irregular, dark colored and full of sediment. The Pills cleared it all up, and I have not had an ache in my back since taking the last dose. My health generally is improved a great deal."

Difference of a Letter.

After the State had introduced most of its testimony in the case against C. F. Taylor, of Chicago, on trial at Nacocoches, Tex., charged with swindling, the court sustained a motion to quash the indictment because the typewriter had written "any" where the statutes prescribed "and." Taylor was remanded to await further action by the grand jury.

Lady Curzon's Generosity.

Lady Curzon, wife of the viceroy, has invited all the Europeans and Indians injured during the recent earthquakes who are able to be moved to come to the Walker and Ripon hospitals at Simla as her guests. The invitation was sent through the lieutenant governor of the Punjab, with an intimation that the American vicereine will gladly defray the expenses.

Volcano Active Since 1729.

Mount Sangay is the most active volcano in the world. It is situated in Ecuador, is 17,120 feet in height and has been in constant activity since 1729. The sounds of its eruptions are sometimes heard in Quito, 150 miles distant, and 267 reports were once counted in one hour.

Fixing Railroad Rates.

Making railroad rates is like playing a game of checkers or chess. Communities to be benefited, producers, manufacturers or shippers to be aided represent the pieces used. Every possible move is studied for its effect on the general result by skilled traffic managers. A false move in the making of freight rates may mean the ruin of a city, of a great manufacturing interest, of an agricultural community. Railroads strive to build up all these so that each may have an equal chance in the sharp competition of business. So sensitive to this rivalry are the railroads that in order to build up business along their lines they frequently allow the shipper to practically dictate rates. Rate making has been a matter of development; of mutual concessions for mutual benefit. That is why the railroads of the United States have voluntarily made freight rates so much lower in this country than they are on the government-owned and operated railways of Europe and Australia that they are now the lowest transportation rates in the world.

There are 252,436 miles of ocean cable in operation now.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

Current News Garnered as It Falls From the Plant of Report.

To Manufacture Railroad Irons.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Birmingham Frog and Casting Works, composed of Anniston capitalists, and proposing to do business at North Birmingham, has filed articles of incorporation in the probate court. The company is capitalized at $60,000, and seems to be a sort of branch of the Kilby Locomotive and Machine Works, at Anniston. Outside capital is also interested in the concern.

The company proposes to manufacture all sorts of railroad iron, frogs, switches, etc. It is learned that the erection of a plant at North Birmingham is contemplated in the near future.

The members of the company are as follows: Kilby Locomotive and Machine Works, W. W. Stringfellow, and Minnie P. Scott, all of Anniston. W. W. Stringfellow is president and E. M. Kilby is treasurer and general manager.

Murdered and Robbed.

Woodlawn, Ala.—Isaac Whitten Walter, a prominent citizen of Woodlawn, was held up, robbed and shot to death at 12:30 o'clock Friday morning while in twenty yards of his home, on Fifty-ninth street.

His body was found in a pool of blood near where he was shot. The indications are that Walter resisted the highwayman and fired one shot at him. A desperate struggle ensued. The man who fired the fatal shot escaped, leaving his revolver and cap near the victim, taking with him the gold watch and a sum of money from the body of the deceased.

Aged Man Is Beaten to Death.

Opelika, Ala.—A special from Auburn says: Edgar Hurt, an almost helpless old man was cruelly beaten to death in his own yard here about 9 o'clock Wednesday night.

Mr. Hurt made his home with the family of his brother, Walter, and last night about 9 o'clock stepped out in the back yard. Soon a groan was heard and a brief search discovered Mr. Hurt with his skull crushed in by a blow on the head over the right eye. He was tenderly borne to the house, still living, and anxious friends begged him to tell them who had done the dastardly deed.

Opposed to Foreigners.

Decatur, Ala.—The Business Men's League at an enthusiastic meeting here has denounced in resolutions the plans of flooding the South with foreign immigrants. The resolutions set forth that while labor is badly needed in the whole Tennessee river valley of North Alabama, the farmers are opposed to the promiscuous importation of shiftless and uneducated foreigners. The resolutions call for men from the North and Northwest to come South instead of going to Canada and that such settlers will be welcomed with open arms.

Serious Shooting Near Hobson.

Vernon, Ala.—Last Sunday evening a very serious shooting took place near Hudson, on the Southern railway, in this county. It seems that several men got into a quarrel when Mr. Jim Wilson shot Mr. Dock Younger. Mr. Younger died Tuesday morning from the wound. The parties all lived near Hudson and had formerly been good friends.

The particulars of the tragedy are not given.

Mr. Wilson left soon after the shooting and is still at large.

Injured by a Train.

Birmingham, Ala.—Friday morning John T. Tabor was run over by a freight train at Keener station on the Alabama Great Southern railroad. His left leg was badly crushed, and it is expected amputation will be necessary. He was brought to the city, and met by Gaudin Undertaking Company's ambulance and taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where arrangements had been made for his reception.

Receiver Appointed.

Cincinnati, O.—H. P. Boyden, former city auditor, was appointed receiver for Holseman & Co., bankers and brokers, Friday by United States Judge Thompson, bond being fixed at $200,000. While no regular statement has yet been issued, Mr. Holseman says the firm's liabilities are about $190,000 and that the firm can eventually pay all claims in full.

Change of Venue Denied Williams.

Cullman, Ala.—The change of venue asked in the Williams murder trial was refused. Court will convene Saturday morning, when the case will be taken up again.

Order for Cars.

Anniston, Ala.—The Western Steel Car and Foundry Company has received an order for 1,000 cars to be built for the Missouri Pacific railroad. General Manager H. A. McCord states that all these cars will be built at the local plant. With this new order, the orders now on hand and in prospect, it will be necessary to increase the working force considerably within a short while.

Stores Are Flooded.

Gadsden, Ala.—The heaviest rainfall known in this section of the country fell in Attalla late Thursday afternoon, which flooded the streets, stores and churches, drowned hogs and did considerable damage to stocks and goods. The rain fell in torrents for an hour and all the stores on Fourth street were flooded to a depth of a foot or more, while the basement of the new Methodist church was badly flooded. Both Wills and Black creek are out of their banks, and Coosa river rose over five feet in a short time and is still rising.

From Ball Play and Ewing's mill comes news of a fearful rain, and the farmers state that what crops they had up are ruined. The rainfall in this section the past three weeks has been the heaviest known for years, and the farmers are far behind. Very little cotton has been planted, and it is now too late to put in any more, consequently the cotton crop in this section will be greatly reduced.

New Cocaine Ordinance.

Ensley, Ala.—The judiciary committee of the board of aldermen and city attorney, Capt. Romaine Boyd, held a meeting last night and prepared an anti-cocaine ordinance which will be up for adoption at the next meeting of the council on June 1st.

There is barely any chance of its failure to become a law, as the need for some sweeping ordinance has been noted a long time. The board worked on the cocaine evil for some time last year, but no real good has been accomplished. The increase of the evil among the large negro population of the city has caused the council to adopt stringent laws. The new ordinance will prohibit the sale of cocaine in the city and a violation of the ordinance will result in a very heavy fine.

Runaway Accident.

Cullman, Ala.—In a runaway Thursday afternoon about 6 o'clock, near Logan, a small town in the western portion of this county, Dr. B. M. Kinney, leading druggist at this place, was badly bruised up and Mr. Dunwoody, traveling representative for Parke, Davis & Co., of New Orleans, had the misfortune of having his jaw broken and otherwise seriously injured.

The two gentlemen mentioned were out on a business trip and were driving at a rapid rate down a hill to avoid a heavy and fast approaching rain, when the horse became frightened, ran away and smashed the vehicle to pieces. At present the injured parties are resting easy, and while their injuries are exceedingly painful neither is likely to prove fatal.

Money Subscribed for Bridge.

Decatur, Ala.—Almost all of the subscriptions for stock in the new wagon, electric railway and foot bridge has been raised, and the people here are now waiting for a representative of the bridge people to come here to close up the matter and start to work. There is some talk of building an electric railway to Huntsville, twenty-five miles east of this city, on the Southern railway.

Lost An Arm By Accident.

Cullman, Ala.—By an accidental discharge of a gun Thursday afternoon a young man by the name of Herman Warnke, living two miles north of this place, lost his right arm just above the elbow. The young man was out hunting and had set his gun up against the fence and rested his gun arm on the rail, when through some cause the weapon discharged with the above result.

Fertilizer Factory Increased.

Florence, Ala.—At a meeting of the directors of the Tennessee alley Fertilizer Manufacturing Company, at East Florence, the enlargement of the plant was decided upon and steps will be taken immediately to increase its capacity 300 per cent. The old Florence Roller Company's plant adjoining the fertilizer factory has been purchased and to this large brick building additions will be made. The fertilizer factory will be one of the largest in the state.

Married at First Sight.

Decatur, Ala.—Having never seen each other before their wedding day, William C. Holland, of Arlington, Washington state, and Mrs. Belle Parish, of Wright, Morgan county, have been married at the home of the bride. Courtship was carried on solely by mail. After an exchange of photographs, the groom came 3,000 miles to claim his bride. They will return to the Pacific coast.

Manila Bonds Sold.

Washington, D. C.—Bids were opened at the insular bureau of the war department for the sale of $1,000,000 Manila municipal bonds, bearing 4 per cent interest, redeemable after and within thirty years, the proceeds to be devoted to sewerage and other public works. The highest bidder was the First National Bank of Columbus, Ohio, which offered 109.5625.

Contest Growing Warm.

Atlanta, Ga.—The contest for the next governorship is rapidly reaching a warm and interesting stage. Hoke Smith, in an interview given out in which he replies to an editorial in the Augusta Chronicle, charges that the Chronicle is under the control of railroad interests. Under these circumstances he says Editor Loyless will naturally oppose him if he becomes a candidate.

Mr. Smith further stresses the intimidation which he has already made, that Clark Howell is aligned with the corporation interests.

Mr. Howell, when shown the interview, came back with an interesting retort in which he declares that Mr. Smith has blown hot and cold on the corporation question with every change of the moon. He asserts that he is ready any time to compare records on the corporation question with Mr. Smith, and that when the proper times comes he will "strip from him the sham cloak of reform that he is wearing." Mr. Howell further declares that he will prove that Mr. Smith's "corporation record is as vulnerable as his record as an attorney."

Will Not Interfere.

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt, as heretofore noted, has been urged to take steps looking to a government inquiry into the operation of life insurance companies, and especially the Equitable Life Assurance society of New York, concerning which embarrassing complications have developed during the past few months. After careful consideration of the subject and inquiry into the legal phases of such suggested investigation, the President has determined that in the entire circumstances the government has no authority to take up the matter either through a special commission or through a bureau of corporations.

Big Will Is Contested.

Chicago, Ill.—Suit to set aside the will of the late Thomas H. Wickes, vice president of the Pullman Palace Car company, has been begun here in the circuit court. According to the will Hugh P. Walden, a nephew of the testator, was made executor of the estate, and is the chief beneficiary.

The suit is brought by the three children of the deceased, Thomas H. Wickes, Jr., Mrs. Laura Annette Wickes Felt and Mrs. Florence Wickes Johnston. Demand is made that the estate be distributed according to law. The claim is made that Walden exerted undue influence and fraudulent acts and practices upon Mr. Wickes.

One Man Dead; 35 Injured.

Baltimore, Md.—William Stembler is dead and thirty-five persons are injured as a result of the collision of two trolley cars returning from West Port, a suburban resort center near here, Friday morning. Others of the victims of the accident are expected to die. The last car but one had started for the city, stopping at the Western Maryland railroad crossing, while the conductor ascertained that no trains were approaching. The railroad crossing is at the bottom of a steep grade, and down this the last car for the city was approaching when the brakes failed to act. This car crashed into the one standing at the bottom of the hill, and the two were totally wrecked.

Hay Goes to Paris.

Badenauheim.—Secretary Hay has finished the course of baths here and will start Sunday for Paris, where Mrs. Hay awaits him.

Professor Grodell is quite satisfied with the effects of the taking of the baths has had on Mr. Hay, but he has advised him to abstain from all official work for several months, such a course being usually necessary as the course of treatment. Secretary Hay expects therefore, to spend the summer at his country house and remain there until autumn.

Shooting Affray.

Gadsden, Ala.—A shooting affray took place Thursday morning at Crutcher mines, ten miles above Gadsden, between Kit Carson and Charlie Dexter, an Irishman. An investigation showed that Dexter, the Irishman, had been shot by Carson in the left arm, making a very bad flesh wound. Carson made his escape.

Killed By Falling Tree.

Huntsville, Ala.—Hill Curry, of this city, was killed by a falling tree in Lee's Cove Saturday while hunting. His head was crushed and he died immediately. His relatives are unknown and the young man's body was buried near the scene of his death.

Floods in Alabama.

Huntsville, Ala.—The river bottom lands of Madison, Marshall and Morgan counties, along the Tennessee river, have been overflowed, much damage having been done. The replanting of thousands of acres of cotton and corn will be necessary.

Ex-Confederate Dead.

Lexington, Ky.—Rev. Ben Bigstaff, former chaplain of the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley, Ky., died here Friday of apoplexy, aged sixty-five years. Rev. Mr. Bigstaff was with General John Morgan in all his campaigns. After the war he became a preacher. He resigned as chaplain at the Confederate Home and returned to the mountain people to preach. He was known all over the South.

ROUTES ROJESTVENSKY

A Battle Comes off in the Korean Strait—Togo is in Pursuit.

OREL AND BORODINO SUNK.

Four Cruisers and Repairship Lost By Russians—A Cruiser and Ten Torpedoes by Japs.

St. Petersburg.—In this momentous hour the emperor, admiralty and the Russian people are waiting breathlessly for the Japanese to furnish authentic news of the fate of Vice Admiral Rojestsvensky's fleet, in which the hopes of the Russians are centered. The official disposition is to construe Tokio's silence favorably, but at the same time the strategic reason for such silence is recognized.

The public altering the premature jubilation of Sunday night, is inclined to reverse its attitude and to become pessimistic.

The report sent to Washington by the American consul at Nagasaki of the sinking of five Russian warships, including a battleship and repair ship, was accepted as the most definite and the most authentic piece of news received up to midnight, and undoubtedly produced a bad impression. The fear expressed that the battleship sunk might have been Rojestsvensky's flag ship, the Kniazovarov, on which the Japanese undoubtedly would concentrate their fire.

Filled With Modern Machinery. The sinking of the repair ship Kamchatka which was filled with the most modern machinery, might, it was thought, prove later to be a more severe loss than that of a warship, but at the admiralty where crowds congregated Sunday afternoon and evening, the opinion was expressed that if Rojestsvensky had cleared the gateway to the sea of Japan with no greater loss than that reported by the American consul, the passage had not been dearly purchased, especially if later reports should prove that the Japanese losses were anything like equal proportionately.

Probably no one in Russia displayed such intense anxiety as the emperor. Early Sunday morning he summoned Grand Duke Alexis, his admiral; Admiral Avellan, head of the Russian admiralty department, and Admiral Wrenius, chief of the general staff of the navy to Tsarskoe-Selo and remained closeted with them up to a late hour last night, impatiently awaiting information and poring over charts.

Gave Nothing But Rumors.

The only news received by his majesty from Russian sources were dispatched from Russian agents and consuls at Chinese ports, which could give nothing but current rumors. The only time the emperor left the members of his cabinet was to attend service in the chapel of the Alexandra place when the chaplain prayed for Rojestsvensky's success.

The emperor was greatly distressed when the Washington dispatch containing the information sent to the consul at Nagasaki arrived.

Two Washington Dispatches.

Washington, D. C.—The following is the text of the Nagasaki dispatch to the state department: "Nagasaki, May 28.—Japanese sunk the Russian battleship Borodino and four more warships, and a repair ship."

The other dispatch read as follows: "Tokio, May 28.—Japanese fleet engaged the Baltic squadron this afternoon in the Straits of Tsu Shima, which was held. Cannonading heard from shore."

Orel and Borodino Sunk.

Washington, D. C.—From information which has been received in Washington it is believed that two of the Russian ships reported to have been sunk in the Korean Straits by the Japanese are the Orel and her sister ship, the Borodino. They are battleships of 13,000 tons. Three other vessels reported sunk are believed to have been cruisers, the remaining one being a repair ship.

The Orel and Borodino are of 13,515 tons displacement each, heavily armed, well protected and were designed to make 18 knots. They measure 397 feet by 76 feet with 26 feet draught, and both have a lofty spar deck, fully thirty feet above the water line, extending from the bow to the quarter deck. Forward is mounted a pair of 12.4-inch guns in a turret, protected by eleven inches of Krupp armor. Another pair of guns of the same size is mounted aft. There are thirty other guns of the intermediate battery, and the vessels carry two submerged torpedo tubes, and two above water. A special feature of the vessels is their verticle longitudinal bulkheads of inch

Saw Mill Is Burned.

Washburn, Wis.—The large saw mill owned by A. Kelly & Sprague, has been totally destroyed by fire, together with the machine and blacksmith shops and a large quantity of sawed timber. Loss, $115,000, covered by insurance.

Ex-Governor Wilson Dies.

Charleston, W. Va.—Former Governor of West Virginia E. W. Wilson died here Saturday after suffering for over a year of tuberculosis.

armor, running throughout the whole length of the ship at a distance of nine or ten feet in boarding ships sides, designed to localize the effect of a blow from a torpedo.

Japanese Loss.

Tsingtiau.—There is a running naval engagement between the Russian and Japanese fleets in the Straits of Korea, near the island of Okl. It is reported that the whole Russian fleet is not participating, all the slower vessels having steamed around Japan. The Japanese losses so far are stated to be one cruiser and ten torpedo boats.

Main Fleet Took Part in the Battle. St. Petersburg.—A dispatch to a news agency from Che Foo says that private advices have been received by the Japanese consul there, stating that the main portion of the Russian Baltic fleet engaged the Japanese squadron in the Straits of Korea Saturday night.

Correspondents Muzzled.

Tokio.—Absolutely no news, concerning the operations of the Japanese and Russian fleet was obtainable here today. Newspapers are held under absolute leash, and all telegraph and cables are closed to press dispatches.

Intense Interest in Paris.

Paris, France.—Intense interest has been aroused here by the news that a naval battle has been fought between the Russian and Japanese fleets. Official and diplomatic quarters are without advice, most of the information reaching Paris coming through the Associated Press dispatches forwarded from the United States. These dispatches are prominently displayed in the evening editions of the newspapers, and are eagerly commented on.

The Temps reproduces a dispatch from Rome saying that the Italian minister of marine, Admiral Mirabello, has received a cablegram from Che Foo giving a rumor that a battle of the most violent character has been fought in which both combatants suffered serious loss.

All the newspapers display a tone of extreme anxiety over the result.

The Temps pays a glowing tribute to Admiral Rojestsvensky's skill in preparing his squadrons for the final encounter, and to his audacity in taking the route where the Japanese were strongest.

The Echo de Paris' St. Petersburg correspondent says that a letter has been received from Admiral Rojestsvensky the vessel was cruising, which the admiral said he desired to reach Vladivostok without a combat if possible, but that he would do nothing to avoid an encounter.

Russians Sink American Ship.

Washington, D. C.—Confirmation has been received here from Shanghai of the press report that the Russian warships have sunk an unknown American merchant ship off the Chinese coast. Heavy gun fire is plainly heard to the northward.

Name of Ship Is Unknown.

Tokio.—The name and destination of the American steamer which Vice Admiral Rojestsvensky is reported to have sunk off Formosa about May 21 is unknown. Details concerning the sinking of the vessel are expected to be made known when the crew of the steamer reaches Japan. Although nothing is known here about the case, it is expected in official circles that Vice Admiral Rojestsvensky will claim that vessel was cruising.

Admiralty Hears Nothing.

St. Petersburg.—Nothing is known at the admiralty of the reported sinking of an unknown American steamer off Formosa by Vice Admiral Rojestsvensky. It is recognized at the admiralty as quite possible that Rojestsvensky may have been compelled by military necessity to destroy a neutral.

If he feared that to allow it to proceed and report the whereabouts and direction of the Russian fleet would endanger his strategic plan, he had no other alternative except to take off the crew and sink the ship. Such an incident is unfortunate, but every naval officer must admit that the risk in such a crisis is too great to take any chances. If the ship was unjustifiably sunk, from the standpoint of international law, Russia of course will have to foot the bill; but any cost is cheap if it furthered Rojestsvensky's mission.

Woman Kills Her Husband.

Birmingham, Ala.—At Pinckney City, in the western part of the county, Saturday night Dicey Fossett, a negro, who has many friends among both whites and blacks in that place, shot and killed her husband, Sol Fossett. There was a family dispute and the woman left her home and remained away all Thursday night.

Fossett is said to have threatened to kill his wife on sight, but she secured a weapon and when she met Sol began shooting, with good aim. The woman has the sympathy of both white and black in the community.

Picnic Party Drowns.

Springfield, Mo.—Frederick Lee, Frank Fray, Miss Lowndes and Miss Sarah Gates, all of this city, were drowned in the James river near here Sunday. They were members of a picnic party and their boat capsized while they were trying to cross a mill pond.

French Ships Go to Saigon.

St. Petersburg.—General Linevitch in a dispatch dated May 28 reports that there is no change in the position of the armics in Manchuria.

Postoffice Appointments.

Washington, D. C.—Postmasters appointed: Choctaw Bluff, Clark county, Annie Fleming; Ripley, Limestone county, Robert J. Hamilton; Tackets, Marshall county, Myrtle Hughes; Vankirk, Baldwin county, Charles A. Marshal.

Asa S. Kendrick, Commerce, Coconah county, vice Mary E. Etheridge, resigned.

Rural free delivery route No. 1 ordered established August 1, at Livingston, Sumter county, serving 425 people and 100 houses.

Rural carriers appointed: Citronell, route 1, Lincoln Reeves carrier, William E. Reeves substitute; Hamilton, route 1, Allen G. Arnold carrier, Robert R. Cashion substitute.

Killed in Collision.

Hutchison, Kan.—Santa Fe passenger train No. 558, northbound, on the Hutchison branch, collided with a number of freight cars here on account of an open switch. Mall Clerk C. D. Wolf, of Kansas City, was killed; Engineer John Snyder and Fireman A. C. Vaughan, who jumped, received probably fatal injuries. Five others were slightly hurt.

Oklahoma Bank Fails.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—The First National bank of Lexington, Okla., failed to open its doors. Vice-President Lawrence Volts says that he found there was insufficient cash on hand for his needs and he concluded to close the bank temporarily. He is confident that the bank will be closed only a few days. The failure is due to inability to realize on collateral.

Commits Suicide in Hotel.

Asheville, N. C.—A special from Lenoir, N. C., says that L. D. Whitmore, a traveling lock inspector, committed suicide in his rooms at the Commercial hotel Friday morning. He evidently had made three attempts to commit suicide. He had first eaten the mercury off a mirror, then attempted strangulation with a towel, and finally severed the arteries of his wrist, the third attempt being successful. The motive for the deed is unknown.

Spend Money in Vera Cruz.

Mexico City.—Contracts have been awarded to local engineering companies for improvement in the city of Vera Cruz to cost $3,000,000. Work will begin in October and continue two years, when it is believed Vera Cruz will be made as healthy as Havana. The new waterworks and sewer improvements at Cordoba will cost $1,000,000.

Will Move Vote of Censure.

London, Eng.—The liberal vote of censure on the Balfour ministry for its statements on the subject of the colonial conference will be moved by Sir Edward Grey. The resolution will be drawn in moderate terms and will express the regret of the opposition at the conflicting statements made by the ministers.

Conger Arrives June 1.

Mexico City.—William H. Conger, the newly appointed ambassador to Mexico, will arrive here June 1. In the meantime the embassy will be in charge of W. H. Helms, second secretary. Ambassador Clayton leaves for Washington Friday to submit his final report.

Crisis in Silk Industry.

Paris, France.—A serious crisis in the silk industry was brought to the attention of the Chamber of Deputies by the debate on the bill increasing the duty on silks of European origin from 40 cents to $1.50, and placing a duty of $1.80 per kilo on Japanese and Chinese raw silks, heretofore admitted free.

First Beans From Eutaw.

Eutaw, Ala.—The first solid car of green beans was shipped from here Thursday; shipper, T. M. Pankey; consignees, Harshfield, Hill & Co., Louisville, Ky. Eutaw promises to be a leading point in the trucking industry. Although prices are low, none of the growers will lose money.

Frost Does Damage in Germany.

Berlin, Germany.—There was frost in Germany Tuesday and Wednesday nights, the thermometer registering 6 to 8 degrees below freezing. The cold weather caused much damage to fruits and vines, especially in the Moselle wine district.

Stage Is Held Up.

San Diego, Cal.—The Ensenada, San Quentin stage has been held up not far from Ensenada, in lower California, the driver shot and $700 government funds in transit stolen. A posse has started in pursuit.

Mexican Bankers Meet.

Mexico City.—The convention of bankers representing twenty-seven state banks is in session here discussing matters pertaining to banking and improvement of facilities.

Large Iron Order.

Florence, Ala.—The Florence wagon works has placed with the Sheffield rolling mills an order for 300 tons of bar and strip iron to be used in the construction of the Florence wagon. The Sheffield company is now busily engaged in making a special and superior grade of iron to fill the contract.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., June 1, 05

Telephone No. 17.

Mow down the weeds.

Scarcity of help is worrying Shelby county farmers.

It is said that State Supt. Hill is not averse to being Governor of Alabama.

There are but two things having their own way just now—weeds and grass.

Ex-mayor Drennen, has been elected a member of the board of trustees of the Tuskegee Institute.

If the rains keep coming there will be more than twenty-five per cent reduction in the cotton crop.

A cheap pistol, a bottle of cheap whiskey and a cheap man may get into expensive trouble very easily.

It looks very much just now like the federal government will take a hand in the affairs of the Equitable Jin Jitsu may be a tough proposition, but a tax collector comes nearer making all the people come across.

It looks very much like Birmingham was to have a new passenger station—but not on the site of the old one.

Comer is an avowed candidate for Governor. Most any man can be a candidate; being elected is the difficulty.

We have been asked: what does a woman do when she wears a good sized rat and her head itches? Give it up.

The railroads can steal the thunder of the extremists if they will submit tariffs taking away all sense of injustice.

The Russians and Japs are making a war upon each other. Columbiana should get into the mix and make war on the weeds.

President Roosevelt has given protectionists in this country a jolt in the neck. They got sick at the very mention of Panama.

Bibb county office seekers are crowding. Some of them have already announced for sheriff, which no doubt pleases editor Nannalee.

If a few more cyclones strike Oklahoma there won't be enough people left out there to entertain the national editorial association.

There is a well defined rumor that a prominent populist in beat 9 is preening his plumage to secure the nomination for sheriff from his party.

Hereafter in Wisconsin any man who gives or takes a "tip" is subject to a jail sentence. A national law along that line would be a good thing.

Twelve thousand immigrants landed in New York during the second week in May. Our law makers would better stop such darnphool nonsense.

"A women in this town," says an exchange, "whose husband owes us four dollars on subscription, had the swellest hat that was seen at church Sunday."

The Czar recently made a pilgrimage to and for victory of the bones of a saint dead two hundred years. Gee whiz! no wonder Russia is a benighted country.

We are not altogether in sympathy with the extremists who are fighting the railroads, yet we do believe the railroads should give Alabama people cheaper freight rates.

Roosevelt reiterates a former statement made by him some months ago—he will not again be a candidate for the presidency. He has three years in which to change his mind.

The laymen of all political parties in this county think there is considerable buncombe about the road machinery compromise. All the same, the people have to pay the freight.

The Decatur press says the farmers up there "are opposed to the promiscuous importation of shiftless and uneducated foreigners." That is the unanimous expression of all true Americans.

The Tuscaloosa Gazette says Captain Hobson has never satisfactorily explained what the other nations of the earth would be doing while America was building a navy, so as to be able to boss the world.

Talk about exorbitant freight rates of the railroads—the express companies operating in Alabama have the railroads skinned a mile when it comes to high rates. Licensed highway robbery could be no worse.

Headlines in the Age-Herald last Thursday, read: "Feets have met. Japs are defeated." From what we have heard about the "feets" of the Russians they are strong enough to defeat the world, to say nothing of the little spot on the map called Japan.

Life is Cheap in Alabama.

A cartoon in last Sunday's Age-Herald is one of the greatest object lessons ever given the people of Alabama, and Mr. Blackman is to be congratulated on having portrayed so vividly and truly a great and growing evil in this State, and particularly Jefferson county.

The Age-Herald's cartoon pictures the interior of a county store, with goods displayed upon the shelves and counters with price tags attached. Near the door stands a large jar, labeled "Life Pickles, Free; Take One." Deep down in the jar is the hand of a masked highwayman and assassin; reaching for it is a pistol toter, and coming on a run into the wide open door is a gang of thugs and sandbaggers—their one aim being to get to the free life jar. In the rear of the room is the big, fat storekeeper, representing Jefferson county, sound asleep—deaf, dumb and blind to the misdoings of the gang of thugs in his establishment. The picture is an ominous one, and the frequent killings in Jefferson county within the past few weeks gave the artist's pencil an opportunity to draw from actual occurrences. And what is true of Jefferson county is true, to a large degree, throughout Alabama. Within the past few weeks men have been ruthlessly shot down in Birmingham, Montgomery, Selma, Mobile, Decatur, Huntsville, Cullman—covering almost every section of the State—and with startling frequency. If one may judge from these frequent killings, life has not as much value in Alabama as a pinch of snuff. Two men get into a dispute, a few words pass, a pistol cracks; death goes to one home, shame and ignominy to the other. The highwayman takes the life of his victim for a few paltry dollars, and it is an accident if he does not escape. Oh, but life is cheap! It is a terrible state of affairs we have come to. Assassins—cold, rampant, vicious, bold and cowardly, stalk the State from end to end. Honorable, upright citizens are shot down without mercy; thugs and toughs are walking arsenals and they do not hesitate to kill and slay with or without provocation.

The cause for all this lies at the door of men who compose the grand and petit juries, and the non-enforcement of the vagrancy law. Jurors too often permit a false sentiment to enter into their deliberations, and justice is blinded and turned down frequently. The vagrancy law is almost a dead letter so far as its enforcement is concerned. Officers who are sworn, and whom the people expect to uphold and enforce the law, are too frequently dilatory in the discharge of their duties, and this laxness, this apparent don't-give-a-darn manner of the so-called guardians of the peace, emboldens the assassin, the highwayman, the thug, to ply his nefarious business with but little fear of any interference. The indictment may appear severe but it is none the less true.

The Sentinel hopes that into the next campaign there will be injected a sentiment, backed by the law-abiding people of the State, that such conditions must no longer exist—that only those men who will sacredly pledge their honor to uphold the laws of the State and prosecute to the full letter all offenders—will be supported in the next election. The present existing state of affairs demand that drastic measures be applied.

Mr. Blackman builded better than he knew when he conceived his cartoon, and a copy of it should be in the hands of every man in Alabama who believes in law and order.

The biggest battle now on is between the farmers and the weeds. The weeds that have had it all their own way for the past few weeks, but the farmer is now taking a turn at the wheel.

It is only a question of time until the young man who totes a pistol will get into serious trouble.

The Election.

From what The Sentinel has been able to learn, the local taxation proposition has carried by a nice majority. As we go to press (Tuesday) the returns are not all in, but it is said enough beats have been heard from to assure the adoption of local taxation. Columbiana box gave 90 votes for it, and 12 against.

Japs Maintain Record.

The little Japs have maintained their record as fighters, and have given the Russians another drubbing in the great naval battle which was fought a few days ago, and that the Russian fleet was on the ran when last heard from.

Judge F. C. Randolph was shot and instantly killed in Montgomery last Saturday by his cousin, John Randolph. The trouble between the two arose over some money matter, and Judge Randolph had threatened the life of his cousin. The dead man has led a checkered career, having killed one man in this State a number of years ago, an another in South America, to which country he had fled when he became a defaulter in the office of Probate Judge of Montgomery.

If an extra session of the legislature was to be called now, Montgomery, Marion, Colbert, Baldwin, Monroe and Escambia counties would be without representation in the senate, and Marion, Wilcox, Conecuh, Chilton, Landerdale, Macon, Bibb and Cullman would be without representation in the lower house.

Colonel Bankhead says he has authorized no one to say he will be not be a candidate for re-election to congress from the Sixth district. Mr. Musgrove, Hobson's manager, would be glad if Bankhead would get out of the way.

It is a sad commentary on law an order in Jefferson county when citizens in any of its towns are compelled to patrol the streets to guarantee protection to human life. That is the condition of affairs at Woodlawn.

The Sentinel believes Cunningham will be the next Governor of Alabama. He showed during his administration that he was of the right kind of timber, and we believe a majority of the people think as we do.

Roosevelt was the whole thing in the recent Ohio republican State convention. As the president recently slapped the high tariff champions in the face neither Foraker or Grosvenor attended the convention.

The Alabama Educational Association meets in Montgomery on June 8th. It promises to be one of great interest, and The Sentinel hopes there will be a delegate of Shelby county teachers in attendance.

It is said that the Russians sunk an American merchant vessel during the recent fight, and that country may have to come across with the right explanation to Uncle Sam or be in more trouble.

The Cullman Democrat says "the good old summer time is coming." If friend Rosson will come down to see us he will find that "the good old summer time" is camped right here.

A year in the penitentiary for the pistol toter should be a plank in the Democratic platform next year.

The Birmingham ball team is digging its toes deep to keep from dropping to the bottom of the list.

The weather of Sunday and Monday, this week, was hot enough to curl the hair on a dead dog.

If you want the news of your county and State, you should subscribe for The Sentinel.

Every Democrat in Shelby county ought to have The Sentinel coming to his home.

There is no greater fallacy in the world than that sense comes with experience.

"Little of Bitter Feeling Left."

In "The Contributor" column of the Waterbury (Conn.) American, issue of May 23rd, appears the following:

"The Contributor was rather interested in reading of the incident of the invitation extended to the camp of Confederate Veterans by Grant Post, G. A. R., to take part in the Brooklyn Memorial Day parade, and the opposition of other Posts to this courtesy. He had the impression that nothing of this kind existed in Waterbury, and asked the first G. A. R. man he met about it. The G. A. R. man confirmed the Contributor's good impression of Waterbury feeling, saying that the grave of Ellis Phelan, who was a captain in the Confederate Army, and those of other Confederate soldiers buried in the various Waterbury cemeteries, received the same decorations as those of Union soldiers. 'Of course we do not use Confederate flags,' he said, 'for we cannot recognize that banner. But we place flags and flowers on their graves as we do on those of our own comrades. We respected those men with whom we fought, for their bravery and other good qualities, and those of us who were young fellows at the time of the war have many pleasant recollections of the hospitality shown us by the Southern people in those days. Now we meet the ex-Confederates, we jolly them and they jolly us. But it is all good natured, and there is very little of the old, bitter feeling left.'"

Birmingham, Ala., May 23, '05. Mr. Geo. M. Webb, State Agent.

I want to thank your Secretaries and Treasurers of Pike, Chambers and Shelby Co. Divisions for the prompt payment of my husband's policies in your most estimable company. The above amount—$3,000—was paid me in nine days after the death of my husband. All it had cost him to leave me this amount of money, was his membership fees, and one assessment of $15. I would advise every man and woman in Jefferson county and in the State of Alabama to take a policy in this company for it is the cheapest, safest and best insurance on earth. With best wishes for your popular company in Alabama, I am

Very respectfully,
Mrs. SALLIE VINCENT,

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts?" These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some uterine derangement. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the ablest specialists agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

The following letters from Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely are among the many thousands which Mrs. Pinkham has received this year from those whom she has relieved.

Surely such testimony is convincing. Mrs. J. G. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have suffered everything with backache and womb trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved, I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backache and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my menstrual periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Mrs. Emma Cotrely, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's ills.

Origin of Japanese Alphabet.

Baron Kaneko says that the invention of forty-seven letters by Mabie in 735 A. D. is always considered to have given birth to Japanese literature, and is recognized as the beginning of Japanese civilization. The Japanese language is phonetic, while the Chinese is hieroglyphic. The alphabet is called "shin kana."

Creating Values.

A correspondent of the Electrical Review states that steel dies are used for drawing sizes of wire as fine as .010 inch diameter, diamond dies being used for finer sizes. The Hoebling works in New Jersey draws a steel wire which is one-thousandths of an inch in diameter, and runs seventy miles to the pound. The steel of which it is made costs $50 a ton, but a ton of the finished wire is worth over $80,000. This seems to be a case of creating values.

Sioux Burying Ground.

The discovery on an Iowa farm of many relics, including human skulls and skeletons, of an Indian race, of the existence of which there are no local traditions and no other evidences, has interested and puzzled the historians and scientists of the region. Professor Van Hyngh, of the State historical department, concludes that the graves are a splendid representation of the once powerful and thrifty nation of the Sioux, and that the graves antedate the settlement of the white man. Black locust trees, two feet in diameter, are growing on some of the burial mounds, which alone is proof of great age.

BOOK OF BOOKS.

Over 30,000,000 Published.

An Oakland lady who has a taste for good literature, tells what a happy time she had on "The Road to Wellville." She says:

"I drank coffee freely for eight years before I began to perceive any evil effects from it. Then I noticed that I was becoming very nervous, and that my stomach was gradually losing the power to properly assimilate my food. In time I got so weak that I dreaded to leave the house—for no reason whatever but because of the miserable condition of my nerves and stomach. I attributed the trouble to anything in the world but coffee, of course. I dosed myself with medicines, which in the end would leave me in a worse condition than at first. I was most wretched and discouraged—not 30 years old and feeling that life was a failure!"

"I had given up all hope of ever enjoying myself like other people, till one day I read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville.' It opened my eyes, and taught me a lesson I shall never forget and cannot value too highly. I immediately quit the use of the old kind of coffee and began to drink Postum Food Coffee. I noticed the beginning of an improvement in the whole tone of my system, after only two days use of the new drink, and in a very short time realized that I could go about like other people without the least return of the nervous dread that formerly gave me so much trouble. In fact, my nervousness disappeared entirely and has never returned, although it is now a year that I have been drinking Postum Food Coffee. And my stomach is now like iron—nothing can upset it!"

"Last week, during the big Conclave in San Francisco, I was on the go day and night without the slightest fatigue; and as I stood in the immense crowd watching the great parade that lasted for hours, I thought to myself, 'This strength is what Postum Food Coffee has given me.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

The little book, "The Road to Wellville," may be found in every pkg.

EARLY MISSOURI.

"Simple Life" of an Industrious People.

"For summer wear," says Mr. Matson, "our clothing was made from flax and hemp grown on the farm and the lint was made into thread and woven with cotton yarn, which came in five pound bunches, as chain, and the flax or hemp yarn as filling. The women became so expert in spinning and weaving it that it made a nice, excellent and durable fabric of which we were justly proud. Our winter clothing was made from the wool taken from the sheep raised on the farm. After shearing the wool from the sheep's backs, we washed and scoured all the dirt and picked every foreign substance out of it. It was then taken to a carding machine and there made into rolls which were spun and woven as filling into a cotton chain, making a linsey-woolsey for the women. When it was desired to have a variety of colors the yarn was colored in blue dye, walnut bark, etc. Our shoes were made by some one in the neighborhood. Often the shoemaker would come to the house and make shoes for all the family out of leather tanned from hides by another neighbor, our tanner, who took one-half of the hides for the tanning. All of our shoes were sewed by hand."

"Now, I will give a short story of the farm. First was the cabin. As a general rule the cabins were made of round logs, one story high and covered with boards riveted out of timber by hand with the aid of a frow. The floors were of split logs straightened with the axe. The furniture was very simple, in most cases made by a cabinet workman in the neighborhood. The chairs were made with splits or bark woven in for seats. All the necessary household utensils were made at home or in the neighborhood, such as tubs, buckets, etc. Castings, such as pots and kettles, were bought, but no more than was positively necessary as money was a scarce article. Farmers' tools, such as hoes, axes, chains of all kinds and sizes, were then made at our blacksmith shops. Our ploughs also, with the cutting part of the plough lying flat and a wooden mold board to turn over the soil, called a bar and shear, to break the land for seeding, which for several years consisted in corn only; it being the principal food. The corn was taken to the horse mill and ground into meal. The mill was run by horses, and ground from one to two bushels of corn an hour. After farmers began to raise wheat there were bolting cloths added, which separated the bran from the flour, and the flour into two parts, the fine and the coarse, or shorts. The bolting machine was turned by hand; and the flour made was rather an uncommon treat, being used only when company was present and on Sundays."

Experiments With Oats.

Experiments in raising oats made in England on land with and without manure indicated that the increase in grain and straw is worth about twice the cost of the fertilizers employed in producing it.

Cincinnati Bishop Record.

Cincinnati has furnished more bishops for the Methodist Episcopal church than any other city in the United States. The list contains seventeen names, as follows: Morris, Hamilton, Foster, Wiley, Merrill, Nide, Walden, Joyce, Cranston, Moore, Hamilton, Simpson, Clark, Thompson, Kingslye and Hartzell.

Just Discrimination in Railway Rates.

All railroad men qualified to speak on the subject in a responsible way are likely to agree with President Samuel Spencer, of the Southern Railway, when he says: "There is no division of opinion as to the desirability of stopping all secret or unjustly discriminatory devices and practices of whatsoever character."

Mr. Spencer, in speaking of "unjustly discriminatory" rates and devices, makes a distinction which is at once apparent to common sense. There may be discrimination in freight rates which is just, reasonable and imperatively required by the complex commercial and geographical conditions with which expert rate makers have to deal. To abolish such open and honest discrimination might paralyze the industries of cities, States and whole sections of our national territory.

This distinction between just and unjust discrimination is clearly recognized in the conclusions of the International Railway Congress, published yesterday:

"Rates should be based on commercial principles, taking into account the special conditions which bear upon the commercial value of the services rendered. With the reservation that rates shall be charged without arbitrary discrimination to all shippers alike under like conditions, the making of rates should as far as possible have all the elasticity necessary to permit the development of the traffic and to produce the greatest results to the public and to the railroads themselves."

The present proposal is, as Mr. Walker D. Hines, of Louisville, showed in his remarkable testimony the other day before the Senate Committee at Washington, to crystallize flexible and justly discriminatory rates into fixed Government rates which cannot be changed except by the intervention of some Government tribunal, and by this very process to increase "the temptation to depart from the published rate and the lawful rate in order to meet some overpervicing and urgent commercial condition."—New York Sun.

Against Railway Whistles.

Railway whistles inflict torture on so many people that the efforts abroad to check the plague will be followed with interest. Austria has introduced a system of dumb signaling to start and stop the trains. Belgium is trying compressed air whistles instead of steam, and Germany experiments with horns.

Are the Packers Receiving Fair Pay?

When the Garfield report on the business methods of the packers appeared, after eight months' investigation, it was severely criticised and roundly denounced. After three months of publicity it is significant that those who attempted to discredit it have failed to controvert the figures contained in that exhaustive document. The public is beginning to notice this omission, and the feeling is rapidly growing that the sensational charges out of which the "Beef Investigation" arose were without foundation. If the official statements of the report are susceptible of contradiction, a good many people are now asking why the facts and figures are not furnished to contradict them.

The First Bauble Shop.

It may interest women to know that the first jewelry store was started in the city of Chang On about 3000 years ago. The Celestial Vanderbilts and Astors of that period knew nothing of the fascination of diamonds, because diamonds were not in vogue at that B. C. period.

Pearls and Jade Cereal and Other Unpolished Mineral Substances Had to Content Them, and as if to make good the glitter of revieres and tiaras, the princes of Chang On employed artisans to fashion them the most wonderful gold and silver ornaments, which in themselves were far more costly than diamonds.

According to the late returns, there are 1756 distinct trades being carried on in London and its suburbs.

THE MODERN FARMER.

How He Lives as Compared With Fifty Years Ago.

THE farming life of to-day, as contrasted with that of fifty years ago, is a paradise of comfort and convenience. The lonely loghouse, remote from market and devoid of advantages that a half cycle of time has made possible, would scarcely appeal to the present day farmer.

The twentieth century soil tiller has practically all the modern comforts. His mail is delivered daily. He has telephonic connection with the buying and selling world, affording the best opportunities for marketing to advantage. His home is of recent architecture, constructed of wood, brick or stone, and well furnished. He has modern plumbing and modern heating, and with the advent of acetylene gas, he has modern lighting. At night his home is as attractively illuminated as that of his city brother, for it is a suggestive fact that "acetylene for country homes" has so appealed to the farmer that of the 80,000 users of acetylene gas in the United States the farmer is one of the largest of all classes. Ever seeking the best, he has not hesitated in availing himself of this new light.

The continued growth and progress of this great country, ever a cause of wonderment, has no greater exemplification than evolution on the farm. Already the farmer is becoming the most envied of men—the freest, the healthiest, the happiest!

Lord Strathcona, opening the colonial exhibition at Liverpool, said the next fifty years would witness an enormous expansion of Canada to a population equal to Great Britain and Ireland.

"Rates should be based on commercial principles, taking into account the special conditions which bear upon the commercial value of the services rendered. With the reservation that rates shall be charged without arbitrary discrimination to all shippers alike under like conditions, the making of rates should as far as possible have all the elasticity necessary to permit the development of the traffic and to produce the greatest results to the public and to the railroads themselves."

The present proposal is, as Mr. Walker D. Hines, of Louisville, showed in his remarkable testimony the other day before the Senate Committee at Washington, to crystallize flexible and justly discriminatory rates into fixed Government rates which cannot be changed except by the intervention of some Government tribunal, and by this very process to increase "the temptation to depart from the published rate and the lawful rate in order to meet some overpervicing and urgent commercial condition."—New York Sun.

Against Railway Whistles.

Railway whistles inflict torture on so many people that the efforts abroad to check the plague will be followed with interest. Austria has introduced a system of dumb signaling to start and stop the trains. Belgium is trying compressed air whistles instead of steam, and Germany experiments with horns.

Are the Packers Receiving Fair Pay?

When the Garfield report on the business methods of the packers appeared, after eight months' investigation, it was severely criticised and roundly denounced. After three months of publicity it is significant that those who attempted to discredit it have failed to controvert the figures contained in that exhaustive document. The public is beginning to notice this omission, and the feeling is rapidly growing that the sensational charges out of which the "Beef Investigation" arose were without foundation. If the official statements of the report are susceptible of contradiction, a good many people are now asking why the facts and figures are not furnished to contradict them.

The First Bauble Shop.

It may interest women to know that the first jewelry store was started in the city of Chang On about 3000 years ago. The Celestial Vanderbilts and Astors of that period knew nothing of the fascination of diamonds, because diamonds were not in vogue at that B. C. period.

Pearls and Jade Cereal and Other Unpolished Mineral Substances Had to Content Them, and as if to make good the glitter of revieres and tiaras, the princes of Chang On employed artisans to fashion them the most wonderful gold and silver ornaments, which in themselves were far more costly than diamonds.

According to the late returns, there are 1756 distinct trades being carried on in London and its suburbs.

PE-RU-NA CURED.

99 Eleventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

"A short time ago I found my condition very serious. I had headaches, pains in the back, and frequent dizzy spells which grew worse every month. I tried two remedies before Pe-Ru-Na, and was discouraged when I took the first dose, but my courage soon returned. In less than two months my health was restored."—Mrs. M. Brickner.

The reason of so many failures to cure cases similar to the above is the fact that to the female sex are not commonly recognized as being caused by catarrh.

FEMALE TROUBLE NOT RECOGNIZED AS CATARRH.

Catarrh of one organ is exactly the same as catarrh of any other organ. What will cure catarrh of the head will also cure catarrh of the pelvic organs. Pe-Ru-Na cures these simply because it cures the catarrh.

If you have catarrh write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and you will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

Killian is decidedly the Detroit's best pitcher this season.

Sheppard's hitting thus far has been a big disappointment to Brooklyn.

Poor base running is a weakness that is bothering the Boston champions.

Cooley has been filling the shoes of Barrett in center field for Detroit in the most impressive style.

Jackson, of the Clevelanders, seems to be the best of all the youngsters that came into fast company this season.

The greatest surprise of the season is the superb fielding game put up by "Texas" Hill at third for Washington.

Manager Connie Mack says that Kittredge, of the Washingtons, is the best all-around catcher in the business to-day.

Keeler says the secret of successful hitting is to meet the ball on the nose. But before this comes the ability to see it.

In Lajoie's opinion not more than three men will finish in the .300 list in the American against this year's pitching.

Howell, of St. Louis, is one of the pitchers who is losing control, speed and everything he has by the use of the "spit ball."

Griffith says of the American League race: "It looks to me as though the team with the best nerve would carry off the pennant."

One of Griffith's youngsters who has made good and shown himself fully able to hold his own in fast company is Hogg, the pitcher.

Ames has been doing the most consistent work for the Giants of any of the staff, and McGraw says he will make another Matthewson out of him.

Jim McGuire, catcher for the New York Americans, shows signs of age, especially when running to catch foul balls. He has been a good old campaigner, but his race is nearly run.

VATICAN SHORT OF FUNDS.

Pope Has a Plan to Tax Some of the Rich Bishops.

Rome, Italy.—There is a serious deficit in the Papal budget. The Vatican's means are insufficient to meet current expenses. A loud cry has been raised to suggest means of retrenchment. The Pope is reported to be inclined to tax rich bishops.

Collections Are Normal.

Collections reflect little more than reasonable slowness, and money has been easy and in abundant supply.

Telephone No. 17.

No spitting on the sidewalk when you go to Birmingham. or you will be in trouble.

'Spec't the Czar will be good now? He has been so thoroughly Japanized he ought to be.

Roosevelt is to visit Washington's school at Tuskegee, and Booker promises him the time of his life.

With twenty-two ships of the Russian navy sunk or captured, how much of a navy is there left to Russia?

General W. W. Brandon is mentioned as a probable candidate for State Auditor. He is a good man all right enough.

Among the gunners with the Japs in the great naval battle is one who was on the battleship Oregon at the battle of Santiago.

People from this place who went to the St. Louis fair will not go to the Portland exposition—their legs are not yet rested.

Scarcely a day passes but that some pistol toter is in trouble. Pity that all of them are not caught and given about ten years.

A company of vigilantes have been organized to patrol the streets of Woodlawn to guarantee safety to the people of that town.

The Sentinel makes the prediction that Cunningham will be the next Governor, and that Gray will be Lieutenant Governor.

For the past two or three weeks the sweet girl graduate has been having it all her own way, and for the next month she will be feted.

The Roanoke Leader is growing better and better all the time. The good people of Roanoke cannot show too high appreciation of the Leader.

The Opelika, Daily News is a year old and is one of the sprightliest youngsters we know of. Editors Wear and Wilson are making a good paper.

If the Czar makes one more appeal for victory to the bones of a man dead two hundred years, his dominion will be wiped off the face of the earth.

The postal laws require that the date of issue shall be on a supplement to a newspaper and that there shall be some news matter on a supplement sheet.

Columbiana has its share of shiftless, no account negroes. Many of them will not work when the opportunity is offered. A vagrancy plaster should be applied.

John Randolph, who shot and killed Judge Francis C. Randolph in Montgomery a few days ago, has been discharged by Justice H. M. Screws, the court holding that he acted in self-defense.

The good women of Tuscombina are talking of importing a lot of white girls for servants. If they do, they will have servants who will not steal their blind, and upon whom they can rely to do their work.

Justice Harlan is evidently in his dotage. He recently drew a comparison, before an assembly of Presbyterians, of the morals of the white man and negro, and said the negro's was the better of the two. Mr. Harlan, doubtless, has been keeping bad company.

"Greater love hath no man than this that he lay down his life for his friend." John Williams was convicted of killing Senator Hipp near Cullman some weeks ago and has been sentenced to be hung next month. His oldest son offered to take his father's place on scaffold. There is a growing sentiment that Williams did not kill Hipp, but that he was accidentally shot by deputy sheriff. Williams' case has been appealed to the supreme court.

It is reported, says an exchange, that one of our newly married ladies kneads bread with her gloves on. The incident may be peculiar, but there are others. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shoes on; he needs bread with his shirt on; he needs bread with his pants on; and unless some of the delinquent subscribers of this paper pay up before long he will need bread without so much as anything on—and this is no Garden of Eden.—Rockmart Courier.

The School Fund.

The special tax recently voted in this county for the benefit of the school fund, adds a goodly sum to that fund.

Prior to the election the apportionment was $1.45 for each child of school age, less the superintendent's commission, leaving the per capita at $1.38. The special tax adds 40 per cent. to the fund, which makes the apportionment $1.93 for each child of school age. This amount will enable most of the districts to extend their school terms two or three months. With such a result following is there a single voter who regrets having cast his vote for the proposition? The Sentinel does not believe there is a single one.

The vote was 515 for the tax, to 152 against it.

Commissioner Ross C. Smith.

Everyone in Alabama who knows the man will applaud the appointment of Ross C. Smith as Commissioner of the Immigration and Industrial Association of Alabama. Had a dozen states been looked over a better man for such a position could not have been selected.

It is with deep regret to The Age-Herald, and to every man who is part and parcel of making this newspaper, that Mr. Smith has been fit to sever his connection with it and to accept the appointment mentioned above. Mr. Smith has been the business manager of The Age-Herald for several years and much of the success of this newspaper has been due to his splendid work. And while The Age-Herald regret the change, it is a foregone conclusion that he will do a work for the state of Alabama which could not be equaled by any other man within its confines.

The great railroad interests of Alabama are behind this movement to develop the state. They have decided to spend money liberally to bring new people and new industries to Alabama, and they have delegated Mr. Smith as the one man who is the best equipped to handle such a work. Ross Smith will do this work well, as he has done everything he has ever undertaken.

Mr. Smith is at present in Asheville, N. C., where he has been during the past month recuperating from a slight illness. He has now almost recovered his accustomed strength and will assume the duties of his new office tomorrow morning. He may remain in Asheville several weeks longer, but will begin the work from that point. He will soon return to Birmingham, and open an office here with several competent men to assist him in the great work which he has undertaken.—Age-Herald.

Backward, turn backward, oh, Time, in your flight, feed me on gruel again tonight. I am so weary of sole leather steak, petrified biscuit and vulcanized cake; coffee that sleeps in a watery bath, and butter as strong as Goliath of Gath. Weary of paying for what I can't eat, chewing up rubber and calling it meat. Backward, turn backward how weary I am, give me a swipe at grandmother's jam; let me drink milk that hasn't been skimmed; let me eat butter whose whiskers are trimmed; let me once more have an old fashioned pie, then I'll be ready to curl up and die.

A man attached to a refractory lawn mower and a few neighbors leaning over the fence offering suggestions as to the best methods of cutting grass, is a combination not calculated to improve the temper of the man at the handle of the mower; especially when the presence of ladies prevents his expressing himself in language befitting the occasion.

We hope the town marshal will load his gun with dynamite and go after some of the worthless cur dogs which are loafing about the town. Collect a tax, or give them a ticket to a foreign land or some other place, just so they don't come back.

It is said that during the world's fair the Inside Inn made a million and a half dollars. From the rate charged it should have cleaned up several million.

It looks as though the Russian commanders permitted the Japs to shoot at their vessels without resistance or protest.

There is one person in Russia who is inwardly rejoicing at Rojstvensky's defeat: Kuropatkin.

A. P. R. Dahl, of Calera, county surveyor for Shelby county, was in the city Tuesday and made this office a pleasant call.

ELECTRIC CAR LINE TO THE COAST.

There is Little Doubt But that Line is to Be Built Within the Next Year.

Huntsville, May 28.—Representatives of the Nashville and Huntsville railway, the electric line projected from Nashville to this city, appeared before a mass meeting of Huntsville and Madison county citizens yesterday afternoon and submitted their proposition to build the line to this point. The company wishes the citizens of Madison county to subscribe to $60,000 of the capital stock of $3,000,000. The proposition was accepted and a committee composed of Tracy W. Pratt as chairman and Frank J. Thompson, president-elect of the Chamber of Commerce, and Clarendon Davis, president of the Farmers' club, was appointed to place the stock among the people. This money is to be placed in the hands of the committee and paid in installments to the company as the work progresses.

J. H. Connor, of Nashville, president of the Nashville and Huntsville railroad, addressed the meeting and stated that the company ultimately intend to build the line on south to Pensacola, Fla., through Birmingham and Montgomery. He is the projector of the road and believes it will be a great highway of commerce when the Panama canal is open. Mr. Connor stated that the towns along the projected line in Tennessee have set to work to take the amount of stock required of them and he expects matters to be in shape for the beginning of construction not later than next fall. The work of construction will begin at the Huntsville end of the line, it is stated.

The enterprise will be financed by the Municipal Bond and Surety company of New York, which has financed several interurban roads in the middle west. The bonds will be taken at $85 and bear 5 per cent. interest and the company agrees to negotiate $750,000 of the capital stock of the company. S. A. Wright agent for the Municipal company has gone over the proposed route of the railroad and has reported to his company that in his opinion the enterprise will pay handsome dividends. The business men of the city and county are stirred up over the probable building of the new road.

The Sentinel does not want to be called visionary, or be classed with pipe dreamers, but we suggest that the Commercial Club look into this matter and get into communication with the promoters of this road. They might be convinced that this is good territory through which to build this line.

Badges of Honor to Confederates.

Contributed.

Camp Gist, No. 1481, was called to order on Saturday, June 3rd, at Calera, by Commander J. W. Johnston, of Columbiana, and opened with prayer by Rev. C. W. O'Hara of the same city. An address of welcome was made by Dr. C. C. Oliver, and an oration by W. R. Oliver. An address was delivered by Capt. H. C. Reynolds, of Montevallo, giving his adventures as a spy in the civil war during the 60's all of which was very interesting to the old veterans and friends.

The Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. C. M. Turdy, of Birmingham, was present who, with the assistance of Mrs. J. T. McMillan, of Columbiana, delivered the badges of honor to the following old Veterans: J. O. Alexander, F. M. Blake, L. N. Brazeele, Wash. Blankenship, W. P. Greene, Dr. J. H. Gunn, J. W. Johnston, Capt. S. H. Gist, Allen Martin, A. C. Leonard, Dr. C. C. Oliver, Jack Smith, Dr. J. T. Boyd and J. T. McMillan. The meeting was then closed in form and dinner announced, and the good ladies of Calera we found had not forgotten that the old soldiers always enjoy a good dinner. Call us again, Daughters of the Confederacy.

Editor Doster, of the Prattville Progress, says: "Some day there is going to be a terrible revolt in this country against the boiled shirt. We are not going to wear boards on our bosoms surmounted by picket fences and made unwearable when the laundryman cuts a saw edge on our collar. American manhood is going to rise in its might some day and carefully drop the starched shirt over into the next lot, where the tin cans are."

The third quarterly conference for Columbiana circuit will be held at Pine Flat on Saturday, June 10th. There will be preaching also on Sunday at 11 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

R. M. Hollis, the stone churn man from Sterrett, wrs in town last week with a load of churns. He was a caller at The Sentinel office.

H. E. Smith, of Wilsonville, was in the city Monday and left an order for some work from our job department.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the following described property, placed with the undersigned as collateral security, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the postoffice in the town of Montevallo, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1905, to satisfy the debt for which the same was taken as security, viz: Four bales of cotton bearing Shiloh's War House Numbers, 190, 191, 219, 220, Series "F."

This 6th day of June 1905.

One of the best sermons that has been preached in Columbiana in a long time was delivered at the Presbyterian church last Sunday by the Rev. Joseph Darglinson. Every parent in Columbiana should have heard it.

Mrs. Mary S. Strickland, mother of A. W. Strickland, of this place, is dangerously ill at her home in Centerville.

Ah, how we love those who were kind to those we loved who have "crossed over the river and rest under the shade of the tree." It may be a small favor shown, just a simple little courtesy extended, but how the heart warms to the giver. A little child was taken to the grave one day and those who loved it could not go, for the fearful yellow flag floated from the gate. Strangers to the child were to perform the last sad rites and no one who loved him could touch the casket. But behind the hearse bearing the little coffin walked a man with down-cast head and wet eyes. Sadly, sadly and silently he walked through the streets while others hasten'd away. Years have gone since then, but think you that the father and mother have forgotten? It was a small thing to do, think you? Ah, life is made up of small things.

Dissolution. Notice.

The partnership heretofore existing between H. S. Latham, H. D. Latham and H. E. Latham is hereby dissolved by mutual consent, H. S. Latham selling his interest to H. D. and H. E. Latham who assume all liabilities and to whom all accounts are payable. H. S. LATHAM.

Acute Rheumatism.

Deep tearing or wrenching pains, occasioned by getting wet through; worse when at rest, or on first moving the limbs and in cold or damp weather, is cured quickly by Ballard's Snow Liniment. Oscar Oleson Gibson City, Ill., writes, Feb. 16, 1902: "A year ago I was troubled with a pain in my back. It soon got so bad I could not bend over. One bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me." Sold by Williams Bros.

$3,000.

Certificate of Beneficiary.

Birmingham, Ala., May 23, '05.
Mr. Geo. M. Webb, State Agent.

I want to thank your Secretaries and Treasurers of Pike, Chambers and Shelby Co. Divisions for the prompt payment of my husband's policies in your most esteemable company. The above amount—$3,000—was paid me in nine days after the death of my husband. All it had cost him to leave me this amount of money, was his membership fees, and one assessment of $15. I would advise every man and woman in Jefferson county and in the State of Alabama to take a policy in this company for it is the cheapest, safest and best insurance on earth. With best wishes for your popular company in Alabama, I am

Very respectfully,
Mrs. SALLIE VINCENT,
E. F. Enslin, Wit. Beneficiary.

Cures Old Sores.

Westmoreland, Kans. May 5, 1902: Bullard, Snow Liniment Co., Your Snow Liniment cured an old sore on the side of my chin that was supposed to be a cancer. The sore was stubborn and would not yield to treatment, until I tried Snow Liniment, which did the work in short order. My sister, Mrs. Sophia J. Carson, Allensville, Milfin county, Pa., has a sore and mistrusts that it is a cancer. Please send her a 50c. bottle. Sold by Williams Bros.

Notice of Commissioner's Sale.

In pursuance of, and in accordance with the terms and directions of a Commission, issued and addressed to undersigned, by the Hon. A. P. Longshore, Judge of the court of Probate in and for Shelby county, Alabama, bearing date the 21st day of May, 1905, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder for cash at public auction in front of the court house of said county, on Monday, the 19th day of June, 1905, within the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, to-wit: That part of northeast quarter of southeast quarter, and southeast quarter of southeast quarter of section 32, township 19, range 2 w., described by metes and bounds as follows: Commencing near the northeast corner of said forty on the west side of the creek, and running south through the center of the land to the east and west line near the southeast corner of northeast quarter of southeast quarter, thence south 84 rods from said corner thence to the southeast corner of southeast quarter of southeast quarter of said section; and southeast quarter of southeast quarter of section 32, township 19, range 2 west, and the west half of northeast quarter, and east half of southeast quarter of northeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of northwest quarter of section 5, township 20, range 2 w., containing 233 acres more or less, which land is to be sold under the decree of said court for the purpose of a division between and among the joint owners thereof, who are as follows: John C. Cross, John Harris, Paul Harris, George Harris, Mary Harris, Annie Harris, Julia Harris and Clara Harris, all being the heirs of Virginia Harris, deceased.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

A good shower of rain would not be amiss just now.

Don't forget to cut down those weeds. Better do it now.

New potatoes are beginning to show up in the local market.

E. A. Saxon is finishing up the work on the Methodist church.

Frank Church, of Wilsonville, was in town last Friday and Saturday.

All are interested in keeping the streets free of every kind of rubbish.

Harry Gordon assisted in Friedberger's store several days last week.

You are not ill—just lazy, and the weather is probably responsible for it.

Miss Lucy Smith, of Alpine, was in the city over Sunday, visiting with friends.

J. W. Bundy, the druggist of Montevallo, was the city a day or two last week.

Jas. Comer, of Montevallo, was transacting business in Columbiana last Saturday.

Miss Rosser Christian is visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Williams, at Shelby.

There are several negroes in this town paving their way for a job in the coal mines.

Frying size chickens are beginning to show up in this market. The bring a good price.

The road plow has taken those unsightly kinks out of Main street. Let the good work go on.

There's no kick against the day or two of cool weather last week. Really they were enjoyed.

Miss Lillie Mae Liles, who has been attending school at Tuskegee, returned home last Friday.

A. P. Longshore, Jr., has returned from East Lake where he had been attending Howard College.

A large crowd from Columbiana attended the formal opening of Shelby Springs last Saturday night.

Simon Friedberger and family visited at their old home in Wilcox county several days last week.

Publicity brings business, that is why every merchant ought to advertise, if he want to sell his goods.

Fish bait is generally carried in an old tin can, but there are some people who prefer to take it in a jug.

Clean the trash out of the alleys; by doing so you may save a spell of sickness to some one of your family.

Remember the concert at Shelby tomorrow (Friday) night, and then make up your mind to go.

Harvesting is occupying the attention of the farmers just now. We are told there is a pretty good stand of oats.

Minor and Ernest Hendrick, of Montevallo, were in the city last Sunday and Monday, visiting relatives and friends.

Misses Mildred White and Erma Elliott, who had been visiting relatives in Sylacauga for several days, returned home Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Williams, of Shelby, were in the city a few hours last Monday. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call from the doctor.

Rev. John Milner, who is preaching at Roswell, Ga., has been at home for the past week, called here by the serious illness of little Clarice Christian.

There are a few measley old curs in this town that take delight in keeping people awake at night. They should be given a through ticket to dog heaven.

James Broadhead, who attended school here last session, was in the city over Sunday visiting friends. He informs The Sentinel that he expects to return here for next term.

Miss Ada Dill, who has been visiting Mrs. H. E. Whitaker for the past few days, returned to Montevallo, Monday. From there she goes to Birmingham to visit her parents.

The Columbiana ball team have go to Prattville this week to play a series of three games. The boys of Prattville will have to have their ball clothes on if they expect to win.

Miss Janie Wallace, of Klein, was in the city over Sunday, visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. Parker. Miss Janie has many friends in Columbiana who are always glad when she visits here.

Misses Melda and Elmore Haynes, who came down from Oxford for a visit with their uncle J. J. Haynes, last week, were called home by a telegram announcing the sudden and dangerous illness of a brother.

There are a number who are still due us on subscription. Now is a good time to square up the little amount, and the printer will appreciate it. We are making you a good county paper, and you should appreciate it by paying the amount due on your subscription.

Every merchant in Columbiana should have write up in our illustrated edition which we are at work upon. It will be a good advertising medium, and at the same time will help to show up our town to the best advantage. We have promise of a photograph from nearly every business man in town.

Rufus Hollingsworth, a farmer living near Bridgeton, died very suddenly last Wednesday evening. He had been working in the field and became overheated. Parties who were with him bathed his head and face in water, and while doing so Mr. Hollingsworth said: "There, that will do," and dropped over dead. He was about sixty years old, was a Confederate veteran, and had the respect and love of all who knew him, and his death is sincerely mourned. He leaves a large family.

Visitors are now arriving at Shelby Springs.

Sam Wallace was up from Selma a day or two last week.

The town council had a busy business session Monday.

The county commissioners are in regular session this week.

There is a rumor that several new residences will be commenced next month.

Mrs. J. S. Bird, has gone to Equality for a few weeks' visit with her parents.

A banana car was in town Monday, and as they were as cheap as dirt everybody was eating bananas.

Remember the concert at Shelby Friday night. Let's make up a party and go over.

Dr. W. S. DuBose returned Sunday from a visit with relatives in Gadsden and Attalla.

The friends of Commissioner R. B. Posey will be sorry to learn he is ill with an attack of fever.

Ed. and Brasier Walls, of Birmingham, are in the city visiting with friends for a few days.

Sheriff Cox and family visited at Bridgeton Saturday and Sunday, returning Sunday evening.

Judge McMillan made a trip to Saginaw Monday, where he defended a suit brought in Justice McLane's court.

City marshal Eddings, of Montevallo, was in the city Sunday, having brought up a boarder for Sheriff Cox.

Milner & Christian have a change in their advertisement this week which may interest you, and especially so the ladies.

A reception was given to the Abercrombie-Nelson bridal party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abercrombie, Tuesday night.

The Sentinel's Wilsonville correspondent must be away on a fishing expedition as his usual letter failed to show up this week.

Miss Margaret Browne, who has been attending school in Montgomery, returned home Tuesday, her father meeting her in Shelby.

Mrs. T. S. Milsap and children returned last Saturday from Pell City where they had been visiting relatives and friends for short time.

Commissioner R. J. Griffin, of Helena, and Commissioner Pleasant Shaw, of Montevallo, are in the city attending the regular session of the Commissioners' Court.

Our base ball team was in good trim when it left for Prattville Tuesday morning, and the boys were confident of winning two at least of the three games to be played.

Mrs. L. P. Hamner and Dr. P. O. Hamner, of Five Points, Mrs. W. T. Smith, of Lineville, Dr. H. T. Hamner and Rev. J. W. Hamner, of Camp Hill, came to attend the funeral of Dr. and Mrs. Hamner's little boy.

Fernan Stinson and Miss Bertha Keith, of Shelby were united in marriage last Sunday. It was a green affair—they just simply slipped away from their friends and were quietly married.

Death of W. D. Lacey.

All who knew the man will regret to learn that William D. Lacey, one of the oldest citizens of Shelby county, died at his home near Maylene last Sunday morning. For a long time Mr. Lacey had been afflicted with a stomach trouble. A few weeks ago he began to rapidly grow worse and despite all efforts the inroad of the disease could not be stayed, until on Sunday morning, surrounded by his family and a few friends, he passed from life into death.

The deceased was a native of Shelby county, having been born near where he died, and was 61 years old. Eighteen years ago he united with the Methodist church and had lived the life of a faithful, consistent christian. When the war between the States came, he enlisted in defense of the Confederacy and he was faithful and loyal to the stars and bars all through the long strife. His death leaves an aged widow and four sons with hearts bleeding with a great grief and sorrow, has deprived the community in which he lived of a good neighbor and friend, and taken from the county one of its noblest and best citizens. The bereaved ones have the deep and sincere sympathy of all.

The funeral occurred Monday, and was largely attended.

Sweet Little Boy Dead.

Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Hamner mourn the loss of their little two-year-old boy who died last Saturday morning. The little life-bud had just begun to open and bring cheer and increased happiness to this home circle when it was touched by the frosty fingers of death and the life which gave so much promise passed back into the hands of Him who has said "Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

The funeral occurred from the Methodist church Sunday afternoon, a large number of friends of the bereaved parents being present to blend their sympathy with the tears of the sorrowing. Rev. G. T. Harris conducted the services.

Negro Ran Amuck.

John Melton, a negro with a bad "rep," was brought from Montevallo, last Sunday, by town marshal Eddings, and turned over to the sheriff.

Last Saturday Melton got on a tear at Maylene, and securing a butcher knife ran amuck, cutting and slashing at everybody. He was particularly vindictive toward Geo. F. Peter, the coal operator, whom he tried to stab several times. The desperate negro was finally overpowered and bound hand and foot and turned over to the officers. A term in the coal mines is due the negro.

Musical.

The Sentinel is requested to say there will be a musicale in Shelby tomorrow (Friday) night. An excellent program has been prepared for the occasion and a delightful time is promised to all who may attend. A cordial invitation is extended the people of Columbiana. The Sentinel trusts there will be a large delegation from this place.

City Officers.

At the meeting of the city council last Monday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

City clerk, W. L. Farley; city marshal, S. W. Nelson; night watchman, J. B. Pitts; keeper of dispensary, W. S. Thompson.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express to the many kind friends, and to Dr. Acker, who ministered to us in the recent sickness and death of our dear little Solon, our heartfelt appreciation of their sympathy and attentions.

Sincerely,
DR. AND MRS. W. P. HAMNER.

A Nice Shop.

The new furniture for Henry Chapman's barber shop has arrived and has been placed in position. Henry has now one of the best and prettiest shops in this section of the country, and he is deserving of the patronage of all the people.

E. V. Caldwell, Jr., who has been attending the medical college at Mobile, came down from Hartselle Tuesday. He spent the day with his cousin, attorney W. W. Wallace. The Sentinel acknowledges a pleasant call.

John Ballard, of Talladega, was in the city Saturday and Sunday, visiting at the home of J. H. Robertson. Mr. Ballard is employed on the Talladega Reporter, and during his short stay here he made The Sentinel a pleasant call.

COMMITTS SUICIDE.

He Lived in Columbiana Years Ago, and His Rash Act Shocks the People.

B. F. Wilson, a well-known lawyer was found lying on the floor of his office unconscious this morning shortly after 11 o'clock. Physicians were quickly summoned, but Mr. Wilson could not be restored to consciousness and at 2:20 o'clock breathed his last.

Mr. Wilson came down town as usual this morning and pleasantly greeted all of his acquaintances that he met, and appeared to be in the best of spirits. Later in the day to several he complained of feeling very bad but his mind appeared as bright and active as usual.

After being on the streets for a while, about 11 o'clock he went up to his office on water street, over the wholesale whisky store of M. J. Elkan & Co., and when next seen he was discovered lying on the floor of his office breathing heavily. The alarm was quickly given, and several physicians were summoned to his side, who worked faithfully to restore him to consciousness for about two hours, but were unsuccessful in their efforts. Shortly afterwards he breathed his last.

It is supposed that the cause for the rash act was despondency and ill-health. Although Mr. Wilson had no very intimate friend it has been known for some time that he has been in financial distress, and this together with ill-health is supposed to have led him to take his own life.

Mr. Wilson came to Selma several years ago from Talladega, where he had been a prominent member of the bar of that county and at one time solicitor of Seventh Judicial Circuit. Since arriving in Selma he has been very unsuccessful and received very little practice, although he was a very capable attorney. He was a brother-in-law of Col. W. W. Quarles of this city and leaves a wife and two children to mourn his death.

While Mr. Wilson was well-known in Selma and greeted every-one with a cheerful word or shake of the hand, no one can be found who is able to get the immediate facts that surround his death. He was a quite and well thought of man, and his sad death comes as a severe blow to his many friends.

After death the remains of Mr. Wilson were prepared for burial and carried to the residence of Mrs. N. Woodruff on Union Street, where the family had a furnished room. His household furniture, which had been packed for years was taken out this morning and carried to the depot and shipped to Florence, where the deceased had already secured a house and intended to soon go and begin the practice of his profession.

The funeral will take place from the residence about 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will be conducted by Rev. J. L. Gross of the First Baptist Church.—Selma Correspondence in Montgomery Advertiser, June 1st

The above news was a shock to the people of Columbiana to whom Mr. Wilson was so well known. He practiced law here a number of years ago, and was the junior member of the law firm of Cobb, Wilcox & Wilson.

Calera Gets Rural Route.

Washington, May 27, 1905. Hon. Sydney J. Bowie, Anniston, Ala.

Sir—I have the honor to advise you that rural free delivery service has this day been ordered established from Calera, Shelby Co., Ala., with one carrier, to commence August 1, 1905.

Very respectfully,
C. A. CONRAD,
Acting 4th Asst. Postmaster Gen.

Anniston, Ala., May 31, 1905. Dear Mr. Whitaker.

The enclosed letter speaks for itself. We are gradually getting this service well extended throughout the country, still I have no doubt there is a great deal of territory remaining in Shelby County not yet supplied.

I want to congratulate you all for carrying your election so decisively for the school tax in Shelby county. I have no idea it will raise anything like the amount of money that is needed for proper schools, but it will no doubt be a great help and with proper local supplement in the more progressive rural communities there will be a very decided and healthy improvement, and I have no doubt you will gradually see seven, eight and nine months' schools taking the place of many of the old three and four months schools. If it has this effect it will of course do indirectly more good than it does directly.

With kindest regards, I remain
Very truly yours
SYDNEY J. BOWIE.

The Druggist.

I would like to be a druggist with a large prescription case and a benevolent expression lending grandeur to my face. Then I'd sit and watch my hireling faking it the ringing dough while the people came for nostrums to alleviate their woes. Oh, the druggist is a daisy, and I envy such a chap; for the miseries of others is the basis of his snap. "He's a public benefactor," so the dope consumers cry, and they take his dizzy mixtures, go and curl themselves and die. And the gaudy soda fountain which the druggist keeps in view—it is opened up for business when the springtime skies are blue. And it's charged with wind and water, and the people go and drink, and they get the wind and water, and the druggist gets the drink.—Stolen.

The Enterprise Weekly thinks there must be a race suicide among the chickens, as the frying size is very scarce.

COMPLETELY RESTORED.

Mrs. P. Brunzel, wife of P. Brunzel, stock dealer, residence 3111 Grand Ave., Everett, Wash., says: "For fifteen years I suffered with terrible pain in my back. I did not know what it was to enjoy a night's rest and arose in the morning feeling tired and unrefreshed. My suffering sometimes was simply indescribable. When I finished the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills I felt like a different woman. I continued until I had taken five boxes. Doan's Kidney Pills act very effectively, very promptly, relieve the aching pains and all other annoying difficulties."

Mr. Webster's Rebuke.
It is related of Mr. Webster that when he was secretary of state he was one day reading at a cabinet meeting a draft of a message he had written for the president to transmit to congress. As he went on he was constantly interrupted by one of the members with suggestions until, losing patience, he turned to him and said: "Sir, you might as well expect seven hens to lay one egg as seven men to construct one message."

About 80,000 tons of dust and refuse is taken away in barges from London every year.

INTERESTING LETTER

WRITTEN BY A NOTABLE WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Kellogg of Denver, Color Bearer of the Woman's Relief Corps, Sends Thanks to Mrs. Pinkham.

The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg, of 1628 Lincoln Ave., Denver, Colo., to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.: Dear Mrs. Pinkham: For five years I was troubled with a tumor, which kept growing, causing me intense agony and great mental depression. I was unable to attend to my house work, and life became a burden to me. I was confined for days to my bed, lost my appetite, my courage and all hope. I could not bear to think of an operation, and in my distress I tried every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and reading of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to sick women decided to give it a trial. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, and when I began to feel better, after the second week, thought it only meant temporary relief. But to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size. The Compound continued to build up my general health and the tumor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and I a well woman. I am so thankful for my recovery that I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, so other women may know of the wonderful curative powers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that tiring-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such trouble.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Health is too valuable to risk in experiments with untried and untried medicines or methods of treatment. Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

ALABAMA NEWS.

Current Events Gathered as They Happen.

Opening New Mines.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Martin Investment Company has completed all preparations for beginning the work of opening up a new ore mine at Sparks' Gap, a few miles below Bessemer, and within a few days the work of driving a tunnel from the side of the mountain into the vein of ore will begin. The contract for this work has been let to Robert Jenkins, and it is expected that it will require about four months to complete the tunnel, build connecting tracks, etc., and get everything in readiness for the getting out of ore. The vein of ore at that point dips at a very steep angle, its inclination being about 60 degrees from the level, it is said. When the vein of ore is reached it will be worked both above and below. When this mine goes into operation it is expected to give employment to about 150 men.

Buys New Coal Lands.

Bessemer, Ala.—The Bessemer Coal, Iron and Land Company has purchased the property and leases of the Wind Rock Coal Company, of Knoxville, the consideration paid for the same being $150,000.

The purchase includes 2,500 acres of valuable East Tennessee coal properties, a spur railroad track and other mining accessories on the Cow Creek branch of the Louisville and Nashville railroad near Knoxville.

The present output of the mines is about 300 tons per day. The new company will take charge of the properties immediately. A large amount will be spent immediately on improvements.

The stockholders of the Bessemer Coal, Iron and Land Company are all local men. The company owns a large amount of valuable coal lands in the Birmingham district, as well as much property in and around Bessemer.

Struck by Engine.

Montgomery, Ala.—A drink of water came near being the cause of W. L. Chambers, a gateman at the union railway station, losing his life Thursday night about 7:30 o'clock.

After the rush of the incoming trains was through the gateman walked from his post to a hydrant near the baggage room. Near the hydrant is a track used principally for switching purposes, and as Mr. Chambers stood leaning in front of the hydrant a switch engine came steaming along the track. The engine was going slowly, but it struck Mr. Chambers with considerable force. He was thrown violently to the ground and was unconscious for some seconds. It was thought at first that he was dead. A surgeon was summoned, but before he arrived consciousness had been regained.

Policeman Was Robbed.

Birmingham, Ala.—While Samuel B. Byars, a member of the local police force, was sleeping at his home, No. 2209 Avenue A, at an early hour Wednesday morning a white man entered his room and took a watch from off the bureau. The man was seen by the wife of the officer to leave the house, and she immediately awoke her husband and gave a description of the man. The officer started after the man and succeeded in catching him on Avenue B and Twentieth street, after a long run. The watch was found on the person of the man and was recovered by the officer. He was arrested and taken to the city jail, where he gave the name of J. D. Manuels. He is charged with burglary and grand larceny.

Governor Patton's Son Dead.

Florence, Ala.—John Brahan Patton, the oldest and the last of the five sons of Gov. Robert M. Patton, died Thursday night at the old country home of Governor Patton, Sweetwater, near Florence.

Mr. Patton was 74 years old and was never married. He practically lived a recluse on the fine old Patton place, although he was tenderly devoted to his kinsmen. He served with distinction as a soldier of the Confederate army.

Flagman Hurt.

Selma, Ala.—Walter Hay, a white flagman on the work train of the Mobile branch of the Southern railway, was brought to Selma Thursday night and placed in an infirmary. Mr. Hay, near Walker Springs, jumped off the work train while it was in motion to go back and flag a passenger train. In jumping he fell and rolled some distance, and was considerably bruised and scratched, although his injuries are not serious.

Repair Shop Purchased.

Gadsden, Ala.—The Alabama Great Southern road has purchased from the receivers of the Southern Car and Foundry Company the old Elliott car shops in this city and will run them as repair shops.

Albany, Ga.—Peter Thomas, the negro murderer of Marshal John Manire, of Proter, a small town in the western part of this county, was hanged here Friday.

Shot at Auburn.

Sheffield, Ala.—J. Spielman received a dispatch from Auburn saying that his son Ben, who is a student at the Polytechnic Institute, had been shot. No details as to seriousness of the wound. Mr. Spielman has left to be with his son.

Princess Margaret of Connaught, who already knows German, Italian and French, is now studying Swedish, as she is to be married to the crown prince of Sweden in the fall.

GOVERNMENT LIGHT.

HISTORIC CHICKAMAUGA PARK ABLAZE WITH ILLUMINATION.

United States System of Lighting Military Post Pronounced Gratifyingly Successful—Six and One-Half Miles of Main—Sixty-Five Street Lights.

Chickamauga Park, Ga., May 31.—The United States Government has here in operation one of the largest acetylene gas plants in the world. The military post at the entrance of the historical Chickamauga battlefield, where thirty thousand Union and Confederate soldiers were lost in the memorable battle of September 19 and 20, 1863, contains about one hundred buildings, the seventy-five principal ones of which are lighted with acetylene. To accomplish this six and one-half miles of mains and two miles of service pipes are in use, while sixty-five street lamps brilliantly illuminate the avenues of the post.

In 1903 the War Department installed a test acetylene plant at Fort Meyer, Virginia. The results were so gratifying and the superiority of the illuminant so evident that the Government, March 20, 1904, placed the contract for the Chickamauga plant, in which every citizen of the United States should have his pro rata of pride.

But the Government has not confined its acceptance of acetylene to this military post. Since becoming satisfied of the efficiency, superiority and economical advantages of this particular illuminant, the United States has installed a number of plants in Indian schools and other Government institutions.

Acetylene gas is one of the simplest as well as the most perfect of artificial lights. It is made by the contact of water and carbide (a manufactured product for sale at a nominal price), is absolutely safe and gives a beautiful white light soothing to the eyes and nerves. It can be produced anywhere—in the farm home, the village store, the town hall, the church—and is so easily maintained as to be practical for all classes.

It is a matter for national congratulation that in beautifying so historic a spot as Chickamauga, nothing but the best, including the lighting system, has been deemed good enough for the American people.

Religious Hornet's Nest.

Annie Besant has stirred up a hornet's nest in India by declaring that theosophy, the "religion" revealed to her predecessor, Mme. Blavatsky, is the oldest religion in the world. This has resulted in an organization of lectures, whose object is to counteract Mrs. Besant's influence. They are now making impassioned appeals urging the natives to look only to their own leaders. Prominent Hindoo thinkers declare that theosophy is almost entirely the creation of women, and they are organizing with the object of driving the Besant cult out of India.

Kaiser Was Snubbed.

English newspapers declare that Kaiser Wilhelm's visit to Gibraltar left a decidedly bad impression. He was received with marked coldness and was not invited to visit the fortifications, though in conversation with the governor of the port he pointedly expressed his interest in the works. It is said also that his majesty looks worn and thin, though active and energetic as ever. He is evidently in a state of high nervous pressure, but members of his staff carefully refuse to discuss his condition.

Great English Layman.

Charles Lindley Wood, second Viscount Halifax, will visit this country next fall. Lord Halifax is about the most widely known layman in the Church of England, being regarded as head of the advanced party in that church. It is expected that during his stay in America he will lecture to the clergy and laity of the Episcopal church. It was Lord Halifax who some years ago went to Rome and had an interview with Pope Leo in the interest of union between the churches of England and Rome.

Ice and Snow Under the Equator.

In the Uganda protectorate, described by Sir Henry Johnston, there are the largest lake, the largest swamp and the largest extinct volcano in the world and the highest African mountain, with 100 square miles of ice and snow right under the equator.

It was 300 years ago, in Florence, that the first grand opera was produced.

FEED YOUR MONEY
Feed Your Brain, and It Will Feed You Money and Fame.

"Ever since boyhood I have been especially fond of meats, and I am convinced I ate too rapidly, and failed to masticate my food properly.

"The result was that I found myself, a few years ago, afflicted with ailments of the stomach and kidneys, which interfered seriously with my business.

"At last I took the advice of friends and began to eat Grape-Nuts instead of the heavy meats, etc., that had constituted my former diet.

"I found that I was at once benefited by the change, that I was soon relieved from the heart-burn and the indigestion that used to follow my meals, that the pains in my back from my kidney affection had ceased, showing that those organs had been healed, and that my nerves, which used to be unsteady, and my brain, which was slow and lethargic from a heavy diet of meats and greasy foods, had, not in a moment, but gradually, and none the less surely, been restored to normal efficiency. Now every nerve is steady and my brain and thinking faculties are quicker and more acute than for years past.

"After my old style breakfasts I used to suffer during the forenoon from a feeling of weakness which hindered me seriously in my work, but since I have begun to use Grape-Nuts food I can work till dinner time with all ease and comfort." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Value of General Culture.

We must educate everybody in our respective neighborhoods in order that we may have the benefit of competition and of appreciation. You may educate your son and daughter to the fullest extent possible, giving to them the learning of all the world and put them after their education in a community where there are no other educated people, and they will fail to grow and develop as they would if they lived in a community where there was general culture. The man who stands easily head and shoulders above his neighbors will never be very tall. If he is to surpass his neighbors and be really great, he must have neighbors who are almost great themselves. He cannot work out of himself the best there is in him until he is forced to do so by the competition of others almost or quite as strong as he is. —Governor C. B. Aycock in National Magazine.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, is frequently referred to as perhaps the greatest statesman in all the British empire, regarded either as leader of the people, public speaker or authority on parliamentary usage. Tall, thin and straight as an arrow, with countenance mild, serious and sympathetic and a large, well developed brow, indicative of strength of mind and resourcefulness of purpose, the Canadian prime minister, when he rises to address a public gathering, at once commands attention. His father was a poor surveyor in the parish of St. Lin, where Sir Wilfrid was born in 1841. This is a Scotch settlement, and from a schoolmaster and merchant of that nationality the youth learned regarding the achievements of the liberal party in Great Britain. He frequently declares that much of his success is due to the lessons drawn from what he heard from these two men in his boyhood days.

Always Admired Patti.

Mme Patti (Baroness Cederstrom) has received from President Loubet the ribbon of the Legion of Honor in recognition of her charitable work in Paris. In signing the decree conferring the decoration President Loubet is said to have uttered a remark so undiplomatic as to make every other Frenchman blush. "I do this," he is reported to have said, "with as much pleasure as I experienced long ago, when I heard Mme. Adolina Patti sing in 'Lucia' and in 'La Sonnambula.'"

One of the Oldest Churches.

One of the oldest churches in this country is found in the redwood forests of California. It is near San Jose, and is maintained by a mining settlement, the minister working as a miner during the week. It is built in one of the hollow trees and accommodates a congregation of twenty-five, with space for a recess chancel, which contains a small organ.

ULCERS FOR THIRTY YEARS

Painful Eruptions From Knees to Feet Seemed Incurable—Cuticura Ends Misery.

Another of those remarkable cures by Cuticura, after doctors and all else had failed, is testified to by Mr. M. C. Moss, of Gainesville, Texas, in the following letter: "For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and an eruption from my knees to feet, and could find neither doctor nor medicine to help me, until I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, which cured me in six months. They helped me the very first time I used them, and I am glad to write this so that others suffering as I did may be saved from misery."

Railroad Rate Legislation.

Testifying before the Senate Committee at Washington, Interstate Commerce Commissioner Pruett said in discussing the proposition to give that commission the power to regulate railway rates:

"I think the railways should make their own rates. I think they should be allowed to develop their own business. I have never advocated any law, and I am not now in favor of any law, which would put the rate making power into the hands of any commission or any court. While it may be necessary to do that some time, while that is done in some States at the present time, while it is done in some countries, I am opposed to it. The railway rate is property. It is all the property that the railway has got. The rest of its property is not good for anything unless it can charge a rate. Now it has always seemed to me that when a rate was fixed, if that rate was an unreasonable rate, it deprives the railroad company of its property pro tanto. It is not necessary that you should confiscate the property of a railroad; it is not necessary that you should say that it shall not earn three per cent. or four per cent. When you put in a rate that is inherently unreasonable, you have deprived that company of its rights, of its property, and the Circuit Court of the United States has jurisdiction under the fourteenth amendment to restrain that. I have looked at these cases a great many times, and I can only come to the conclusion that a railroad company is entitled to charge a fair and reasonable rate, and if any order of a commission, or any statute of a State Legislature, takes away that rate, the fourteenth amendment protects the railway company."

FELVIC CATARRH WAS DESTROYING HER LIFE. PE-RU-NA SAVED HER.

Miss Maria Ducharme, 192 St. Elizabeth street, Montreal, Can., writes: "I am satisfied that thousands of women suffer because they do not realize how bad they really need treatment and feel a natural delicacy in consulting a physician. I felt badly for years, had terrible pains, and at times was unable to attend to my daily duties. I tried to cure myself, but finally my attention was caused to an advertisement of Peru-na in a similar case to mine, and I decided to give it a trial. "My improvement began as soon as I started to use Peru-na and soon I was a well woman. I feel that I owe my life and my health to Peru-na. I have derived medicine and gratefully acknowledge this fact." —Maria Ducharme.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., JUNE 15 1905.

VOL. 30, NO. 41.

ALABAMA STATE EVENTS.

Items of Interest Gathered as They Transpire Over the Entire State.

Alpine Sanitarium Incorporated.
Florence, Ala.—The Alpine Sanitarium Company, composed entirely of Florence business and professional men has been formed for the purpose of erecting and operating a sanitarium or hospital in the city.

Alleged Murderer Arrested.
Scottsboro, Ala.—John Lingo, the man charged with killing a woman and her little 10-year-old son in Bridgeport several weeks ago, and who was badly wanted by the authorities of this county, was arrested in Guntersville by the sheriff of Marshall county and delivered to Sheriff Austin of Jackson and is now in jail at this place.

Coal Mine Sold.
Montevallo, Ala.—The celebrated Montevallo coal mines has changed hands. W. F. Aldrich, the president, and principal stockholder, and James L. McConaughy, secretary and treasurer, selling the entire capital stock of the company to T. H. Aldrich and P. B. Thomas, of Birmingham.

This mine was probably the first ever opened in the state, and the reputation of the coal has been proverbial. It consists of about 4,000 acres of land and a well equipped plant and village for operations. Mr. Aldrich retains his beautiful residence, "Rajah Lodge," and will continue to live there. He is well known throughout the state, and it is suggested as a possibility that he will re-enter politics and make the race for congress again.

Fire at Eufaula.

Eufaula, Ala.—Fire destroyed a handsome residence on Randolph street Thursday night. The building was owned by J. B. Whitlock and was occupied by Marshal J. N. Bradley. The fire originated in the kitchen and the flames spread so rapidly that the occupants barely escaped. A small child sleeping near the kitchen was rescued after the flames had spread about her bed, but was uninjured. Nearly all of the household effects were burned, and the family fled, leaving all their raiment. By some means no response to the telephone could be had and the fire department was greatly delayed in reaching the scene. The residence and also the household effects were covered by insurance, but not sufficient to cover the loss.

Fire at Brewton.

Brewton, Ala.—The large two-story frame building near the railroad north of the depot, owned by Sam Mozele, and occupied by Gus Byrd & Co., as a pool hall and confectionery stand, was completely destroyed by fire Thursday morning at 3 o'clock. The origin of the fire is not known, but indications are that it was of incendiary origin, as there had been no fire in the building during the day. The loss on the building is $1,100 with $800 insurance; loss on stock and fixtures $350, with no insurance.

Fire in Boaz.

Boaz, Ala.—Boaz, the thriving village on Sand mountain, on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road, was the scene of a disastrous fire early Monday morning, in which two large stores were destroyed, together with their contents, and a great conflagration was narrowly averted by hard work on the part of the citizens, as the town has no protection whatever from fire.

It is not known how the fire originated, but the store of Creel & Son and also the store of Gillespie & Son and the blacksmith shop of Mr. Tiller were completely destroyed. The total loss will reach about $5,000, partly covered by insurance. Creel & Son lost $1,800, Gillespie & Son $2,000, while Tiller's will reach $500. The stores will be rebuilt just as soon as the insurance can be adjusted.

Lineman Burned by Electric Wires.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—John Pierce, who is employed by the Tuscaloosa Light and Ice Company, received an electric shock Thursday while trimming a light, which will probably cost him his life.

He was engaged in putting in a new carbon on a pole some forty feet high on the crossing at Twenty-fifth avenue and Fourth street, when he received a shock which caused him to lose his hold. He fell into a network of live wires, where he was horribly burned. As he fell to the ground his clothes caught on the spikes on the pole. The muscle in his right arm was burned in two, and a large hole almost severing the back of his head from his body was made.

Deatsville, Ala.—Michael Curran, a tramp, was found in the woods near here, very ill. Medical attention was given, but he died and was given Christian burial by charitable citizens.

Cotton Futures Not Gambling.

Montgomery, Ala.—In the case of G. A. Nuckles against J. F. Hooper, of Marshall county, Thursday the supreme court of Alabama held that transactions in cotton futures is not gambling, but is a legitimate business. Nuckles gave a mortgage on property as security for margins, and an effort was made to foreclose the mortgage. He contended that the mortgage was invalid, inasmuch as it was given to secure a gambling debt.

Truck Farming Is Paying.
Cuba, Ala.—Cuba, Ala., is known all over the state as the "Bean Town," and it is safe to say that no other town in the state raises as many beans or other vegetables. The following list of vegetables shipped from here since the season opened will give some idea of the extent of the industry: Thirty-two thousand bushel hamper beans, 19,000, bushel hamper peas, 2,200 crates cabbage, 33,000 bushels potatoes.

The total value of the crop was nearly $75,000. Every man, woman and child has money from picking beans and peas. Some of the farmers have paid their accounts and have money to run them the rest of the year, notwithstanding the prices have been very low. The bean and pea patches will now be turned into corn and cotton patches, and will yield a good crop.

Went to Sleep on Crossies.

Anniston, Ala.—George Irwin, who resides near the plant of the American Net and Twine Company, was struck and thrown from the track by a Southern train, receiving painful injuries. His head was painfully bruised, as was one of his arms. Irwin, with two companions, were returning home from the city. They stopped to rest and all fell asleep. Irwin was sitting on the end of one of the crossies, while his friends reclined on the grass nearby. Irwin's slumbers were rudely disturbed by a train which bore down upon him with considerable force. His wounds are not dangerous, and he will be himself again at an early date.

Tuscaloosa Bean Crop.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—The members of the Tuscaloosa Truckers' Association report a splendid bean crop, and are giving employment to hundreds of bean pickers. Several solid car shipments have already gone forward, and the indications are that several more will follow during the next fortnight.

Burgess Thrown From Buggy.

Mobile, Ala.—D. R. Burgess, president of the Mobile cotton exchange, while driving down Bay Shell road Thursday with his wife was thrown from a trap by the breaking of the kingbolt, sustaining a broken ankle and rib and severe scalp wounds. Mrs. Burgess was slightly bruised about the face.

Improving South Noble Street.

Anniston, Ala.—Good progress is being made on the Kaplan block on South Noble street. When completed the block will be one of the most substantial and attractive business blocks in the city, and will be a decided advantage to South Noble street. The entire block from Eighth to Ninth streets will have wide pavements.

Postmaster Held to Grand Jury.

Montgomery, Ala.—Lucien A. Callaway, formerly postmaster at Rushton, Chilton county, pleaded guilty before United States Commissioner John A. Elmore to a charge of misappropriating postage stamps. The government charges that Callaway, while postmaster at Rushton, made purchases of a large Chicago supply house and department store, paying for the articles with postage stamps.

Held Check Too Long.

Birmingham, Ala.—In the City Court Friday the defendant was victorious in a suit styled the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company vs. the Central Foundry Company, suit for $223, the amount of a freight bill for one month. It seems that the Central Foundry Company gave a check to the railroad company for the amount named on June 6th. The check was held until after June 10th, on which date the bank in Bessemer failed.

It was claimed by the defendant company that they had money in the bank to cover the bill in question, but that the check was held too long and the bank failed, which was not their fault. The case was contested strongly, considerable argument being presented. The verdict was in favor of the defendant.

A Small Wreck.

Selma, Ala.—A small wreck occurred on the Meridian line of the Southern railway near York late Thursday afternoon. Two freight trains came together, but as one of them was standing still and the other going at a very slow rate of speed no damage was done except to smash up the pilot of one of the engines.

Sheffield, Ala.—The Sheffield Company has completed the work on the signal towers and switches at the Southern railway bridge. The signals and switches are now operated by electricity.

New Bank in Guin.

Guin, Ala.—The Bank of Guin, with a capital of $10,000, has been organized here, with James P. Pearce, of Pearce's Mills, as president; L. D. Littleton, of this town, vice-president, and Mr. Archie Crouch, of Sparta, Ky., cashier. Most of the stock of the bank was taken by the citizens and business men of the town. Building will begin at once, and the bank will open for business September 1.

Loses Several Fingers.
Birmingham, Ala.—Dick Warnock, a white man living at Pratt City, while attempting to board an Ensley car Thursday night slipped and fell under the car. His hand fell on the track in front of the wheels, and several of his fingers were entirely cut off. The injured man was brought to St. Vincent's hospital.

Putting in a New Exchange.
Bessmer, Ala.—The Southern Bell Telephone Company is completing the work on its new exchange on Third avenue. Work was begun Thursday on the changes necessary before the building can be occupied as an exchange. The company hopes to be installed in the new quarters within a few weeks.

Gasoline Launches Popular.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Gasoline launches on the Warrior river are getting to be quite the fad here. One of the prettiest little launches that has been received here is the property of S. E. Alston. It has a seating capacity of ten persons and runs twenty miles an hour. It is named after Mr. Alston's daughter, "Marion," who at present is at St. Mary's College in New York.

Abandon Crops to Grass.

Montgomery, Ala.—Specials from Alabama points show that in some instances farmers are being compelled to abandon portions of their cotton crops entirely to the grass. This is due to the recent rainy spells of weather, which gave the weeds a long start on the cotton, and to the scarcity of labor prevailing.

Miners From Pennsylvania.

Birmingham, Ala.—A carload of miners from Pennsylvania arrived in the city Friday and were transferred to Wylam, in the Pratt division of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company's property. They will go to work at once in the coal mines in this district.

Many of the men were accompanied by their families, the indications being that they had come here to stay.

To Install Clock.

Greenville, Ala.—During the session of the Commissioner's Court, held last week, it was decided to purchase a clock and have it placed in the tower of the court house and Judge Lamprey was instructed to take up the matter with manufacturers with a view of securing the clock at an early date. The commissioners also decided to have a pavement placed around the court house.

Struck With Club.

Abbeville, Ala.—At about 3 o'clock Friday morning Travis Mowing, who lives a mile from town, was attacked by some one and dangerously injured.

Mr. Mowing went to his barn to feed his stock and was placing the corn in the trough when he was struck from behind with a club and knocked insensible. However, he has improved and his physician thinks he will get well.

Mr. Mowing claims to know who struck him, and the person was tracked a considerable distance. It is possible that an arrest will be made in a short time.

Fifteen Arrested for Gambling.

Birmingham, Ala.—The police continue their activity toward putting an end to gambling in the city. Thursday night Captain Johnston, Policeman Murphy and others raided an alleged gambling house in the Metropolitan and arrested fifteen people who were said to be there on the charge of gambling.

Fire in City Hall.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Flames were discovered in the city hall building Friday morning in the grocery occupied by W. A. Houston about 4 o'clock. The damage the fire did, together with the water used to extinguish it, resulted in a loss of something like $3,000. The stock was partly covered by insurance.

Options on Pine Lands.

Anniston, Ala.—Mr. T. M. Haywood, a saw mill man of Chulafinnee, spent Tuesday in Anniston. He says that the check was held too long and the bank failed, which was not their fault. The case was contested strongly, considerable argument being presented. The verdict was in favor of the defendant.

Land Conspirators Indicted.

St. Paul, Minn.—The federal grand has reported true bills against William T. Horsnell, of St. Paul, and Royal B. Stearns, of Pierre, S. D., for conspiracy to defraud the United States out of about 8,000 acres of homestead lands in North Dakota through fraudulent homestead entries.

Mobile, Ala.—Mason, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Griffin, while in a cherry tree gathering the fruit fell to the ground. His right arm and left ankle were badly broken.

Sheffield, Ala.—H. A. Crawford, manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, while handling a shotgun at his home Wednesday, was shot in the left breast and shoulder and seriously injured.

Troy, Ala.—The city council met Friday night for the purpose of considering the matter of city sewerage. After quite a long session and a considerable amount of discussion it was finally decided to put in the sewerage.

Big Kansas Apple Crop.

B. F. Combs, of Parker, Kan., says his prospect for a big apple crop this year is the best he ever had. He expects to raise 500 cars, which represents $7,500 barrels.

ROOSEVELT WANTS PEACE

Direct Plea to Russia and Japan to Cease Warring.

NEUTRAL POWERS ARE BARRED

Japan Would Not Consent to Any Intervention.—Mr. Roosevelt Learned That a Note on the Possibilities of a Peaceful Settlement Would Be Acceptable to Both Powers Before He Sent It.

Washington, D. C.—The text of a note sent by President Roosevelt to the Russian and Japanese Governments was made public at the White House. This note was dispatched through diplomatic channels as the result of the President's various conferences with diplomats during the last week and of cable messages interchanged with the two Governments concerned. The note is as follows:

"The President feels that the time has come when in the interest of all mankind he must endeavor to see if it is not possible to bring to an end the terrible and lamentable conflict now being waged. With both Russia and Japan the United States has inherited ties of friendship and good-will. It hopes for the prosperity and welfare of each, and it feels that the progress of the world is set back by the war between these two great nations.

"The President accordingly urges the Russian and Japanese Governments not only for their own sakes but in the interest of the whole civilized world, to open direct negotiations for peace with one another.

"The President suggests that these peace negotiations be conducted directly and exclusively between the belligerents; in other words, that there be a meeting of Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries or delegates without any intermediary, in order to see if it is not possible for these representatives of the two powers to agree to terms of peace.

"The President earnestly asks that the Japanese (Russian) Government do now agree to such meeting, and is now asking the Russian (Japanese) Government likewise to agree. While the President does not feel that any intermediary should be called in in respect to peace negotiations themselves, he is entirely willing to do what he properly can if the two powers are arranged directly between the two powers, or in any other way, the President is glad, as his sole purpose is to bring about a meeting which the whole civilized world will pray may result in peace."

Before sending it the President had ascertained that such a note would not be offensive to either Government.

Japan Wants No Interference.

All efforts to learn Japan's peace terms have been balked by the determined opposition which Japan has presented to any such course. At every stage of the negotiations she has absolutely assumed the position that she could not admit the intercession of any other power nor present her peace terms in any way except directly to Russia. The President's identical note is framed in accordance with this attitude of Japan.

At the first attempt made by the President to broach the subject of peace, a difficulty was found in the suspicion with which Japan regarded every attempt made by any other nation than Russia to bring about peace. The President learned from the very outset of the war Japan had been determined that the peace of 1895, when mediation robbed her of the fruits of victory, should not be repeated, and she was ready to look askance at even the friendliest offers.

The different cable messages have come from Japan to Minister Takahira in the last three days. In two of them Japan's attitude on this question was set forth with sufficient clearness to enable the President to frame his note in connection with it.

Japan's final message on the subject was delivered by Minister Takahira after the President's departure. The Minister arrived at the White House in the afternoon with the message from Tokyo and Secretary Taft, as acting head of the Government, was at once sent for. He came to the White House, received Mr. Takahira's message, and communicated with the President by telephone. It was as a result of that communication that the President authorized the publication of the note.

BOY KILLS TWO GIRLS.

Lad Whom Victim's Father Had Aided Then Ends Own Life.

Hillsboro, Ohio.—Madge Dines, fourteen years old, and Nellie Hart, sixteen years old, the former the daughter and the latter the servant of Edward Dines, a farmer, living a mile from here, were killed by David Baldwin, a farmhand, nineteen years old, who then blew off his head by means of a shotgun. Investigation showed that it was thought at first that all three had been murdered by some unknown assassin.

The girls were found shot dead in their night clothing in their bedroom. There was evidence of a desperate struggle. Baldwin, who had been taken in as a tramp by the farmer, was found in the living room with a discharged shotgun by his side. He had tied a small bottle on the trigger to aid him in discharging the weapon.

Bandit Gets Fifty Years.

Clarence Young, who tried to rob an express car on the Northern Pacific road, near Benmouth, Mont., on May 27, after dynamiting the car, has been sentenced to Deer Lodge Penitentiary for fifty years.

Big Kansas Apple Crop.

B. F. Combs, of Parker, Kan., says his prospect for a big apple crop this year is the best he ever had. He expects to raise 500 cars, which represents $7,500 barrels.

PERISH IN A SUBMARINE

Over a Dozen Men Killed in British War Boat.

Disaster Occurs Off Plymouth, Eng.—Third Accident of the Kind.

Plymouth, England.—Fourteen officers and men of the British Navy perished under the waters of this historic harbor when submarine boat A-8, in which they had been sent down to participate in some naval maneuvers, exploded. Only four of those in the craft escaped. The saving of one of them adds another heroic deed to the many recorded to the honor of officers of the royal navy.

The loss of submarine A-8 is the third disaster that has happened to these freak vessels in English waters within a year. Eleven men were entombed at the bottom of the English Channel in one and six were killed off Queenstown in another.

This latest disaster occurred about 10:30 a. m. A-8 had been ordered, in company with a sister boat, A-7, and a torpedo boat destroyer to proceed outside the breakwater and practice. Just as she reached the open sea, with only her conning tower above the surface, something went wrong on board. Those on the destroyer and naval officers ashore were startled by signals which read:

"We are submerged and cannot come to the surface."

Divers Sent For.

Instantly orders were flashed ashore for diving parties and apparatus. While they were being organized and collected other signals were made conveying a message that served to allay the immediate fears of those on the watch and at the same time tell of the courage and coolness of the men who in a few seconds were to be plunged into eternity. They read:

"All right up to the present."

The crew of the destroyer and comrades ashore heaved a great sigh of relief. They redoubled the efforts in hurrying to the rescue, but worked with lighter hearts.

Suddenly a muffled explosion was heard and all signs of the submarine vanished. The destroyer on the surface and the A-7, which was following, were shaken like leaves. Two other explosions followed in quick succession, and then four men were shot to the surface and above it like rockets. Persons standing on the heights of the Hoe saw them hurled in the air and disappear. Fishing boats entering the harbor picked them up. They were Lieutenant Candy, Sub-Lieutenant Murdock and two of the crew. The four were near the conning tower when the explosion occurred.

One of the survivors said he was unable to explain the cause of the accident. The boat suddenly dipped, filled and sank. The man said:

"Lieutenant Candy came to my assistance when I was almost exhausted and kept me afloat until we were picked up by the trawler."

The bodies of those who were carried to the surface lay in the shattered bulk, which was under eighteen fathoms of water. Divers were sent for them. They consisted of the regular crew of the A-8 and some men who were being trained for submarine work.

Cause of the Accident.

The accident is believed, was caused by the explosion of escaping gasolene. It serves to accentuate the extreme danger in which a submarine crew stands at all times. In each of the three disasters to vessels of this type the boat was taking part in maneuvers to exemplify the mobility and usefulness of the craft in warfare. The submarine A-1 was submerged near the Nab Lightship, outside Portsmouth, and was run down by a South African liner. Nothing was known of her fate for several hours and the steamship's captain reported that he had run into a torpedo. She was submerged in seven fathoms of water at the time. The crew must have met death slowly by suffocation, with no means of saving themselves.

PRINCE LEOPOLD DEAD.

His Nomination For Spanish Throne Led to Franco-German War.

Berlin, Germany.—Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern, whose nomination for the Spanish throne led to the Franco-German war, died here at the residence of his son, Prince Wilhelm. He came to Berlin to attend the wedding of the Crown Prince. He was born in 1835.

Cigarette Law's Flaw.

Judge James Leathers, of the Marion County (Ind.) Superior Court, decided that the anti-cigarette law is constitutional, but smokers may import cigarettes from other States and smoke them, but it is held unlawful to sell or give them away.

SMITHSONIAN FUNDS SHORT.

W. W. Karr, Disbursing Officer, Placed Under Arrest.

Washington, D. C.—A shortage in the funds of the Smithsonian Institution covering a period of over fifteen years was discovered and was followed by the arrest of the disbursing officer, W. W. Karr.

According to statements by officials the shortage amounts to about $40,000, and the money was taken from time to time, beginning about fifteen years ago.

GAS AND WATER.

IS ONE AS NECESSARY AS THE OTHER?

Citizens of Large Cities Say It Is.

New York, June 13.—In the recent agitation here about the price of gas, the demand for lower rates was supported by the argument that every resident is as dependent upon a supply of gas as upon a supply of good water.

It has come to pass that the day laborer uses gas as his only fuel for cooking, because of economy, and the rich man uses gas on account of its convenience. Gas for lighting, with modern improvements in burners, is cheaper, better and more satisfactory than any other kind of light. Gas sells at $1.00 per thousand cubic feet in large cities, and from that to as high as $3.00 in smaller towns.

The consumer of gas in the country uses Acetylene (pronounced a-set-a-lene), and each user makes his own gas and is independent of Gas and Electric Companies. Acetylene is a more perfect illuminant than the gas sold by the big gas companies in the cities, and the cost to the smallest user is about the equivalent of city gas at 85 cents per thousand.

Acetylene is the modern artificial light, the latest addition to the many inventions that have become daily necessities.

The light from an acetylene flame is soft, steady and brilliant, and in quality is only rivaled by the sun's rays. If water and a solid material known as Calcium Carbide are brought into contact, the immediate result is the making of this wonderful gas. The generation of acetylene is so simple that experience or even apparatus is not necessary to make it. If it is desired to make it for practical lighting, and to keep it for immediate use, then a small machine called an "Acetylene Generator" is employed. There are many responsible concerns making acetylene generators. In practice this gas is distributed in small pipes throughout buildings, grounds or entire cities and towns in the same manner as ordinary city gas. Acetylene is the only satisfactory means of lighting isolated buildings located in the country or suburbs at a distance from city gas or electric plants.

If the wishes of the American people had prevailed, Fitzhugh Lee would have been buried in the Campo Santo at Arlington, and a stately shaft would have risen there to his memory. But his own desire has prevailed, very rightfully, thinks the Hartford Courant. Years ago, as we now learn, he told his family he wanted to be buried in the Hollywood Cemetery at Richmond when the time came and on one occasion at least he pointed out the very spot—near Jefferson Davis's grave—where he wished his grave to be made.

Several Atlantic liners arrived in New York harbor within a single day, bringing to our shores 12,000 immigrants. The New York newspapers say the new arrivals are a sturdy lot, and that few or none of them will be sent back. The steamship companies closely scrutinize applicants for passage on the other side, and few deportations, therefore, become necessary.

The construction of a navy, like any other experiment in the application of modern science and invention in any other department of the public service, was an experiment which involved great risk as well as great boldness in design and conception, and as history shows that Mr. Whitney was the first officer competent authority to inaugurate the system of construction and armament which has placed our navy upon a plane of efficiency, proportioned to the number of its vessels, with the advanced nations, it seems but just that he should be accorded due credit for his work, the Louisville Courier-Journal declares.

As the question stands today the problem of turbine installation in ships of war is vexing because of the variety of duties imposed by ordinary cruising and by the necessity in emergencies of a sudden rush. At the higher speeds turbine machinery is more economical in fuel, but at the lower speeds the coal advantage shifts with equal decision to the reciprocating type. This raises at once the tactical question whether the gain in maximum speed is more than equivalent to the greater steaming distance possible at the lower speed, the New York Herald points out.

In a brief resume of the comparative importance of meat eaters over mere vegetarians as a people the Farm and Live Stock Journal brings out the importance of the live stock growers, and says: The natural history of mankind, and the history of nations since time began, show that the meat eaters have always been the preponderant force in the advancement of the world, while the vegetarians have become weak, timid and irresolute, and incapable of protecting themselves from the aggression of others.

Charles M. Schwab is a remarkably vigorous and forceful personage for a man supposedly suffering from mental and nervous disorders, says the Buffalo Courier. Procuring a $350,000 contract from the Russian government is not an ordinary feat even in these days of fabulous wealth and strenuous finance.

There were more than 650 applications recently for a berth as night

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The last soldier of the War of 1812 has been laid at rest with imposing civil and military honors. The veterans of the war with Mexico now hold seniority in our military annals, says the New York Times.

The manufacturers of hoopskirts know their business. Their press agent is explaining that only perfectly formed women can wear them with graceful effect.

For the Klondike region it is estimated that the gold output this year will amount to between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000—which is really only ten or twelve times as much as the Count of Monte Cristo used to carry just where the man in the song kept his fifteen dollars.

Out in Minneapolis a thoughtful statistician has figured it out that the people of the United States now pay $80,000,000 less for medical treatment than they did ten years ago. And yet the Boston Transcript remarks, the medical schools keep right on matriculating ambitious and hopeful students.

Boston Herald says "The City of New York has a water front estimated to extend over one hundred and fifty-five miles. In another century London docks probably will have sunk into insignificance compared with those of the American metropolises."

Discussion of the relation of humidity to health, as started by Professor H. J. Barnes's paper on soil dampness as an influence on health, may possibly be of some avail in correcting national habits, thinks the Boston Transcript. We treat ourselves badly during the months when artificial heat is necessary. Even the plants in hothouses fare better, for the atmosphere in which they live is surcharged with moisture, while in our hot homes it is dry and surcharged with dust.

COLUMBIANA SENTINEL.

By H. E. WHITAKER.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

Entered as second class matter, Apr. 13, 1904 at the postoffice at Columbiana, Ala. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Office over Columbian Savings Bank.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., June 15, 05

Telephone No. 17.

Did you ever hear of a negro being mobbed for trying to work?

There is a case of yellow fever in New York—a passenger from Col. on.

Mayor Weaver has the Philadelphi grafters on the run in that city.

If a measley cur dog is of any use will some one please tell us what it is?

Norway says it will not play in Sweden's back yard any more, and has seceded.

Osler has another guess coming to him on Togo. his first one was a most dismal failure.

Antauga county is soon to have a new court house, and up here in Shelby county? 2-2-2-2?

The Prattville ball team plays good ball, but not quite good enough to win from Columbiana.

Birmingham is to have a new Masonic temple, and corner stone for the same was laid last Thursday.

The first cotton bloom has arrived at Moundville. It seems that cotton is determined to be king whether or no.

This is the way the Opelka News puts it: "Captain Candidate for Various Offices Richmond Pearson Hobson." There's a title for you.

The Chicago strike continues to be the leading attraction in that city. Each side is accusing the other of hiring sluggers to do dirty work.

The police of Birmingham have made the tinhorn gamblers of that city take to the woods. Now let them give their attention to the pistol toter.

It will not be long until the farmers of Alabama will be looking to white men for help on the farms; as a worker the negro has about played out.

The Sentinel does not believe a majority of the people of Alabama want Mr. Comer for Governor. He is too much of an extremist on the railroad question.

Keep up the war on the weeds. Some of our people have acted on the suggestion of The Sentinel and are eating them down. Why not all do the same thing?

Yellow fever takes a fall out of Uncle Sam over in Panama. It is said nearly all the American workmen who are employed over there are coming home soon.

Russians don't like President Roosevelt because he has enforced the neutrality laws at Manila. Just now is there anything in the world the Russians do like?

When one or more persons in Columbiana are bitten by some vicious cur dog then, possibly, the curs may be made to go. Why not do it before some one is injured?

A bulletin issued from the Department of Agriculture says the cotton acreage has been cut down 11.4 per cent, while a report from New Orleans says it is thirteen per cent. and there you are.

"Show your ticket, please," is what Mayor Ward says to any of the city officers of Birmingham when they leave town. He has cut out the railroad pass—doesn't think it a good thing for city officials.

Nan Patterson was given such a frost by the public in "A Romance from Panama," that all her dates have been cancelled and Nan has gone home to her Ma. Yellow journalism has been given another black eye.

Editor Doster, scenting defeat for his ball team, hiked out to the National Nditorial Association meeting and left his boys to fight it out alone. Doster has been a good friend to the Prattville team, however, as we are told he fitted it out completely at a cost of more than a hundred dollars. The boys appreciated this kindly act and named the team "Dosters."

The Dothan Home-Journal man must have been sweltering in church lately, out of sight of the preacher on account of a wideness of largo hats before him. Hesays: "As the hats worn by the ladies are so very large, would it not be well to establish again the old custom of separating the men and women in church, so that they would sit in different pews? Then a woman's big hat would not prevent men from seeing the preacher, but she would be in the way of women only whose hats as large as hers, men without hats on one church side women with hats like a parasol or a dish-pan on the other side, Wouldn't that be fair?"

Pistol Toter Must Go.

It is not often that a religious newspaper devotes a column of its editorial space to the evils of "pistol-toting." But the Florida Christian Advocate, which is the official organ of the Florida Conference, M. E. Church, South, has seen the error of the concealed weapon habit in that state, as set forth in the following editorial under head of "The Pistol-toting Abomination: " "It is probably safe to affirm that fifty per cent of the homicide which disgrace our state and crowd our court calendars are the simple, natural, logical and mature fruitage of a precedent violation of law.

"Most murders, or attempted murders, are committed with firearms. They are on the person of one or both combatants. 'He pulled his gun and began.' 'It is not known who fired the first shot.' These are common expressions. They indicate a habit of carrying concealed weapons, which is a crime in itself, so defined by our laws, prohibited and penalized.

" 'Pistol-toting' is an abominable practice, and indicates cowardice or criminal intent or both. It is a practice, too, which is far more common than is sometime thought. The average person who carries a concealed weapon justifies himself on the grounds of 'self-defense.' But why should a peaceable citizen in a civilized community be apprehensive of hurt? Why?

"Given a pistol on the person of a man who is looking out for trouble, whose cowardice or conceit indicates him as a 'marked man,' add the single feature of one or two drinks, and you have just the condition whose full fruitage or downward climax is bloodshed.

"We have a good law against this abomination, and yet one that is a practical dead letter so far as any practical attempt at enforcement is concerned. Now and again some unsuspecting negro is 'pulled,' and fined $100 and costs, and in default of payment goes to supplement the chain-gang. In the meantime hard-ware companies do a thriving business in pistols, and, as indicated, our court records fairly bulge with crimes more or less directly connected with the practice of toting-pistols."

More Taxes to Come.

Secretary Shaw is not famed for his wisdom. He said in his recent speech that the deficit did not amount to anything to the American people. Mark that. In another speech he said the United States could build a Panama canal every year and not feel the additional taxes. That was another fool speech.

It has been asserted by politicians the people of the United States are the lightest taxed of any on the earth, and it is true. It cannot, however, be true long. There is no doubt that the treasury deficit, already many million, will be made a part of the permanent debt by the issue of bonds. It is equally certain that the Panama Canal will call for a large issue of bonds to add to the national debt. These things make it certain that there will be an addition to our taxes.

Then we may be certain that the president will coerce congress into granting money for a large navy, which is the most costly investment a nation can make. When we get all these things fastened on us we will not be the least taxed people on earth. When cabinet officers indicate the coming of more taxes and tell us we will not feel them, we may be sure they will come.

When the secretary of the treasury talks of the fact that we can bear a great deal more taxation we need not hope to avoid it long. Mr. Shaw's speech indicates that the matter has been talked over, and the taxes will be made necessary and then put on.

The tariff is as high as it can be, for to put it any higher would stop the revenue from it. There is still room for some additional internal revenue taxes, as a tax on bank checks, beer and whiskey. After those are put on we may as well be prepared for direct taxes. A great war navy, always ready to fight, will necessitate a constant and enormous expenditure, and we will have to foot the bills.

It may be that, as Secretary Shaw says, we will not feel the taxes, but with the rapidly increasing cost of living, there is some reason to fear that we will feel the new taxes.—Bham Ledger.

WILSONVILLE.

Dear Mr. Editor :

My only excuse for not getting up items for last week's edition of your valuable paper is, that Old Rip was feeling somewhat under the weather, or indisposed as some might call it. I was neither fishing, nor was my silence on account of no news, for having lived in a large city like Wilsonville you know there is at all times many things of interest transpiring. To tell you the plain truth, Rip was feeling so drowsy that he did not feel like doing anything, but had grave fears that he might be entering upon another long sleep of twenty years or more. So many things of interest and importance have transpired since my last communication that I will not endeavor to speak of them all, but will give you a few items for this week hoping that no one will become offended if perchance I should fail to note a few things that they might think I should mention. By the way, I will just simply say to you that it is hot in our city. I never before felt such hot weather at this season of the year. We are needing rain very badly to cool the atmosphere as well as to benefit the crops.

Say, Mr. Editor, do you suppose you could engage to sell two or three hundred pounds of fish in your city to be delivered about the middle or last of this week? Several of our young men left Wilsonville this morning to spend several days on Yellow Leaf creek, on a camp fish, and while they did not ask Rip to engage their fish, I thought it would be an accommodation to have their surplus engaged so they could get rid of them as soon as they return and thus avoid any possibility of them spoiling (I mean the fish).

Misses Isabell and Maude Randle, of Clarksville, Tenn., returned home last Wednesday, after having spent several weeks with the family of their uncle, Dr. J. B. Boyer. We were sorry to give them up and hope they will visit our city again. Miss Annie Boyer accompanied them home where she will remain visiting them and other relatives in southern Kentucky for two or three months.

Those who attended the Baptist church, Sunday, where highly delighted in hearing "The Holy City" as sang by our pleasant editor of The Sentinel. We are always glad to see you, so come again soon, and as Rip, as well as others, have a higher regard for the more tender and gentler sex than for our own, we insist on you bringing your wife next time.

On the first Sunday in this month a series of meetings began at the Christian church here, conducted by Rev. Mr. Northcross, of Franklin, Tenn. The meeting is still in progress and those who are not attending are missing some fine sermons. The subject of his discourse Sunday morn, June 11th, was "The Lord's Supper," which was fine.

If anyone has any turkeys or chickens laying out in the woods, and have not been able to find the nest, just call on E. W. Holland and Dr. Boyer, and these two gentlemen will take pleasure in assisting in gathering the eggs, as they are experienced in this special art.

Mrs. Green Abbott and daughter of Shelby, spent last Wednesday with Mrs. J. L. Riddle who has been quite sick for several months at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Iris E. Taylor. We are glad to learn that Mrs. Riddle is doing very well at present.

Dr. Lane, of Harpersville, was in our town last Wednesday on professional business. The doctor is a fine christian gentleman as well as an up to date doctor, and we love to meet him.

Miss Olive Densler returned home one day last week from Decatur, where she has been teaching music. All of us, young men especially, are glad to see you, Miss Olive.

We are very much gratified that Mrs. Amos Daniels and her daughter, Miss Mollie, are able to be out again after having been sick for some time.

John Millstead spent Sunday with his family. It looks natural to see you on our streets, Jack, and we are always glad to see you.

Rev. C. D. Brooks spent last week in Birmingham, attending a ministers' meeting. He reports a very pleasant and profitable time.

Dr. Branscom's two little boys, of Talladega, have been visiting relatives at the M. E. parsonage here for the past week.

J. L. Riddle is in our city at present, he having recovered from his spell of sickness. He is still on the puny list, however.

Miss Olive Nelson, of your city, spent last week with her sister, Mrs. F. M. Wilkins.

It looks like rain. Oh that we could have a good WET rain; we would all feel better and the crops are needing it badly.

Miss Kate Gwin has returned home for the vacation. We are glad to see you back again, Miss Kate.

Dr. Hamner was with us a few hours Friday morning performing dental work.

J. E. Pope and W. T. Taylor made a flying trip to Birmingham last week.

The very hot weather is causing a good deal of sickness in our community.

Jim Taylor is visiting his father, W. T. Taylor, and family for a days.

Jim Evans and family spent Sunday with his mother at Yellow Leaf.

Davis Riddle spent a few days last week with his mother.

Enough at present for fear of worrying someone.

Schools Should Teach Order.

Those who attend gatherings in the county as well as in towns often remark upon the amount of disorder among the boys and young men. Rudeness almost to the disturbance of public worship is a common thing. At school, and other public gatherings order is some times fearful.

Col. G. A. Gordon, of Savannah, in his recent address before the Educational Conference at Columbia, S. C., emphasized the great responsibility which rest upon the public school to teach and impress the spirit of law and order. The perpetuity of our civilization he pointed out rests upon the degree of teaching and influence of the public schools. If they neglect to educate the boys and girls in this important branch there is small hope for the future peace and order of the land. Teachers should take this suggestion to heart.—Tuskegee News.

The man who loafs three-quarters of his time is the man who kicks the hardest when the train is ten minutes late.

Manslaying.

Unless the laws against killing men are enforced in some degree, they ought to be repealed. There is less punishment for manslaying and manshooting in Alabama than for any serious crime. A man of any prominence or with any influence can harm another with almost certainty that he will not be hanged and with a strong probability that he will not be punished at all.

Our juries stand between criminals and punishment with a resolute front. We are all to blame for this, for public sentiment does not demand punishment for murder, manslaughter, assault to kill or assault and battery. We have laws against these crimes, but we do not expect them to be enforced. The juries know that they are not expected to punish these crimes.

There seems but one remedy and that is to go back to the primitive plan and every man carry his own pistol to protect his own life. It is laughable to talk about the laws protecting the citizen. It doesn't do it and we all know it will not do so, and we do not expect it to do so. Just as soon as a man kills another, there is almost a united effort of the community to protect him from punishment. We are all guilty. As jury after jury refuses to punish for murder, manslaughter, assault to kill and assault and battery, it becomes more and more the settled policy of the state to leave the protection of life to the personal courage and prowess of the man attacked.—Birmingham Ledger.

Some men are criticised for making money and others are criticised for not making it. And there are those who strike a happy medium by spending all they can borrow from their friends, as they never make any for themselves.

Notice of Commissioner's Sale.

In pursuance of, and in accordance with the terms and directions of a Commission, issued and addressed to undersigned, of the Hon. A. P. Longshore, Judge of the court of Probate in and for Shelby county, Alabama, bearing date the 23d day of May, 1905, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder for cash at public auction in front of the court house of said county, on Monday, the 19th day of June, 1905, within the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, to-wit:

That part of northeast quarter of southeast quarter and southeast quarter of southeast quarter of section 32, township 19, range 2 w., described by notes and bounds as follows: Commencing near the northeast corner of said forty on the west side of the creek, and running south through the center of the lot to the east and west line near the southeast corner of northeast quarter of southeast quarter of southeast quarter of southeast quarter of section 32, township 19, range 2 west, and the west half of northeast quarter, and east half of southeast quarter of northwest quarter of section 5, township 20, range 2 w., containing 233 acres more or less, which lands is to be sold under the decree of said court for the purpose of a division between and among the joint owners thereof, who are as follows: John C. Cross, John Harris, Paul Harris, George Harris, Mary Harris, Anne Harris, Julia Harris and Chris Harris, all being the heirs of Virginia Harris deceased.

TWO OPEN LETTERS

IMPORTANT TO MARRIED WOMEN

Mrs. Mary Dimmick of Washington tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well.

It is with great pleasure we publish the following letters, as they convincingly prove the claim we have so many times made in our columns that Mrs.

Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., is fully qualified to give helpful advice to sick women. Read Mrs. Dimmick's letters.

Her first letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I have been a sufferer for the past eight years with a trouble which first originated from painful menstruation—the pains were excruciating, with inflammation and ulceration of the womb. The doctor says I must have an operation or I cannot live. I do not want to submit to an operation if I can possibly avoid it. Please help me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, Washington, D. C.

Her second letter:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"You will remember my condition when I last wrote you, and that the doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I received your kind letter and followed your advice very carefully and am now entirely well. As my case was so serious it seems a miracle that I am cured. I know that I owe not only my health but my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to your advice. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I wish every suffering woman would read this letter and realize what you can do for them."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 50th and East Capitol Streets, Washington, D. C.

How easy it was for Mrs. Dimmick to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and how little it cost her—a two-cent stamp. Yet how valuable was the reply! As Mrs. Dimmick says—it saved her life.

Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of just such letters as the above, and offers ailing women helpful advice.

View of King Leopold.

An American who has ample opportunity to observe King Leopold, of Belgium, describes him as "a man of extraordinary fine physique, an accomplished linguist, widely read and traveled and holding advanced liberal views in all matters pertaining to statecraft and social science. He had the presence to see in the Congo section of Africa an opportunity to found a colony for the surplus population of the small state over which he rules, Belgium being the most densely populated of European countries."

Gift from a Stranger.
Mrs. C. Durga, of Bethel, Vt., has received $20,000 by the will of Alfred Lurie, of Liverpool, England, almost a total stranger. A few years ago, while Mr. Lurie was visiting in Bethel, Mrs. Durga did some writing for him and would take no pay. She had not heard from him since.

Cheap Chinese Newspapers.
Chinese newspapers, owing to the cheap quality of paper used and to the low price of labor, both literary and mechanical, are issued at an extremely small figure. The price of the ordinary Shanghai journal is 4 cash or about 1-5 of a cent.

FEED YOUNG GIRLS.
Must Have Right Food While Growing

Great care should be taken at the critical period when the young girl is just merging into womanhood that the diet shall contain all that is upbuilding, and nothing harmful.

At that age the structure is being formed and if formed of a healthy, sturdy character, health and happiness will follow; on the other hand unhealthy cells may be built in and a sick condition slowly supervene which, if not checked, may ripen into a chronic disease and cause life-long suffering.

A young lady says:
"Coffee began to have such an effect on my stomach a few years ago, that I was compelled to quit using it. It brought on headaches, pains in my muscles, and nervousness."
"I tried to use tea in its stead, but found its effects even worse than those I suffered from coffee. Then for a long time I drank milk alone at my meals, but it never helped me physically, and at last it pulled on me. A friend came to the rescue with the suggestion that I try Postum Coffee."

"I did so, only to find at first, that I didn't fancy it. But I had heard of so many persons who had been benefited by its use that I persevered, and when I had it brewed right found it grateful in flavor and soothing and strengthening to my stomach. I can find no words to express my feeling of what I owe to Postum Food Coffee!"

"In every respect it has worked a wonderful improvement—the headaches, nervousness, the pains in my side and back, all the distressing symptoms yielded to the magic power of Postum. My brain seems also to share in the betterment of my physical condition; it seems keener, more alert and brighter. I am, in short, in better health now than I ever was before, and I am sure I owe it to the use of your Postum Food Coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

College and Poverty.

A recent bulletin of the Massachusetts labor bureau shows that in Harvard, often called "a rich man's club," nearly 10 per cent. of the young men and nearly 11 per cent. of the young women are the children of people classed by statisticians as wage-earners. In Boston University, the largest Methodist institution of New England, 35 per cent. of the students are the sons and daughters of wage-workers. The record of Clark University is even more remarkable. This is devoted entirely to post-graduate and research work—that is, to the kind of study which must wait longest for monetary returns. Yet nearly 27 per cent. of its students are from wage-working families.

Ducks and Geese.

In raising ducks never keep anything but white feathered stock. The Pekin duck is the best and always brings the top of the market. With geese only the largest breeds should be kept. The Toulouse, African or any other large breed is all right, and it cost no more to raise a large bird than a small one. The market is never overstocked on large, fat geese.

The estimated average annual wheat yield of the United States is 540,000,000 bushels. The per capita consumption by the American people, the largest wheat eaters of the world, is 6.7 bushels, making the total estimated consumption approximately 536,000,000 bushels.

The largest library in the world is that of Paris. It contains upward of 2,000,000 printed books and 100,000 manuscripts. The British museum contains about 1,500,000 volumes, and the imperial library of St. Petersburg about the same number.

GOOD ROADS

Taxes and Farms.

HE farmer will ask, "How much would the tax be on my farm to have good roads?" This is a vital question, and it goes to the heart of the whole matter. As the answer to the question depends on the size of the farm, its value, the assessed value of the township, and the county, and its location, no answer can be given that will fit every case. The following example, which is based on conditions that represent the average situation in Illinois, as stated, will furnish an approximate answer: Let us assume that John Jones owns a quarter section in a township in Central Illinois, where the county is made up of sixteen townships. The records of the State Board of Equalization show that $1800 is an average assessed valuation of such a farm. The assessed valuation of a farming township is $300,000 or over, but we take $300,000 as the basis. Then the assessed valuation of the county would be $4,800,000, and under a State and county aid road law (which seems to be most equitable), the cost of hard roads is divided in three parts, charging same to State, county and township.

The State's portion of the cost would be paid in cash from the one mill tax levy. The county and township paid by issuing bonds, payable in twenty annual instalments, with three and a half of four per cent. interest.

To meet these bonds with the interest the county and township must raise, upon an average, $1200 a year for twenty years.

The township tax must be spread over $300,000 valuation, which will make the rate four mills. The county tax must be spread over $4,800,000 valuation, which makes the county tax one-fourth of a mill. So, upon the farm in question the annual tax bill will be:

State tax, one mill.....$1.80
County tax, one-quarter mill..... .45
Township tax, four mills..... 7.20

Total.....$9.45
The above is based upon only one of the sixteen townships in the county building hard roads; for every other township where $60,000 is expended for hard roads the county tax will be increased one-quarter of a mill, equal to forty-five cents a quarter section, which would have to be added to the above. If every township in the county should undertake at once the building of a similar system of hard roads, the county tax on the farm would be four mills, or $7.20, which, with $7.20 township, and $1.80 for State tax, would bring the total up to $16.20.

Suppose the farm in question is question is planted in corn and yields an average of forty bushels to the acre, the tax they will represent one-fourth of a cent a bushel on the crop. Experience shows, and I believe every one will admit, that a wide awake farmer, having at all seasons of the year good hard roads, can by watching the market and selling his corn under the most favorable conditions, get at least one cent, and often five cents, a bushel more than he can under present conditions. With hard roads he can take advantage of the market; with mud roads the markets often take advantage of him. And if our friend on the farm will sit down, take his pencil and figure out the saving he can make by hauling twice the load in half the time by reason of the hard roads, and the saving of wear and tear upon his teams, he will see that, in fact, no matter how he figures, he can save the cost of hard roads many times over every year.

The building of hard roads on the main thoroughfares will reduce the present road and bridge tax at least one-half; so the cost of hard roads is so evenly distributed that it does not become a burden.

Usually fifteen, or, at most, eighteen, miles will cover the main roads in any township; these can be macadamized or gravelled, making a permanent hard road, at a cost not exceeding $60,000 in any part of the State, and usually for $50,000. In localities having material close at hand the expense can be cut to $35,000 or $40,000. With modern road machinery the remaining dirt roads can be graded, crowned and drained, greatly improving the same, and the whole cost will not increase the present road tax over ten cents an acre a year. The whole question is: Are hard roads and good roads worth $16 a year for a quarter section?

Generally the cheapest and most accessible material should be used. In about half of the State gravel can be had; in the southern part of the State a very good material, known as Novaculite, is found; in the vicinity of Joliet and Chicago there is an abundance of all road materials, gravel, limestone and furnace slag, while Chicago's great drainage canal has upon its banks millions of cubic yards of good road material, and at the south end of this stone pile is the Joliet penitentiary.—Chicago Tribune.

No Pension Yet.

"Well, to be honest with you," said the tramp, "I can't exactly say that I'm a veteran and have witnessed the horrors of war, but I think I deserve a pension, though."

"For what?"

"Well, I was once locked in a freight car for a week, with the weather at zero, and nothing but a frozen turnip to eat, and nothing but blocks of building stones to keep me warm, and if I am not entitled to a pension nobody else ought to have one. The horrors of that old turnip beat the horrors of a battlefield all to pieces."—New York News.

Women's Good Looks.

According to an English specialist who has made a careful study of the subject, the reason why women are better looking than men is because they are more indolent, and are not called upon to use their brains as much as men are. Hard intellectual work and assiduous attention to business, he says, are harmful so far as physical beauty is concerned.—Indianapolis News.

Norse Legend.

According to a recent work on Norway, the scantiness of the soil in that country is explained by some of the country people as follows: At the creation of the world the angels whose duty it was to scatter the soil forgot Norway. Seeing this, the guardian angel of the land made complaints to the Creator. What was to be done? Impossible to restart the whole of the creation for the sake of Norway. "Come, my little angels," said he, "look carefully and perhaps you may find a little earth." The conscience-stricken angels swept the floor of heaven and the little dust they found they gathered in their draperies and scattered over the Norwegian rocks.

The Man Who Laughs.

Senator Depew recently gave utterance to this burst of philosophy: "The man who laughs is a doctor without a diploma. His face does more good in a sick room than a bushel of powders or a gallon of bitter draughts. People are always glad to see him. Their hands instinctively go out half way to meet his grasp, while they turn involuntarily from the clammy touch of the dyspeptic who speaks in the groaning key. He laughs you out of your faults, while you never dream of being offended with him and you never know what a pleasant world you are living in until he points out the sunny streaks in its pathway."

The town of Epernay, France, is a vast subterranean city, the streets for miles and miles being hewn out of the solid chalk, flanked with piles of champagne of all blends and qualities. There is no light in this labyrinth of streets, crossings and turnings, except that which the sputtering candles afford. All is dark and damp, with the thermometer down about zero. The largest champagne manufacturers in Epernay possess underground cellars which cover no less than forty-five acres and contain 5,000,000 bottles of wine.

I applied the Cuticura and put a thin cap on his head, and before I had used half of the box it was entirely cured, his hair commenced to grow out nicely again, and he has had no return of the trouble. Joke on Justin McCarthy.

In a recent article on political conditions in England Justin McCarthy quotes the expression "By the skin of his teeth," and parenthetically apologizes for using what he calls "such a vulgar expression." Humorous writers are enjoying a laugh at Mr. McCarthy's expense, calling his attention to the 19th chapter of Job, 20th verse, where he may find the words: "I am escaped with the skin of my teeth."

Railway Rate Legislation.

At the biennial convention of the Order of Railway Conductors, recently held at Portland, Oregon, resolutions were unanimously adopted voicing their sentiments as to the effect of proposed railway rate legislation on the 1,300,000 railroad employees, whom they in part represented. These resolutions "indorse the attitude of President Roosevelt in condemning secret rebates and other illegalities, and commend the attitude of the heads of American railways, who, with practical unanimity, have joined with the President on this question." They then respectfully point out to Congress the "inadvisability of legislation vesting in the hands of a commission power over railway rates, now lower by far in the United States than in any other country," because such regulation would "result in litigation and confusion and inevitably tend to an enforced reduction in rates, irrespective of the question of the ability of the railroads to stand the reduction, especially in view of the increased cost of their supplies and materials." They further protest against such power being given to the present Interstate Commission because "the proposed legislation is not in harmony with our idea of American jurisprudence, inasmuch as it contemplates that a single body shall have the right to investigate, indict, try, condemn and then enforce its decisions at the cost of the carriers, pending appeal, which is manifestly inequitable."

The conductors base their demand for only such legislation, if any, as would "secure and insure justice and equity and preserve equal rights to all parties concerned" on the ground that the low cost of transportation "is the result of the efficiency of American railway management and operation which have built up the country through constant improvement and development of territory, while at the same time recognition has been given to the value of intelligence among employees in contrast to foreign methods, where high freight rates and lowest wages to employees obtain."

In pressing their claim against legislation adverse to their interests, they point out the fact that "the freight rates of this country average only two per cent. of the cost of articles to the consumer, thus making the freight rate so insignificant a factor in the selling price that numerous standard articles are sold at the same price in all parts of the country."

"Peruna has my hearty indorsement as a restorative tonic of superior merit. At times when I have been completely broken down from excess of work, so that my faculties seemed actually at a standstill, Peruna has acted as a healing restorer, starting the machinery of mind and body afresh with new life and energy."

"I recommend it to a man tired in mind and body as a tonic superior to anything I know of and well worthy serious consideration."—J. Tighe.

Alaska, Terra Incognita.

We scarcely know Alaska as yet, not even the number of square miles of land and water surface. Of wholly unknown regions in the vast territory of nearly 578,000 square miles (estimated) there are three of considerable extent. The smallest embraces the great snow-covered St. Elias range, which, though but a short distance from tide water, is so inaccessible that practically nothing is known of its geography or geology. A second unexplored area lies adjacent to the Arctic coast and the international boundary, extending southward down 40,000 square miles. A third unexplored area lies in the northwestern part of the territory, which also includes about 40,000 square miles. The Kuskokwim basin embraces 18,000 miles of unexplored country.

GET WELL!

Let a SAMPLE BOTTLE of CHECKERS HELP YOU to GET WELL!

Perhaps you have the most stubborn and fatal disease the doctors know about. Perhaps you've suffered untold agony and daily torment. Perhaps you are unable to look after your daily work, maybe not well enough to give it a fraction of the time it needs. Perhaps you're discouraged with life—never expect to get back your youthful vigor again—lost your ambition, take no interest in your business, no longer enjoy old pleasures, and home and friends less attractive. The above are the usual penalties of disease suffering.

Perhaps you've tried a dozen doctors and a dozen different medicines. Then given up with disgust. It's a common experience. Do you expect to stop trying and risk the fatal end? Or are you still open for a positive cure? Your confidence, no doubt, has been shattered before by a dozen trials, but because you have grasped at straws in the past, will you refuse now to try a proven life preserver? Won't you bolster up your faith in human nature and try again? A positive cure depends on your answers.

Dr. Checkers, of Austria, gave his country the famous Checkers formula—this wonderful Medicine to be taken into the stomach, there to be absorbed by the blood—making the people new all over. Checkers is just beginning to be known in the U. S. It has cured thousands, it has cured wherever it has been tried. It is not a drug, it's like nothing you have ever tried—but it will cure you. It checks and stops the ravages of Consumption, it cures Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Nerve and Blood Diseases, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Coughs, La Grippe, Neuritis, Rheumatism, Heart Disease, Indigestion, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Nervousness, General Debility and all known Female Complaints. OLD CONFEDERATES MEET

In the Fifth Annual Reunion at Louisville. The Most Gorgeous of all. Joyous and Happy Hearts are They.

THEY LIVE THEIR LIVES OVER AMID FESTIVITIES.

A Happy Welcome From Kentucky—Many Alabamians
Prominent in Their Gayeties—Owens, of Alabama, Commander of the Sons—New Orleans
Won for Next Year.

Louisville, Ky.—Veterans of the old Confederacy, grizzled with years and many bowed with suffering, but all full of enthusiasm, filled the streets of Louisville Tuesday.

The morning, afternoon and night trains brought the hosts from the everglades of Florida; from the pine woods of Georgia; from the sand hills of Alabama; the knobs of sunny Tennessee; from the far forests of North Carolina; from the plains of South Carolina; from every point in the great South.

Some of them came garbed just as they were when the first call to arms was sounded. Hundreds of them laid away their old uniforms in anticipation of just such an event as this reunion.

Age has been kind to these old fellows. Some are bent and their hair is silvered, but youth is still in their hearts. To have been at the railway stations and seen former comrades meet, one would not have thought that sixty and seventy years had passed over their heads. They greeted each other as cheerily as school boys.

Welcome from State and City.

The meeting Wednesday was to make possible the official welcome to the veterans from Kentucky and Louisville. Gov. Beckham came to Louisville from Frankfort to express his pleasure in having the veterans in the state and to assure them of the state's hospitable welcome. Mayor Grainger handed over the city's keys and declared that everything the city had was devoted over to the veterans and their friends.

Gen. Lee Arrives.

Gen. Lee, the venerable commander-in-chief, entered the hall at 9:45 o'clock, with Gen. William E. Mickle, the adjutant general. They were instantly recognized by the convention, which stood while the general was taking his seat. He was looking fresh and active and bowed in acknowledgment of the cheers which greeted him.

An informal reception was held by Gen. Lee for fifteen minutes before the convention was called to order, the old soldiers gathering around their great leader to shake his hand and express to him their love and esteem.

Over 2,000 Delegates.

"The Committee on Credentials will make its report," called out James Stone, the reading clerk, whose big voice could be heard all over the building. The chairman then read the following report, showing the number of camps and delegates present as follows according to states:

Alabama, 173; Arkansas, 134; District of Columbia, 7; Florida, 82; Georgia, 215; Illinois, 2; Indiana, 2; Indian Territory, 41; Kentucky, 143; Louisiana, 129; Maryland, 18; Mississippi, 189; Missouri, 89; North Carolina, 127; Northwest, 30; Ohio, 2; Oklahoma, 17; Pacific, 25; South Carolina, 129; Tennessee, 180; Texas, 397; Virginia, 119; West Virginia, 18. Total, 2,248.

The report of the Historical Committee was called for and submitted by Gen. Clement A. Evans, the chairman. The report, which is important, was read by Mr. Stone and was received with the most careful attention.

The report of the chairman of the Confederate Memorial Association was read and affirmed. It was a careful treatise by Gen. Evans on the work done during the year. The report is in part as follows:

Robert on "Battle Abbey."

Gen. S. D. Lee, Commander U. C. V. In compliance with the provisions of our charter to make the present herewith the report of the Executive Committee, and that of the secretary and superintendent.

In our report last year we expressed gratification that we were at last "in sight" of the completion of our cherished plans—that we had secured the $100,000 to be raised by us to meet the condition of the contribution of the same amount of Comrade Charles B. Rous—so that we hoped very soon to go forward in the actual building of our Memorial Hall—"Battle Abbey," as it is properly called.

We confidently hoped that we could at this meeting report our building at least commenced. But we then reported that the only obstacle in our way was that the $40,000 balance due from the Rous estate was hung up by an attachment gotten out by the former secretary and superintendent, J. C. Underwood. In the suit he had instituted against the C. M. A., in the United States court at Brooklyn, N. Y., for the alleged commissions due him. We regret to have to report now that this same obstacle still exists.

Delayed by Suits.

Despite our earnest efforts to get a trial of this suit, we were not able to do so until February last, and then, to our great surprise and that of our able counsel, the jury gave a verdict for about $15,000 against us. Regarding this verdict as very unjust, our counsel took an appeal to a higher court, and are very confident that they will be able to set the verdict aside. But we have to encounter once more "the law's delays," and meantime the Rous estate is inhibited by the attachment proceedings from paying us the balance of the $40,000 due, or any part of it.

Report of Executive Committee.

Following the report of the Board of Trustees of the Memorial, the report of the Executive Committee was made.

Women to Build Davis Monument.

"The work of erecting a monument to our great president, Jefferson Davis, has been turned over to the women of the South, and we will now have a report showing what these great and good women have done for the cause."

The report of Mrs. N. V. Randolph, president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was then read. It showed that $69,000 has been raised and is now in hand.

"The monument is an assured fact and will be unveiled in Richmond on June 3, 1907," the report stated, and the reader was interrupted by a strain of applause. The report was received and filed amid enthusiasm. Gen. Lee paid a high tribute to the women and the work they have done in such a good and noble cause.

Gen. Lee Wanted No Controversies.

"A man named Miles is having a controversy with our own Mrs. Jefferson Davis and we want to express our condemnation of that man and his action," said a grizzled, bearded veteran from Texas.

"No, we must enter into no controversy," said Gen. Lee. "We must not stir up politics and there must be no stirring up of such things." Gen. Lee's remarks were received with approval and the man who had made the motion sat down.

The Memorial Exercises.

Dr. Jones, the chaplain general, presided at the memorial exercises. In opening them he said he would not even mention the names of those who died during the past year, as they are too well known. He mentioned the names of Gen. Bates and Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, and then asked the Rev. Dr. N. M. Woods, of Louisville, a Confederate soldier, to open the exercises with prayer. The convention stood while Dr. Woods asked God's blessing on the old soldier who is so near the life's journey end.

Elect Old Officers.

The United Confederate Veterans re-elected their old officers as follows:

Commander-in-Chief, Lieutenant

General Stephen D. Lee.

Commander Trans-Mississippi Department, General W. L. Cabell, Texas.

Commander Army of Tennessee Department, General Clement A. Evans, Georgia.

Commander Army of North Virginia Department, C. Irving Walker, South Carolina.

The nominations were made by acclamation, although there was an attempt to defeat the re-election of General Cabell. Post No. 2, of Texas, entered a protest to the re-election of General Cabell, saying that he was not the unanimous choice of the Texas delegation, but the protest was hooted down and three cheers given for "Old Tige" Cabell while the secretary recorded the election of the old Texan.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session began at 3:15 o'clock with the convention hall only about half filled. The first thing was the address by Gen. N. E. Harris. It was the regular annual address which is always delivered by some Confederate.

"The convention will come to order," said Gen. Lee, rapping on the table. "I am sorry that so few persons are here to listen to this address. Those who are not here will be the losers."

"That is right," called out a Georgian who belonged to the camp of the speaker.

"We will now have the annual address," continued Gen. Lee. "It will be delivered by a man who was with Gen. Morgan and it will be worthy the careful attention of the delegates. I now take pleasure in introducing to you Gen. Nat E. Harris, of Macon, Ga.

Gen. Harris was received with a burst of applause, and the sentiment expressed by him woke up the veterans, who cheered him to the echo. The speaker painted a picture of the battle of the post, with the soldiers in line of battle and the famous generals in command. He said he could see them as they stood waiting for the signal to fire. As he named the men who are loved by the South the convention expressed by their voices their great affection for these dead heroes. Mr. Harris is an orator and made a magnificent and eloquent address, discussing the causes of the war.

Wanted More Speech.

"We've got half an hour yet, and we would like to hear you," said a delegate. Gen. Harris yielded to the demand and continued his speech, telling of the burning of a city and the extinguishing of it by a storm of water from the heavens.

Sleeping as sweetly as if he had been in his bed at home, a one-legged Confederate sat on the stage during the address, enjoying life. He was dreaming of the days of the war, and when touched by a comrade he almost climbed over one of the press tables.

He said he was dreaming of a battle in which he had fought and thought some one was cutting at him with a saber.

Gen. Harris closed after speaking for two hours, and he and his wife were congratulated by those of the veterans who could reach him on the stage.

"Order! Come to order!" We have business before us," said Gen. Lee, rapping with his gavel. After order had been restored, Gen. A. B. Booth was introduced, and on behalf of New Orleans invited the veterans to meet them next year. He read a number of inducements which have been offered by the mayor and common council of New Orleans. As he began to speak there were cries of:

"New Orleans! New Orleans! We want to go there next time!"

New Orleans an Easy Winner.

Gen. Booth then read an invitation from the governor of Louisiana to meet in New Orleans in 1906. He spoke only a few minutes, and when he said "Good!" He was hot and dry and wanted to get away.

Miss Louise Blanchard sang "Dixie," and if there had been any doubt about where the convention would go, this settled it for good and all, for the old soldiers simply went wild over the young girl who was singing to them.

"I move we make the selection of New Orleans unanimous," said a delegate, but Gen. George W. Gordon, of Nashville, insisted upon being allowed to speak, and Gen. Lee required silence when Gen. Gordon spoke.

He extended a hearty invitation to the veterans to meet in Nashville in 1906, and introduced G. H. Baskette, editor of the Nashville Banner, who seconded the nomination of Nashville and gave reasons why that city should be selected as the next meeting place.

Dr. W. J. McMurray seconded the nomination of Nashville and Gov. Jones, of Arkansas, seconded the nomination of New Orleans, and when Gen. Lee called on all those in favor of New Orleans to stand up in favor of New Orleans to stand up it seemed that the whole convention rose as one man. Later a motion was made to make the selection of New Orleans unanimous, and this was called.

Alabamians in Line.

Raphael Semmes Camp, of Mobile, led the Alabama division, which was commanded by Gen. George P. Harrison. E. K. Jones Camp, Huntsville, was in second place, and then came Camp Hutto, of Jasper, the members of this organization being few in numbers but old in years. The average age of the twelve members of this camp is beyond the four score mark, the oldest being 96, while the youngest is 74. The Fourth brigade, of Aniston, was the last of the Alabamians in line.

Plaudits for Gen. Lee.

His form as erect and his carriage as perfect as it was when he first entered the army of the South so many years ago, looking every inch the soldier in his gray uniform, the commanding general of these veterans, Gen. Stephen D. Lee, stood in the center of the gathering and received the plaudits of the throng which could not cheer him enough. This same man delivered an address in defense of the South and the cause for which it fought that was a masterpiece.

Old Friends Meet.

The scenes at the meetings between some were full of pathos. At the Seventh street station there was a meeting between a man who fought in the Tenth Tennessee and another who went to the front in one of the Virginia regiments. Neither had seen the other since the surrender at Appomattox. One was without an arm, and the other had lost an eye. The trains bearing the two arrived at the station at about the same time, and they met at the gate. The recognition was instantaneous. They forgot all else, dropped their baggage and were in each other's arms in a second, while great tears rolled down their cheeks.

"A drink of water from that man's canteen saved my life at Richmond," remarked the soldier from Tennessee, and arm in arm they strode up the street to live over again those old days.

All in Good Humor.

Then there was the amusing side to the scene. Many of the old veterans were in fine humor, despite their long ride, and when they reached the station platform they stretched their legs in a fashion that indicated they had lost none of their nimbleness. The old "rebel yell" resounded through the building, and many a citizen was greeted with a "Hi there, Yank," as they marched up the street. But everybody was in good humor with himself and his fellowman, and the jibes and "kicks" were taken good naturedly by everyone.

All Had Mementoes.

Nearly every veteran brought with him some memento of the war to show to some comrade and he always had its history at his fingers' ends and one did not need to urge him to get the story. An old fellow from North Carolina brought along half a cannon ball which he had picked up on the field of Lookout mountain after the battle. He has retained it all these years and never fails to take it to a reunion.

The most notable relic of all was the sword said to have been worn by Gen. John H. Morgan, Kentucky's noted cavalry leader. It was in the possession of Capt. Patrick M. Griffin, of Company B, Tenth Tennessee infantry, of Nashville. It came into his possession at Nashville Monday night. He secured it from Samuel Holt, a union veteran, who found it in the possession of a negro, who said he secured it from his father, who was Gen. Morgan's cook. Capt. Griffin gave $100 for the sword, and if it is found to be genuine he proposes to give it to the Kentucky Confederates of Morgan's men in this state. The sword appears to be genuine, and is in an excellent stage of preservation. On the scabbard is engraved: "Presented to Gen. John H. Morgan by the Lexington Rifles, 1861." It is gold mounted and at the end of the handle is a golden eagle.

Other veterans brought old pistols, guns, bullets, broken shells, and in fact almost every conceivable object that could possibly be used in a war of extermination.

Where They Met.

Under a canopy of crimson symbol of blood shed by the men of the South for the cause which they believed to be right, the surviving soldiers who followed the stars and bars of the Confederacy gathered Wednesday in fifteenth annual reunion. With the gentle and kindly face of their old leader, Robert E. Lee, looking down on them from the end of the hall, and about them the flags for which they fought, the gray-haired and gray-clad veterans of the Confederacy came together for another renewal of old friendships, and to further signalize the glory of the South.

Their number woefully diminished, but their spirit undimmed; their strength weakened, but their wills unconquered, they took off their old army hats, waved them about their heads, and cheered for the South and the men who made her famous to all the world. The "rebel yell" sounded once more. That yell, which came to be feared by their enemies, now meant no animosity, no feeling but reverence, and no defiance but to age and the ravages of time.

"Dixie's" Words Not Changed.

"Shall we change the words of Dixie," said Gen. Lee.

"No, no, never, don't change the old words, let it stay as it is," yelled the veterans with one voice.

Gen. George P. Harrison, of Alabama, chairman of the Committee on Dixie, reported against making any change in the words of the famous song and the report was adopted by acclamation.

Ex-Gov. Fleming, of Florida, chairman of the Resolution Committee, made his report. The first resolution condemned war and expressed the hope that universal peace shall prevail. Another resolution called on the camps to have each member write a brief sketch of his life and deeds during the war. The third resolution urged the appropriation by Southern states of sufficient money for the erection of monuments in public battle-field parks.

Gen. A. P. Stewart Sends Greeting.

Borden Springs, Ala., June 15, 1905.—Gen. William E. Mickle, Chief of Staff, U. C. V. Convention, Louisville, Ky.: My most grateful acknowledgments to the convention for their very kind message which is a great comfort to me. I am happy to say my health improves and I have in the good providence of God a fine prospect of recovery. My cordial, heartfelt greeting to the old soldiers. No truer men walk this earth.

ALEX. P. STEWART.

The following telegram of greeting from the Pacific coast to the United Confederate Veterans was received last night, addressed to Gen. William E. Mickle, the adjutant general:

Greetings from Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy of San Francisco, and a cordial invitation to attend convention on October 3.

ANNIE B. VOORHIES.

Sons of Veterans Elect Officers.

The apparent lethargy that characterized the first day's session of the convention of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans had no part in the last session. The silence that grew monotonous under the reading of long reports on Wednesday gave way to the wildest enthusiasm Thursday and the old building fairly shook with the shouts that shot up from the pit to the dome. The sponsors and maids of honor who accompanied the Sons to the city occupied seats on the stage and in the boxes, while many of Louisville's fairest daughters swelled the audience in the main auditorium.

The first outburst from the sons and daughters was due to the appearance of a delegation of Confederate Veterans, consisting of Gen. I. C. Walker, of Charleston, S. C.; Col. Bennett H. Young, of Louisville; and Capt. William T. Ellis, of Owensboro. No sooner had it been announced by Commander Tisdal that these veterans were in the hall and that addresses would be made by them than a tremendous yell went up. The demonstration was kept up for some minutes after the delegation had been seated on the stage. It was soon realized that all efforts toward transaction of business would have to be put aside until the three representatives of the lost cause had been heard from.

Mr. Owen By Acclamation.

There was little time wasted in the election of officers for the ensuing year. All were elected by acclamation, there being no opposition for any office. C. J. Owen, of Aniston, Ala., placed the name of Thomas M. Owen of Montgomery, Ala., before the convention for the office of commander-in-chief. He paid a high compliment to the fitness of his candidate for the position. The nomination was seconded by Thomas P. Stone, of Texas, delegations for other states joining in to make the election unanimous. After the adjutant general had cast the entire vote of the convention for Thomas M. Owen, he was declared elected. Thomas P. Stone, of Waco, Texas; R. B. Horton, of St. Louis, and W. McL. Fayssoux, of New Orleans, were appointed a committee to escort the newly elected commander-in-chief to the platform, where he made a short speech in recognition of the honor. He said he was greatly touched by the honor conferred upon him by the Sons of Veterans. Said he:

"I propose to put my whole energy in the work of carrying forward our banner to more glorious success and achievements. We must keep the beacon brightly burning before the coming generations. This organization is a business one. We must do as well as be enthusiastic. I propose to go home and go to work. We must pledge ourselves to maintain the honor of the old soldier."

Other officers were chosen by acclamation, as follows: Department Commander of Army Northern Virginia, E. Leslie Spence, of Richmond, Va.; Department of Army of Tennessee, R. L. E. Bynum, of Jackson, Tenn.; Department of Trans-Mississippi, I. J. Stockett, of Tyler, Texas. R. E. L. Bynum was re-elected to the office of department commander of the Army of Tennessee. I. J. Stockett, who was chosen to succeed C. A. Skeen as commander of Trans-Mississippi department is the retiring adjutant general of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans.

The Last Day.

Beneath the shot-riddled battle flags that floated over many a sodden field and to the thrilling strains of "Dixie," the song that cheered them on to victory, the veterans who wore the gray marched Friday in proud review before thousands of people gathered in Kentucky's chief city to do them honor.

Bowed with age and mingling the scars of battle with the marks of time and conscious, perhaps, that for many of their number this would be the last review, the veterans donned their uniforms, unfurled their banners and with heads erect as years would permit, "fell in," ready to take their part in the last event of the fifteenth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

There was not much in the way of formation and order in the line as far as the old boys were concerned, but they marched with sparkling eyes to the old tunes, and heard the same cheers that have stirred their blood annually since the reunions became a part of life in the South. Many of the captured battle flags, recently returned by the government were carried in Friday's parade and were the objects of interest and veneration.

Three Veterans Overcome.

The temperature was near the 86 mark, and John Cocke, of Lawrenceburg, Ky.; J. B. Allen, of Virginia, and William Potter, of Nashville, were overcome and taken to hospitals.

The parade, which formed at First and Main streets, was in three grand divisions, comprising the Trans-Mississippi department, the department of North Virginia and the department of the Army of Tennessee, Col. Bennett H. Young, commander of the Kentucky division, was the chief marshal and the following were in command of the three divisions:

Gen. W. L. Cabell, Texas, the Trans-Mississippi department; Gen. C. Irving Walker, South Carolina, the department of North Virginia; Gen. Clement A. Evans, the Army of Tennessee.

At the head of the column as special guests of the reunion, rode Gen. Joe Wheeler, in citizen dress, and Jefferson Hayes Davis, grandson of the president of the Confederacy. They were escorted by Wheeler's cavalry. Next came the commander-in-chief, Gen. Stephen D. Lee, and staff. The distinguished leader was cheered at every turn. The commander's immediate escort was the Columbus Rifles, from the general's home city, Columbus, Miss., and then followed carriages containing Miss Carrie Peyton Wheeler, sponsor for the South, and her maids of honor.

Indian Girl is Maid of Honor.

The Indian Territory division, commanded by Gen. John L. Galt, was also small in numbers. In the sponsor's carriage was an Indian girl, acting as maid of honor, and she attracted general attention.

Alabama Departments.

Washington, D. C.—Capt. John C. Goodfellow, artillery corps, is detailed to attend the encampment of the organized militia of the state of Alabama from June 15 to August 1.

The salary of the postmaster at Marlon has been increased from $1,600 to $1,700 and that of the postmaster at Tuskegee decreased from $1,900 to $1,600 per annum.

Rural routes ordered established August 15: Bango, Blount county, routes 1 and 2, population 732, houses 103; Blountville, Blount county, route 1, population 404, houses 101; Columbia, Houston county, route 3, population 481, houses 107; Gum Springs, Blount county, route 1, population 480, houses 119.

Fourteen Injured.

Birmingham, Ala.—A collision at a crossing occurred Friday morning shortly before 6 o'clock between the regular Boyles employes' accommodation train, engine No. 810, of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and engine No. 1096 of the Central of Georgia.

Fourteen workmen on the Boyles train were more or less injured, but no one was killed or fatally hurt. The accident took place at East Birmingham at the point where the tracks of the two roads intersect.

Fire at Tallahassee.

Tallahassee, Fla.—Thursday night about 11:30 the church bell began to toll sounds of distress and the city of Tallahassee had to pass through what every town has to witness without fire protection. The beautiful two-story building, hall and store house of Postmaster W. M. Leavy, situated in the southwestern part of town was totally destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss about $1,400, insurance, $750.

Has Fingers Mashed Off.

Aniston, Ala.—D. T. Smith has happened to two very singular and painful accidents lately. While handling lumber at Kaplan's new building one of the fingers of his left hand were crushed off. Tuesday afternoon he was watching men load ice at the factory, and thoughtlessly rested his left hand on the ice slide when a big block of ice came along and mashed off another finger of the same hand.

St. Petersburg.—It is probable no successor to Grand Duke Alexis, who resigned his position as high admiral of the navy Thursday will be appointed, and that the affairs of his department will be entrusted to a responsible ministry likewise of the war office. Both departments will come under the proposed committee of national defense, which will be headed by one of the grand dukes or by the emperor personally.

Forestry Department recently reported to the Agricultural Committee of the Dominion Parliament that 1,800,000 trees had been distributed in 1904, and that 20,000,000 would be distributed during 1905, states the New York Sun.

A system of rangers to guard against fires is in operation in Ontario and Quebec, and a similar system has now been established in areas belonging to the Dominion. No important work has yet been done in the reforestation of denuded areas, but that will come. The Canadians understand that the vast areas of the eastern province, and the 900,000,000 acres of forest in the Northwest, constitute an enormous national wealth.

COLUMBIANA, ALA., June 22, '05

Telephone No. 17.

There was a triple hanging in Decatur last Friday—all negroes.

According to the dispatches Russia is now governed by a priest and a big policeman.

Governor Folk is still making the Missouri grafters climb trees or take to the woods.

Thorsby shipped a full car load of peaches last week—the first of the season from that town.

King Oscar of Sweden is opposed to the secession of Norway—it cuts his salary $130,000 a year.

Talladega has plenty of electric power and to spare. Oh, that Columbiana had a portion of it!

The United Confederate Veterans will hold their annual reunion in New Orleans next year.

All the wise men in the world will become important now in trying to see that peace gives good measure.

The immigration conference held in Birmingham last week was a great meeting, and means much to Alabama.

No "bucket shop" can hereafter operate in Anniston without first paying a license of $2,000. Good for Anniston.

Mayor Weaver is still wielding the ax in Philadelphia, and city official heads are falling into the basket nearly every day.

Fourth of July celebrations are working their way south. More of them are advertised in Alabama this year than ever before.

The Sentinel may have another guess coming to it, but all the same we believe Cunningham will be the next Governor of Alabama.

M. E. Ingalls, president of the Big four railroad, has cancelled a policy of fifty thousand dollars he was carrying in the Equitable.

It is said Russia is to build a billion dollar navy. That country needs it, and then there should be a perpetual quarantine against the Japs.

Making ice cream from condensed milk nearly caused the death of a dozen or more people at Nashville a few days ago, who ate of the cream.

The president is going to dispense with a whole lot of red tape used in most of the departments—wants to inaugurate more business like methods.

The statement is given out by Comer's friends that he is not a candidate for governor—that is, not now. So there is a good stout string to the statement.

Russia made a kick on the peace conference being held at Washington, no doubt because there would be a square deal, but the kick has been declared out of order.

A merchant in north Alabama is advertising bathing suits for sale, and there isn't a stream in his county with water in it deep enough to drown a chicken.

Three killed and seven wounded is the result of a feud in Breathitt county, Ky., one day last week. That county should be taken off the map; it is a plague spot.

The state board of health of Iowa has decreed that all practicing physicians in that State must shave clean. The doctor who wears a beard must either cut it off or quit practicing.

Elmore county's vote on the local taxation question for public schools was carried by a vote of twelve to one for the proposition. That carries the banner so far as heard from.

The edict has gone forth that Columbiana people must clean up the trash about their premises and burn it or have it carted away. That is a good move in the direction of good sanitary condition.

Hon. Thomas M. Owen, of Montgomery, Alabama's historian, was elected Commander in Chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans at Louisville last week. A great honor to a most worthy man.

President Roosevelt is to be in Birmingham for two hours on October 13th. That city is now making preparations and will extend the chief executive a welcome such as only Southern people know how to give.

There will be but little, if any, opposition to Col. Garber's candidacy for Attorney General. No one has been mentioned in connection with that office but the Talladega jurist. Let's make his nomination unanimous.

Paul Morton is now at the head of the Equitable life insurance company, but the record he made for himself while mixed up with the Santa Fe railroad will not inspire any confidence in the minds of the policy holders.

Hard Up for Names.

Russia's proposed two legislative houses are to be called respectfully: Gosudarstvennaia sovet, and gosudarstvennaia дума. Now watch the dentists make a rush to that country.

More Ugly Charges.

The investigation now being made into the charges that information regarding the condition of the crops leaked out from the department of agriculture in Washington in advance of the issuance of the reports has created more than ordinary interest. For some time there have been rumors of more or less juggling in this department, and as result there have been complaints from a good many sources which would be affected by irregularities along this line. While the reports do not state it, there are pretty good reasons to believe that information of this kind if furnished in advance had a distinct object in view—that of influencing the cotton and other markets which are more or less sensitive to official reports from the agricultural department. Already secret service men are making investigations with a view to placing responsibility for the offense, if such has been committed, and the circumstances so far look suspicious to say the least. A number of firms in the larger cities are said to be more or less involved. It will be several days before a complete report can be made setting forth the result of the inquiries.

These charges should be probed to the bottom. If the agricultural department has among its working force men who accept money on other consideration for furnishing to stockholders and others advance information on government reports or who would doctor the government reports in order to influence the markets and thereby enable speculators to take an unfair advantage of the public, the whole ugly business should be exposed and the guilty parties severely punished. If this sort of thing is known to be carried on in the agricultural department that institution will soon be in disrepute, and the public will have no confidence in it. Furthermore the department would thus be the cause of great injustice to the public.

The American people have already reached the point where they are not surprised at any time to learn of graft in the departments at Washington. The thing appears to be something of a habit. The postoffice frauds are still fresh in the public mind. The extensive land frauds are still under investigation, while a number of members of the Senate and the house are under indictment for serious offenses. The result of the Bowen-Loomis investigation is now being awaited with interest and this involves charges of graft in the diplomatic service. The Swayne investigation and the attempted mileage grab are still fresh in the memory of the public. On top of all these comes the charge of graft in the agricultural department. It is not strange that the people will wonder what to expect next, especially in view of the widespread impression based upon more or less reasonable grounds that one reason why it is proving such an uphill job to get through any legislation providing for fair railroad tariffs and the abolition of the rebate and other evils is that no small proportion of the membership of the United States Senate is identified in some way or other with the interests of railroad or other interests allied with the railroad, and consequently look at the question through railroad spectacles.—Bham News.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League of Alabama was organized at Montgomery last week, and a committee, composed of Eli P. Smith, of the Birmingham News; Frank P. Glass, of the Montgomery Advertiser, and Erwin Craighead, of the Mobile Register, was appointed on publicity.

There is a big row brewing in the Republican camp in this State over representation in their coming State Convention. The white counties want to cut the representation of the black belt counties as the negro no longer cuts any figure in politics, while the black belt counties claim that representation in the convention must be based on population. There promises to be a first class scrap between the pie counter fellows.

It is said the site for Birmingham's new passenger station has been determined on, and that work will begin on the new building in the near future. The Birmingham News has been contending, and justly, too, for a new passenger depot for months, and it is to be congratulated upon the result of its efforts. No city in the South is in greater need of a larger and more commodious depot than is Birmingham.

To Be Settled.

It now seems, says the Montgomery Advertiser, that the troubles which have been on between the trustees of the Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo, and the former President H. C. Reynolds, will soon be abated, and it is quite likely that all litigation will be stopped within a short time. A proposition was made to the Board of Trustees yesterday at its meeting in the office of the Governor, which was refused, but a counter offer was made that promises results.

After Mr. Reynolds retired from the office of President of the institution suit was brought by the trustees for an accounting of his tenure of the office, the court being the chancery tribunal of Shelby County. Mr. Reynolds brought a counter suit and obtained judgment, but could not collect because of the action being brought against the State.

Mr. Reynolds offered yesterday to have all the accounts and books submitted to the Executive Committee of the Board, and to allow that body to determine what he was due the school and what was due him, and to settle on that basis. This was declined by the board which, however, it is learned, offered to withdraw its suit, if Mr. Reynolds would recall his, and then all differences might be settled by the board in the way suggested.

W. B. Reynolds, son of H. C. Reynolds, was seen after the meeting and said that these were the terms offered and that he and his father had decided to accept them, which will have the effect of ending the differences and getting the matter entirely out of the way. It is understood there will be no difficulty of settlement after these details are agreed upon.

Columbiana Wins Third Game.

Prattville Progress: "By a score of 4 to 7 the Prattville baseball team was defeated in the last of the series of games with Columbiana on the Prattville grounds last Thursday evening. Each of the opposing teams had won one game and as this was the tie game, Prattville turned out an excellent crowd to witness the deciding contest.

"By an unbroken series of errors on the part of the locals, lasting from the beginning of the first inning to the last of the ninth, the game slipped away from the home team. It was practically demonstrated throughout this game that Prattville needs and must have stationary in-field men who play there and no where else. Our third base was a weak place during the entire season last year, and it seems this season opens with the same defect, and the results of the games this year will not be satisfactory until we have a better infield.

"Notwithstanding the numerous errors in this game, it was a fine exhibit of baseballism, and showed that we are to have a better team this year than last. The "knockers" have not all died yet, and some were inclined to roast Manager McCord for the way in which he lined up his men. Some tho't Huie Whetstone was not equal to the occasion and should not have been put in to pitch the game against Roberts. Before the game was over, however, it was clearly seen that while the locals were playing a losing game, it was on account of no fault on the part of the pitcher. Whetstone pitched a game that should have won, and had it not been for the numerous errors all over the field, we firmly believe the score would have been by long odds our way. There was only two places where no errors were made—Fisher, at first, played an errorless game, and McNeil in right."

Smother your disappointment, brother. The game was won by playing ball, and its loss by the Prattville team cannot be credited wholly to errors.

On a Camp Fish.

Editor Sentinel, Columbiana.

Bright and early on Monday of last week, we loaded our trappings on a wagon and with D. Burnham at the throttle, turned our mules toward the hills. Two of our number had already selected the place to camp which we reached about one-thirty.

"Twas a beautiful spot—green grass, large shade trees and highly elevated.

After we had eaten our lunch we set about erecting our shanty. This was hardly begun when, without any warning whatever, we were presented with as heavy a rain as could be desired. We managed to keep our provisions dry, but got thoroughly drenched ourselves. We then decided to return to an old house we had passed on the roadside as we came along, and having secured the owner's permission and use of his wagon we moved at once into our new quarters.

After unpacking everything and getting our camp in order, the next thought was of supper. We went down on the creek and caught a nice string of fish, and then Calvin and Clarence took charge of the cooking department. Calvin's attempt at frying fish succeeded very well, but Clarence's bread—well, we won't mention that except to say that one of our number narrowly escaped death when a piece of this bread fell from the table missing him only a hair's-breadth. As the rest of us knew we could do no worse we decided to let Clarence try his hand again at bread making. The only difference next time was that possibly it weighed several pounds more to the square inch. Leon tried it at dinner and while not so tough as the other, our teeth all needed repairing after a few attempts to bite it. "Tough? well I reckon!" But Clarence got the hang of it next day, and from then on we had biscuit good enough for anybody—on a camp fish.

Special mention should be made of our quartette. E. Pope, baritone; C. Weldon, and C. Smith, tenors; L. Pope, bass. The frogs left the country! If I should attempt to describe the many funny incidents that happened at Camp Ragtime I am afraid you would have to enlarge your paper.

"Calvin, what animal can imitate the human voice most perfectly?" Calvin—"A goat!" T. Daniel made himself famous for his fried fish and chicken. He is an expert. C. Smith will always be remembered by his bread; C. Weldon for his gravy; Elgin for his betting with the head waiter; he always lost, however. Leo for his remarks "in his sleep."

Our nearest neighbor, Mr. W. H. Gill, who, by the way, Mr. Editor, is one of our good democrats, certainly treated us royally. The boys of Camp Ragtime will always feel themselves under obligations to Mr. and Mrs. Gill for their many kindnesses. Such butter, milk, and honey we have never seen or tasted before.

Well, of course we had a "scratching" good time. By the way, we succeeded in disposing of our fish up here, so won't have to impose upon you as per Rip Van Winkle's request.

Immediately after dinner Thursday, we packed up and about 2:30 our private wagon train arrived with Mr. Burnham in charge. Of course we were glad to turn our faces homeward once more, but a feeling of sadness stole over us as we bade farewell to the hills and creeks which surrounded Camp Ragtime.

Sincerely,
THE BOYS.

Cures Old Sores.

Westmoreland, Kans. May 5, 1902: Ballard, Snow Liniment Co., Your Snow Liniment cured an old sore on the side of my chin that was supposed to be a cancer. The sore was stubborn and would not yield to treatment, until I tried Snow Liniment, which did the work in short order. My sister, Mrs. Sophia J. Carson, Allensville, Mifflin county, Pa., has a sore and mistrusts that it is a cancer. Please send her a 50c. bottle. Sold by Williams Bros.

Special Notice Shelby Co. Division.

You should remit your assessment of $1.15 for the first death claim to W. L. Farley, Secretary and Treasurer, of Columbiana, Ala., before June 27th, as the 30 days after notice of death will expire on that date.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

"I know not how true the tale may be,
I tell it as 'twas told to me."

Jas. N. Robertson made a business trip to Birmingham, Monday.

Mrs. S. V. McCauley is visiting with friends in Montevallo for a short time.

Mrs. Max Lefkovits and little son Alvin are at Shelby Springs for a few weeks.

Judge J. L. Peters made a trip to Montevallo last Sunday for a short visit with his children.

Miss Loulah Wilson has tendered her resignation as a teacher in the Columbiana schools.

J. W. Peers had us quarantined out of our office for nearly two days last week—painting it.

Mrs. H. E. Whitaker left yesterday for a visit with friends at Montevallo, Wilton and Ashby.

Prof. S. Dowell, who is employed in Bessemer, was at home for an over Sunday visit with his family.

John H. Robertson was in attendance at the United Confederate Veterans reunion in Louisville last week.

That was a good shower of rain which fell here last Sunday. It is regretted that there was not more of it.

Mrs. L. N. Bowdon and little son Wilson are in the city visiting Mrs. Bowdon's mother Mrs. Jennie L. Wilson.

W. S. Hyatt, of Talladega, was visiting friends in the city last Sunday. He is an employe of Our Mountain Home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Morgan and children, of Pratt City, arrived in the city last Sunday for a short visit with relatives.

W. J. Horsley was in Birmingham last week on business connected with the Birmingham Title and Guaranty company.

A large number of Columbiana people accompanied our ball team to Talladega where it goes to play two games with Coal City.

Mrs. F. M. Wilkins, of Wilsonville, was in the city last Saturday and Sunday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Nelson.

J. R. White and his two little daughters, Clarice and Eunice, returned last Saturday from a short visit with relatives at Oxford.

The friends of Mrs. Philip Erlick are glad to know that she is improving after a long illness. It is hoped she will soon be out again.

Friedbergers received an order last Friday from Gulfport, Miss., for six hundred frying chickens and filled the order the next day.

Dr. Wilkinson, of Montevallo, was in the city one day last week, and while here came in and renewed his subscription to The Sentinel.

WILSONVILLE.

Nat Nivens is home again on the sick list.

Miss Lizzie Varner is visiting the Cole family at present.

W. S. McEwen and wife, of Four Mile, spent Sunday in town.

Mrs. A. L. Jackson is visiting relatives in Tallapoosa, Ga.

The meeting at the Christian church closed last Wednesday.

A. L. Jackson was called to Tallahassee, Fla., last week on business.

Mrs. F. M. Wilkins spent the latter part of last week in Columbiana.

Charlie Bolin, of New Orleans, is visiting his father's family for a few days.

Jim Mason, of your city, spent one night here last week with his father's family.

Mrs. R. A. O'Hara, of Columbiana, is visiting here among old neighbors and friends.

We are glad to see Miss Meta Bolin able to be out again after her few days' sickness.

We regret to hear that Mrs. Jim Robertson is not doing so well this week as she has been.

Mrs. Albert Tamm, of Tallapoosa, Ga., is visiting her father, J. M. Kytte, and family.

We are glad to hear that Col. Smith and wife are both able to be up again from their recent spell of sickness.

Mrs. Meredith, of Oxford, accompanied by her little boys, is visiting her brothers, W. H. and J. F. Pope.

Miss Emma Kytte has returned from Lineville where she has been in the millinery business for the past season.

Miss Sue Self, who has had a position as milliner at Camp Hill during the past season, is at home for the hot weather.

J. M. Ray has recently purchased a saw mill and is now, not only converting lumber into buildings, but also changing logs into lumber.

We hear that one of our young men, who is now working away from home, will be home with his bride about July 4th. Can you guess who it is?

Miss Annie Wilby, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting the family of Major J. W. Bolin. Some of our young men seem very much pleased to see Miss Annie who is a very attractive young lady.

There was no preaching at the Presbyterian church Sunday as Bro. Thompson was taken sick after reaching Wilsonville and was not able to fill his appointment. We hope he will be up in a few days.

We were much gratified to see the smiling, handsome face of our genial picture agent, H. E. Smith, on our streets Saturday and Sunday. Although he lives in our midst he is gone from home most of his time.

J. L. Riddle is on the sick list again, having had a hard chill Sunday. We are very sorry to learn his wife is not doing so well as she was last week. For several months she has been very sick and the hot weather is very trying on her.

Last Thursday night, Major J. W. Bolin had the misfortune to have his buggy horse stolen, and thus far we have not learned whether or not he has overtaken the thief and horse. It is hoped he may be able to bring in both.

Grandma Self, who has been visiting her son, W. R. Self, in Meridian, Miss., for the past three months, returned home one day last week. Mrs. Self is looking remarkably well for one of her age.

Mrs. W. R. Self and little daughter came with Mrs. Self and will visit relatives and friends here for a few weeks. Miss Doss having lived here has many friends who are always glad to see her.

Last Saturday seemed to be negro day in our town; or at least they had a game of ball here and two of them came near losing their lives. One got into a difficulty with, I am told, a white man and received a bad and painful cut on the left side of his throat which, though not necessarily dangerous, would have been a fatal one had it not been for his thick jacket collar which was buttoned around his neck. The knife cutting through the heavy goods checked the force of the blow and prevented it from cutting the large blood vessels. A few minutes later another was brought in who had received a severe blow with a heavy piece of wood across the side of his face which fractured his jaw bone and knocked out several teeth. A nice way to play! What on earth would it be if they were to get mad enough to fight each other? If in proportion they would fight as they play, I think the Russians had better get them to enlist and fight the Japs. Whisky caused it all.

Dr. S. Wingard, of beat nine, was in town Tuesday to see a doctor. He split one of his thumb nails a few days ago, and the wound is proving to be a very painful one.

Invitations have been received in Columbiana announcing the approaching marriage of Miss J. J. Kilpatrick, a formerly of Montevallo girl.

Rev. Mr. Partridge filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church last Sunday, preaching two excellent sermons.

There will be preaching at the Methodist church next Sunday morning and night by the pastor. All are invited.

Mayor W. B. Browne is in Montgomery on business connected with the supreme court.

There was another banana car in town Monday.

Talladega June 20.—Columbiana 3, Coal City 0. Battery Roberts and Dinney, Roberts struck out 15 men. All the runs were made in second inning. Time of game 1 hour and 25 minutes.

The fishing party from our town reported a very nice time. They say they (mosquitoes) bit fine, and that they were plentiful and gentle. RIP VAN WINKLE.

NOTICE.

All persons holding cotton in the ware house at Columbiana will be charged storage at 25 cents per month after the 1st day of July, 1905. L. M. DYKE.

Shelby Springs Notes.

Among the visitors from Columbiana the last few days have been W. W. Wallace, J. T. Leeper, Mr. and Mrs. Max Lefkovits, Mrs. and Miss Rowe, O. O. Bird and others.

The Misses Dimmick, of Montgomery, with a party of young people, will pass the month of July here. They have taken a large cottage, and are planning for a delightful time.

The widow and daughter of the late John D. Rapier, editor and proprietor of the Mobile Register, have been stopping here for several weeks, and have just gone home. Mrs. Rapier was greatly benefited by her stay at the Springs and expressed herself as much pleased with the place, and with the improvements that have been made by the new management.

Some of the members of the Automobile Club, of Birmingham, have been stopping at the Springs, and have carefully examined all of the wagon roads between here and Birmingham with a view to making tours with their machines in this direction. Messrs. Oliver Chalfaux and J. A. Yates, enthusiastic members of the club, will have their families here for the season, and intend to come out on Saturday in their automobiles the running time being about three hours. Special arrangements will be made here for automobile and house parties.

Last Saturday night a series of dances were begun at the Springs for the benefit of the young people staying here, and for those of the adjoining towns who care to attend. The band this year is the famous McCarroll band of Shelby, consisting of four pieces, and the management has decided to charge 25 cents for a floor ticket which must be held by all gentlemen who are not regular guests, unless they hold season tickets. It is intended to have these dances on Wednesday and Saturday a little later in the season, and to have ice cream supper at 10 o'clock. On these occasions the dancing will continue till 11 o'clock, P. M.

Miss Ella Peters, of Montevallo, is in the city for a visit with her father, Judge Peters.

Birmingham is to have, so 'tis said, a girls' baseball club. It will have no trouble making dates.

Miss Vera MacKnight, the charming daughter of Jas. A. MacKnight of Shelby Springs, was in the city last Saturday.

What about your subscription? A number promised to pay up some time ago, but have probably forgotten all about the printer.

Nothing but first class job work is turned out of The Sentinel office and on the best stock. We have received a lot of new job type this week.

The Sentinel is requested to say a full attendance is desired at the Knight of Pythias lodge next Monday night. Aside from installation of officers, ranks will be conferred.

Jas. A. MacKnight, of Shelby Springs, was in the city Monday. Mr. MacKnight says there are a number of guests at the Springs now, and that more will be coming from now on.

We do not believe anyone envies Uncle John Cromwell his job this hot weather. Carrying the mail isn't the nicest job in the world now, for rain or shine, through snow or sleet, or whether the weather is cold enough to freeze or hot enough to cook, the mail must go through.

Acute Rheumatism.

Deep tearing or wrenching pains, occasioned by getting wet though; worse when at rest, or on first moving the limbs and in cold or damp weather, is cured quickly by Ballard's Snow Liniment. Oscar Oleson, Gibson City, Ill., writes, Feb. 16, 1902: "A year ago I was troubled with a pain in my back. It soon got so bad I could not bend over. One bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me." Birmingham, Ala., May 23, '05.
Mr. Geo. M. Webb, State Agent.
I want to thank your Secretaries and Treasurers of Pike, Chambers and Shelby Co. Divisions for the prompt payment of my husband's policies in your most estimable company. The above amount—$3,000—was paid me in nine days after the death of my husband. All it had cost him to leave me this amount of money, was his membership fees, and one assessment of $15. I would advise every man and woman in Jefferson county and in the State of Alabama to take a policy in this company for it is the cheapest, safest and best insurance on earth. With best wishes for your popular company in Alabama, I am Very respectfully,
MRS. SALLIE VINCENT,
E. F. Enslen, Wit. Beneficiary.

CALIFORNIA

Do you want to live where the climate is mild the year round—where labor is never oppressed by stress of weather, and where animal vitality is never lost by mere conflict with cold?

Do you want to live in a region where the resources are more varied than in any other equal area in the world, where the division of great ranches affords a fine opportunity to get a small farm that will assure you a competence?

Do you want to live where, with a minimum of labor, you can grow profitable crops of grapes and small fruit, oranges, lemons, olives, prunes and almonds, alfalfa and grain, where crops are sure, business is good and capital easily finds profitable investment?

Then go to California, where both health and opportunity await your coming.

The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line is the most direct route to the Pacific Coast, and there are two fast through trains daily via this line, over the famous double-track railway between Chicago and the Missouri River.

Special low round-trip rates are in effect via this line throughout the summer to various Pacific Coast points, and colonist low rate one-way tickets will be on sale during September and October, which give an unusual chance for settlers to make the trip at a minimum of expense.

Daily and personally conducted excursions are operated through to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Portland without change, on which a double berth in a Pullman tourist sleeping car from Chicago costs only $7.00, via the

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored

LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee. Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add while of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

- 1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.
- 2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

3. (Don't boil it too long.

DON'TS (Don't let stand more than ten minutes before serving. Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

- 1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.
- 2d. With Cold Water. Instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)

(Lion-head on every package.)

ALABAMA STATE EVENTS.

Items of Interest Gathered as They Transpire Over the Entire State.

Carpenter Is Hanged.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—John Carpenter, the negro who murdered Mr. Stewart Champion here about two months ago, was hanged in the jail yard at noon Friday. About 100 persons witnessed the execution, which went off in a quiet and regular manner. The court house and jail were surrounded fifty yards deep with negroes eager to catch a glimpse over or through the high fence of the hanging.

Carpenter displayed a most unusual composure, and his nerves appeared to be in better shape than a number of those who were there as witnesses. He was escorted to the floor of the scaffold by the sheriff and several deputies and two negro ministers. The latter raised a song, in which Carpenter joined, after which one of the preachers offered up a prayer.

John was then asked if he had anything to say. In reply to this he simply said in a few words that he had made peace with his Savior and felt that he was ready to go. He made no statement with reference to his crime whatever, although that morning he said to his attorney that his intention had never been to kill Mr. Champion, but only to wound him.

The trap was sprung by Sheriff Kyle and Carpenter dropped to his doom. The fall broke his neck, and in ten minutes thereafter he was pronounced dead.

Killed by a Hundred-Foot Fall.

Woodward, Ala.—J. H. Kelly and Sidney Brumbaugh, white, met a horrible death here Friday night by falling off the new furnace of the Woodward Iron Company. The men fell 100 feet. Kelly was killed almost instantly, while Brumbaugh lived an hour.

The big new furnace of the Woodward Company was placed in blast Thursday. Friday night Kelly mounted the ladder by the side of the furnace to go to the top to look at the bell. Brumbaugh followed after him. It is believed that one of the men was overcome with gases from the furnace and fell off. He struck his friend and both went to their death.

Kelly leaves a widow and one child. Brumbaugh was a single man and lived with his parents. Both were residents of Bessemer. Their funerals took place Saturday afternoon.

Killed by a Negro.

Tusculum, Ala.—C. M. Wright, a well-known citizen of Leighton and a prominent republican politician of this county, was fatally wounded by a desperate negro at Leighton Saturday.

From information gained over long distance telephone it seems that Wright became involved in a difficulty with an old negro named Daniel and struck him, when the negro's son, Frank, stepped forward and fired three times at Wright with a 45-caliber Colt, each shot taking effect, one in the left breast and two in the abdomen, inflicting mortal wounds. The young negro fled, pursued by a large crowd, and although more than twenty shots were fired at the negro, he eluded his pursuers and escaped.

Wright was several times tax collector of Lawrence county, and after removing to this (Colbert) county was the republican nominee for sheriff. He was about 50 years old and only recently married.

Inventor of the Typewriter Dead.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—John Pratt, believed to be the inventor of the typewriter, died here Saturday at the home of Judge Snodgrass, formerly chief justice of the state. He will be buried at Center, Ala.

Mr. Pratt invented a typewriter while in London in 1864, and three years later it was exhibited there before the various royal societies. He devoted the larger part of his life to typewriter inventions and sold several patents to the large companies. He was born in Unionville, S. C., in 1831.

Rains Damage Rice Crop.

Beaumont, Tex.—Excessive rains in the past few days have resulted in enormous loss throughout the rice belt in Southeast Texas and Southwest Louisiana. It is estimated that 60 per cent of the crop, which represents late sowing, will have to be replanted. Beginning Wednesday rain has fallen incessantly, continuing to day in heavy downpours. The rice country is literally flooded, and young rice was head out.

Somet-Solvay Makes Barrels.

Ensley, Ala.—The Somet-Solvay plant, one of the leading industries of the district, has recently installed a cooperage plant, whereby it makes all of the barrels that are used in shipping its products. The company does not manufacture its own staves, but has them shipped to its plant.

The Somet-Solvay is operating on full time in all departments and is turning out finished products in large volume.

Army of "Army Worms."

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Mr. Barwell Mayfield, living at Moore's Bridge, in the northern section of this county, was in the city Saturday and reports having passed a great army of worms which resemble the "army worm," which invaded this section some years ago and played havoc with the cotton crop. He described the worm as about the size of a caterpillar, with yellow stripes. The road for 100 yards was so lined with them that the earth could not be seen.

Printer Badly Cut by Printer.

Birmingham, Ala.—R. L. Griffin, a printer, nearly severed the head of C. C. Hudson, another printer, from his body with a pocketknife Saturday night. A gash about eight or ten inches long was made, and the wound went to the bone.

The trouble arose over statements which Griffin is said to have made derogatory to Hudson, but which he denies having made. The statements were to the effect that Hudson had "rattled" in Atlanta before he joined the union, a term which means that he was a non-union printer and had taken the place of a union printer who was on a strike.

Shot to Death.

Mobile, Ala.—Gus Robinson, a fireman on the Mobile and Montgomery division of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, was shot to death on Thursday night by James Kennedy, a negro. The murder occurred at the corner of St. Emanuel and Charleston streets, and in the presence of many persons, but the cause leading up to the killing is not known. Robinson was shot through the right breast and died instantly. Kennedy has eluded arrest.

Schooner Capsized.

Mobile, Ala.—Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock the two-masted schooner Nellie Meta, bound for Bon Secour, in the lower bay, was going out past the lighthouse below the mouth of Mobile river, she struck a squal and capsized. On board, besides Captain Carver and his crew, were five females, Mrs. Ronwick, Mrs. Thomas Benton and her three daughters. Mrs. Ronwick was invalidated, having a broken leg and thigh. It was necessary to cut away a portion of the deck to secure her. The tug Nimrod and the schooner Never Tell rescued the ladies. Work was immediately begun raising the Nellie Meta. The ladies, though badly frightened, were uninjured.

New Lumber Company.

Prattville, Ala.—There has been organized recently a new saw mill company, known as the White Water Lumber Company, to be located at Autaugaville, on the line of railroad put in operation a few weeks ago between that place and Booth. This company is backed by plenty of capital and one of the best bodies of timber now to be found in this section of the state. The White Water Lumber Company absorbed the Kingston Mill Company, late of Kingston. Several members of the new company are experienced saw mill men, and success is assured from the start.

Strange Freak of Lightning.

Anniston, Ala.—Lightning played a strange freak in the northern part of the city Tuesday night. A small cabin at Quintard and Twenty-second streets was struck by a bolt. The cabin was badly demolished. A bed in one of the rooms occupied by two men was knocked to pieces and the men dropped upon the floor. The mother of the men, going into the room afterwards to find out if they were hurt, found them both asleep. After the storm was over the only dead on the premises was a cat.

A New Fertilizer Company.

Headland, Ala.—The Headland Fertilizer Works, of Headland, with a capital of $25,000, has filed its certificate. The incorporators are E. K. Malone, G. H. Malone, A. Y. Malone, J. J. Espy, M. W. Roberts and C. F. Spurman. The object is the erection of a fertilizer plant at Headland.

Sensation in Chilton.

Plantersville, Ala.—A big sensation was sprung in Plantersville and Redderville Thursday by state officers arresting every dealer in both places where proof existed that they had been paid commission by houses from which they ordered liquor for their customers.

Birmingham is preparing for a big state fair.

Tragedy at Dothan.

Dothan, Ala.—Postmaster Byron Trammell, of this place, shot and instantly killed R. J. Barnes about 1 o'clock at the residence of the former. Mr. Trammell states that on the advice of his counsel he has no statement at this time.

It is rumored upon the streets that the cause of the tragedy was some domestic trouble brought about in the home of Trammell by Barnes. It will be impossible to get the real facts in the case until a preliminary trial is had.

A warrant was sworn out before Justice J. A. Rollins charging Trammell with murder, but the day for the hearing has not yet been set.

As soon as the shooting occurred Mr. Trammell surrendered himself to Sheriff N. B. Crawford, and is now confined in the Houston county jail.

Three New Corporations.

Montgomery, Ala.—Three new corporations have filed their certificates of incorporation with Secretary of State McDavid.

The Elba Fertilizer Works will conduct a factory at Elba, with $10,000 capital stock.

The Roby Shoe Company, of Tuscaloosa, with a capital of $10,000, filed its certificate.

The third corporation is the Gibson-Moretti Marble Company, of Birmingham, with a capital stock of $50,000.

Drowned in Warrior River.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—George Hicks, employed on the plantation of Henry A. Jones, south of this city, was drowned while trying to swim the Warrior river. Hicks, together with a number of others, had walked to the ferry landing, where they were to take the boat to get to their work on the other side of the river, and while they were waiting for the ferryman he decided to swim the river. When he had gone half the way it was discovered that he was sinking, and immediately the ferryman went to his rescue, but he was never seen after rising for the second time.

Horse Ran Away.

Demopolis, Ala.—Friday a horse belonging to W. H. Welch, attached to a buggy, ran away down Walnut street, and at the corner of Franklin the buggy struck a post and was almost demolished, throwing the negro driver out and injuring him slightly. The horse carried on the shafts and harness, and when stopped was found to be badly cut on the hind legs.

Policeman Indicted.

Birmingham, Ala.—Walter McPherson, a member of the police force at Brookside, in the western part of the county, has been arrested on an indictment returned by the grand jury charging murder. McPherson shot and killed a negro. The defendant gave bond several weeks ago and the same bond was allowed for the new indictment.

More Pennsylvania Miners.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company has brought another car load of miners from Pennsylvania into the district, making the fourth car load of men brought to the district in the past few weeks. The men will be placed in the mines where union men are out on strike.

Revenue Officers at Work.

Selma, Ala.—The revenue officers who have been collecting money for license for those in the county who have been selling whisky and failed to take out the license are still at work, and it is reported that during the past week they have collected nearly $2,000 from people in the vicinity of Selma.

Some of the citizens from whom this license money was collected have been counted as among the most law-abiding in the county, and many of them are counted among the better class of people in the community in which they live.

Free Delivery at East Lake.

East Lake, Ala.—The Birmingham postoffice has decided to inaugurate a free delivery service at East Lake, the service to be put on as soon as the building now being erected is completed. The office will be a sub-station of the Birmingham postoffice.

Private Telephone Line.

Marion Junction, Ala.—The Marion Junction Telephone Company has been organized to operate a private line in this little village of Dallas county for the convenience of its citizens.

Russian Cruiser Must Be Good.

St. Petersburg.—In consequence of British representations British warships will be dispatched to convey orders to the Russian auxiliary cruiser Denepier and Rion to cease interference with shipping and to return immediately.

Students Off to Work.

Nashville, Tenn.—Eight candidates for membership on the Vanderbilt football team for the coming season have left here to work in the harvest fields of the west. They first go to Kansas, and from there they will go as far north as Canada. The young men will return in time to enter the university in the fall.

The fourth of July festivities are billed for next week.

ALEXANDER AND HYDE OUT

President and First Vice-President of the Equitable Vacate Posts.

MORTON ACCEPTS RESIGNATIONS

Chairman of the New Board of Directors to Sue Old Officers For All Misused Funds of the Life Assurance Society—Mr. Alexander Receives the News on Sick Bed—Hyde Won't Talk.

New York City.—Secretary of the Navy Paul Morton, the new head of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, accepted the resignations of James W. Alexander as President and James H. Hyde as First Vice-President of the society, and they at once ceased to be officers of the company which their families have dominated since it was founded forty-six years ago.

At the time Mr. Morton accepted the resignations Mr. Alexander, who had devoted forty years of his life to the upbuilding of the Equitable, was lying ill in bed in the home of his married daughter, at No. 116 East Sixty-sixth street. For a time his family feared to communicate the news that he was no longer an officer of the Equitable Society to him. A polite letter had been sent to him by Mr. Morton, in which the latter briefly stated that he believed it to be for the best interests of the Equitable to accept the resignation which Mr. Alexander had placed in his hands on June 10, the day Mr. Morton was elected Chairman of the Board.

Mr. Alexander took the news calmly, however. James H. Hyde was in his magnificent suite of offices on the main floor of the Equitable when Mr. Morton's letter accepting his resignation reached him. A few minutes later Mr. Hyde left his offices, entered his brougham and was driven to his home at No. 9 East Fortieth street. Soon after his arrival there he summoned his electric cab and took a ride up Fifth avenue and back, reaching his home about 7.30 p. m.

Hyde Has Nothing to Say.

Mr. Alexander's family refused to permit him to see newspaper men or make any statement. Mr. Hyde sent word by one of his under-secretaries that he had nothing to say to the newspapers.

It was not until 5 p. m. that Mr. Morton announced his acceptance of the resignations of Mr. Alexander and Mr. Hyde. At that hour nearly all the clerks had gone, but most of the department heads were still in the building. When they learned of Mr. Morton's action every man had some word of sympathy for Mr. Alexander and regret for his retirement as President of the society.

No action had been taken by Mr. Morton on the resignations which were also placed in his hands on June 10 by Second Vice-President Gage E. Tarbell, Third Vice-President George T. Wilson and Fourth Vice-President William H. McIntyre.

Morton Will Sue Directors.

It was authoritatively announced from sources close to Thomas P. Ryan that frequent consultations with eminent lawyers and with the three trustees—Ex-President Cleveland, Justice O'Brien and Mr. Westinghouse—had resulted in Chairman Morton taking the position that as rapidly as the records of the expert accountants are ready he will prosecute all directors and officers, big and little, who have abused their trust by using the funds of the Equitable for their own personal speculation and private profit.

Many suits are already in contemplation and will be brought as fast as documents warrant the preparation of the papers, against all those who compel restitution of all profits illegally acquired by the use of the funds of the Equitable Life.

In behalf of Chairman Morton and the trustees, the lawyers and others advising them, have looked over the books of the Equitable Life for the last fifteen years. These lawyers have made a special study of the statute of limitations and it is said they are now prepared to move against all officers and directors who began fifteen years ago the systematic application of the Equitable funds to personal ventures for their own private gain, to the great detriment of the policyholders.

REFORM REACHES DEADWOOD.

Gambling Houses Closed For First Time in Town's History.

Deadwood, S. D.—For the first time since gold was discovered in the Black Hills there is no gambling in Deadwood and the other mining towns and camps in this county. All gambling houses are closed by order of the Mayor and county authorities. Deadwood without gambling is like a river without water.

DEATH REVEALS FORGERY

The Late G. H. Gaskill, of Philadelphia, a Stork "Raiser."

Certificate Altered to the Extent of a Million Dollars—Scion of Honorable Family.

Philadelphia, Pa.—If a ghost had stalked forth and proclaimed Benjamin Franklin a robber or Stephen Girard a pauper it could not have occasioned much more surprise than the announcement that Benjamin H. Gaskill, who died four weeks ago, was involved in a series of forgeries which has resulted in a loss of almost $1,000,000 to banks and trust companies here—the majority of them representing the ultra-conservative type of fiduciary institutions. It was disclosed that certificates calling for small numbers of shares of stock had been "raised" by a skillful process and without exciting the slightest suspicion.

Benjamin H. Gaskill was the sole member of the banking and brokerage firm which carried on business under the title of Benjamin H. Gaskill & Co. He had fine offices in the financial district and his credit was gilt-edged. At the time of his death Gaskill was reported to be worth about $500,000. He left no will, and when the administrators started to close up the estate the remarkable story was revealed.

One of the customers of the firm, whose name has not been disclosed, bought from the estate 100 shares of Philadelphia Traction Company stock and 100 shares of stock of the United States Steel Corporation. He turned the account over to E. C. Miller & Co., which firm sent the 100 shares of traction stock to the Philadelphia Traction Company's office to have the transfer recorded. The certificate did not agree with the company's books, and an investigation showed that the certificate had been raised from six shares to 100. The discovery was reported to E. C. Miller & Co., which firm immediately notified the Stock Exchange of which Gaskill was a member, which in turn sent out notices to its members not to receive stock certificates from the Gaskill estate.

Other Frauds Discovered.

This led to a further investigation, and with startling results. It was found that Gaskill had credited himself on his own books with 6000 shares of Philadelphia Traction stock valued at approximately $600,000, while the traction company's books showed he had only 400 shares. It was also discovered that he had raised stock certificates of the United Railways of New Jersey from 2 to 200, and the certificates of the Hartford & South Street Railway Company of this city from 2 to 20. The latter stock is worth $450 a share.

Gaskill kept two accounts—one recording the transactions of his customers, which was correct, and another giving his own transactions. His books showed that he had received from $15,000 to $25,000 a year in his business. His method of operation was to obtain certificates of gilt-edged securities calling for one, two, three or some other small number of shares, raise the figures and give them as securities for large loans. At least six banks and trust companies of this city admit holding fraudulent securities for large loans.

Scion of an Old Family.

The Gaskill family in Philadelphia ranks with the Bineys, the Prices, the Cadwalladers, the Biddles and Rittenhouses, and perhaps has a greater claim to pride of ancestry than any one of them. The early members of the Gaskill family were the stoutest champions of Tom Paine when he was a consultant of John Hancock in the drafting of the Declaration of Independence, and the original Benjamin Gaskill, after whom a street is named in the southern part of the city, was Hancock's most valiant defender when he was assailed in front of the old Carpenter's Hall.

Gaskill was only forty-one years old when he died. He was a member of the Manufacturers' Club, the Union League, the Country Club, the Clover Club, and other organizations, and the revelations astounded even the severest of his critics.

The administrators of the estate, Lincoln L. Eyre and George M. Wagner, have retained John G. Johnson to protect the interests of the estate.

Gaskill left a widow, to whom the Stock Exchange a few days ago paid $5000 as life insurance. His seat on the Stock Exchange is valued at $15,000.

BOWEN IS DISMISSED

President Roosevelt Acts on Venezuelan Diplomatic Scandal.

LOOMIS SEVERELY REBUKED

Monomaniac in Bowen's Case—President Reviews Entire Affair in His Letter to Secretary Taft—Loomis May Get a Minor Post—Mr. Bowen Refuses to Give Out Any Immediate Statement.

Washington, D. C.—The dismissal of Minister Herbert W. Bowen from the Diplomatic Service and the retention of Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis, although after such a scorching rebuke as has seldom been administered to an officer of his rank, are the results of Secretary Taft's long investigation of the scandal affecting the two men. The report of Mr. Taft and the President's reply were made public at the War Department.

Mr. Bowen's departure from the service was anticipated, but it was supposed that he would be permitted to resign. Mr. Bowen made his dismissal necessary by telling the President that he would regard a resignation as an admission of misconduct. The President in his letter says that until this scandal came up he had intended to promote Mr. Bowen.

The action taken with regard to Mr. Loomis is more of a surprise. It had been expected that the Assistant Secretary would escape either scot free or with a light rebuke. Instead, Mr. Taft, while acquitting him of the charges brought against him by Bowen, scores in strong language his behavior in mixing up in business investments in Venezuela. The President adopts this language as his own.

Mr. Loomis is a candidate for an embassy. The view of his conduct taken by the President and Mr. Taft makes it unlikely that he will get it. Mr. Taft's language, however, is taken here as indicating that he may be let down with a less important post.

Secretary Taft's letter is fully reviewed in the President's letter.

Bowen at East Orange.

Herbert W. Bowen, who has been dismissed from the diplomatic service, returned to East Orange, N. J., late in the evening, unexpectedly to his family. He was stopping at the home of Arthur Clegg, 124 Prospect street. "I will say nothing now," said Mr. Bowen, after listening to a synopsis of the President's letter. "Such a document calls for a careful and full reply."

DECLARES WAR ON LOBBYISTS.

Herrick Proposes to Drive Bribers of Legislators From Ohio.

Sandusky, Ohio.—An open declaration of war against professional lobbying in the Legislature of Ohio, made by Governor Herrick, has stirred up politicians all over the State. In a speech at the banquet of the Ohio Associated Dailies, at Cedar Point, the Governor said:

"Lobbying is a deadly poison in the well-spring of legislation. It is responsible, in the main, for the low estimate in which our law making bodies are held by many throughout the entire country."

"The professional lobbyist is a criminal. By that I mean the man who offers a fixed bribe to promote or restrict legislation. His great crime lies in the destruction of the faith in the honesty of our citizens and the honesty of mankind."

"We must do more than arrest, we must exterminate the professional lobby."

"Other communities have risen and eradicated this pernicious practice. Ohio should move with no laggard step to do likewise. As far as it lies within my power I purpose to set on foot this reform."

BOSTON HOLDS RECORD.

Cost of Running Public Buildings Department Highest of American Cities.

Boston, Mass.—According to official figures Boston municipal "graffers" hold the record. The statistics prepared by Harvey S. Chase, an expert, in the Mayor's office, show that the expense per capita of running the Public Buildings Department alone is twenty-four cents a year, estimating Boston's population at 600,000. This, according to the same source of information, is against the per capita cost in New York for the same department of twenty cents; Philadelphia, fourteen cents; St. Louis, ten cents, and Baltimore, sixteen cents.

Vicious names have been found on the rolls and syndicates have been organized to do carpenter work and electric wiring for public buildings for which men were already carried on the pay rolls, while one concern has a monopoly in disinfectants which is making it rich.
